

MANSFIELD GOES TO BATES

Former Winchester Coach Succeeds "Dave" Morey

Wendell D. Mansfield, former Winchester High School athletic director and coach, has been appointed head football and baseball coach at Bates College in Lewiston, Me., to succeed "Dave" Morey, former Dartmouth halfback and pitcher, who recently resigned.

President Clifton Grey of Bates announced Mansfield's appointment only about three weeks after the latter had been promoted to head basketball coach at Springfield College, where for the past two years he had been football and basketball coach and head coach of freshmen basketball.

Mansfield graduated from Springfield in 1925 after three years of varsity end play that won him the reputation of being one of the best wingmen in the small college ranks. He has played professional football and knows the game thoroughly from playing, as well as the theoretical angle.

Fresh from Springfield, he came to Winchester where for 12 years he produced fine teams from his position as material and established himself as an exceptionally gifted coach, a fine conditioner of athletes and a sterling character builder. The last of the great players coached by him, "Pete" DeFoe and Peter Gault, are co-captains of next year's high school team that right now is favored to win another Middlesex League crown.

Returning to Springfield, Mansfield played a prominent part in what success the gymnasts have enjoyed on the gridiron the past two autumns, handling the ends and backs, and doing a lot of highly efficient scouting. Among the student body he has been very popular and his leaving the college has caused widespread regret.

He will report for duty at Bates Sept. 1 and is moving to Lewiston August 1, with Mrs. Mansfield and their four children. He is well known in sports and college circles as his master.

At Bates he will be working with Ernest M. Morey, director of athletics, who first became acquainted with Mansfield while teaching and coaching at Huntington School in Boston. Later while assistant head-master at Wilburham Academy, Mansfield had opportunity to see more of Mansfield as the latter worked at Springfield and mutual friends were not especially surprised when the ex-Winchester high master followed the prep-school master to Bates.

Moore, whose aunt, Mrs. Elmer Lewis, makes her home on Maxwell road, has been often in Winchester. At Huntington he coached "Big Jim" Fitzgerald and "Frankie" Provizano, who was at Wilburham while he was assistant master and faculty manager of the basketball team. He is a grid of athletes there. He is a state guard back in the days of '13-'14, and a man who is well-liked in and out of athletic circles.

A HICKOX GRADUATE

Nestor W. Davis, who died at his home in Winchester last week, was a graduate of the Hickox School in Belmont. Some 40 years ago he studied under the first exponent of the Pitman shorthand system in America, Mr. William Hickox. Mr. Hickox was definitely one of the old school of educators, to whom a word of commendation to a pupil was unknown, but the old records of the school show that Mr. Hickox concede to Mr. Davis, "He was an upright and promising young man."

This promise Mr. Davis fulfilled in great measure—probably no man has risen further in the secretarial field, for he was the personal assistant of one of the greatest figures of his age, the elder John D. Rockefeller.

For the past several years, Mr. Davis has returned to Hickox to present the honor keys awarded by the school to outstanding graduates. Four years ago, after he had performed this office, the principal of the school, Mrs. Edina Campbell-Dover, approached him and gave him one of the gold keys, saying, "You, too, Mr. Davis, have deserved this honor, even though it is given just 40 years too late."

MICHAEL CALLAHAN

Michael Callahan, retired member of the Highway Department and well known resident of Winchester for many years, died late last night, July 6, at the home of his daughter, Mrs. William Law, 48 Bower street, off Harvard avenue in West Medford.

Mr. Callahan, who formerly lived for many years on Clark street, was a widower. He leaves, besides his daughter, Mrs. Mae McLaughlin and two sons, John of this town and Jeremiah Callahan.

The funeral will be held Monday morning with requiem high mass in St. Mary's Church. Interment will be in Calvary Cemetery.

MARRIAGE INTENTIONS

Marriage intentions have been filed with the town clerk by Spencer Douglas Howe of 957 Garrity street, Mobile, Ala., and Georgia-Powley Locke of 284 Highland avenue; also by Gene Melius Minihane of 29 Pierce avenue, Everett and Catherine Lively of 19 Everett road.

MILLIONAIRES PLAY

The Millionaires will play the St. Andrews of Chelsea at Manchester Field next Wednesday. The Millionaires beat St. Andrews 1 to 0, the last time they played when Ben Kendrick allowed only one hit.

FOURTH BIG DAY FOR KIDDIES

Party at Town Hall in Morning and Sports in Afternoon

Good hot weather aided the Legion and the Park Department in their efforts to provide a big day for the kiddies of the town who remained at home over the Fourth.

More than 700 youngsters and adults attended the one-hour show at the town hall during the morning. "Mal" Cameron, magician, and "Al" Libby, ventriloquist, putting on a first class entertainment. Mr. Cameron mystified his audience with all sorts of legerdemain, his climax stunt being to bring water from the elbow of a boy while another youngster pushed the former's other arm up and down like a pump handle. Mr. Libby proved a whole show in himself, singing, whistling, and dancing as well as giving a first rate exhibition of ventriloquism.

After the show the front doors of the hall were locked and youngsters lined up to leave by the side door. A lane was roped off and as each youngster passed through he was given a flag and ice cream, the new system obviating "seconds" for some and none for the less sturdy and aggressive youngsters.

In the afternoon a long list of athletic events was run off on Manchester Field, winners being given slips which entitled them to merchandise at local stores. Three new events this year were the balloon blowing contest, blueberry pie eating contest and watermelon eating contest for girls. All were popular and fun for the crowd and contestants.

Mr. and Mrs. John H. Gault, 1-9, determining which balloon was the largest when all were inflated to capacity.

Playground supervisor Joseph Tansy was in charge of the events which were under the personal supervision of Park Commissioner George T. Davidson. Park Supervisor Thomas McGowan and the playground instructors assisted with the youngsters as did a group of Legionnaires, the latter including A. Allan Kimball, Marshall W. Symmes, John H. McCarthy, Martin Foley, Revere H. B. Smith, James McMillen, Thomas McGowan, Charles A. Paul, Victor MacAdams, Lee Mellett and Stafford Rogers.

Events were as follows:
25 yard dash 1. John Nowell; 2. Richard P. Perry; 3. John H. Gault.
50 yard dash for girls 1. John Malinowski; 2. Cojima Sarnowski; 3. Louise Gault.

SLOAN—YOUNG

A marriage having Winchester interest took place at the First Church in Belmont Saturday afternoon, July 1, at 4 o'clock, when Miss Rosamond Young, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Young of Belmont, and Camden, Me., became the bride of Donald David Sloan, son of Mr. and Mrs. David Sloan of Swampscott. Rev. Dr. Henry Wilder Foote performed the ceremony which was followed by a small reception at the home of the bride's parents.

Miss Young was given in marriage by her father, and had for her honor maid her sister, Miss Dorothy Young. Mr. Chapman E. T. Burgess, gardener of Belmont and Mrs. Charles N. Sweetser of Reading were bridesmaids. Howard B. Sloan of Swampscott was his brother's best man and the usher corps included Charles L. Young of Port Washington, N. Y., brother of the bride; Frederick J. Santry of Swampscott and George M. Melanson of Beach Bluff.

The bride wore a white gown with lace bodice, a skirt of panned lace and net and a full-length train. Her long veil was of tulle and her flowers were white roses and lilies of the valley. The groom wore a dress of light powder blue tuxedo and a leghorn hat trimmed with the same material. Her bouquet was of pink roses, delphinium and babies' breath.

The bridesmaids wore similar frocks of cyclamen blue, which also was used to trim their leghorn hats and carried blush pink roses, delphinium and babies' breath.

Upon their return from a wedding journey to New York, the bride will live in Marblehead. The bride is a graduate of the Buckingham School and Bouve-Boston School of Physical Education. For several years she has been instructor of physical education and coach of girls at Winchester High School. Mr. Sloan attended Bowdoin College where he was a member of the Psi Upsilon fraternity.

Messrs. Richard and Allan Bugbee are at Camp Wyanoke, Wolfboro, N. H.

ONE ARREST—ONE FIRE OVER FOURTH

From the standpoint of police and fire activity the holiday was quiet in Winchester. There were complaints of premature fireworks celebrations here and there about town and one woman reported to the Police on the Fourth that a youth, thought to have been 16 or 17 years of age, had thrown a lighted cannon cracker at her automobile, in which she was taking four elderly women for a ride along Cambridge street. The cracker exploded just outside the window of the machine, temporarily blinding the operator and startling the occupants, but fortunately doing no more serious damage.

One resident of the west side complained of a neighbor shooting skyrockets in his back yard, enough to his house to be dangerous, but the celebrator had departed before the arrival of the cruiser.

Only one arrest was made over the holiday, a single woman whose complaint of a lighted capacity proved erroneous, falling into the hands of the Police. He was held for a time at Headquarters and then released.

No false alarms were reported and there was but one actual fire, a brush fire, for which the apparatus was called to Pond street near Winter Pond Monday night at 10:12.

One automobile accident was reported to the Police shortly before 2 o'clock on the Fourth when cars driven by Everett A. Hixenbaugh of 36 Hamlet street, Somerville and Walter E. Brown of 22 Everett road, came together at the intersection of High street and West Main street.

Hixenbaugh told the Police he was crossing Highland avenue from Mt. Vernon street to enter the Parkway while Brown was headed north on Highland street. No one was injured in the collision.

Many residents were out of town over the Fourth, some local stores remaining closed from Saturday until Wednesday.

TO MOTOR TO WEST COAST

Mrs. Merton E. Grush of Everett avenue is leaving this week to motor to San Francisco, stopping in New York to pick up Mrs. Paul Badger, the former Dorothy Mills of this town, who is to be her traveling companion.

Mrs. Grush and Mrs. Badger plan to go to San Francisco and from there north to Vancouver, B. C., spending most of the summer on the trip.

ROTARY CLUB NOTES

Eleven members were absent from the meeting on July 8, 1939, one of whom has already made up for his absence. It looks like ten opportunities for progressive action.

Yes, President Harry was laboring today but vice president Nick was very much on deck and when last observed had a firm grip on the gavel. As past president Ralph puts it, there were "Nicks" both on and around that instrument.

This being the first meeting of the Rotary new year, certain ceremonies were in order and duly carried out. One of these was the presentation of a past president's badge to out-going President Ralph Bonnell. The presentation was made by past president Warren Hersey and President Ralph responded feelingly. Also President Ralph, in the absence of incoming President Harry Davidson, transmitted the gavel to incoming Vice President Nicholas Fitzgerald. Ralph's first concern as past president was the delivering of a short address expressing the pleasure he had in his year as club president as well as his appreciation of the honor.

Also the annual reports of the secretary and of the treasurer of the club were read at this meeting. The reports indicated that the club is in good condition and carrying on successfully.

The convention of Rotary International at Cleveland, Ohio, was held on Friday, June 23, 1939. There was a total registration of 9189 Rotarians and guests, representing 50 countries. This was the sixth largest registration on record for Rotary International. The club at attendance trophy was awarded to the Rotary Club of Poona, India, which was represented by two of its 37 members who traveled 9743 miles to attend the convention. The Rotary Club of Cuzco, Peru, won second honors and the Rotary Club of Blitar, Java, Netherlands East Indies, placed third. The convention of 1940 will be held at Rio de Janeiro, Brazil.

Following the usual custom of the club no formal entertainments will be scheduled during the months of July and August. Regular meetings, however, will be held on Thursdays for Rotary does not condone any available interruption of the service which it seeks to supply. Each club is a potential haven for visiting Rotarians and guests and many most valuable contacts are made during the summer period. Nor should our own members who are temporarily out of town neglect opportunities to visit other clubs and thereby make new friends and contacts.

WINCHESTER RED CROSS

Water Safety Program in Full Swing

With a large group of promising Junior Life savers working earnestly to prepare for their first test in the next few days, the Red Cross water safety program at both Leonard and Wedgewood pools is in full swing. Discussion of the various means by which a person may be rescued, and better still the use of preventive measures to insure as much as possible against trouble, plus the latest methods of applying artificial respiration, are part of the half hour daily training for the boys and girls in Junior Life Saving. Greater emphasis than usual is placed on under water work with well controlled movements and strokes for submerged swimmers so that a victim resting on the bottom at a reasonable depth could be successfully recovered even in clouded water. Two youngsters at Leonard deserve particular mention at this point for their large turnout and regular attendance. All of them have shown real determination to tackle all obstacles until they have met them successfully.

The call for adults produced little results the first two weeks, but the last few days have shown an increase in the clubs which care for a miscellany of activities, and topics and activities that range from discussion of water hazards to some guidance in the first parts of elementary diving and swimming. The routine for the first group proved a little strenuous and consequently the workouts have been left entirely up to the individual capacity of the adult enrolling.

Among the hundreds who swim daily at each beach is a wealth of material for swimming and diving and it is hoped that before the eight week season closes, a few of the more determined and ambitious, as well as more skilled will be given the chance to go into the Boston Swimming Association this coming winter for regular practice.

The Red Cross instructor is sponsoring a special group in advanced diving Mondays and Wednesdays at 7 p. m. at Leonard.

Samplings

Honorable mention to Helen McGowan whose earnest work netted her the second raft the other day and netted her a new swimmer, a newcomer to Winchester is showing the way to the divers of the town, and he can do it. Bill is starting college next fall in Boston, at work, isn't it? Following the usual custom of the club no formal entertainments will be scheduled during the months of July and August. The Wedge intermediate swimming group, started early this morning, is a group of youngsters who look like real swimming material. Lost one buckle at Leonard—and found by J. L. S. Bob Jackson, after a couple of days.

MARRONE-CLEMENTS

The marriage of Miss Mary Gertrude Clements of Eastern avenue, Woburn, to Americo Marrone of Marion street took place Sunday afternoon, July 2, at 4 o'clock in the rectory of St. Charles Church, Woburn, with Rev. Fr. J. Francis Twomey officiating.

Miss Clements, wearing embroidered organza over satin with a hip length tulle veil and carrying a Colonial bouquet of white roses and babies' breath, tied with satin streamers, was attended by the bridegroom's sister, Mrs. Carl Palage of Woburn. Mrs. Palage wore a turquoise blue tulle dress with a Juliet cap and short tulle veil and carried an old fashioned bouquet. John Clements of Woburn, brother of the bride was Mr. Marrone's best man.

After the ceremony a reception was held at Hayes' Inn, Billerica which was decorated for the occasion with pink and white streamers and cut flowers. In the receiving line with the bride were the bride's uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. James McCullough of Woburn.

Upon their return from a wedding trip through the White Mountains, Mr. Marrone and his bride will make their home at 38 Franklin street in Stoneham. The bride is a graduate of St. Charles High School in Woburn. Mr. Marrone, who is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Marrone of this town, attended Winchester High School and is employed by the Maryland Shoe Company of Stoneham.

W. C. T. U. NOTES

The Peril of Liquor-Flavored Candy

Insidious, indeed, are the ways adopted by the liquor interests to cultivate a liking for alcoholic beverages on the part of boys and girls. During the past few years there has appeared on the market rum-flavored candy. Some of this comes in boxes, some in bulk. Many a boy has presented liquor-flavored candy to his girl friend, doing so without noticing that it contained alcohol. I personally know of several fine friendships that were broken up by such an incident. The girl's parents quite rightly object to such a confection and believing the act deliberate on the part of the boy, I also personally know of several boys and girls who have developed the drink habit through protracted use of "liquor candy."

Several times I have tasted bulk candy that created the suspicion of being rum-flavored. This candy was on a counter frequented by boys who would drop in before or after school to purchase a sack.

All of these despicable tricks are calculated to increase drinking on the part of boys and girls. Certainly the open-laid plot is more contemptible than this threat to the future of America's youth. Until the practice of flavoring candy with liquor is wiped out by government action, buyers of confectionery can scarcely be too careful of the sweets they purchase. Liquor has even been found in carbonated water used to make drinks at soda fountains, having been used by unscrupulous vendors.

The above article is by Paul Carter, and is printed in Home Department Quarterly for July to September, in the International Sunday School lessons.

STORY RIGHT, BUT STILL FINED

Early Saturday morning Patrolman William E. Cassidy took into custody a motorist who he found had neither license to operate the Ford sedan he was driving nor registration for the car.

At Headquarters he gave his name as Walter H. McFarland, Jr. of Woburn, and stated that the car had been loaned to him by a Woburn man. This story was found to be correct, but Associate Justice Nash assessed fines of $5 each for driving without a license and having no registration.

You'll hardly believe you can get two smooth writing pencils with your initials for 5c. You can, at the Star Office.

GERMANY'S EXPANDING EMPIRE

Since 1934, when Reichsfuhrer Adolf Hitler took over the dual office of president and chancellor, Germany has added to her domain some 65,000 square miles of territory and 18,000,000 people by plebiscite, absorption, and occupation.

In all, says a bulletin from the Washington, D. C., headquarters of the National Geographic Society, "Greater Germany" today extends over an area of more than 246,000 square miles, with roughly 84,000,000 inhabitants.

Year by year the record of her growing strength has lengthened: the Saar District, returned by plebiscite in 1935; the German Rhine and Elbe Rivers, with the Kiel Canal and other waterways, taken back under Reich jurisdiction in 1936; the League of Nations supervision over German Upper Silesia terminated in 1937; Austria and Sudetenland absorbed in 1938; Bohemia-Moravia occupied, and Memel Territory regained in the first quarter of 1939.

In economic terms, natural resources of Germany has thus won in the past five years vast reserves.

From the Saar has come coal, plus one of Europe's most active industrial centers.

From Czechoslovakia's former provinces of Bohemia and Moravia, Germany has gained grain, flax, timber, coal, iron, radium, gold and silver.

From Austria (along with that country's economic troubles) she has inherited hay, clover, and potato crops, dairy products, lumber, coal, and iron.

PIPING BREEZE AND PERFECT WEATHER ADD ZEST TO WINCHESTER RACES

Commodore Simonds Scores in "Weave-It"

By Teltale

Last Saturday and Sunday offered ample opportunity to the local townsfolk who find watching the Winchester Boat Club's landlocked sailors a pleasant diversion. More and more the popular thing to relax in a comfortable spot along the Mystic Valley Parkway on the shore of the middle Mystic Lake while Snipes do battle for racing honors.

These sailboat races are held regularly at 3 o'clock on Saturday afternoons and 10:30 on Sunday mornings. The starting line is off the dock of the Meador Boat Club or from a judge's float moored just outside the Winchester Club's miniature harbor. Interested spectators can determine which club is playing host by noticing where the boats are jockeying for position just before the starting signal which is blown promptly on schedule.

Races are sailed around a triangular course with the direction selected for the best wind conditions and announced by a flag on the Race Committee's stand. A green pennant indicates a clockwise course with the buoys left to starboard. A red flag is the signal for sailing in the opposite direction. As a rule, the race is three times around the course.

Far from being a matter of indecision or uncertainty, the choice of course direction is put off until close to starting time to give the judges an opportunity to pick the course that will provide the most varied and exciting wind conditions.

Saturday's Races

Saturday's gusty breezes proved custom built for "Commodore" Simonds' good ship "Weave-It." Pulling away from the starting line, he stretched an early lead into an overwhelming advantage and walked in an easy victor in 48 minutes and nine seconds for the five mile course.

"Dickie" Merrow's "Don't Duck" nudged in for second and "Johnnie" Sprague's "Peanut" cracked home for third position.

Croughwell's "Sans Four," Blanchard's "Dunlin," Fyne's "Phooka" and Cunningham's "Trubble" stopped to talk to the meynads. Burleigh's "Tee Bees" ran afoul of a bit of hard luck on the second lap when it snapped a rudder pin and had to retire from the race.

Sunday's Results

What the southerly wind called a "moderate southwest" proved anything but on Sunday. By blowing alternately in gentle zephyrs and three reef puffs and shifting to nearly every quarter of the compass, it kept the boats on their feet and the skippers in a constant quandry. In the course of the races, "Skipper" Hill and crew were caught off guard by a knock down puff and went in high-tailed. Croughwell in "Sans Four" again led the race, followed by "Phooka" in a dispute over right-of-way. Both boats lost their jib stays and "Phooka" retired for repairs.

Again the weather proved made to measure for Simonds' rough riding "Weave-It" and the "Commodore" skittered home in flagship position in the brisk time of 39 minutes, five seconds. The Burleigh's "Tee Bees" and Merrow's "Don't Duck" hung on for second and third place honors. Sprague in "Peanut," Blanchard in "Dunlin" and Croughwell in "Sans Four" took consolation prizes.

Fun Races and Fireworks Climax Fourth

A full day of races, racket and "red hots" brought the long weekend to a fitting close. In the morning, the fleet was split into two teams of six boats each for a relay race around a shortened triangular course. The lead changed hands frequently and the outcome was in constant doubt right up to the last few minutes when Blanchard in "Dunlin" brought the baton safely home to win for the team captained by "Frankie" Oxnard. "Dickie" Merrow sponsored the losing team.

The afternoon activities included a "bang and go" race in which the fleet sailed the regular course in one direction and then, at a signal from the judges' stand, turned about and raced back to the starting line. This was followed by a "block race" in which the fleet cruised around the course while the judges planted numbered blocks at the far end of the lake. In this contest, the boats raced down the lake, found the blocks with their numbers and scamped back again. In the evening, a weenie roast and fireworks display sent the crowd home with earaches, indigestion and sunburn—in short, with all the evidence of a perfect holiday.

"LOVE" AND "COIN" OFF POSTAL MAP

Utopia is no more. Gone are Love, Truth and Coin. Eden has vanished. In fact, says the National Geographic Society, at least four "Edens" in the last five years have given up their mailing addresses. Changes recorded in the United States Postal Guide include discontinuance of post offices for the towns of "Utopia," Kansas; "Truth," Arkansas; and "Coin," Kentucky. One "Eden" each was dropped in California, Kentucky, Montana, and Washington. Gone also are "Frugality," Pennsylvania; "Venus," South Carolina, and "Boiling Point," Oregon. Particularly apt is the name of one Alabama community on the discontinued list: "Falletown." On the other hand, such post office addresses as "Winner," "Wise," and "Welcome," have been dropped, so also have been "Racket," West Virginia; "Difficult," Wyoming; "Millstone," Maryland; and "Graft" and "Trouble-some" in Colorado. Mail for "Flood," Virginia, oddly enough, is now supplied from "Burnsville." And which was formerly addressed to "Love," Arkansas, is now received at "Ash Flat."

20TH CENTURY WORLD OWES MUCH TO WIRE

There is today 168,573,000 miles of telephone wire in the world, in addition to other millions of wire for industrial uses, in electrical equipment and transmission, and for telegraphing through this is also done simultaneously over some telephone lines. Nuremberg, the commercial center of Bavaria, was long credited with having invented wire-drawing in the 14th century, says the National Geographic Society. This has been questioned. In the archiepiscopal library of the Cathedral of St. Martin, Lucca, Italy, is reported a 9th century manuscript which mentions wire-drawing as then in practice.

A study of numerous metal objects, some of which were 6,000 years old, has shown that despite the crude metallurgical methods of ancient times, remarkably pure metals were produced.

Seated—Goldsmith, Ramsdell, T. Connors, Garcia, Gainey, Johnson, Kenney, capt., DeTeso, Thomas, Rallo, Farrell, P. Connors.

WINCHESTER HIGH HAD GREAT BASEBALL SEASON

Winchester High School enjoyed this spring its best baseball season in several years, for the first time winning the Middlesex League championship and running up 12 victories in 14 games played. The locals had a tight race for top honors in the Middlesex circuit with Maynard, the only team to beat them this year, winning the title in the final game of the schedule by defeating Stoneham while Reading, one of the weaker league clubs, was upsetting Maynard. The mill town school was chosen to represent Winchester's zone in the interscholastic baseball tournament, because they won the Midland League championship and set back Winchester twice, but few who saw both teams in action would rate Maynard the stronger club.

Outside of its league games Winchester played its old rival Woburn twice and won both times, though not too easily, considering the tanners' weakness.

The locals had about everything necessary for a championship club this season. First of all they had pitching and plenty of it. "Charlie" Johnson and "Al" DeMingo constituted veteran left and right handed pitchers. "Bob" Farrell was the best young hurler in the league and "Don" Thomann, aside from Maynard's Wotkiewicz, as good as any on the circuit. Four good pitchers in security plus in schoolboy or any other baseball. Most of Winchester's opponents didn't have one really dependable hurler.

Defensively, aside from the box, the team had a pretty good infield built around Capt. "Ed" Kenney, easily the class of the league short-fielders. He and Carr gave Winchester a good middle diamond pair, while "Joe" Cincia at first and "Len" Rallo at third, though erratic, were better than run-of-the-mill performers. Behind the bat, the locals were good enough with "Tony" DeTeso and "Charlie" Gainey performing rather better than most opposing catchers. In the outfield Paul Connors was a finished gardener in center with the other fielders, Earl Goldsmith in left, Eben Ramsdell and "Johnny" Goughgan in right, doing well enough for their positions. "Ray" Murdock, utility infielder, did most of his work around third base.

Offensively the team packed quite a punch, even considering the weak hurling faced habitually. The club as a whole naced the apple for .329, good sticking in any league, and had nine men batting better than .300.

"Charlie" Carr was the virtual leader with a mark of .500, being at bat 38 times and making 19 hits. "Tony" DeTeso hit for .425 with 47 times at bat and Paul Connors for .325 with 49 times at bat. Thomann had the highest average, .371, but was at bat only seven times. DeMingo, at bat 20 times, hit for .550, John Goughgan, for .368, 19 times up; "Bob" Farrell for .384, 13 times up; and Gainey, .321 on 28 times at bat.

"Len" Rallo, 59 times at bat, hit for .305, and the other averages were Ramsdell, .272; Kenney, .264; Goldsmith, .264; Garcia, .225; Johnson, .225; and Murdock, .117.

Winchester tallied 131 runs to 64 for all its opponents, averaging 9.35 and a fraction per game. Captained by "Ed" Kenney and managed by Martin Underwood, the club was coached by George Lauer of the Department of Physical Education, who was assisted off and on through the season by Ray V. Hayward, faculty manager of athletics at the school.

Following is the game summary:

WINCHESTER TEAM JUNIOR FINALISTS

Winchester's doubles team of Frances Keyes and Priscilla Tapley, members of Winchester High's current undefeated net team, were runners-up to Katherine Hubbell of Dedham and "Sissy" Madden of Jamaica Plain in the older girls' doubles division of the Junior State Tennis Championships at Longwood. Frances and Priscilla lost in straight sets, but gave the champion some good competition, going down 6-2, 6-3.

In mixed doubles the all-Winchester team of Polly Kimball and Jimmy Coon reached the semi-finals by winning from Frances Keyes and David Wetherill. So far, L. Winchester's Lois Ladd paired with Ray Nasher of Boston to win in the same bracket from "Sonny" Meyers of Hartford, Conn., and Harry Soule, 6-4, 6-2.

JULY CUP QUALIFIERS

HELEN CARROLL A WINNER

Helen Carroll, one of the best swimmers and divers developed among the girls at Palmer street, placed second in the junior 50 yard free style event at the New England A. U. swimming championships at Anthony, R. I., on the holiday.

Helen, who is a good all around athlete, playing field hockey and tennis well, swims under the colors of the Boston Swimming Association and is showing improvement right along.

WINCHESTER SKIPPERS WON

John Worchester of Church street sailed his Starboard to a win in the international class of the Annisquam Yacht Club's racing on the holiday, finishing more than three minutes in advance of the second boat. Ted Norton of Sheffield road brought his Dab in second in the fish class competition, less than a minute behind the winner.

AMBROSE P. M'S TREASURER

Winchester's Postmaster, Vincent C. Ambrose, was elected treasurer of the New England Postmasters Association at the recent convention of the organization held at Burlington, Vt. The association has a membership of 2600 and includes all the postmasters in New England.

FAREWELL TO HORSES

It's a long road that has no turning, especially in Bermuda where one takes the "horse and buggy" way. According to reports from Uncle Sam's island neighbor, England's Governor Hildyard has finally made good his threats to resign, after the Bermuda legislature thrice refused him permission to have a motor car. There's a law "against it" in Bermuda, explains the National Geographic Society. The law, however, is not that there may be no cars in Bermuda—simply that it is illegal to drive them on the public roads. Result: a fairly general restriction of automobiles all over the island. Exceptions: fire trucks, ambulances, garbage wagons, and trucks for extra heavy loads. Private roads are another matter, although they are so few and short that there is little inducement to have a car in Bermuda. The law against the use of motor vehicles in Bermuda is due to the important tourist trade which the island enjoys, a trade which favors a pre-motoring atmosphere—before sirens, roaring motors, and speedsters. Hence reports from Bermuda indicate that the new governor may ride in a stage coach, with four horses.

TELEPHONE NUMBER 0029

Just as a matter of record we announce that we have paid our business fine for struggling along for the past three months. This office has paid a total tribute for the past three months for furnishing the livelihood for eight employees of over $144. Thus far this year our office has paid our rulers a total of over $535, or almost $67 for each employee. Of course this does not include the other tax levies our rulers compel us to pay. Neither are any town or county taxes included. Likewise we have not included workmen's compensation insurance or liability. We could name many others not included. This $535 is just a fine for hiring eight people. It amounts to nearly $3 a day, counting every day—Sundays and holidays. Who says we are not working for the Government? Not only is this fine imposed, but insult is added to misery in the number of blanks which are demanded with each and every payment. Apparently this country is filled with crooks, but probably one is known by the name of the keys. The employers who are paying this fine, heralded as the greatest benefit to humanity ever known, are fewer than the masses receiving it, but the time is coming when it will be impossible for the small man to do business and this great booster for unemployment and the equal division of wealth will then appear in its true guise of another "ism." The great mass of people who do not have to pay the fine are naturally not at all interested just so long as there is possibility of getting it—which not all of them anticipate, but to those who are trying to do business it is one of the finest schemes to put a dictator in power we have yet noticed—although by no means the only one.

MISS PALMER EXPRESSES THANKS

Miss Eva M. Palmer has asked the Star to express her sincere thanks to the many present and former pupils who joined in the testimonial extended her upon her resignation from the Winchester High School faculty after 48 years of continuous service. Miss Palmer is deeply appreciative of the spirit which prompted the gift she received and is especially grateful for the many messages of congratulation and good wishes from graduates near and far.

Her deepest sense of satisfaction has come in seeing her former pupils grow to maturity and take their places in their respective communities as worth-while men and women. Her liking for her "boys and girls" has never faltered and as she lays aside the cares and responsibilities of teaching she is eager to have them know, wherever they may be, that her interest in, and for them will continue through the years.

SOCRATES SAYS-

LIQUIDATION HAS SET IN

These "New Unborn Billions" are called "self-liquidating." This means that we are liquidating ourselves.

THOSE "SIXTY FAMILIES"

Once upon a time we hear a bedtime story about the horrible "sixty families" and the wicked tale of "moral evasion" as it pertained to dodging income taxes.

On awakening in the morning we read the sequel, which tells us a little more about "moral tax evasion" and political family life. Whether the "blind man's bluff game" will stop at the count of sixty is to prove rather intriguing.

The wags are wondering if the "law and order front" (the hindering line of recovery) was not provoked and stimulated by the great popularity of Mr. Dewey in New York when he reduced "the sixty" to fifty-nine. Quickly, thereafter, the Missouri indictments of other "political families" were brought about, to be followed rapidly throughout the country.

Here's hoping that the number cannot reach "400" for, perhaps, after all, what "the chat" meant was "political families" and not "the 400" real leaders of American industry and culture.

"THE HILLS" BIGGEST JOKE OF THE YEAR

The House has voted to do away with employee contributions to the Unemployment Insurance Fund.

This means that those legislators believe in "the dole," for "the dole" is a payment to persons out of work, where they neither contribute to its payment with labor (such as the W. P. A.) or insurance (such as the original contributory plan).

It is questionable if the very employees, whom said legislators wished to please, will be very grateful for their contributions which they have greater rights in the management of the fund and its future payments.

There is little question but what a national dole would have saved hundreds of millions, which citizens needed through no fault of their own, and they could have had it direct and spent it themselves much better than has the New Deal.

The best joke of the year "on the hill" is that probably very few of those legislators yet understand or believe in "the dole," yet the House has, from a practical standpoint, just voted everyone concerned with industry "the dole."

Labor, organized and otherwise, should stop this type of dole, it is too political and too paternal; but it is an indirect slap at the New Deal at that.

PREPAREDNESS

We must, of course, be prepared for adequate defense. The Government has proposed its program for armaments. Whether the expenditure is all out of proportion to our requirements is one that only experts should decide—it is their job.

Next, the mobilization of industry, vitally important, is having the attention of the Government. This has been neglected in our past history.

Third—and exceedingly vital to veterans and our soldiers of the future—is the question of pensions. Our country has spent billions for pensions following all our wars, from the Revolution through the World War. All pension bills submitted, desired, and perhaps justified, would many times interfere with the actual fighting and direct cost of all our wars.

As pensions are the direct obligation of all the people of America, should be taken into consideration when preparedness for the next war is being considered—it is the largest money cost.

All veterans' organizations and patriotic societies comprised of the very citizens who best understand what war is, and why we prepare for the defense of our democracy, should insist that wasteful government spending running into billions for theoretical and useless projects should be stopped.

Unless the national and state budgets are brought into balance, further pensions for past wars, and adequate assistance for the veterans of future wars, will be jeopardized, ready—in every way.

SHALL AMERICA BE SENTENCED FOR A THIRD TERM?

Should Franklin D. Roosevelt attempt to become President of these United States for a third time he would be decisively defeated.

Millions of citizens, whether they have been for or against the so-called New Deal, whatever that may mean, will vote to elect the American conception of a democracy will not be threatened, even by a gesture of permanent government control, by any one dynasty.

Serious citizens sincerely pray that no such attempt as a third term will be tried. The very attempt, even though unsuccessful, would rock the nation. The very bitterness that would result could so divide our country that a generation would be required to calm it down. The bitterness of any opposition to New Deal theories, the name calling, "Economic Royalists," "Entrenched Privilege," and "Socialism," and so on, that has resulted to date, would be most moderate compared to what would be witnessed.

Such demand as has appeared for a third term is to be expected. It has come from an entire class of appointed cabinet officers, office holders, or those who would lose some advantage if sound policies prevailed—it is their living, their job, their fun. The "New Deal," of course, from a purely political standpoint, might wish that the President would try it; but the real thinkers among the leaders would put their country first and prefer a real Jeffersonian Democracy and a contest based upon economic policies.

"The Merchants of Spending," "The Gold Diggers of '23," "The '30ers" have had one glorious spree with the inheritance of past time and the grindstone of the youth of the future; but America will not be sentenced to a "third term" for New Dealism.

The question would not be Republican or Democrat—the question would not be simply "Follow the leaders"—it would be, shall we have a democracy with low taxes through a balanced budget—or controlled government, or inheritance taxes looking to the State for his bare existence? If there are any doubts as to where we are heading, just look to the results wherever central government has full control and a third or fourth "four-year term" has been in effect.

It has been said that the President might be elected to a third term if a "shooting match" between European countries occurred in 1940; but Americans have become tired of "shooting the works"—they want peace, freedom from political "broad-sides," and a chance to go to work.

CUBS WON OPENER

The Cubs won the first game of the town championship series last night on Leonard Field, defeating the Millionaires 9 to 4.

"Al" Diminico pitched pretty fair ball for the Cubs after the first frame when the Money men took kindly to his offerings. The veteran "Olio" Lee who worked for the Millionaires, was not hit hard, but was a bit wild in the early innings and received poor support from his mates who played sloppy ball all night.

The Millionaires outthit the Cubs 10 to 8, but in fairness to Diminico it should be said that the last two runs scored against him were the result of a collision in right field by Billy McDonald and Len Rallo on an easy fly for the latter and a two base hit by Albie McDonnell that should have been a routine out for a left fielder playing where he belonged for a left hand batter.

The Cubs played snappy headsup ball last night while the Millionaires were slow and below form. The next game of the series will be played Tuesday night on Leonard Field.

HOLIDAY TENNIS

"Tim" Connors of Loring avenue won the Winchester Playground tennis championship for boys 17 and under in the final round of play the holiday afternoon on the Ginn Field courts. Paul Rowland of Leonard Field was runner-up. Margaret MacDonald, also of Loring avenue won the older girls' championship with still another Loring avenue entrant, Edith Haggerty, runner-up.

John Tarbell of Ginn Field won the championship for boys 14 and under with Robert Maynard of Palmer street, runner-up. Doris McKee was the winner, and Veronica McCarron, runner-up, in the younger class for girls. Both Doris and Veronica represented Loring avenue, giving this playground five of the eight champions.

Preliminary rounds and semi-finals were played on last Saturday afternoon at the various playgrounds, with the following winners meeting on the holiday:

PILGRIM LAUNDRY SHOWING UNIQUE TRUCK

The Pilgrim Laundry, whose plant at 65 Alorton street in Boston serves Winchester, has placed on the road an unique truck demonstrating its method of marking laundry invisibly, ensuring positive identification of all garments and pieces of laundry entering the plant without the necessity of resorting to the usual indelible marking so apparent to the eye.

Though marked legibly, the marks on clothes sent to Pilgrim are invisible to the eye under all but a certain type of artificial light. This light is provided by generators in the rear of the special new demonstrator truck, and is permitted to play at intervals on pieces of laundry showing the marking when the light strikes the cloth.

Clothing is shown at both sides of the truck with flashing letters on the body explaining the display and advertising the service. The truck, which has attracted big crowds wherever it has been displayed, was driven to Winchester by Mr. Eric Foster, a representative of the Pilgrim Company, who called at the Star office to explain his plant's service and show the bright yellow truck with its tricky electrical equipment.

The Pilgrim Laundry, whose advertisement appears in another column of the Star, specializes in modern cleansing of the highest type at a cost which they believe will prove a pleasant surprise to Winchester housewives.

Is it any wonder that Rejuvaton is being so enthusiastically accepted? Just imagine being able to wear and wear your suit or dress and still have it fresh and practically free from wrinkles! That is what Rejuvaton does for you! Your garments keep their shape longer, so need cleaning less often.

The Golden Text is: "Create in me a clean heart, O God; and renew a right spirit within me" (Psalm 51:10).
Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon the following follow from the Bible: "If any man speak, let him speak as the oracles of God; if any man minister, let him do it as of the ability which God giveth: that God in all things may be glorified" (1 Peter 4:11).
The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following: "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy. We walk in the footstep of Truth and Love by following the example of our Master in the understanding of the metaphysics of Christianity is the basis of true healing. Whatever holds human thought in line with unfeeling love, receives directly the divine power" (p. 192).

"FORGOTTEN WOMEN" OF THE CRUSADES
Twentieth century travelers, hunting new scenes for the local vacation season, may find a thrill by turning the clock back 800 years in visits to Europe's Beginnings. What are these Beginnings? . . . Homes of the Beguines, and the Beguines, says the National Geographic Society, are a feminine hold-over from the days of the Crusades. An order of lay sisterhoods, the Beguines are believed by many to have taken their name from Lambert le Begue, a priest of Liege, Belgium. Toward the end of the 12th century this priest, seeking a solution to the economic and social problem of women left unprotected by their crusading menfolk, built a cloister and church (St. Christopher) as a haven of Liege for these "forgotten women" of a holy war. The movement spread through the Low Countries. By the end of the 13th century, Beguines, as the settlements came to be called, were established in many communities of Belgium, The Netherlands, northern France, and Germany. Women of all classes joined them. Sometimes wealthy women gave their fortunes to the sisterhood. In other cases, the poor were received and taken care of in institutions that became virtually almshouses. Today, mostly as charity centers, Beguines are still found in northern Europe, especially in Belgium and The Netherlands.

Surrounded by thick walls whose heavy gates are closed at night, they have narrow, winding streets, rows of gabled houses, shops, market places, and churches. Like cities within cities, Beguines today are islands of serenity, in the midst of modern life, where members go and come, obeying their simple rules, visiting their families and friends, ministering to the sick and needy. Clever with handwork, many Beguines make their living and finance their charity by lace-making and embroidery.

First Newspaper
The first newspaper was the Gazette of Venice issued in 1563 during the war with the Turks. It received its name from the small coin, called gazetta, the price charged for the privilege of reading it.

SEASIDE PALACES RETURNED TO FORMER SPANISH KING

A story that rivals those of competing chambers of commerce in the United States is recalled by the recent announcement from Spain that the new government would restore to former King Alfonso XIII his private properties. The properties consist principally of the two palaces at Santander and at San Sebastian, and the island of Cortegada, off the Galician coast. All of these communities once competed actively for the royal favor.

In the early years of the 20th century the royal family usually spent the summer at the famous seaside resort at San Sebastian near the French frontier, the Monte Carlo of Spain, says a bulletin from the Washington, D. C., headquarters of the National Geographic Society. This was the most fashionable bathing resort, frequented by the grandees of Spain. There were the usual gambling casino, bull fights, horse and motor races, yacht regattas, tennis tournaments, golf matches, concerts and theatrical performances for the amusement of the aristocracy.

Resorts Bid for Royal Favor
The royal family's palace at San Sebastian, the Palacio de Miramar, is a reddish-brown structure on a rocky promontory jutting out into the Bay of Biscay. It was designed by an English architect more than 40 years ago, and was long the favorite summer residence of the Queen Mother.

About 100 miles west along the coast is Santander, of equal natural advantages. Much farther west, off the coast of Galicia, is the island of Cortegada which was owned by the king. When there was talk of erecting a palace on the island, the city council of Santander presented the king with the Palace of the Magdalena, named for the peninsula near Santander from which the palace windows command unusual views. The large grounds include a polo field. This palace became the summer favorite of King Alfonso and his queen, while the Queen Mother chose to remain at San Sebastian. Spanish society followed the king to Santander and rich Spaniards from South America built their villas there with a loss of popularity to the older resort of San Sebastian.

Monarchs of Spain abdicated or were forced from their thrones on four occasions during the 19th century, and once during the present century. For two years Spain had a republic after which Don Alphonso, the son of Queen Isabella, was enthroned as King Alphonso XII and ruled until his death in 1885. Alphonso XIII, who was born six months after his father's death, became king in 1902 and fled from his throne and Spain in 1931.

SAVINGS BANK INSURANCE

Savings Bank Life Insurance in force in Massachusetts now totals approximately $170,000,000. It was announced this week following the annual meeting of the Savings Bank Life Insurance Council. This constitutes an increase of $19,500,000 from the figure at this time last year. An increase of 32 per cent in the total of new insurance issued was reported for the first six months of 1939 as compared with the same period last year.

Crawford H. Stocker, Jr. treasurer of the Lynn Five Cents Savings Bank was re-elected president of the Council at the annual meeting. Other officers were re-elected as follows: R. P. Nutting, treasurer of Cambridgeport Savings Bank, Cambridge, Vice President; Granville H. Beever, treasurer of the Cambridge Savings Bank, treasurer; and Clyde S. Casady, executive secretary. ### GRANADA ATTRACTIONS

"The Hardys Ride High" the latest of this popular series, with the cast of favorites including Mickey Rooney, Lewis Stone, Cecelia Parker, Fay Holden, Ann Rutherford and Sara Haden, opens at the Granada Theatre in Maiden on Friday. The picture opens with Lewis Stone, as Judge Hardy, receiving word that he is the heir to a $2,000,000 estate. They fly to Detroit by plane to secure the legacy. Mickey Rooney and his sister, Cecelia Parker, are thrilled when they see the huge estate which is to be their home. Then Judge Hardy discovers from his private papers that it is not the legal heir. He may, if he chooses, destroy the evidence and keep the fortune. But he does not hesitate and his wife agrees with him. The wealth is renounced and the Hardy family returns to Carvel and resume life as they did before they came into money.

"Society Lawyer" starring Walter Pidgeon, Virginia Bruce, Leo Carrillo and Eduardo Cienfuegos, is the second attraction on the bill starting Friday. This laugh-provoking and thrilling murder mystery reveals the efforts of Walter Pidgeon, Virginia Bruce and Leo Carrillo to save the life of a client of Pidgeon's from the chair on a framed murder charge.

MILK CHART FOR MONTHS OF JANUARY, FEBRUARY, MARCH 1939

Published by the Winchester Board of Health

The bacteria count in this chart gives the number of bacteria found in one c. c. taken from the center of the sample after it had been well shaken. It should be remembered that another c. c. taken from the same sample might give a somewhat different count, but the difference would rarely, if ever, exceed 10 per cent.

BOYS WON AGAIN

Once again the boys team won from the girls in the weekly radio quiz at the Winchester Theatre last Saturday afternoon. Attorney Leo F. Garvey was master of ceremonies. The winning team included Donald Zubrisky, Richard Sheehan and Anthony Kelli. The girls' team comprised Margaret Joyce, Carolyn Ludwig and Katherine O'Malley.

"ONLY ANGELS HAVE WINGS" AT THE UNIVERSITY

Hailed as "1939's greatest screen adventure" by preview critics, the new Howard Hawks production "Only Angels Have Wings" starts Sunday for four days at the University Theatre. Cary Grant and Jean Arthur, appearing together for the first time, are starred in the new film, said to be compounded of tropical romance and thrilling adventure. In South America, "Only Angels Have Wings" concerns a commercial aviation field operated in a little South American banana port by Cary Grant. His pilots are a desperate crew of devil-may-care adventurers willing to fly any old crate with wings into any sort of weather. Jean Arthur, a show girl, whose troupe has broken up farther south, arrives on the weekly banana freighter en route to Panama. She falls in love with Grant and decides to stay. But Cary, a confirmed philanderer, turns his attentions to Rita Hayworth, the wife of Richard Barthelmess, one of his newly arrived fliers. Thomas Mitchell as a "punch-drunk" aviator, victim of many a crackup and Sig Ruman as the Dutchman amiable old Hollander who runs the combination hotel and bar-room of the town as well as the airport have outstanding roles in this thriller. Important parts too are played by Noah Berry, Jr., Allyn Joslyn, Donald Barry, Melissa Sierra, Victor Kilian, Vernon Dent and Pat West.

John Howard, Heather Angel, H. B. Warner, E. E. Ohio, Elizabeth Patterson and Reginald Denny, all names familiar to the screen in a thrilling new mystery yarn, "Bulldog Drummond's Secret Police" the associate feature.

Headed by Bing Crosby and Joan Blondell, one of the most capable casts ever found in a single picture was assembled for "East Side of Heaven," which opens Thursday. Bing and Joan are co-starred in this film which features hit songs, romance and comedy against a strong human background. And they are surrounded by a galaxy of players who already are knocking at Hollywood's carefully guarded portals leading to stardom. Mischa Auer, often referred to as the mad Russian, tops the supporting cast. "Sandy," 10-month old baby, does such a surprising job that studio executives already have the parents' signatures on a long term contract. Irene Hervey, who portrays Sandy's mother, is one of the film colony's most rapidly ascending young actresses. C. Aubrey Smith is a veteran of many extraordinary films. Jerome Cowan gives further proof of why Hollywood won't let him go back to Broadway.

The thrills, romances, sorrows and joys of those intrepid aviators who have made aviation their career are graphically related in "Women in the Wind" the companion picture featuring Kay Francis and William Gargan.

Home-Training the Child

The love of all that is good and honorable, the hatred of all that is base and loathsome, to be effective should be instilled, as far as possible, during childhood and at home.

SUNDAY DINNER SUGGESTIONS

By Cora Anthony
 Director of the A & P Kitchen
 The most noticeable feature of the week's markets is the profusion of fruits. Berries, currant, gooseberries, sweet and sour cherries, apricots, peaches, pears, plums and nectarines, melons, figs, mangoes and pineapple are all available in addition to the citrus fruits. The Starr variety of summer apples is coming to market and is a source for aromatic apple sauce and new apple pies.
 Atlantic salmon and swordfish are now in market. Meats in general are little changed in price though the trend is upward. Poultry butter and eggs are all very reasonable.
 There has been little change in the variety of vegetables available.

Low Cost Dinner

Baked Boned Smoked Shoulder
 Scalloped Potatoes New Cabbage
 Bread and Butter
 Cherry Pie
 Tea or Coffee Milk
 Medium Cost Dinner
 Veal and Ham Loaf
 Browned Potatoes
 Cauliflower
 Bread and Butter
 Blueberry Cake with Blueberry Sauce
 Tea or Coffee Milk

Very Special Dinner

Tomato and Avocado Cocktail
 Roast Beef Parsley Potatoes
 Steamed Summer Squash Green Peas
 Spring Fruit Conserve

MALDEN STRAND THEATRE

Myrna Loy and Robert Taylor appear together for the first time in "Lucky Night," which opens at the Strand Theatre in Malden on Friday. "Lucky Night" is one of the gayest and most sparkling comedy romances of the year. Myrna Loy is cast as the spoiled daughter of a millionaire steel magnate. She walks out on her father's engagement to hunt for a job. Robert Taylor is cast as a playboy down on his luck. Following an accidental meeting on a park bench, they gamble, frolic and fight their way to fortune. The supporting cast includes Henry O'Neill, Douglas Fowley and Marjorie Main.
 "Man of Conquest," including Richard Dix, Gail Patrick, Edward Ellis, Joan Fontaine, Victor Jory, Robert Barrat, Robert Armstrong, C. Henry Gordon, George E. Stone, Ralph Morgan and Mary Lee Beecher, will be the second attraction on the bill starting Friday. "Man of Conquest" is a sweeping spectacle based on the colorful life of Sam Houston. "Man of Conquest" takes its consideration of Houston's life from the time he dwelt with the Cherokee tribes for a year, through his career in politics, to his glorious campaign that resulted in an independent Texas.

AUE-DEVEAU

There is Winchester interest in the marriage which took place in St. Joseph's Church, Wakefield, on Sunday afternoon, July 9, at 3:30 o'clock, when Miss Mary Emily Deveau of Park avenue, Wakefield, daughter of Mr. Albert Deveau of Nova Scotia, became the bride of Otto Oswald Aue of Elmwood avenue, son of Mrs. Martha Aue of Adams, Rev. Father Holleran performed the ceremony in an attractive setting of spring flowers.

Miss Deveau was given in marriage by her brother, Joshua Surette of Malden. She had for her attendant her sister, Mrs. Elliott Fuchs of Palisade, N. J., and the bridesmaids were Miss Helen Aue of Adams, sister of the bridegroom, and Mrs. Leo Brenner of Woburn. Miss Arline Surette of Malden, small niece of the bride, and Miss Joyce Buchanan, also of Malden, were flower girls.

Theodore Turcotte of Adams served as ring bearer and the ushers were Henry Trulson of Arlington and Joseph Benenato of Malden.

The bride wore a gown of white satin and lace with a conventional veil of tulle and carried a bouquet of white roses and valley lilies. The honor attendant wore a dress of peach net and lace and carried a bouquet of tea roses. The bridesmaids wore frocks similar to that of the honor attendant in aquamarine and carried spring flowers.

After the ceremony a reception was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Bartlett Walton in Wakefield, the bride and bridegroom being assisted in receiving by Mrs. Fuchs and the bridegroom's mother.

Upon their return from a wedding journey Mr. Aue and his bride will live in Winchester at 57 Heminway street where they will be at home after July 16. Mr. Aue, a graduate of Bentley School of Accounting and Finance, is associated with the International Co-operative Company in Winchester and is a past noble grand of Waterfield Lodge, I. O. O. F.

BOARD OF APPEAL AFFIRMS GRANTING OF BUILDING PERMIT FOR BOWLING ALLEY

The Board of Appeal, Messrs. Harrison F. Lyman, Leon D. Hughes and F. Patterson Smith, has denied the appeal of a group of residents from the granting of a permit, issued by Building Commissioner Maurice Timineo to Salvatore Marchesi, to construct a bowling alley at 66 Swanton street.

The Board of Selectmen, after a hearing, granted a license for the bowling alley in the spring of this year and the issuing of a building permit prompting residents in the vicinity of the proposed alley to petition the Board of Appeal to void the license and building permit. A hearing was granted the applicants by the Board on June 28, at which time their case was presented by Attorney Arthur Thad Smith, Jr. Mr. Marchesi was represented by Attorney Frank P. Hurley.

The appellants, who were represented as owning property in the vicinity of the proposed alley valued in excess of $50,000, contended that a bowling alley at the proposed location violates Section 9-A of the Zoning By-Laws because the noise and vibration occasioned would be injurious to public health and safety. They contended that the alley also violates Section 9-B of the Zoning By-Laws because it would be harmful to public morals, and that it violates Section 9-C of the same laws because it would be injurious to the health, safety, morals and welfare of the community and harmful to property therein. They further contended that the use of a building as a bowling alley is not included among the uses listed in Section 5-B of the Zoning By-Laws for which buildings may be used in the business district, and argued that the Selectmen have no right to grant a permit for the use of a building in contravention of the Zoning Laws of the town.

In its decision the Board of Appeal did not find that the operation of a bowling alley at the location requested would violate the terms of the Zoning By-Laws.

While the Board felt it is undoubtedly true that the alley would cause noise and vibration which might be annoying to neighbors and might result in a bathing suit contest among its members could not find that a properly conducted alley "would result in any injury to public morals or to the public safety," nor did it think that the use of a building for such a purpose, it can be said to be injurious to the public health or harmful to the property in the community in the sense in which those terms are used in the zoning laws.

"It must be remembered," the Board continued, "that the location in question is in a business district and uses of buildings in business districts, for business purposes, are, and must be permitted, for such uses may, incidentally, be annoying to neighbors and although they may tend to reduce property values."

Under Section 5-B of the Zoning By-Laws, the use of a building in the business district is permitted for a "theatre, hall, club, dancing academy, or other place of amusement or assembly," and the Board of Appeal feels that a bowling alley is a place of amusement within the meaning of this section.

As a consequence the Board ruled that it becomes unnecessary for the applicant to obtain permission from the Board of Appeal for the erection of his building as a bowling alley under Section 5-B of the Zoning By-Laws. The Board therefore affirms the action of the Building Commissioner in granting a permit to Salvatore Marchesi for the erection of a bowling alley at 66 Swanton street.

ITALIANS TO HAVE THREE-DAY FETE

The town's Italian residents are planning a three-day celebration of the Feast of the Assumption this year, commencing with a religious procession on Sunday, Aug. 13, leaving St. Mary's Church at 2 p. m., and proceeding through the streets of the Italian section.

Monday evening there will be a carnival and band concert by the Napoli Band on Leonard field, and the day will be continued with a second band concert and a display of fireworks under the direction of Antonio Natale, who used to put on the displays at Manchester Field years ago.

30TH ANNIVERSARY

Mr. and Mrs. John A. Powers of Sylvester avenue observed their 30th wedding anniversary last Saturday evening with a reception at their home from 7 to 11 o'clock. Many guests and best wishes were received with anniversary gifts and flowers. Relatives and friends from Winchester and surrounding towns and cities greeted the host and hostess.

The guests included Mr. and Mrs. Ruth Nelson of Wakefield, the Misses Margaret and Irene Powers of this town, and their sons, John A. Powers, Jr., Kenneth, Richard and Robert Powers.

ANNOUNCE ENGAGEMENT OF MISS BESSE

Mr. and Mrs. Ara Gage Besse of 540 Washington street, announce the engagement of their daughter, Miss Virginia Besse, to John A. Phillips, son of Mr. and Mrs. William R. Phillips of Amesville, Ohio.

Miss Besse is a graduate of Jackson College for Women at Tufts and of the Katherine Gibbs School.

PERLEY H. RANDALL

Perley H. Randall, a former well known resident of Winchester and his retirement proprietor of Randall's ice cream and confectionery store on Mt. Vernon street, died Saturday morning, July 8, at the Emerson Hospital in Forest Hills, following a year's illness.

Mr. Randall was the son of Captain William V. and Delania (Soule) Randall. He was born in 1864 at Cheabogue Island, Me., and spent the early years of his life at Portland and Peak's Island engaging in various seafaring activities.

In 1915 he came with his family to Winchester, taking over the ice cream and confectionery business on Mt. Vernon street formerly owned by Charles Young and continuing with his son, Denton W. Randall, until his retirement ten years ago, when his son became owner.

Mr. Randall was a member of the New England Confectioners' Association and widely known to the trade. He was highly esteemed by his business associates and those who knew him well, and generally liked by all with whom he came in contact.

Since leaving Winchester Mr. Randall had been making his home in Cambridge. He was twice married, his first wife, the former Emily Sarah MacNeill of Cranston, P. E. I., having died in 1926. He leaves a daughter, Miss Margaret E. Randall of this town; two sons, Denton W. of Winchester and Roy A. Randall of Newburyport, and two granddaughters, Frances and Eleanor Randall of this town. His second wife, the former Salome Finlay, of Cambridge, also survives.

Funeral services were held Tuesday afternoon in the Brackett Memorial Church at Peak's Island, Me., with Rev. Percival Ridland officiating. Interment was in the family lot in Pond Grove Cemetery there.

WINCHESTER RED CROSS PLANS CARNIVAL

Full speed ahead for the carnival which will be held at Leonard Beach Aug. 12. There are rumors that the local swimming events will be topped up by three New England Amateur championship races, and who knows perhaps a bathing suit contest for the girls. At any rate there will be events in the water for all including even the littlest beginners. Negotiations are now underway with Lexington to provide a suitable excitement in the way of a swimming race during the first week of August. In addition, both Wedge and Leonard have been making many boasts about their respective abilities. The last week of the summer is the best time to have a chance to make good on all their ambitious statements.

Samplings

Helen Carroll is now assisting in advanced swimming at both Wedge and Leonard. The names Pete and Buddy ought to be mentioned here for some timely assistance at Wedge the other morning. Our diving group has enlarged to the excellent number of five girls and one boy.

When you come to the meets this season, watch some of these Winchester youngsters perform. Honorable mention to a couple of hard workers in the advanced swimming group, Edith and Joan. There are some parents who do not yet understand that all classes in the mornings are open, without charge, to all youngsters (adults too) who want to learn how to swim or who need to smooth out their strokes a little. Extra: Massachusetts State Board of Health Okays water at both Wedge and Leonard!

SELECTIONS NOTES

The surest way to impress people, particularly visitors to Winchester, that this town is operated on a safe and sane basis for the residents themselves to realize it fully and to help by observing the laws, especially the traffic rules and regulations. These regulations, however irksome they may be to some, are necessary to protect them and their property without a great deal of thought, not only by the Selectmen and the town counsel but also by the state authorities on traffic control. There is a stop sign or other traffic indicator that has not been placed where it is for a very definite reason having to do with a condition dangerous to the public.

Stop signs at dangerous intersections should be observed; speeding on trunk highways such as Highland avenue, Forest street, Church, Main and Washington streets is a menace to safety; and each driver should feel that the regulations were made to protect him and that he is the only exception to the observance of the law.

There is quite a noticeable lack of co-operation on the part of certain drivers about town and their failure to observe the signs is not only dangerous but shows a decided lack of civic consciousness and makes them liable to prosecution. The police department has not been able to enforce traffic control and each Winchester citizen can and should help to keep the town safe and law-abiding. The police department has been ordered to see that regulations are observed. You do your part and do not criticize if you are stopped for flagrant violation of safety measures.

FROM THE TAX COLLECTOR

Tax Collector Nathaniel M. Nichols announces that some 800 outstanding motor excise tax bills must be paid by Monday, July 17, to avoid the addition of 35c for a demand.

Mr. and Mrs. Franklin E. Barnes and their son Warren are at Great Cheabogue Island, Me.

PLAYGROUND NOTES

Playground activities have swung to a new high after the hot spell as shown through the request for a new softball league for boys and girls. Thus in addition to our four team senior league and our six team junior league we are forming a senior softball league for older girls and a softball league for boys under 12.

It is too early to predict anything in regard to the outcome of either the junior or senior league race. Lorraine Avenue which won the championship last year, has fielded another promising club. Bobby Collins showed some of his father's ability last week when he fielded 10 chances at short without an error and came up with the hit.

The event of the year took place on Leonard field when a stranger stepped out of a New York car and offered to throw a few "tots". The 20 or 30 players who were present ready to start the opening game of the senior league. The opening game was immediately postponed when it became known the stranger was none other than Virgil Barnes, who pitched with the New York Giants from 1911 to 1922. The next two hours will long be remembered by the youngsters who were present.

Barnes took the box shortly after he is considered one of the best current ball pitchers in the history of baseball. He threw fork balls, screw balls, knuckle balls and fadeaways and keenly enjoyed the inability of the members to hit his offerings. It was unfortunate that a few prospective high school pitchers could not be present to learn the true meaning of a real "change of pace".

Handcraft and sewing in charge of Mr. Moody and Mrs. Saunders respectively, have proved extremely popular over the past two weeks the shelter houses being crowded last afternoon. If any more mothers join the quilt making class we may have to ask for larger quarters.

The following is a copy of the schedule of activities which is posted on each playground:

Monday
Morning Senior baseball, soft ball, basketball.

Tuesday Morning Junior baseball and dance ball at Leonard field.

Afternoon Tennis practice, handcraft at Leonard field; story telling at Loring Avenue.

Wednesday
Morning Senior softball league contests; shelter house contests.

Afternoon Tennis practice; handcraft at Loring Avenue; Sewing at Leonard field.

Thursday
Morning Junior baseball, soft ball, senior girls; swimming club at Leonard field.

Afternoon Tennis practice; handcraft at Leonard field; sewing at Loring Avenue.

Friday
Morning Senior baseball; croquet tournament; basketball.

Afternoon Tennis instruction at Loring Avenue; Tennis instruction at Leonard field.

Saturday
Junior baseball; soft ball for juniors; story telling; handcraft.

Afternoon Contest afternoon

Special Events

Each Thursday will be set aside as Special Event Day. The first event of this series will be "Hot dog" hour at MacDonald's fire place, every Thursday. The other special events are as follows:

Baseball trip to Boston, July 17.
Craft Exhibit, Aug. 12.
Bicycle Club, Aug. 9.

In addition to the above-named events, trips will be made to the following places although no special dates have been assigned: Arthur F. Farnsworth, Jr., Concord, N. H. and tennis trips to surrounding towns.

MISS WENTWORTH ENGAGED

Mr. and Mrs. Royal Sumner Wentworth of Calumet road and Buckport, Me., announce the engagement of their daughter, Miss Barbara Wentworth, to Mr. Kenneth Palmer Miller of Cambridge, son of the Rev. Dr. and Mrs. Isaac E. Miller of Cincinnati, Ohio.

Miss Wentworth is a graduate of Abbot Academy and the Garland School and was for two years a member of the concert group of the Hans Wiedersheim of the Harvard.

Mr. Miller was graduated from Ohio Wesleyan University, and also studied at the University of Frankfurt am Main, Germany. He has taught at the University of Syracuse, and is at present instructor in English and tutor in the division of modern languages at Harvard. He is a member of Phi Kappa Psi and Phi Beta Kappa.

The wedding will take place Aug. 19.

LUNCHEON PARTY

Miss Mary Alice Fitch of Sheffield, Mass. who has been registered at Turk's Inn, Rockport, gave a small luncheon Monday at the Inn for Mrs. Michael Hintlian, Mrs. Reginald Robinson and Miss Jean Robinson of Rockport, and Mrs. Robert Whitten of Rockport.

The table centerpiece was a most attractive arrangement of Van Fleet roses in a silver bowl on a turquoise mat, the roses being from the lovely Inn garden.

MR. FARNSWORTH TRUSTEE

Mr. Harold V. Farnsworth of Central green, former chairman of the Board of Assessors, was Wednesday appointed by Governor Leverett Saltonstall to the Board of Trustees of Lowell Textile Institute in Lowell.

Mr. Farnsworth was graduated from Lowell Textile Institute in 1916. He has been active in the affairs of the Institute's alumni and is at present serving as vice president of the Alumni Association.

HOWE-LOCKE

The marriage of Miss Georgia Fowler Locke, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick C. Locke of Highland avenue, to Spencer Douglas Howe of Gloucester, will take place on Saturday afternoon, July 15, at 4 o'clock. Rev. George Hale Reed, minister of the Unitarian Church, will perform the ceremony which will take place on the lawn at the home of the bride's parents unless rain makes an indoor wedding necessary, in which case the ceremony will be held in the Unitarian Church.

Miss Locke will be given in marriage by her father. She will wear a long-sleeved pique dress with a long-sleeved pique jacket and will carry an old fashioned garden bouquet of pink and white roses, bachelor buttons and baby's breath. Mrs. C. L. Goodnow of Franklin will be her sister's only attendant. She will wear a cotton pique dress of pale green with a light blue jacket and will carry a bouquet of yellow roses.

Thorndike Dudley Howe, 2nd, of Houston, Texas, will be his brother's best man, and the ushers will be Dr. Chodrow, Dr. Edmund M. Pollard of Winchester and Minot Pitman of New York City.

At the reception the bride and bridegroom, who is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Thorndike Dudley Howe and the late Colonel Howe, will be assisted in receiving by the bride attendants, the parents of the bride and the bridegroom's mother. Mr. Howe and his bride are flying to Mobile, Ala., and will make their home temporarily in that city.

The bride graduated from Winchester High School and attended Mt. Holyoke College. Mr. Howe, who is engaged in contract engineering, attended the School of Engineering at Harvard.

IN OLD TIMERS' GAME

Horace Ford, proprietor of the restaurant and ice cream shop on Winchester terrace, played the whole game at shortstop for the National League "old timers" who defeated the American League "old timers" at Fenway Park on Wednesday.

The former Tufts star who played his last ball game for the Red Sox, New Haven, Braves, Phillies, Brooklyn, Minneapolis, Cincinnati and St. Louis Cardinals, and who holds the big league double play record with the St. Louis Cardinals, played a very smooth game, making one unassisted double play and contributing a sparkling catch of a low liner that resulted in another twin killing.

"Dod" admitted he was not so torrid and says he'll get in a spot of practice before the next "old timers" battle. As a matter of fact, at the post-game banquet at the Statler, it came out that the ex-league players who did well with the low on Wednesday were those who had been practicing a bit or who are still actively identified with the game and looking at pitching all the time.

"Dod" said the "old timers" found Walter Johnson and Howard Ehmke still plenty fast with "Ed" Walsh's slow ball seeming very slow by comparison. Ford had a record with Eddie Eyerer, his "roomie" when he first signed with the Braves right after the war.

Several from Winchester went in to see the game, including Ernest Eustis, George Franklin, Allan Wilde, Jack Finkes, Dr. Philip Leonard, Ben Hills and Mrs. Hills, Miss Mary Murphy and Mrs. Harriet Kolb. Rev. Conrad J. Quirbach, former assistant at St. Mary's, was also among those at the game.

VALUABLE RINGS RECOVERED

Mrs. E. B. Badger of Prospect street is happy in the recovery of four rings, valued at $2000 and a year old William B. Badger of Flushing Hillcrest, Queens, N. Y., is richer by $250, the reward he received for the return of the rings which he found on a Queens road near Pononok County Club, Flushing, Long Island, on Tuesday.

Mrs. Badger is believed to have dropped the rings when she stopped to watch the professional golfers in their national tourney. A newspaper brought her and the youthful finder of her property together.

HEARING ON TAX BILL

A hearing on House Bill 2477, which is an emergency act to permit assessors to receive tax rates already announced and make new tax rates will be held in the State House before the Committee on Taxation July 20 at 10:30 a. m.

This bill is the petition of Chairman John F. Cassidy of the local Board of Assessors et als and was drawn to cover the necessity for making new tax rates because of belated returns of money from the State which must be used to lower local taxes.

MARRIAGE INTENTIONS

Marriage intentions have been filed with the town clerk as follows: Donald Melrose Ford of 14 Wedge pond road and Doris May Carlson of 325 Washington street.

Leo Michael O'Connor of 53 Sylvan street, Worcester, and Margaret Helen Walker of 9 Allen street.

Lawrence Nelson Gray of 16 Hillcrest Parkway and Violet Marilyn Lundgren of 74 Kirkland street, Cambridge.

TRADERS' DAY

Traders' Day will be observed on Wednesday, Aug. 2. Local stores will be closed all day on that day.

COMING EVENTS

July 18, Tuesday, Fruit and Flower Mission. Contributions should be left at the Winchester Station for the 9 a. m. train, or may be left at the home of the hostess.

ROTARY CLUB NOTES

Eight members were absent from the meeting of July 13. Visitors from Chelsea, Reading and Woburn were welcomed.

What! No Tom Quigley at the festive board? Alas, too true! And then it developed that the veteran 100 per center was on the sick list. A telephone call brought Tom himself to the receiver and the ensuing conversation indicated that Tom had all but forgotten about that sick spell. Anyway he is planning to be with us next Thursday, so all is forgiven.

Lost, strayed or stolen—Bill Hovey, Parker Holbrook, Curtis Nash and Dick Sheehy. Suitable rewards for their detection are being considered.

President Harry Damon was ready today with his list of committees to serve the club for the ensuing year. It looks as if there will be plenty of activity ahead. We note that the department of song has been fortified notably. Church Hinds, who has carried on so courageously these many years as song leader, will have plenty of assistance henceforth. Nor should we overlook the splendid success received from John Hach of the Reading club, who piloted us through the strains of the patriotic song recently added to our books.

We are getting suggestions for new members and solicit more suggestions. Members should bear in mind that an ideal Rotary club has in its membership a representative of every distinct and legitimate business or profession in its community. Constant vigilance is required to attain or reasonably approach this ideal. "Keep a hammering."

The annual revision of the club roster will be published in a few weeks as soon as certain data are obtainable. Suitable changes or improvements should be considered at once. Kindly explain your ideas to the secretary.

We regularly receive weekly letters from some half-dozen nearby Rotary clubs and we are most appreciative of this service. The letters, without exception, are excellent and furnish many suggestions for the improvement of our own service. To be afforded a glimpse of the accomplishments of these wide-awake clubs is to receive a stimulus for renewed effort on our own part. Surely an amplification of this correspondence would result in significant benefit to all concerned. We heartily welcome these messages from all local districts and from our friends in other districts.

Rule for making all our meetings as good as was the current meeting—come yourself, beginning Thursday, July 13.

Percentage of Attendance, July 6, 1939—73.33 per cent.

MRS. ANNIE B. BARRELL

Mrs. Annie B. Barrell, widow of William Lincoln Barrell, former president of the William L. Barrell Co., cotton textile manufacturers of Boston and New York, and dean of the cotton textile industry at the time of his death in 1933, died Thursday, July 13, at her home, 326 Highland avenue.

Mrs. Barrell, who was in her 77th year, was born in Glossop, England, the daughter of Alfred and Mary Hurst. She came to this country with her parents, and prior to coming to Winchester made her home for many years in Lawrence. During that time she was an active member of Trinity Congregational Church, later attending the First Congregational Church of this town.

Mrs. Barrell leaves a son, William A. Barrell of North Andover, and daughter, Mrs. Rolliston W. Lincoff of Melrose, five grandchildren and one great-granddaughter.

WEEK-END FIRES

The first alarm of last week-end came in at 8:57 Friday morning when some heavy bags on a truck owned by the C. H. Hall Co. of Somerville went on fire on Main street at Highland avenue. The fire was extinguished without damage, except to a few of the bags.

Saturday afternoon at 12:15 there was a brush fire at the corner of Allen road and Pierrepont road. The last run came at 12:01 Sunday morning for a false alarm pulled in from Box 34 on Cross street opposite Hotel street.

Bernard Eckberg, builder, reports the sale of this property at 6 Jefferson Road to Mr. and Mrs. William K. Irving of Medford.

MRS. ALICE QUIGLEY

Mrs. Alice (McElhiney) Quigley, wife of Patrick Quigley and for many years a resident of Winchester, died Monday morning, July 10, at her home, 17 Loring avenue, after a long illness.

Mrs. Quigley, who was in her 71st year, was a native of Ireland, but had spent most of her life in this country and had many friends among older residents of the town. She was a member of the Immaculate Conception Parish, and with her husband celebrated her golden wedding anniversary on Oct. 18 of last year.

Besides Mr. Quigley, she leaves five daughters, Mrs. Hannah Rafter of Woburn, Mrs. Sarah Frazer of Braintree, Mrs. Lena Brow of Swanton, Vt., Miss Mary Quigley and Miss Alice Quigley, both of Winchester; three sons, Charles, Thomas and James Quigley, all of Winchester; a brother, Patrick McElhiney, living in Ireland; 14 grandchildren and one great-grandchild.

The funeral was held Wednesday morning from the late residence with requiem high mass in the Immaculate Conception Church. Interment was in Oak Grove Cemetery, West Medford.

POWER—BLAKE

Miss Dorothy Blake of Holton street and Joseph A. Power of High street, Woburn, were quietly married Sunday afternoon, July 9, at the rectory of the Immaculate Conception Church by the pastor, Rev. James Fitzsimons. A reception was held after the ceremony at the home of the bride's grandmother.

Miss Blake wearing a white street costume with a picture hat and corsage of bride's roses, was attended by Miss Emma Bragole, who wore Venetian blue crepe with a Navy blue hat and a corsage of sweetheart roses. Leo Power of Woburn was Mr. Power's best man.

Mr. Power and his bride are to spend their honeymoon at Atlantic City in New Jersey. Upon their return they will make their home at 18 High street in Woburn.

BOYS AND GIRLS TIED IN QUIZ

The final radio quiz of the season was held at the Winchester Theatre last Saturday afternoon with the girls' team, after several setbacks tying the boys, 7 to 7.

Priscilla Flagg, Jean Rooney and Mary Wood comprised the girls' team and the boys were John Kenton, Thomas Hendrickson and Martin Joyce. Each of the six contestants were given a prize of $1 by Manager George Roland Carter, instead of the usual procedure of cash for the winners and passes to the theatre for the losers.

WINCHESTER RAINBOW GIRLS

To celebrate "Founder's Day" the Winchester Assembly, Order of Rainbow for Girls, held a picnic Saturday, July 8, at Crane's Beach, Ipswich. It was a perfect beach day and a good time was had by all.

LIONS CLUB INSTALLED

Thirty-five members of the Winchester Lions' Club and their ladies attended the annual installation of officers and banquet Monday evening at Sautage Inn in Lyndebury. John F. Conkley, retiring president, installed the new officers who are as follows:

President—Leo F. Garvey
First Vice President—Dr. Philip J. McManus
Second Vice President—Chris J. Powers
Secretary—Fred H. Scholl
Treasurer—Robert E. Shaw
Coun. Tamer—Stadford Rogers
Tall Twister—William H. Murray
Directors—John F. Conkley, Robert Knox, Dr. Robert L. Emery and William H. Murray

President Garvey's first official act, upon assuming office, was to present to retiring President and Mrs. Conkley a complete electric mixer as a wedding present from the club. Secretary Scholl presented the new president with an official, ribbon decorated gavel, which at a distance looked fit for a Sampson or a Goliath. Leo accepted it doubtfully, but found it as light as a feather, it having been fashioned from balsa wood.

After the installation dinner was served and dancing enjoyed. The committee in charge of arrangements included Dr. McManus, Dr. Robert L. Emery, Mr. Powers and Mr. Scholl.

WINCHESTER HISTORICAL SOCIETY

A special summer meeting of the Bay State Historical League will be held at Harvard, Mass., at the invitation of the Harvard Historical Society on Saturday, July 22 at 2 p. m. Members are asked to assemble at the Unitarian Church on the Common for a short session of literary exercises. A paper will be presented by Miss Clara Endicott Sears of the Harvard Society on "Gleanings from Old Shaker Journals."

The rooms of the Harvard Society at the Hapgood Memorial on the Common will be open from 1 to 5 p. m. and may be visited either before or after the session at the church. From the church, guests will go to Prospect Hill to visit Fruitlands and the Wayside Museums. After the visit to the Museums, tea will be served by the Harvard Society at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Percy A. Atherton on Bare Hill.

All members of the Winchester Historical Society are welcome at this meeting and are urged to attend. The Bay State League is very desirous that this be a large meeting, in order to reward the Harvard Society for its carefully prepared program.

McFEETERS—GROFF

Miss Maude Alice Groff, daughter of Mrs. Maybelle Winton of Church street, Stoneham, and George Warren McFeeters, son of Mr. George A. McFeeters of Main street, were married Saturday evening, July 8, at 7:30 o'clock, in Stoneham by Rev. Dwight Loder of the Stoneham Congregational Church.

Miss Groff, wearing a gown of powder blue with white and pink sashes and a gardenia corsage, was attended by Mrs. Lena Olivadiotti of Woburn. Mrs. Olivadiotti wore a royal blue and white printed sheer, also with white accessories and a corsage of gardenias with white breath. Joseph Olivadiotti of Woburn was Mr. McFeeters' best man.

After the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bridegroom's brother, also in Stoneham. Mr. and Mrs. Robert McFeeters, on Irving street, the house being decorated in pink and white. Mr. and Mrs. McFeeters assisted the bridal party in journey.

Upon their return from a wedding journey Mr. McFeeters and his bride will make their home in Stoneham at 59 Franklin street.

MRS. ANNIE ISABELLE MacDONALD

Mrs. Annie Isabelle MacDonald, wife of John J. MacDonald of 13 Kendall street, died at her home Sunday evening, July 9, after a long illness. Mrs. MacDonald, a native of Glen Alpine, Antigonish, N. S., was the daughter of John and Isabelle (MacGillivray) MacDonald. She was in her 67th year, and came to Winchester in 1903. She was married in this town 34 years ago, was an ardent member of St. Mary's Parish, and was held in high esteem by all with whom she came in contact.

Besides her husband, Mrs. MacDonald is survived by a daughter, Miss Isabelle MacDonald; a sister, Miss Isabelle MacDonald, both of this town; and by a sister, Mrs. Mary MacDougall of Brookline.

The funeral will be held Wednesday morning from the late residence with requiem high mass in St. Mary's Church. Interment was in Calvary Cemetery.

NEWSY PARAGRAPHS

CUBS TAKE SECOND STRAIGHT

Winchester Cubs made it two in a row over the Millionaires in the second game of their series for the championship of the town Tuesday evening on Leonard Field, winning 5-2 behind the really effective pitching of Gaudioso.

Big left-handed Libby was in fine form, mixing up his line with a sharp curve and change of pace that had the Moneyman baffled in six of the seven frames played. He deserved a shutout and would have had one too, had Kenton backed up a few steps in the 6th to take McKee's routine fly that went over his head and through the fence for a trick double and one of the two runs scored by the losers.

Generally speaking Gaudioso was given good support by his mates, neither of the two errors made behind him counting in the scoring. Two of the hits made off his delivery might have been erased with faster fielding. McKee's handle hit over the infield in the second and "Junie" Donaghey's well hit double in the 6th were the only legitimate hits the Moneyman could garner.

Old General Robert E. Lee was in trouble every inning he worked until he left the hill with one away in the 5th. Joe McKee, who relieved him, pitched himself out of a bad hole and got by the 6th safely. In the 7th his fast one was losing its zip and the Cubs put over their final tally with darkness settling over the field.

The Cubs just missed scoring in the opening inning when Base Umpire Flaherty called Sam Provinzano out at first on a very questionable play with Ralko on third. Kenton walked to start the second, was sacrificed to second by McDonald, went to third when Lee hit Gaudioso after passing Murphy and scored on a wild pitch. Styles hit past Dineen with one away in the third an went to second when Provinzano's sharp grounder went through Saunders. He reached third when Saunders erased Provinzano at second on Kenton's grounder and scored when McDonald hit through short.

DeTeso singled through short to start the 5th and went all the way to third when Lee threw wild to second on Styles attempted sacrifice. Styles was thrown out stealing, DeTeso holding third. Provinzano brought him in with a single to left and advanced on a wild pitch. Kenton tripled to far center, scoring Provinzano and McKee changed places with Lee. McDonald walked and Manzie was hit, filling the bases. McKee bore down hard and fanned Murphy while Gaudioso's rap to Rod McDonnell forced Manzie at second.

With two out in the Millionaires' 6th McKee looped a fly to left that Kenton misjudged, the ball going through the fence for a synthetic double. Kendrick hit a half fly to second that McDonald played too slowly to first to get the umpire's nod on a very close play. McKee reaching third, Gaudioso got two strikes on Junie Donaghey and then made one too good, the Millionaires' first sacker pasting the ball to deep right for a legitimate double, scoring McKee and Kendrick. Saunders walked but Manzie took Farrell's hoist in center to end the inning.

Provinzano and Kenton singled to left in the 7th. Sammy was erased at third on McDonald's hopper to Lee, but when Farrell threw wide to second to get Kenton off, the runner reached third and scored on Manzie's squeeze bunt.

Lee skied to Murphy in right to start the Moneyman's 7th. McKee, McDonnell drew a pass and advanced on a wild pitch. Gaudioso fanned Albie MacDonnell and the game was all over when Murphy made a nice running catch of Rusty Donaghey's whistling low liner, a hard ball to judge in the murky light. The summary:

Cublets

Best crowd of the year, and to judge by the rooting, a strongly partisan crowd with the Cubs the favorites.

Styles made a swell play on Rusty Donaghey's bid for a hit in the first, smothering his hard drive between first and second and beating the stocky catcher to the bag.

If Sammy Provinzano was out at first in the opener then Kendrick was surely out in the Millionaires' 6th. These questionable decisions by Base Umpire Flaherty took one off the Cubs' score and gave the Millionaires a chance to score two. Kendrick's life after Kenton's misjudging McKee's easy fly seemed to upset Gaudioso for there was no need of his tossing that nice one up to "Junie" Donaghey with the count two strikes and nothing.

Billy McDonald really likes to go after those high flies in the outfield. He took one right under Ralph Murphy's nose in the fifth, a ball that belonged to the right fielder.

Toward the end of it both Gaudioso and DeTeso were kicking plenty on Gentile's decisions on balls and strikes. Looked like they were justified in squawking several times.

Gentile missed one when he permitted Rusty Donaghey to catch the ball he had hit in front of the plate in the ninth. The ball struck in fair territory and was in fair territory when Rusty caught it. He should have been out for interfering with DeTeso's attempt to make a play on the ball which was not a foul.

Pretty cheap run the Cubs got in the second. No hit, two bases on balls, a hit batter and a wild pitch. A good bait in that frame would have meant plenty and the same would have been true after McKee went in to pitch the 6th. Joe really did some effective chucking in the hole.

Gentleman Joe Dineen got a broken nose in the 6th when a practice throw to second from Rusty Donaghey caromed off the ground and his glove, hitting him in the face. Joe went off the field covered with blood. He was taken to a doctor, Albie MacDonnell coming in play second, Farrell going to third and Saunders returning to the game by permission of the Cubs to play left.

Murphy looked pretty tough at the bat for a feller celebrating his birthday, but his catch off R. Donaghey to end the game was a corker. Those low line drives had to be judged in the dusk, and if that ball had gotten away from him it might have meant plenty.

Bus Kendrick was back in the game, having been forced home from Sherbrook with a sore arm. He didn't get very far with Gaudioso's hooks.

This boy Manzie can go and get them. He backed up a mile for Albie MacDonnell's sky-scraper in the third. Kenton plays a very deep left field for left hand batters and shifts around very little for a gent who has played as much outfield as he.

Well, next game next Tuesday, and the Millionaires will really have to go to town to prevent those Cubs from liquidating them in three straight. There has been nothing fluky about the two wins so far.

WINCHESTER BOAT CLUB SNIPES TUNING UP FOR A SAILING RACE ON THE UPPER MYSTIC LAKE

SIMONDS SCORES IN SATURDAY'S RACE

Tech Takes Winchester in Dinghy Regatta

By Telltale

Fans who have found a new spectator sport in watching the sailing races on upper Mystic Lake every Saturday afternoon and Sunday morning are sometimes puzzled by the lack of consistency in the courses sailed by the various skippers. There are times when the boats seem to travel without regard for the course markers or the location of the competition.

Actually, such tactics are all part of the game and help make the sport exciting. In a shifting wind, the outcome is often completely in doubt until a few moments before the boats hit the final mark. A brief description of what a racing skipper is up against will help to explain this.

Being a triangular course, one leg is usually across the wind, another down wind and the third directly into the teeth of the breeze. On a run down wind, the skipper sets his main sail broad off on one side, wings out his jib on the other and lets the boat rip direct for the mark like a great bird in flight.

On a reach or cross-wind leg, both sails are carried on the same side and unless tactics or a shift in the wind dictate otherwise, the course is also straight for the next buoy. On a reach or a run, the boats usually sail in a line, one behind the other, and it takes smart sailing and ability to make the most of the wind to pass a competitor.

The haul or beat into the wind is both the most spectacular and confusing course to watch. It is on this course that the boats heel over and, in a good wind, churn along with white water breaking around their bows. Because it is impossible to sail directly up wind, the skipper must set a course as close to the wind as possible and be working or sea-sawing back and forth, work his way up to the mark. On a beat to windward, a foul shift in the direction of the breeze can put the leading boat far behind a trailing boat on a favorable tack. For this reason, skippers on a boat try to out-guess both the wind and each other and either hold their course or change it often, depending on how their course changes it often, depending on how their luck is running.

Last Saturday, the racing Snipes from the Winchester Boat Club had plenty of this kind of gambling in a three lap race around the triangular course. A heavy Southwest breeze with occasional puffs from the South and West gave the boys a fast run from the starting line at Medford to the Winchester buoy, a stiff weather leg to the Burlington marker and a beam wind home.

Saturday's Race

Again Don Simonds showed his skill at playing the vagrant breezes when the good ship "Weave-It" skittered home ahead of Hall's unnamed entry to make it three in a row for the Commodore. Blanchard's "Dunlin" thrashed in for third with "Phooka," skippered by Pyne, nipping at her heels. The Burleigh's "Tee Bees" took fifth position and Cunningham's "Trubble" which failed to finish, got credit for sixth place.

M. I. T. Wins

Instead of the usual Snipe races, Sunday morning, Winchester took on Tech in the third of a series of team races. In these interclub meets, the races are held alternately at Winchester and on the Charles River basin. To date, the local boys have had trouble getting the most out of the round-bottomed, single-sail Tech dinghies and the M. I. T. skippers have found the extra weight for the Snipe's Genoa job more than they could handle. In view of this slight disadvantage, the contest boils down to a struggle to pile up enough points on the home course to leave a net gain at the end of the return engagement.

To date there have been three meets. At the end of the first two, the score stood: Winchester 229 to M. I. T. 211. Sunday's four races gave Tech 181 points to 130 for Winchester, a lead which Winchester will have to overcome at the next meet in order to regain the upper hand. While Winchester looked bad on paper, they actually managed to take two seconds, three thirds, three fourths and five fifths away from some of the best intercollegiate dinghy racers on the Tech team. Don Simonds, Bud Blanchard, Fred Fish, Skipper Hill, Ted Burleigh and Harold Pyne skippered for Winchester, assisted by Mrs. Simonds, Ruth Ann Merrow, Ted Burleigh, Sr., Tod Blanchard, Frank Cheney and Bob Maynard. The next interclub meet will be held at Winchester on Sunday, July 30 at 10 o'clock.

Official point standings for the Snipe fleet to date are: Merrow 1598, Simonds 1532, Burleigh 1498, Srague 1064, Blanchard 1428, Croughwell 1383, Reeves 1377, Hill 1333, Sherman 1301, Hall 1268, Millican 1245, Pyne 1194, Cunningham 1090.

The average area of cities and towns in Massachusetts is 23.05 square miles.

This office received this week a neat card tastefully printed in two colors with instructions that it be posted in a conspicuous place in full view of all employees. Needless to report it applies to that great uplift for humanity, Social Security. The idea is to aid our employees in securing their rightful benefits from this great humanitarian project for distribution of the nation's wealth. The notice informs the employee just where he is working for and just where he can file his claim for benefits when he is discharged. All very nice and clear. No delay is anticipated. It might even indicate that each and every employee is an immediate prospect of dismissal. On the other hand it opens the thought that this whole scheme of Social Security is being approached from a wrong angle. If our employees do not know for whom they are working, and have to receive clear and explicit instructions as to who is paying their benefit, should not this Social Security reform be confined primarily to instructing them in an educational way rather than passing out the money benefits?

The current baseball series between the Winchester Cubs and Millonaires is attracting good sized crowds to Leonard Field. The crowds include as usual many youngsters of tender years, not especially interested in the games, whose delight it is to play about the baselines of the diamond or to sit especially in the dangerous foul territory just in back of first base. Not that the children are the only ones who indulge in this dangerous practice, but older youngsters and adults who do so are old enough to realize the danger involved and so deserve scant sympathy if they are injured by a batted ball or trampled by a player attempting to make a legitimate catch of a ball in foul territory. We imagine when some youngster is badly hurt or killed something will be done about it. Of course a police officer should be at the games, but the management of the local teams contend that their collections are insufficient to afford this protection. This is undoubtedly so, but if an officer cannot be provided for the games, and emphatically there should be one there, then the players ought to drive the kids out of dangerous territory near the diamond before some one of them gets his head or a leg taken off.

WPA strikes are something to be expected. The fact that these strikers are being paid out of public funds which their more fortunate fellows are working hard to save and contribute in order to escape going on the rolls themselves, is of course forgotten or deemed to have nothing in common with the situation. One hundred and thirty hours of work a month does seem a hardship—especially to many of the present-day workers who are enjoying the greatly heralded abundant life. And yet a compilation of our own hours of work during that time places the total at about 150. We are able to enjoy our week-ends and seem to have plenty of spare time, and consider ourselves lucky to have such an easy time of it so far as work enters into our scheme of life. As we are it this racket bids fair to drop right in line with our great pension racket. The ball has started to roll and it will grow and increase until it smotheres us. The great lesson in abundant life is taught not wisely but too well. Politicians seeking perpetuity in office, spending unlimited quantities of other people's money care nothing of the future of the nation just so long as their plans go through and their own ambitions are achieved. And from seven years' observations of New Deal schemes and workings, their plans are just as selfish and any other individual who is trying to make a living. Before the World War, when this country was a Democracy, it was decided to do away with the great pension graft. A scheme was carefully worked out to eliminate it and this was put into effect when the great war burst upon us. Today we have the old order of things back again with us in greater degree than ever before. Even more so. What is this so-called Social Security? Already we hear loud clamors for its increase and extension. Now the WPA. Give us what we want or all you people who are paying the bill will be down with us. So far as we can see this latest phase of the abundant life is just another clever political move. We predict a complete victory for the strikers. When this is granted still another block of votes, which of late has shown signs of wavering over the New Deal schemes and displaying a mind of its own, will be back in the fold. And the milking of America will go merrily on.

NEWSY PARAGRAPHS

Mr. Frank Murphy of Clark street is starting Sunday on a two weeks' camping trip through Maine and Canada.

Wednesday evening the Police were called to stop a fight in which a taxi driver and a west side man were involved on Central street near Central green. Sgt. Joseph Dero went to investigate and when the local man refused to go home took him to the station for safe keeping. He was later released.

Miss Abbie W. Curry of Bailey's, Cleaners, on Church street commences a three weeks' vacation Saturday. She expects to spend most of her time at her home on the Parkway.

Mr. and Mrs. John S. O'Leary and family of Washington street are in their summer home at Hampton Beach.

Miss H. Pauline Pattison, English teacher at the Arlington High School, who died Wednesday at the Baker Memorial Hospital was the sister of Mr. Stanley Pattison and Miss Leona Pattison of this town.

Wednesday evening at 8 o'clock Special Officer James Halvart, on duty on the town's watershed in Middlesex Falls, went to the assistance of a young woman who was thrown from her horse while riding in the falls. He took her to the Winchester Hospital where she was treated by Dr. Philip J. McManus for a possible fracture of the skull. She gave her name as Katherine McDonald of 37 Quincy street, Roxbury. Her parents were notified of the accident.

GIRL SCOUT NOTES

The Winchester Girl Scout Day Camp opened for its seventh season at the cabin on the Brooks Estate on Tuesday, July 11, with Miss Eva Gregg of West Newton as director and Miss Mary Little Fuller of this town as assistant director.

After "morning circle" units were organized according to ages, there followed singing and folk dancing under the beautiful pine tree in front of the cabin.

A pantomime game of "How did you spend your holiday" was enjoyed by all. Volley ball and archery were then participated in by the units. In volleyball, Phyllis Russell was captain of the Red Sox and Shirley Fellows captain of the Blue Bombers. The Red Sox won two games with the score 21-0 in each. After such a busy morning the campers were eager for lunch.

Following a rest hour the class in craft work was started. Many new and pretty articles are being made in craft this year. Camp closed for the first day after "kappa" and "good-night circle."

Mrs. Stephen Neill very kindly assisted at Camp all day. During the afternoon Mrs. Howard Farnsworth, commissioner of Girl Scouts, and Mrs. Lowell Smith, chairman of the Day Camp committee, visited camp. On Wednesday the girls met in the cabin at "morning circle" and planned in detail the "cook out" for the day. Committees were formed to take charge of the fire building, food, cooking, serving and dish washing. This was all arranged volleyball ball and archery was the main attraction. Marjorie Ruby was the captain of the winning team. Shirley Snyder was captain of the losing team.

All too soon it was time to stop playing and prepare the mid day meal. Each committee did an excellent piece of work and everything was ready in a short time; but not a moment too soon for just as the last hot dogs were browned to perfection the thunder clouds were rolling overhead and rain was falling fast. This bit of excitement only added rather than detracted from the enjoyment of all.

After a rest period a short song fest was held followed by the craft period. A delicious refreshing drink of lemonade was prepared by Shirley Fellows and Joan Zimmermann. Just at this time an unusually heavy shower came up during which hail stones fell in abundance. This was observed with keen interest by all. While the skies were clearing a new folk dance added to the amusement of those present. "Goodnight circle" ended the second day of camp.

Mrs. Lowell Smith was the assistant at camp all day. Mrs. Stillman and Mrs. Farrell visited camp during the day.

NORTH—BEACH

Announcement is made of the marriage of Miss Phyllis Beach, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas F. Flaherty of Brighton, to Howard Eldredge North, also of Brighton and son of Mrs. Frances L. North. The ceremony was performed on June 29 at the parsonage of the First Congregational Church in Brighton by the pastor, Rev. Silas W. Anthony. Bridal attendants were Miss Doris Stadham and Gilbert Watson. Upon their return from a wedding journey Mr. North and his bride will make their home in Hartford, Conn. The bride is a former resident of this town and is the grand-daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Hartley of Governor's avenue.

WINCHESTER TENNIS TEAM WON AT LEXINGTON

Hall Gamage laid aside his soft ball last Saturday afternoon to lead the Winchester Lawn Tennis Association team to a 5 to 3 victory over Lexington on the Lexington courts. Two of the three doubles matches went to odd sets. The summary: Singles Gamage (W) defeated Dane (L), 6-1, 6-2; R. Riley (W) defeated Michel (L), 6-2; Morse (L) defeated J. Riley (W), 6-2; Conn (W) defeated Tower (L), 7-5, 6-1.

Doubles Gamage and R. Riley (W) defeated Dane and Perkins (L), 4-6, 6-3, 6-3; Ayer and Platt (W) defeated Rowe and McCarron (L), 3-6, 6-3, 6-3; Collins and Pepsila (L) defeated Blanchard and Conn (W), 6-3, 6-2.

MILLIONAIRES LOST AT CHELSEA

The Millionaires came out on the short end of a 3 to 1 ball game with the Chelsea Merritts Friday night at Chelsea.

Bob Farrell, diminutive right hander of the locals and Gallant of the Merritts hooked up in a tight pitching battle, the former allowing three hits while Gallant held the Money-men to two. The Merritts won the game with two unearned runs that came over on an outfield error in the first frame. The summary:

HIGH SCHOOL NINE HIT BY GRADUATION

Graduation played havoc with the letter players on this year's championship baseball team at Winchester High, there being only four regulars available for next year's team.

Headed by Capt. "Bobbie" Farrell, fast-ball right-hand pitcher; these include Tony DeTeso, catcher-infielder; and a pair of outfielders, Eben Ramsdell and Earle Goldsmith, both of whom should be much better another season.

Much of Winchester's strength this past season lay in its pitching, and the locals should not be weak on the hill in 1940. Farrell should rank with the best schoolboys hereabouts, and coming along to help him is Peter Provinzano, a sophomore, who has been pitching some fine ball for the Cubs this summer. Two good hurlers are all you need in high school ball, and if "Sammy" Provinzano should happen to be eligible next spring the departure of that fine shortstop, "Ed" Kenney, will be nothing to worry about. Sam is not far behind Redney as a fielder and is a better hitter than this year's captain.

W. C. T. U. NOTES

On the editorial page of the July 8 issue of the Union Signal is the following article headed: "That 'Never' Would Quickly Put Them Out of Business."

The distillers' exhibit at the New York World's Fair evidently aims to conciliate those who do not approve of their industry with the following legend on one of the panels: "Fine liquor is one of the good things of life to be enjoyed in moderation. Never at the sacrifice of another person's happiness."

A New York Times writer comments that this might "be about the last place" you would expect to "find any mention of the evils of alcohol." He might have added that anyone who consumes liquor, be it so-called "fine" or otherwise, always takes a chance of sacrificing the happiness of all those he holds dear.

If the general public should take the distillers at their word the beverage alcohol industry would soon go out of business for lack of customers.

"A certain parcel of land with all buildings and structures now or hereafter standing or placed thereon situated in Winchester, in the County of Middlesex, in the Commonwealth of Massachusetts being Lot 12 on Plan of House Lots, in Winchester, South District, Book 885, recorded in Plan Book 58, Plan 54, bounded and described as follows:

Twobly by Lawrence Street eighty (80) feet.

Easterly by Lots 1 and 2 on said plan one hundred fourteen and 98/100 (114.98) feet.

Northerly by Lot 10 on said plan, sixty-nine and 50/100 (69.50) feet; and Westerly by Lot 1 on said plan one hundred seventeen and 26/100 (117.26) feet.

Containing 8655 square feet more or less.

Hereby conveying the same premises conveyed to Arlie B. Pray by Nellie M. McClean by deed dated December 1, 1925, recorded with Middlesex Registry of Deeds, Book 4925, Page 162.

The premises are conveyed subject to restrictions of record so far as now in force and applicable, and to Building Line established by the Town of Winchester.

Including as part of the realty all portable or sectional buildings at any time placed thereon and all fixtures, ranges, stoves, heaters, plumbing, gas and electric fixtures, screens, mantels, shades, sereen doors, storm doors and windows, oil burners, gas or electric refrigerators and all other fixtures of whatever kind and nature at present or hereafter installed in or on the granted premises in any manner which renders said articles usable in connection therewith so far as the same are or can be by agreement of parties, be made a part of the realty.

Said premises will be sold subject to all unpaid taxes, tax titles, water liens, and other municipal liens or assessments, if any there be.

If you desire to object thereto you or your attorney should file a written appearance in said Court at Cambridge before ten o'clock in the forenoon on the seventeenth day of August 1939, the return day of this citation.

Witness, JOHN C. LEGGAT, Esquire, First Judge of said Court, this twentieth day of July in the year one thousand nine hundred and thirty-nine.

FUNERAL RITES FOR MRS. ANNIE B. BARRELL

Funeral services for Mrs. Annie B. Barrell were held Saturday afternoon at 2:30 at her late home, 326 Highland avenue with Rev. Dr. Frederick Harlan Page of Waltham, President Emeritus of the Congregational Conference of Massachusetts Churches, and Rev. Dr. Howard Childley, pastor of the First Congregational Church officiating.

During the services Mathew Dickinson of Melrose sang "Still, Still With Thee" accompanied by the harp and violin, and Priscilla Hoey, harpist, and Amy Leonard, violinist, played "Handel's Largo." The bearers were: William A. Barrell of North Andover, Rolliston W. Linscott of Melrose, Rolliston W. Linscott, Jr. of Melrose, Alden K. Taylor of Andover, Edgar R. Hubbard of Taunton, Edgar A. Barrell of New Jersey and Guy Macmillin of Ware.

Interment was in the family lot in Bellevue Cemetery, Lawrence, where committal services were conducted by Rev. Dr. Page.

Mrs. Barrell, who died at her home Thursday, July 13, was the widow of William Lincoln Barrell, late head of the William L. Barrell Co., cotton textile manufacturers of Boston and New York. A native of Glossop, England, she was for many years a resident of Lawrence before coming to Winchester. She leaves a son, a daughter, five grandchildren and one great-granddaughter.

BAY STATE HISTORICAL LEAGUE

A special summer meeting of the Bay State Historical League will be held at Harvard, in Worcester County, at the invitation of the Harvard Historical Society on Sat., July 22, at 2 o'clock in the afternoon. There will be no business session. Members are asked to assemble at the Unitarian Church on the Common, for a short session of literary exercises.

The rooms of the Harvard Society, at the Hargood Memorial on the Common, will be open from 1 to 5 p. m., and may be visited either before or after the session at the church. From the church, guests will go to Prospect Hill to visit Fruitlands and the Wayside Museums. A pleasant detour en route to Prospect Hill, involving about five miles of extra driving, may be made by those who wish to see the old Shaker Cemetery, and the Shaker Village. After the visit to the Museums, tea will be served by the Harvard Society at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Percy A. Atherton on Bare Hill.

VETS TOOK KIDDIES TO GAME

Aberdeen Post, Veterans of Foreign War, took about 150 Winchester boys and girls to the Boston-Cincinnati baseball game at National League field in Boston Monday, the trip being made in a big bus and several private cars. Playground Supervisor Joseph Tansey was in charge of the party, assisted by Martin Kinnane, a member of the local post. The party left Manchester Field at 1:30 p. m. and got back in town about 5:30, the one fly in the ointment being the fact that the Bees lost the ball game.

Among those who assisted greatly by donating cars were Messrs. Callahan, O'Melia, Marchesi, Prescott, Saunders and DiMinico.

MANTLE CLUB MEETING AT SCHOLLS

A branch of the State-Wide Mantle Club, including cities and towns around Winchester and as far north as Lowell has chosen to hold their bi-monthly dinners and meetings Monday evenings at Scholl's banquet hall. The Mantle Club is composed of business and professional men with central headquarters at the Hotel Statler in Boston.

BOY SCOUT NEWS

Camps Fellsland and Ellis

Reports from Camps Ellis and Fellsland indicate that all of the boys in attendance are having an excellent time, with such fine weather and ideal programs as planned by the entire staff. There are a total of 83 enrollees at Camp this week, including the staff.

On Tuesday of this week the Camp played Camp Elliott at baseball, and on Wednesday and Thursday a group of the more experienced and rugged campers undertook the annual pilgrimage to Mt. Washington. On Wednesday they rode to the base of the mountain and climbed half way up the mountain, where camp was made for the evening. On Thursday morning they continued the climb to the summit, where after a brief stay they descended and returned by private cars to camp late Thursday evening.

The ranger unit, under Bob Wheeler, seems to be catching on, with some of the old-timers, as there are now six of them enrolled in the ranger unit. These boys prepare two of their meals daily, and sleep under canvas in two-man tents.

One of the sorrowful notes of camp was the news received that Mr. Earl Doyle's sister passed away on Friday last, which necessitated Earl's absence from camp for a brief period. Roulston Kingston, who is acting as his assistant has carried on in very fine style during Mr. Doyle's absence in the cub division of camp.

Doug Raymond, the versatile singer, leader of division A, and present song leader, reports that the P. F. I. (physical fitness index) of the boys at camp indicates that an exceptionally fine group of boys are encamped there at the present time. Gains in weight and health are being heard from every quarter, so that again this year the camp statistics will show very definite improvements in health and physical endurance.

The new flush toilets being erected at camp this year are now practically completed, with a new electric light system already installed, and one of the new toilet buildings completed, as well as the entire sewerage system. This leaves only the installation of the pump and the piping of the water from the pump house to the new toilets.

Next week on Tuesday, a selected group of swimmers from Fellsland will motor to Camp Resolute in Bolton, Mass., for a swimming meet. Camp Resolute is the old stamping grounds of three of the present staff members at Camp Fellsland, Scout Executive and Camp Director Edward W. Nelson, assistant Camp Director Ned Brav, and Division Leader Dick Tilden, all past members of the Camp Resolute staff. It is rather hard to say which camp will receive the applause from these three leaders, although it is surmised that Camp Fellsland will undoubtedly get the edge at this particular meet.

NAVAL VETS REUNION

A reunion of the naval veterans of the World War who served at any time during that period in the Second Naval District will be held in Newport, R. I. on Sept. 1, 2, 1939.

MILLIONAIRES WON FROM STONEHAM

"Red" Noble's single with two men on the 10th gave the Millionaires an 8 to 7 win over the Stoneham Cubs last Sunday afternoon on the Pomfret street grounds in Stoneham.

Noble had quite a day hitting for the circuit to tie the score in the second and cutting off a run in the 9th with a great pop to the plate. "Slacker" Coss added the local cause with two home runs. The summary:

NORTON'S BOAT WINNER

Ted Norton sailed his Dab to a win in the fish class racing at Amesbury last Saturday, just nipping out John Lowe's Jaypon II by two seconds. "Jim" Godwin, Ted von Rosenberg and Ray Wilkins also skipped boats in this class. Frances Kelley at Duxbury and Helen Downer at Vineyard Haven are other local skippers regularly participating in the week-end racing.

NEWSY PARAGRAPHS

A delegation of Winchester fishermen, including Danny O'Donnell, George and Walter Burns, Tom Higgins, Mike Grant, John Maguire and John Fitzgerald, went out from Lynn last Sunday to enjoy their favorite sport off Graves Light. Mike Grant was the winner of the pool.

Mr. and Mrs. Maxwell McCreery have joined the summer colony at Marblehead.

DOUBLE WIN FOR "DON'T DUCK" BOLSTERS LEAD IN SNIPE MATCHES

Morrow Still Tops Winchester Racing Fleet

By Telltale

When you consider that a big league ball player does sensationally well to hit around .400 compared to a theoretically perfect average of 1.000, Dick Morrow's total point standing of 1635 out of an almost impossible perfect score of 1750 becomes something to brag about, especially when it is piled on in competition with experienced skippers like Don Simonds and Dwight Hill who, in other years, have finished in the very exclusive 1500-or-more stratosphere of a John H. Sprague whose "Peanut" has been flipping her transom at some of the best boats in this vicinity.

Far from indicating that "Don't Duck" can walk away with every contest, this unusually high score merely shows the caliber of sailing you can expect to see in the regular Saturday and Sunday races on the upper Mystic Lake. Out of the 14 registered Snipes actively competing, three others are within threatening distance and four or five more can be counted on for an occasional upset. In fact, with such an unpredictable summer breeze prevailing, almost anything can happen, and almost anything usually does.

Prior to Morrow's decisive victory last week-end, Don Simonds, Commodore of the Winchester Boat Club, had tilted his good ship "Weave-It" across the finish line for three straight wins, an unprecedented accomplishment. Vacation plans have put the "Weave-It" temporarily in dry dock and while the Commodore's away, Mr. Morrow is making considerable headway.

Saturday's race was sailed in the light and variable winds typical of this season of the year. After a favorable start, "Don't Duck" thumbed a lift on a passing zephyr and left the rest of the fleet behind. Johnnie Sprague's "Peanut" and Skipper Hill's "Wee Too" nursed the fitful breezes for second and third places while Cunningham's "Trubie," Pyne's "Phooka" and Snow's "No. 3119" went along for the ride.

Vacation blues took some of the keen competition out of Sunday's race. Only the required minimum of five boats crossed the starting line. Again Dick Morrow refused to be fooled by temperamental winds and widened the advantage of a good start into a comfortable lead. Skipper Hill's "Wee Too" took second while Snow's new and still unnamed boat tagged along for third. Pyne's "Phooka" and Cunningham's "Trubie" wound up the procession.

Official standings to date are: Morrow 1635, Simonds 1532, Burleigh 1497, Sprague 1489, Blanchard 1428, Hill 1404, Croughwell 1381, Reeves 1297, Snow 1354, Sherman 1301, Hall 1289, Pyne 1240, Millman 1245, Cunningham 1191.

Just to prove that wielding a tiller and handling big sheets isn't their only accomplishment, members of the Winchester Boat Club took on an aggregation of their arch rivals from the Medford Boat Club in a soft ball game last Thursday. The Winchester team won the wild and woolly contest, in which some of the highlights were seven runs scored by Winchester in the first inning and six by Medford in the fourth. The final score: Winchester 14, Medford 6.

Benn pitched for Winchester assisted by Dick Morrow and Bill Croughwell in the catcher's box. Frank Cheney, Sam Pilkington, Wendell Irving, Downey, Charles Barry and Al Gautreaux contributed their share of sensational plays and still more sensational errors. There's no truth in the rumor that some of the boys have signed to play for the pulchritudinous Olympics.

YOUTH TRIUMPHS AGAIN

From Chebeague Island, Me., comes word David C. Weld of West Hartford was winner of the July Fourth golf tournament there. The tournament was staged on the Great Chebeague Golf Club course and Young Weld—who is only 14 and a student at Choate—sank a curving putt on the home green for a sensational 30.

There were 30 in the tournament. This tournament is unusual in that it is what is known as a "swaffest," having an eliminating process, par or one over on balls.

Young Weld's tournament winning putt gave him a birdie 3 on that final hole.

There can be no question of the authenticity of this report because it comes to me from two of the victims of Weld's good play—D. Gordon Hunter and Harold T. Messenger, who signed the report thus: "Attest, D. Gordon Hunter and Harold T. Messenger, two of the victims."

The above clipping from the "Hartford Times" of Monday, July 10, has local interest because David Weld is the son of two former well known Winchester young people, Dr. and Mrs. Stanley B. Weld. Mrs. Weld is the former Sarah A. Fieber, and her husband, Mr. G. Fieber, make their home on Bacon street. Dr. Weld's uncle, Mr. Alfred O. Weld, lives on Winthrop street. —Ed.

CONNORS AND BUSHELL GOLF WINNERS

D. F. Connors and J. P. Bushell had a 66 to win the four ball, three-quarter handicap golf tournament at the Winchester Country Club last Sunday afternoon. H. V. Hoveys 88-75 was the best reduced score turned in the medal play. The summaries: D. F. Connors and J. P. Bushell 66-75; H. V. Hoveys 88-75; J. P. Carr and G. Barton 88-75; J. P. Carr and G. Barton 88-75; J. C. Leach and A. C. Washburn 79-75; C. S. Eaton and W. D. Eaton 79-75.

MILLIONAIRES DEFEATED CUBS

The Millionaires won their first game in the town championship series Tuesday evening, hopping on "Al" DiMinico for 11 hits to defeat the Cubs, 6-2, on Beacon street.

Fred Noble was on the hill for the Moneyman and he was away too good for the Cubs, allowing only three hits, one a home run, while fanning 12 in eight innings. Red was a bit wild as might be expected as he has done little hurling this year, but his hard one was plenty fast and his wildness did not hurt his effectiveness.

Noble was given good support, neither of the two errors made behind him counting in the scoring. The Cubs made five bobbles behind DiMinico and one of them was costly. Neither of the Cubs' runs was strictly earned and there wasn't one of the Millionaires' six tallies that was unearned.

"Ducky" Rallo opened the Cub's first with a walk and stole second unopposed when "Rusty" Donaghey hit DeTeso's bat attempting to throw down. A wild pitch advanced the runner to first from where he scored on a nice squeeze bunt by "Bernie" Styles.

"Rod" MacDonnell drew a pass in the Millionaire's second and stole second. Styles' second catch of Lee's high foul in the crowd. "Tom" Donaghey scored Quigley who ran for MacDonnell with a sharp single past third, but a decently good throw-in would have had the runner easily. Kenton's peg bounding high and off the mark.

In the big fourth "Rod" MacDonnell singled past Provizano, Quigley again running. Lee hit out down and when DiMinico threw high to first was safe, Quigley reaching third. Styles after recovering the throw, laid to the runner, Quigley scoring and Lee reaching third. Rallo held "Olio" but while he threw out T. Donaghey but "Donaghey" double to left brought in the second run. Noble's grounder went right through Provizano, scoring J. Donaghey and when Kenton kicked the ball around Red's mound, Dineen hoisted to MacDonnell and DeTeso took "Albie" MacDonnell's high one in front of the plate.

"Rusty" Donaghey hit sharply to right and when Bill MacDonnell overran his grounder the ball rolled over the hill by the tennis courts for a home run. The final Moneyman tally came over in the eighth when "Tom" Donaghey drew a hit through Rallo, held on while Kenton took J. Donaghey's vicious liner and reached third on Noble's sharp single to left, scoring on a wild pitch.

The Cubs scored their second run in the seventh. Manzie scratched a hit along the third base line and L. Rallo singled cleanly past third to advance him to second. A wild pitch sent both runners down and Manzie scored as "Joe" Dineen made a nice running back catch of F. Rallo's fly. DiMinico fanned in between and Noble threw out DeTeso for the third out. The Cub scored on second and third with none away in the eighth, but Noble bore down and forced Kenton to foul to J. Donaghey, fanning Murphy and Manzie for the final outs. The summary:

BLANK CHECKS

Larger crowd than last time. In fact the biggest crowd we've seen at a local ball game for some years. Goes to show that there is interest in baseball if the attraction is there.

Both teams were trying to win, and as a consequence there were occasional flare-ups when things happened that were a bit questionable or decisions were made that didn't suit the jockeys on both clubs.

The Millionaires squawked loud and long when "Rusty" Donaghey hit Tony DeTeso's bat with his throwing hand while attempting to peg out "Ducky" Rallo stealing second. The Moneyman claimed DeTeso deliberately tried to hit Donaghey's hand with his bat to prevent the throw. Umpire Gentile ruled that Tony had not transgressed the rules and that his stance had not been illegal. He did not leave his box, and there surely is nothing in the rules that says a batter shall lower his bat or step aside to give a catcher an unobstructed throw to second.

Donaghey got a nasty smash on his throwing hand, and did well to catch the game he did thereafter. We imagine a lot of the Millionaires' vehemence over the incident was due to their fear that it was out of the game. They would have been badly handicapped without him, for no inexperienced backstop would hold the fire ball Noble was throwing.

"Fred the Red" was very good out there. He depended on his hit one, but he mixed it nicely with a slow hook that made the Cubs look very silly. McKee was the only Millionaire's outfielder to have a chance and he had but two.

One of "Joe's" chances was a corking catch of a fine bid by a hit by "Sammy" Provizano in the fourth. Styles was on base at the time with no one out when McKee pulled down his drive in deep right center. The ball would very likely have gone for a homer had it gotten by.

Manzie, Cub's centerfielder, also made a swell running catch of McKee's good bid for an extra base hit in the third, taking the long fly in very deep center on the edge of the road. Quite a ball hawk that boy.

"Joe" Dineen, who got three out of five at the plate, made two swell running back catches of flies; that of Rallo in the fifth being a gem. "Joe" would have had a double play had "Junie" Donaghey gotten back to first in time to take his quick peg over to nip Manzie, but as it was the double over the bag for an error, the runner reaching second.

DiMinico didn't seem to have his usual control Tuesday night. Most of his effectiveness is his ability to work the corners and seldom send up a good ball to hit. He was in the hole so much Tuesday night that he had to throw them in there and hasn't the speed to get a cripple by the batter.

The Millionaires claimed Styles deliberately tried to kick Murphy's slow roller fair as he was running in the third in the eighth. Not giving "Bernie" credit for much runs, it seems to us. The ball was outside the white line and if he had kicked it in it still would have been either a foul ball or he would have been out for interfering with a fielder making a play. It looked to us like the ball hit Styles not he the ball.

"Rod" MacDonnell hurt his ankle sliding into second in the second. For a minute it looked like the dependable Millionaire's shortstop was out of the game. He continued in the field all night, but however, the Cubs permitting Manager Quigley to run for him.

Paul used his head when he went all the way from first to third on DiMinico's wild throw to first on Lee's attempted sacrifice in the big fourth. He saw third was open and kept right on, scoring on Styles' wild heave that was a good 20 minutes late.

We'll say an occasional call them. We said some youngsters would get hurt or worse sitting in dangerous places at the games, and sure enough a small boy got smashed with a foul in front of the backstop. Some say he got his wind knocked out only and others say he was more seriously injured. He's lucky he's alive. There was too big a crowd at Tuesday's game to have it without police.

PEGGY SHINNICK YOUNGEST TENNIS PRO

The Christian Science Monitor of Tuesday, July 18, had on its sports page a special story by Gordon Campbell about Winchester's Peggy Shinnick, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Shinnick of Washington street, who at 18 is described as one of the country's youngest tennis professionals with a class of 15 boys and girls from 8 to 18 years old.

Lake most local youngsters who have gone up the tennis ladder, Peggy was discovered and aided by Rev. William S. Packer of the Winchester Park Board who believes that the sturdy little Miss has what it takes to be a good pro.

Peggy is a combining teaching tennis with her job as instructor at Leonard Field, giving lessons on her lunch hour and after the field closes for the town expects its playground staff to be on the job during working hours.

Peggy likes teaching and is planning to enter physical education school to perfect herself in the rudiments of this profession. Meanwhile she is "pegging away," enjoying her teaching and even swapping tennis lessons for elocution lessons to help her teaching "voice."

FIRST CHURCH OF CHRIST, SCIENTIST, WINCHESTER

Sunday Services and Sunday School 10:45 A. M.
Wednesday testimonial meeting, 7:45 P. M.
Reading room, 5 Winchester Terrace (off Thompson Street) daily 11 A. M. to 5 P. M. except Sundays and holidays.

"Truth" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon which will be read in Churches of Christ, Scientist, throughout the world on Sunday, July 23.

The Golden Text is: "Holy Father, keep through thine own name those whom thou hast given me, that they may be one, as we are one." (John 17:11, 17).
Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon are the following:
"Put on the whole armour of God, that ye may be able to stand against the wiles of the devil." (Ephesians 6:11, 13, 14).
"Wherefore take unto you the whole armour of God, that ye may be able to withstand in the evil day, and having done all, to stand." (Ephesians 6:11, 13, 14).
The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "The best sermon ever preached is Truth practised and demonstrated by the destruction of sin, sickness, and death. Truth makes a new creature, in whom old things pass away and all things are become new. Truth is not sense, false appetites, hatred, fear, all sensuality, lying to spiritually, and the supernatural power of being is on the side of God, good." (p. 201).

One of the outstanding events of the day on Tuesday, July 18, was the treasure hunt. Miss Fuller and Miss Alice Davis laid the trail all through the camp grounds. At a given signal the girls started out in search of the treasure found by Shirley Bonnell. The treasure, which was a watermelon, was enjoyed by all. During the rest period the ever popular Major Bowes came to camp. It was a tie between Alice Neiley, who did an imitation of an eccentric Italian musician, and the Herriek twins who played a piano duet. Mrs. Neiley aided assisted during the day. Before camp closed for the day Miss Gregg read the list of those girls who were to spend the night at the cabin on Wednesday. Mrs. M. D. Tracy visited the camp in the morning. Camp closed with a good night circle.

On Wednesday, July 19, the girls arrived at camp looking like over-loaded pullman porters. After the girls had unloaded their blankets, food and accessories, they assembled to make plans for the cook-out. After the cook-out, which was one of the outstanding events of the day, there was another Major Bowes amateur hour during rest time. Elinor Murphy received the largest vote for her tap dancing. Mrs. Newton, the dramatic coach for the camp tried out several girls for the leading parts of the operetta "Hansel and Gretel." Marjorie Ruby was chosen for Hansel, Shirley Marchant for Gretel, Jean Stillman for the mother, Alice Davis as the father and Alice Neiley for the witch. Camp officially closed with a good night circle. Mrs. Lowell Smith and Mrs. Newton assisted at camp all day.

The following girls were allowed the privilege of spending the night: Jean Stillman, Marjorie Ruby, Natalie Dickson, Shirley Snyder, Gloria Herriek, Carolyn Heneberger, Alice Neiley, Barbara Bonnell, Virginia Wallace, Nancy Barker and Barbara Browning. Alice Davis and Shirley Fellows were invited but could not come because of illness. This is the first time that the girls of the day camp have ever stayed over night at the cabin and they were thrilled with the new experience.

NEWSBOYS OUTING
More than 300 newsboys from Boston and nearby cities were guests of H. P. Hood & Sons at their Cherry Hill Farm in Beverly Tuesday, July 18, when the Burroughs Newsboys' Foundation staged a big outing. The boys inspected the farm, had a program of sports and games, a picnic luncheon, ate some 1500 servings of milk and ice cream and took home with them as prizes in the sports, tickets that will entitle them to about 500 ice cream sodas or ice creams any time they want.
The boys gathered at the North Station and left in four special cars attached to the train for Portland. Each car had its own color and age group and on arrival at North Beverly they detrained and marched to Cherry Hill led by their own fire and drum corps. After a round of chocolate milk they were taken by groups over the farm. To many of them it was a first sight of farm operations or of the modern way of handling high quality milk. They were much interested in the cows and in the laboratory where the milk is tested and asked many questions.
A variety of sports and a series of ball games kept the boys fully occupied through the afternoon. In the sports each first place winner received as a prize a ticket entitling him to one ice cream soda, one banana royal and one ice cream sundae on presentation at any one of various places in Boston.
Second place winners got tickets for two drinks and third place for one drink. Each member of the winning ball teams received a three drink ticket good anytime.

Yesterday's alarm of fire from Box 38 at 3:55 was for a rubbish fire on Holland Street. The department had two more runs during the afternoon and evening, but neither fire was of any consequence.

MAIDEN STRAND THEATRE

"Juarez," with the greatest cast of the year including Bette Davis, Paul Muni, Brian Aherne, Claude Rains, John Garfield, Donald Crisp, Joseph Callea, Gale Sondergaard, Gilbert Roland and Henry O'Neill, will open a seven day run at the Strand Theatre in Maiden on Friday. Conceived and executed on a scale never before attempted the picture tells a story that is at once powerful drama and authentic history, played against a rich panorama of backgrounds, ranging from imperial palaces to poor peasant huts. Many film critics have already pronounced the work of Paul Muni as "Juarez" and Bette Davis as Carola, the outstanding performance of the year.

"Women in the Wind" starring Kay Francis, William Gargan, Victor Jory, Marie Rosenbloom, Eddie Foy, Jr. and Sheila Bromley, will be the second feature on the bill starting Friday. Kay Francis is cast as a former aviatrix who goes back to flying to try and win $15,000 so she can engage a great specialist to cure her brother who is paralyzed from a plane crash. The flying sequences are thrilling with plenty of laughs.

A number of teachers and others from Greater Boston have volunteered to serve as hostesses this summer at Fessenden, endowed vacation house for small-salaried girls and women at Princeton, now in its 50th season. Hostesses for July include Mrs. Ralph W. Decker of this town.

DUDLEY MURPHY DIRECTOR IN PERSON AT WINCHESTER

Dudley Murphy, a Winchester boy who had made good as a motion picture director of note, is home for a few days. It will be our pleasure to present Mr. Murphy in person Friday evening, July 28. Therefore, let's make this a big Winchester night at the theatre as a tribute to one of Hollywood's outstanding directors. Mr. Murphy will talk on the making of a moving picture and some of his experiences in directing such outstanding hits as "Emperor Jones," "The Night Is Young" and the current picture "One Third of a Nation" which will be shown on Thursday, Friday, Saturday, July 27, 28, 29. Mr. Dudley Murphy, who was born in Winchester, is the son of Herman Dudley Murphy and Caroline Bowles Murphy and is the sister of Caroline Murphy Samoiloff of Winchester. Come on Winchester, and our friends from neighboring towns, let's give Dudley a rousing welcome.

BAY STATE HISTORICAL LEAGUE

The Unitarian Church at Harvard was filled to the doors at the summer meeting of the Bay State Historical League, of which the Winchester Historical Society is a member, at its summer meeting last Saturday afternoon. A most interesting and instructive paper on the history of the Shakers and the Shaker colony at Harvard was read by Miss Clara Endicott Sears, who was later hostess to the members of the League at the Indian Museum, the Shaker Museum and Fruitlands, the home of Bronson Alcott, all of which are owned by Miss Sears. After the visit to the museums, a delightful tea was held in the beautiful garden at the estate of Mr. and Mrs. Percy Atherton. Members of the Winchester Historical Society who attended this meeting were Miss Jean McLellan, Miss Clara Russell, Miss Laura Tolman and Miss Eleanor Hudson.

CAMERA SHOP ACUSTICON SERVICE CENTER

The Acousticon Institute of Boston, which this week has appointed the Camera Shop, 4 Mt. Vernon street, Winchester, as a local service center, is one of the pioneers in the hearing aid business. Starting in 1903 with a small technical research laboratory, it has progressed rapidly so that today it has sales offices in every large city, both here and abroad. Because of the calibre of its instruments, the Acousticon Institute was selected to install its hearing aids in Radio City and has group hearing aid equipment in thousands of churches and auditoriums throughout the country.

Officials of the Institute are particularly proud of their New Gold Medal Series Hearing Aids, which has been accepted by the American Medical Society, as it records a tremendous stride in the solving of hearing problems. To augment the usefulness to its customers of the Camera Shop, which will be a service center for records, repairs and batteries, one of the Institute's trained Acousticians, Mr. William Kennedy Mason will be there every Wednesday afternoon between 2 and 4 o'clock for consultation, or home appointments may be made for other times with Mr. Mason, for the demonstration of the Acousticon hearing aids.

W. C. T. U. NOTES

Under the caption "The Great Delusion" the Watchman-Examiner has an article every week on the temperance question. On November of 1938 the title was "Adolph Hitler and Alcohol." Although American Christians condemn the militarism and the anti-Semitism of Chancellor Adolph Hitler in Germany, on one matter they will accord him unanimous agreement. To a recent issue The Baptist Observer quotes the following paragraphs from a Berlin periodical as stating Hitler's views on alcoholic liquor. "The number of valuable men that alcohol has destroyed or disabled, especially in our German population, amounts in a century to many times the number that has been lost on the battlefields of that entire period. To that is added the shocking fact that the effect of this poison is not limited to the individual drinker, but is transmitted to children and grandchildren. In alcohol we see one of the worst causes of human degeneration. For the sum annually spent for alcoholic drinks houses could be built which would not only lighten the housing shortage, but would bring happiness to the German people, a happiness greater, purer, and more beneficial to the nation than any happiness the sum could bring if spent for alcohol."

The German Fuhrer does not drink. When Prime Minister Chamberlain called on Chancellor Hitler at Berchtesgaden there were no cocktails, no wines, no beer. They drank only tea.

RULERS WITHOUT KINGDOMS

Add to the growing list of rulers without a domain the Rajah of Ramburg, tiny principality of southwest India. Within a day of the recent flight of King Zog of Albania before the Italians, some three-and-a-half thousand miles away Rajah Shrimant Ramrao Venkatrao, with his family, was reported to have abandoned his capital, while natives rioted. Ramburg, with the capital of the same name, is only 169 square miles in area, says the National Geographic Society. This little land, now without its sovereign, supports a population of about 35,000 people. Through its rich, black soil flows the River Malprabha, whose life-giving waters furnish irrigation for the production of such staples as wheat and cotton. Revenues from Ramburg were reported last year at 182,000 rupees, or about $61,000 of which no tribute was paid the British Government.

"BLUE DANUBE HIGHWAY OF COMMERCE"

The "beautiful blue" Danube, destined for increasing importance as part of a new 2,400 mile waterway across Europe, is brought into the news again by a meeting between foreign ministers of Romania and Yugoslavia, on a bare, treeless, recently reported in press dispatches.

To most Americans, a mention of the Danube River first brings to mind one of those old-fashioned waltz tunes but to Europeans it also is known as a mighty highway of commerce from southern Germany across the Balkans to the Black Sea, says a bulletin from the Washington, D. C., headquarters of the National Geographic Society. Part of Three International Boundaries

The river also forms parts of 3 international boundaries, between Slovakia and Hungary, Yugoslavia and Romania, and the latter country and Bulgaria.

Both the Balkan States and Germany have reason to be interested in the future of the Danube. Germany now is constructing a canal which will connect the upper Danube and the Main River, in Bavaria which in turn flows into the Rhine at Mainz. The new canal in part will follow the route of a smaller one built a century ago by King Ludwig I of Bavaria.

Completion of the new waterway, scheduled for 1945, will make possible the shipment of goods by water without transfer, all the way across Europe, from the North Sea at the mouth of the Rhine to the Black Sea at the mouth of the Danube. Exchange of the industrial output of northern Europe for the farm products and oil of the Balkans is expected to be greatly facilitated.

Rising in Germany's Black Forest, only about 100 miles from the sources of two other well-known European rivers, the Rhine and the Rhone, the Danube flows east and south-east into former Austria, past Vienna. Annexation of Austria to Germany brought 340 additional miles of the river within the confines of the German Reich.

Crosses Balkans to Black Sea Touching briefly on the Slovakia Hungary border, the Danube then moves sluggishly across the plains of Hungary. Next it flows through northeastern Yugoslavia and cuts through the Transylvanian Alps at the famous Iron Gate, on the Yugoslav-Romanian frontier, where the river has carved a narrow passage through a marshy delta, by several branches, into the Black Sea.

Whoever wrote the title for Johann Strauss's famous waltz would have been more accurate if he had called the Danube brown instead of blue. It carries something like 100,000,000 tons of silt per year down to its mouth.

Traders, troops and travelers have traversed its muddy waters for centuries. Roman soldiers pushed far up its course, and in the days of empire, Crusaders on their way to the East sailed down the Danube. Turkish invaders of Europe followed it upstream. Still to be seen on rocky crags along the river are ruins of castles from which "robber barons" levied tribute on passing cargoes.

In a castle at Durnstein, in former Austria, tradition says, Richard the Lion Heart of England was imprisoned on his way home from the Crusades. From there he was found by his faithful minstrel, Blondel.

Today barge fleets of many nations ply the Danube behind bustling tugs, along with passenger steamers, rafts, and the patrol boats of several river navies. During the World War, after the Central Powers had defeated Serbia (now Yugoslavia) and Romania, the Danube swarmed with boats carrying supplies to Austria-Hungary and Germany.

After the World War, under the treaty of Versailles, navigation on the Danube from the Black Sea up to Braila was placed under control of a European Commission consisting of delegates from France, Great Britain, Italy and Romania, who continue to exercise partial jurisdiction. Before the war, from 1856, the Commission also had administered the same region of the river, with Austria-Hungary, Germany, Russia and Turkey also represented upon its membership. The remainder of the river, from Braila up to Ulm, Germany, in 1919 came under the administration of an International Commission composed of representatives of nations through which the Danube flowed or which bordered upon it, and of countries represented on the European Commission.

WAR IN REMOTE MONGOLIA

One of the world's loneliest spots is the region around Lake Bor, on the Mongolian-Manchukuo border, where a miniature war between Soviet and Japanese-backed forces has been raging for weeks offstage from the major Sino-Japanese conflict. Situated along the eastern frontier of Soviet-protected Outer Mongolia, the Lake Bor area is an almost blank expanse on the map, says the National Geographic Society. No main road leads to the shores of the lake whose name has figured prominently in recent headlines describing tank, artillery and aerial battles. Although this lake is less than 600 miles directly north of Peking, old capital of China, only caravan tracks come its way. Outer Mongolia's chief trade routes stretch west and north, crossing the country by way of its capital and first town, Ula. There are no completed railways. The horse, camel and yak still are the chief transport over the high desert plateaus of the sparsely settled region, where nomad tribes live much as they did in the time of the great Mongol conqueror, Genghis Khan.

ASIATIC CRABS ATTACK EUROPE

North Europe invaded! Yellow Peril undermines river banks; destroys food supplies. Such are the scare headlines in which an imaginative reporter might tell of the crab menace that has attacked the shores of many European nations. Originating in China, the mitten crab (or Eriocheir sinensis) has alarmed the authorities of Germany, France, The Netherlands, Belgium, Denmark, Norway and other countries, according to the National Geographic Society. Some say that the crab travels from its Far Eastern home by clinging to the hulls of ships; others that the globe-trotting crustaceans slipped in by way of ballast water and other water carried by vessels. The mitten crab, which gets its name from the furlike formations on its claws, belongs to a family of tropical crayfish which is gradually changing its habits and organic structure from a saltwater animal to a freshwater animal. It is particularly feared because it cuts down fish production by driving coastal fish away and causes besides much damage along river banks where it digs in and eats all plants and roots. The mitten crabs are voracious feeders. Rubber objects and other indigestibles have been reported found in their stomachs.

HORSESHOE MATCH POSTPONED

Royal P. Teele, president of the Palmer street horseshoe association and champion of the Boston Paper Trade, had to leave last week-end's match at the head in a hurry when a casual announcement was made by "Freddie" Scholl from the bath-house store that the Teele home on Wedgemere avenue was on fire.

Roy stood not upon the order of going, but just went, leaving a most important match, in which he was paired with "Wild Willie" McLaughlin and playing "Bob" Walsh and Roland Priddy for the undisputed championship (for that day) of the beach.

Roland and Bob contended that they won by default, but "Bill" would have none of that argument, arguing that a fire was an unusual circumstance beyond the control of the individual players. He had minimized all bets and reverted to the match to the previous inning which he and Roy had won rather handsily. As far as the match had gone Bill and Roy were out in front by a substantial margin and Bill wasn't going to stand over any laurels under those conditions. It goes without saying that Roy would not have handed them down under conditions such as the match is still on and probably will be played this week-end, if none of the contestants has a fire!

SINCLAIRS EDGED CUBS

The Sinclairs of Woburn edged the Winchester Cubs and Peter Provinziano Tuesday evening on Leonard Field, 5-4; Crosby, visiting catcher, made the winning ball in the fifth with a home run. The Cubs presented a patched-up lineup, playing without the hard hitting shortstop, Sammy Provinziano, the ace player of the club. The summary:

FINLAND PREPARES FOR 1940 OLYMPICS

Finland and its capital Helsinki (Helsingfors) are busily making preparations for the 12th Olympic Games opening there in the summer of 1940.

Recent reports indicate that Finns are studying English, the official language of the Olympics, in order to facilitate their visit. The National Geographic Society, many Helsinki store-keepers have enrolled in one-year courses in English and German, and special classes are being held for railway employees, street-car conductors and the Helsinki police force.

Chefs Learn Preparation of Foreign Food

Special programs for the period of the Olympics are being planned by the Helsinki Symphony Orchestra, the Finnish Opera and the Helsinki theaters. The latter will present a series of classic Finnish plays.

Members of the "Lotta Svard," women's auxiliary of the National Guard, are learning to make the favorite foods of the various countries whose nationals will participate in the Olympics. This organization will be on hand at the Olympic Stadium with field kitchens — institutions at Finnish sport meets.

New Stadium Will Greet Olympic Visitors

The Olympic stadium, on the outskirts of Helsinki, was begun in 1935 and completed last year. Several athletic events have already been held there. It was built to accommodate 30,000 spectators, but it has been enlarged for the Olympics, to take care of 60,000.

The elliptical running track with its 400 meters in length; inside the arena occupied by the powdered-brick track lies a large, well-kept grass plot on which football and other games will be played.

Just opposite the training-post and glassed-in broadcasting rooms, a covered grandstand will accommodate press representatives. The whole structure is dominated by a modernistic tower of stately proportions which is the symbol of the 1940 Olympics.

The games will begin June 20, when the Finnish climate is most favorable for the contest. Near-by lakes keep Helsinki cool in the summer and extended daylight during the summer months adds to its attractiveness as a setting for the Olympics.

Interest in physical culture dates from the early days of the last century when Finland was made a vassal of Russia. A Finnish Gymnastic and Athletic Association was formed, only to be banned by the Russians as soon as it was well-established. The Finns, however, persisted in developing fine athletes, who were recognized in European sporting circles. In Stockholm at the Olympics of 1912, Hannes Kolehmainen "ran Finland onto the map." This brilliant runner and Paavo Nurmi are the most spectacular athletes the country has produced, though Finns have won laurels in other sports — among them discus — throwing, javelin — throwing, high-jumping and shot-putting.

MERROW AND HILL SHARE SNIPE RACING HONORS

Tech to Meet Winchester in Team Sailing Match

By Teitlaue

If you summered in Newport and the rigors of coupon clipping were beginning to get you down, very likely you'd order out your palatial yacht and consider yourself lucky if you had a casual glimpse of the shore of a sailing race. Yet not a few Winchester residents make a regular practice of parking the family jalopy in the shade of a tree on the shore of the upper Mystic Lake and watching every maneuver in some of the most spirited small boat races to be seen in this activity.

Most people assume that to be any fun at all, a race needs plenty of room and salt water yet some of the best deep water skippers have admitted they have had to do more actual sailing and use of more racing tactics in an afternoon on the Mystic than weeks of salt water sailing would provide. The reason is understandable. The Mystic is landlocked and the breezes which blow across it are typical land breezes — puffy and extremely variable. To win races, a skipper must be ever on the alert and constantly trimming his sails. In addition, while the course is five miles which is as long or longer than the average small boat course, it takes three laps around a triangle to cover it. That means constantly shifting sails and constantly changing tactics in an afternoon, which is a frequent opportunity to gain or lose while turning marks. From a spectator's point of view, this arrangement is ideal because every bit of action in the race is easily visible from almost any point along the Mystic Valley Parkway.

If you were among the enthusiastic spectators who saw Dick Merrow beat out Charlie Reeves Saturday afternoon, you know what we mean by shifty and puffy winds. In spite of the absence of a number of vacationing skippers, seven boats crossed the starting line. Merrow in "Don't Duck" and Reeves in "L'Allegro" staged a nip and tuck battle with Skipper Hill in "Wee Too" and W. Hall in "Rondik" never more than few lengths apart. Merrow covered the five miles in 49 minutes, 50 seconds while Reeves, Hill and Hall were all across the line less than four minutes later. Cunningham's "Tub" and Snow's "Salmon" and Pynes' "Phooka" took consolation prizes.

Sunday's airs were gentler but even more contrary. Shifts from South-east all the way to Northeast were at all uncommon. Skipper Hill had the best luck with the vagrant breezes and cashed his "Wee Too" home 10 seconds ahead of Charlie Reeves' "L'Allegro." Dr. Cunningham in "Tub" had had a perfect night at about when he squeezed in a scant two second ahead of Merrow's respectable "Don't Duck." Pynes in "Phooka" had nothing to say.

A BIT OF ITALY IN YUGOSLAVIA

Citizens of Ancona, on the east coast of Italy, face another bit of Italian soil just across the Adriatic on the west coast of Yugoslavia, according to the National Geographic Society. Called Zara, this seaport, with its environs, was ceded to Italy by Yugoslavia in the treaty of Rapallo in 1920. Once the capital of Dalmatia, the Zara area comprises 42 square miles of territory and includes some 19,000 people. Its Italian population and historic association were arguments for its assignment to Italy. Protected by a group of small islands which almost surround the promontory on which it lies, Zara is strategically located as a potential base for naval operations. The technical geographic name for such a region is enclave, which means an area enclosed by alien territory.

2,275,000 trees were planted in Massachusetts by the Department of Conservation last spring.

K. OF C. SOFTBALL

The single members of Winchester Council, 210, Knights of Columbus, won an extra inning, 14 to 11 soft-ball victory from the Council members Monday evening on Manchester Field with a large gallery of members and friends on hand for the game.

There was plenty of fun, some very weird playing and also some that was well worth watching. The umpiring of "Charlie" Farrar, armed with the "articles" being alone well worth the price of admission.

"Mucky" Tofuri for the married men and "Fergy" Doherty for the singletons were the starting pitchers, the former being relieved by Francis Stanton, formerly one of the best semi-pro pitchers hereabouts; and the latter by Harry Boyle, "Chub" Murphy and "Dinky" Collins caught for the old timers and "Chick" Rogers and "Nig" DeGrasso for the young fellows.

Ferry Doherty, aside from the fielding of "Johnnie" DeGrasso, the batting of Henry McKernan and the base running of "Sam" Kenton, was the all around play of "Jommal" Dolan at short for the single men. In addition to making some nice catches "Jommal" really threw that ball. "Mike" Penta also covered an acre of ground around third and the young fellows again turned in an unassisted double play.

Cullen's work at third, "Larry" Kane's roving catches, Mitch Mawn's hitting and the all around ball shagging of the old Maestro, Bill Gibbons, featured for the Benedicts, along with the battery work of Tansey and Collins. Cullen, Mitch Mawn and Billy Sullivan hit home runs.

Among the old timers watching the game were "Eddie" Maguire and "Dan" Lydon, both rooting for the married men. "Bill" McLaughlin was also at the game but refused an opportunity to play.

MILLIONAIRES TIED LONG ISLAND

A late game rally enabled the Millionaires to tie the Long Island nine — 4 in an 8 inning ball game at a beach in Boston Harbor Monday evening.

The Islanders fell on "Joe" McKee for two runs each in the first and second innings, but thereafter Joseph settled down for fair, allowing only three hits in the last six frames. The tie run was the result of McKee's triple, followed by a double by Fred the Red Noble, who got three out of five. McKee had a perfect night at bat with four out of four. The summary:

BENNETT SHRINERS' GOLF WINNER

"Ed" Bennett of the undertaking firm of Kelley & Hawes, was the winner of the golf tournament that featured the outing of Aleppo Temple of the Mystic Shrine, Tuesday at the Vesper Country Club in Lowell. Bennett, who hits them far off the tee, carded a 72 which was low gross and par for the Vesper course. He brought back a handsome silver coffee urn as a prize.

In 1927 there were 7800 members in the Boston City Club which constituted the largest club membership in the United States.

This year marks the 121st year of consecutive steamship service between Boston and Nantasket.

SOCRATES SAYS-

THE THIRD TERM SENTENCE

Although there is nothing in the written Constitution which prevents a President from serving a third term, it is perfectly well understood, both from history and from common sense, that such a strain on any democracy's constitution would wreck its health and destroy its personality.

Thomas Jefferson, the real Democrat said—in referring to a third term, "This office, nominally four years, will in fact become for life; and history shows how easily that degenerates into an inheritance."

The opposition to a third term is not at all based on "precedent." Although it is a fact that "a precedent" has been established, this in itself is not the reason against third terms. It could as logically be said that we tell the truth because of precedent, or that we do not steal because of precedent. Precedents are usually based and established on solid, moral truths and practical realisms.

A democracy should not be weakened by a third term sentence, it might mean the beginning of a dynasty.

W. P. A.

W. P. A. is considered as a relief measure. It was believed that it was better wisdom to have the recipients contribute labor in some form rather than to obtain the relief by means of a dole.

History, however, will without doubt, show that direct relief, the dole, would have been vastly superior—in the first place, because those in need (through no fault of their own), could have received hundreds of millions more money direct, such as has been spent for the administration of W. P. A., and for such items as land, sand, etc., etc., which required but little labor in its procurement.

Conceding that W. P. A. is a relief measure, and that it was established on a relief basis, many have answered if supervisors and administrators have also qualified from a personal relief standpoint.

If the W. P. A. is a 100 per cent relief measure, then everyone connected with it should first qualify as to their need for relief—then, if sufficient ability could not be found for administrative and supervisory positions from this type of citizen, it would be necessary to look further.

Perhaps this procedure has been followed; if so, it is a 100 per cent relief measure—if not, to what extent is it political?

COALITION

Article No. 1

It has been said that the Republican Party should nominate an Anti-New Deal Democrat for its candidate for the presidency.

"There ain't no sich animal!"—every Democratic office holder in captivity was elected as a New Dealer. Some have said that they do not see "eye to eye" with the President at his modesty but they agree with his "objectives"—(whatever they are.)

Take any prominent Democrat of presidential calibre and rub him, and you will find a court packer, a reorganization voter, a free spender, a silver advocate or a believer in Quoddy Dam, Florida Ship Canal, 1000-mile forests, etc., etc.

New Dealers all—not one single Democratic office holder can be located who would dare admit that he was an Anti-New Dealer.

If, perchance, there could be found a real honest-to-goodness Anti-New Deal Democrat of sufficient ability to be a candidate for the presidency, and the Republican Party was silly enough to nominate him, it would be the end of the Republican Party.

Such a candidate would immediately be called a traitor to the Democratic Party and repudiated. The idea is too obvious.

America is entitled to a clear-cut issue—the original conception of government by law, or central government by rule by men. The issue is New Deal central government, or return to the American form of government.

COALITION

Article No. 2

Speaking of coalition—there is one way that it could work.

Suppose the Republican candidate for the presidency in 1940, announced whom he was going to appoint to his cabinet three months before election? As the New Deal has started, through evolution—to create a central government, which means bureaucracy by men, and not definite, exact laws, it becomes absolutely necessary for citizens to know what manner of men are to interpret and enforce the new broad acts of the New Deal Congress.

By such an open procedure, citizens could appraise beforehand the administrative branch of both parties. If the New Dealers declined to follow the example of the Republican candidate, the answer would be obvious—if they did, the issue would be very clear cut. There is not much question but what if this procedure had been followed in 1932 and 1936, these United States would have been far along the road to recovery long ago.

Pick an all-American cabinet, regardless of party affiliations—get coalition in this way. This would also help America to stave off the leader idea, for the original conception of our democracy was that every citizen had a voice in government. It would create many campaigns—cabinet officer opposing cabinet officer, and not so much emphasis placed on presidential personality.

Get down your own choice of the men or women of cabinet calibre in this country. Forget to which party they belong—base it simply on merit and ability and see how it looks. There certainly are sufficient brains in America from which to pick a cabinet that can put us on the right road. Give the people the opportunity of knowing this time.

WINCHESTER SWIMMING MEET

The first all-Winchester swimming meet of the current season was held at Leonard Pool yesterday at 3 p. m. when stalwarts from Wedge crossed swords with the gang from Leonard. The meet proved exciting and a lot of fun for those who were present. Particular mention for the diving and the races for the little ones.

The form displayed by the swimmers proves what can be done with a little application and proper equipment. The building of the diving and starting platforms at Leonard has been of great assistance to all those who have the ability and the desire to improve their speed and skill. Summary of the events follows:

Promote Float—R. O'Rourke, 1; R. Cole, 2; F. Albani, 3.
Kicking Race—J. Creedon, 1; P. Maher, 2; K. Butterworth, 3.

RUSSELL T. SHAY

Russell T. Shay, 42, a bond salesman associated with a Boston brokerage house, died suddenly Saturday, July 22, at his home, 1 Orient street.

Mr. Shay was the son of James and Emma (Cambridge) Shay. He was born in Somerville, was educated in the Somerville schools and before coming to Winchester had lived for some years in Wellesley. He had made his home in Winchester for about six months.

Mr. Shay leaves his wife, the former Celia Martin; a son, Gerald, of this town; his father, living in Boston; a brother, Howard of Melrose; and a sister, Dorothy, of Nashua, N. H.

The funeral was held Tuesday morning from the Moffette & McMillen chapel on Thompson street. High mass of requiem was celebrated in St. Mary's Church. Interment was in Wildwood Cemetery.

MISS GOODHUE ON HONOR ROLL

Through an unfortunate error the name of Miss Myrtle Goodhue, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. A. Goodhue of Cross street, was omitted from the Winchester High School Scholastic honor roll printed in last week's Star.

Miss Goodhue, a member of the graduating class, was on both the honor roll for the final quarter and for the full scholastic year. She was captain of the girls' unscrupulous ground field hockey team, played guard upon the girls' basketball team and was the winner of the Wheeler Sportsmanship Cup last fall.

T. O. M. SOFT BALL WINNERS

The Ten Old Men had no difficulty defeating the soft ball team of the National Casker Co. Tuesday evening on Ginn Field, and far from being Buried as the Killer Dillers had rather contemptuously prophesied, won all the way behind the fire ball slinging of "Commisar" Pennell.

Next Tuesday evening the T. O. M.'s are taking on the Park Department team at Ginn Field and extend a cordial invitation to the K. D.'s to come on down and see how the game of soft ball is really played!

Members of the Winchester Lions' Club will be able to "see themselves as others see them" when the motion pictures taken by Dr. Robert L. Emery at Monday's meeting in Scholl's Banquet Hall are shown at a later date.

Dr. Emery is to visit other clubs at their meetings in this district and take similar shots which will be shown together with those taken here at a general get-together.

Monday's speaker was District Governor Joseph Sliney of Somerville. President Leo Garvey presided and during the meeting presented a key member's emblem for distinguished service to Secretary Fred H. Scholl.

MRS. MINNIE A. FOOTE

Mrs. Minnie A. (Elliott) Foote, widow of Charles P. Foote and a former resident of Winchester, died Monday, July 24, at her home, 77 West avenue, Pawtucket, R. I. She was the sister of the late Frank H. Elliott and the aunt of Theodore H. Elliott of Herrick street. Funeral services were held on Wednesday at the Park Place Congregational Church in Pawtucket. Interment was in Wildwood Cemetery.

W. C. T. U. NOTES

Empty bottles, strewn around the State in dark hotel corridors, in alleyways and refuse cans, along the roadside, remind us that the people of Washington spend nearly 15 million dollars a year for hard liquor.

This is a short but illuminating paragraph published in "The Message" last September.

INDIAN PRINCE TURNS TOWARD DEMOCRACY

From the 14th to the 20th century is the jump which the Nawab of Palanpur has invited his subjects to make, when he offered recently to share the rule of his small East Indian state with the people's elected assembly. The ruler's title, Nawab, is indication that Palanpur is a Moslem state existing in Hindia India, says the National Geographic Society. Nawab is the title for Moslem rulers which corresponds to the Hindu title of Rajah. Palanpur is one of the oldest of the Moslem states in India, where followers of Islam make up one-fifth of the population. More than 500 years ago ancestors of the present Nawab swooped down from the mountains of Afghanistan and conquered a slice of India of which Palanpur is the remnant. This small feudal realm, over 350 miles north of Bombay, is a mere patch on the vast expanse of India's "Wild West," a region of some 1,700 square miles, with something over a quarter of a million inhabitants. On its rolling countryside, the inhabitants tend such varied livestock as camels, buffaloes, sheep, goats, and horses. The city of Palanpur, capital and only town of any size, was just finishing another medieval brick wall and moat for protection against attack when the United States was electing representatives to its first Congress.

THE CATCH IN PUBLIC SPENDING

By Wadsworth W. Mount

Although your children will eventually have to pay the debts the Government is accumulating, every one with a bank account is paying now.

Many people think that, when the Federal Government spends a few billions more each year than it collects in taxes, the resulting government debt will be paid by future generations. However true it is that future generations will have to pay higher taxes because of the increased national debt we are creating, it is equally true that every one alive today is paying for part of this expenditure right now. This is particularly true if you own a savings bank account or a life insurance policy, where you now get only about one-half of the interest you received from such investments before the Government started to finance large annual deficits by issuing billions of additional government bonds.

For instance, supposing you had $5,000 in the savings bank in 1930. At that time you would have gotten about four per cent interest on this, or $200 a year. At that time the savings banks could safely lend this money of yours to private individuals or businesses at five or six per cent. This allowed them to pay you the four per cent, and still have enough to pay the expenses of running the bank. Today you can only get about two per cent interest on a savings account.

Why is this; and how do these government deficits and the issuance of additional government bonds bring about lower interest on savings accounts and life insurance investments? The answer is comparatively simple.

When the Government wants to spend more money than it gets in taxes from the people directly, prints government bonds for the difference.

THE "CATCH" IN SPENDING

Now if you own a government bond, or if the Government owns a government bond, it is just as easy for either of you to get cash for it from a bank. A banker knows that, when the United States Government prints a government bond, it says in effect that the Government will tax the people of the United States to make it good. He knows, therefore, that government bonds are the soundest security in the country, so long as we do not issue too many of them.

Now if you take a $1,000 government bond to the bank, disregarding slight variations due to interest, you can deposit it and draw $1,000 in cash against it. Likewise, if the Government takes $1,000,000,000 worth of government bonds to the banks of the country, the Government can draw checks for $1,000,000,000.

The chief difference between the government bond you took to the bank and the government bonds the Government took to the bank is that you probably had to pay for your bond out of your earnings, while the Government merely prints as many bonds as it needs.

You may think that it is a good idea for the Government to print bonds when it needs more money than it gets in taxes, and that it doesn't affect you but only affects the taxpayers in the future who will have to redeem those bonds.

But it does affect you right now because you are getting far less interest on your money today than you did a few years ago.

Deficits Cost You Money

You are getting less interest because the government bonds that have been issued lately have very low rates of interest. Under present conditions, there are so few other safe investments that these government bonds make up the bulk of the investments banks or insurance companies can safely make with the money you deposit with them.

The bankers first duty is to protect the principal of the depositors to the best of his ability. For generations the savings bank has been the safest place for an individual to put his money. Consequently if the banker cannot find enough people or businesses to borrow your money at six or five or four per cent he has no other place to invest it but in government bonds at approximately three per cent or two or one per cent.

So as the banks can only get around three per cent on safe investments of your money, they can, therefore, only pay you about two per cent.

Consequently $25,000 savings account only brings you $100 income a year now.

This means also that if, for instance, you were trying to put in the savings bank enough money to give you $2,000 a year income, you will now have to save $100,000 or more. When savings banks pay you four per cent you would only have had to save $50,000.

Specifically, every holder of savings bank accounts and life insurance investments is right now paying toward the vast increase in the government debt by losing approximately one-half of the interest income he would otherwise most likely be receiving from his savings. The yield on his personally saved "social security" has, therefore, been cut in half.

Every one in the nation has to pay one way or another for the money our government officials are instructed to spend.

The Government has nothing to give the people except what it gets from the people.

"Love" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon which will be read in Churches of Christ, Scientists, the world, on Sunday, July 30.

The Golden Text is: "Keep yourselves in the love of God, looking for the mercy of our Lord Jesus Christ unto eternal life" (Jude 1:20).

Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible: "Beloved, let us love one another, for love is of God; and every one that loveth is born of God, and he that loveth not knoweth not God; for God is love" (1 John 4:7, 8).

The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy: "Love one another" (1 John iii, 23). It is the most simple and profound counsel of the inspired writer. "It should be thoroughly understood that all men are one mind, one God and Father, one Life, Truth and Love. Manifesting will be some perfect in proportion as this fact becomes apparent, war will cease and the true brotherhood of man will be established" (pp. 572, 497).

Services discontinued after June 11, will be resumed September 10. Mr. Reed may be called at summer home, Taylor's Lane, Little Compton, R. I., tel. Little Compton, 205. He will gladly respond whenever he may help.

SUNDAY DINNER SUGGESTIONS

The first corn-on-the-cob is in most families the food-event of the summer. Sweet corn is not a very expensive vegetable. Market early for it and refrigerate it to retain its sweetness for evening dinner. Summer squash makes a good companion vegetable.

Both cucumbers and tomatoes are plentiful and cheap.
A long list of summer fruits including melons, grapes, berries, apples, peaches, plums and pears are in market and reasonably priced.

Meat prices are generally lower particularly pork and beef and lamb to a lesser degree. Poultry of all kinds continues to be inexpensive. Fine quality eggs are cheap for the season. Mackerel continues to be scarce.

GLOBE-TROTTER HOUSEWIVES

Nearly 135,000 of Uncle Sam's nephews and nieces were traveling last year, says a bulletin from the National Geographic Society. Bound for all continents, the globe-trotters came from all 48 States, plus Alaska and the District of Columbia. According to State Department passport records, New York City alone contributed the most, with about 31,000; South Dakota the least, among the States, with only 124. "Housewives" were in the majority—more than 19,000 of them. "Skilled laborers" were next. Students and teachers followed, with persons of "other occupations" just 181 passports behind.

TRAFFIC PROBLEMS KEEP SAFETY EXPERTS ALERT

Representatives of the British Junior Car Club, who recently arrived in this country for a 2,000 mile tour of eastern United States and Canada, got off to a flying start. The motorcade was stopped in New Jersey on the first leg of its journey while traveling from 80 to 90 miles an hour.

In England there is no speed limit on highways except in congested areas, says a bulletin from the Washington, D. C., headquarters of the National Geographic Society.

Pedestrian Control for Bucharest and Washington
While many safety regulations are similar the world over, some countries have evolved unusual and even comic—albeit none the less effective—measures for the safety of their people.

In Bucharest authorities have recently instituted a drive for pedestrian control. A special court has been set up to try offenders. This safety regulation has been successfully used in other European and in American cities. Important among the latter is the Nation's capital.

The traffic board of Calcutta not long ago passed a rule banning radios or phonographs in automobiles as distractions to motorists and therefore traffic hazards. Officials of Riga, capital of Latvia, quieted traffic by prohibiting the unnecessary tooting of horns and ordering that all milk cans be silenced by wrapping them in sacks or straw. Americans visiting large European cities often are amazed by the lack of traffic noise due to such "non-tooting" regulations.

In Peru a recent decree forbade the building of adobe walls along highways and ordered the removal of already existing adobe walls wherever they blocked visibility. In the future only wire fencing may be used.

Oil Drums Mark Desert Highway
Egypt's desert highway between Cairo and Suez is lined on both sides with oil drums painted white to clearly mark the route for night driving and during sand storms. Similar to this device, but more scientifically perfected, are the glass curb reflectors on Connecticut's new four-lane highway, the Merritt Parkway. Curb reflectors, used to outline the road at night, are also used in England.

Reflecting not light but oncoming traffic, mirrors at crossroads and street intersections give drivers in certain sections of England and France a second sight, permitting them to literally "see around corners."

Down the center of Germany's new highways, called autobahns, rows of shrubbery at spaced intervals shield drivers from the glare of headlights and prevent head-on collisions.

In Denmark, The Netherlands, Belgium and other countries where bicycles are the popular mode of travel, marked lanes on roads have been set off for the exclusive use of cyclists.

In Copenhagen the cyclists are a privileged group. Four hundred thousand strong, they have extraordinary powers of right-of-way and can, by a mere wave of the hand, stop or precede the largest trucks and busses.

In the United States a newly organized Bicycle Court in Dayton, Ohio, hears cases of infractions of traffic laws regarding bicycle riding. The officers of the court, high school seniors and members of Hi-Y clubs, serve for a term of six months. Court sessions are held on Saturday mornings in a local high school building, and to date 660 cases have been heard.

HEAT WAVES AND ANIMALS Timely Suggestions on Animal Care In Summertime

By the Veterinary Staff at the Angell Memorial Animal Hospital of the Massachusetts Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals.

Do not fail to have fresh, cool drinking water habitually available. Do not overfeed your dog and cat at any time, particularly in hot weather. A little warm milk in the morning is sufficient for both. In the late afternoon, a rotation of beef, fresh fish and liver for the cat, and some beef and occasionally liver for the dog, all fed raw, are best. Avoid all starchy foods, cereals, breads and indigestible foods like smoked or pickled meats, pork and fibrous vegetables such as carrots, beets and string beans. Spinach, lettuce and tomato are the best vegetables.

Do not expose your pets to the sun's rays unnecessarily. Do not allow needless exertion. If it is seen that the horse ceases to sweat and is sluggish when at work, stop at once, unharness in a shady and airy place, and bathe the legs and head with cool water and permit frequent small sips of drinking water.

Do not tie a dog to his kennel if available. If he must be confined, have the end of the leash secured, trolley fashion, to a long wire where he can have the run of at least 20 to 30 feet, with access to a shady and airy spot.

Do not muzzle a dog unless absolutely necessary. The wearing of such a device tends to make most dogs cross and snappish. Do not tease nor molest your dogs at any time, particularly when he is hot.

Do not think your dog has rabies because he froths at the mouth and is suddenly seized by an outburst of frenzy. He is very probably having a so-called running or fright fit. The dog with rabies makes no such frighful demonstration of violence. Confine him to a cool, darkened and quiet place and consult your veterinarian at once. If you must rely on your own resources, give the animal, when quieted down, an emetic like Syrup of Ipecac in doses ranging from a teaspoonful to a tablespoonful, depending on the size of the dog, every 15 minutes until vomiting occurs, and apply cold applications to the head. Then keep the animal on a diet of broiled fish for a few days before resuming the normal food ration on a gliding scale.

Your dog needs an occasional bath and enjoys a swim in hot weather. Do not neglect these necessities and privileges. Have his heavy winter coat short. The ventilation of the skin provided by the clipping will more than compensate for the insulating qualities of the coat and if the animal develops the common summer skin complaints, they will readily be detected and more easily treated.

Provide free ventilation of the quarters occupied by such animals and pets as require confinement, as rabbits, birds and the like. Many a horse has been prepared for a sunstroke by being housed in a stuffy, humid stable between working hours. Goldfish aquariums and birds' cages should not be exposed to excessive sun rays. Goldfishes may succumb if the water becomes excessively hot, and birds like the fresh air but suffer from too much sun.

STRAND THEATRE, MALDEN

"Young Mr. Lincoln," starring Henry Fonda, Alice Brady, Marjorie Weston, Arleen Whalen, Richard Cromwell, Donald Meek and Eddie Quillian is the special attraction opening at the Strand Theatre in Malden on Friday. This is a story of Lincoln never told before. Henry Fonda plays "Young Mr. Lincoln," the brave, jack-of-all-trades who wrestled with the boys, kidded with the town loafers, told many jokes and courted pretty girls. The story opens with Lincoln, the son of a poor farmer, who is shown the lanky, homely lad studying law out of a dusty old Blackstone he had taken in trade for a few groceries. The film also shows as a shy little clerk his first love Ann Rutledge, played by Pauline Mori. From this he goes on to Springfield to practice law and defies a maddened lynch mob to save two innocent boys. Here, too, he meets the real test in the celebrated "moonlight murder" trial, when he defends these boys with lightning wit and brilliance and wins a mother's undying devotion. And then, of course, is his romance with ambitious Mary Todd, who married him and helped shape his life. The film sparkles with the witticisms and anecdotes for which Lincoln was famous and there are thrills and romance enough to suit any taste.

Jane Withers in "Boy Friend," in which the madcap star is supported by Douglas Fowler, Arleen Whalen, Richard Bond, Warren Hymer, and George Ernest, will be the second attraction on the bill starting today. Jane Withers is cast as the kid sister of a two-fisted police officer whose exploits lead to the smashing of one of New York's most dangerous gangs. Jane manages to keep right in the middle of all the excitement. Miss Withers has her first screen crush in the person of George Ernest who discovers that being the boy friend of Jane is like fooling around with dynamite. "Boy Friend" is a fast-paced comedy that is certain to please and win new admirers for dynamic Jane Withers. The young star also introduces a new dance called "The Social," which is certain to become the rage with the younger folks.

DOBROJA IS BONE OF CONTENTION ON THE SHORES OF THE BLACK SEA

Dobruja, at present the southwestern province of Romania, which Bulgaria insists should be turned over to her, is a much-battered territory, says a bulletin from the Washington, D. C., headquarters of the National Geographic Society. Up to 1878 it had been successfully in possession of the Eastern Roman Empire, Bulgarians, Magyars, Tatars, Wallachians, and Turks. In 1878 the region was ceded to Romania. The southern part was given to Bulgaria by Germany and her associates in 1918, but the entire region once more became Romanian in 1919.

Dobruja, with an area of almost 9000 square miles, is larger than Massachusetts. It has a land border with Bulgaria on the south and west, boundaries on the other three sides, the Black Sea and the Danube River. Of its 900,000 population, about one-third are Bulgarians.

Fishing in sea and river is one of the most lucrative occupations in Dobruja. For the most part the region is a treeless, grassy land used for sheep grazing. It is exceedingly dry and hot in summer.

Important to Romania is the Dobruja city of Constanta, for it is the country's only port on the open sea. It has more than two miles of docks and large vessels can approach directly to the quays. This port has been developed by the Romanian Government at heavy expense. Railroads connect with Bucharest, an overnight ride, and also with Bulgarian points. The port has the biggest and best equipped grain elevators in Romania, but it is chiefly concerned with the shipment of a commodity that all European powers are deeply interested in these days: petroleum, brought to Constanta mostly by pipe lines.

GRANADA THEATRE MALDEN

"Invitation To Happiness," starring Irene Dunne and Fred MacMurray in Malden on Friday. Fred MacMurray is cast as a fighter, managed by Charles Ruggles. When Ruggles goes to William Collier for backing MacMurray meets his daughter Irene Dunne. Miss Dunne is a society girl who is used to having her own way. Although they come from different levels of society they fall in love and marry. They are happy for a while but their happiness soon turns to heartbreak. MacMurray is determined to become champion of the world, and must leave his wife alone while he barnstorms around the fight circuit. While he is away on one of his trips a boy is born to the couple. As broken up as any woman would be at having her husband away at such a time, the wife manages nevertheless to forgive him because she loves so dearly. As the boy, played by Billie Cook, grows up he comes to hate his mother because he realizes that his mother needs him at home. MacMurray cannot understand why the boy hates him and reluctantly agrees to a divorce. Before the divorce goes through MacMurray makes another attempt to win the affection of his son. Gradually they get things straightened out in a powerful dramatic climax.

"6000 Enemies," starring Walter Pidgeon, Rita Johnson, Nat Pendleton, Harold Huber, Grant Mitchell and Paul Kelly will be the second attraction on the bill starting today. Not since the Big House has the screen offered so thrilling and powerful story as "6000 Enemies." Walter Pidgeon is cast as a young district attorney whose two fisted prosecution of the underworld leads him to being framed into a prison term himself on a trumped up charge of bribery. Facing six thousand enemies, he fights his way into their respect and eventually falls in love with a girl prisoner, played by Rita Johnson, whom he had formerly convicted but who convinces him that she, too, was framed. "6000 Enemies" is vigorous entertainment, with prison breaks, fights, murder and riots all having an important part in the story.

FRANCE'S COLONIAL TREASURE CHEST

French Indo-China, now in the shadow of the Japanese-occupied island of Hainan, is a valuable source of raw materials for the mother country, says the National Geographic Society. Its rubber, according to reports from Paris, will supply all French needs for the coming year. Among the leading mineral deposits are zinc, tin and salt—plus considerable coal, a commodity much needed by France. Indo-China, with a population of some 23 millions is also a potentially rich market for French goods.

UNIVERSITY THEATRE

Low Ayres and Lionel Barrymore return as young Dr. Kildare and his mentor, the irascible old Dr. Gillespie, in "Calling Dr. Kildare," second of the medical-detective series, coming Sunday to the University Theatre. As in the first picture, Ayres turns detective and solves a mystery, this time a murder case which lands him in trouble with the police when he conceals a wounded fugitive whom he believes innocent and eventually clears. But he lands in love with pretty Lana Turner, to his disillusionment, and Barrymore solves his problems in a deft dramatic trick. A dramatic transfusion in a dark cellar hideout, the gripping scene where Barrymore heals a little lame boy, the disillusionment of the young doctor, and other romantic, comedy and thrill sequences are played against a background of hospital life and its laboratories, penthouses, night clubs and hideouts of the underworld.

"The Kid from Kokomo," the associate feature is something new in the way of prize-fight comedies. Pat O'Brien, Wayne Morris and Joan Blondell head the cast. Vicious with Miss Blondell for feminine comedy honors are May Robson and Jane Wyman.

On Wednesday, Review Day, the program includes Joan Bennett and Henry Fonda in "I Met My Love Again" and William Powell and Luise Rainer in "The Emperor's Candlesticks." A tender poignant love story, one of the greatest ever to reach the screen, is told in the drama, "Invitation to Happiness" which will open Thursday with Irene Dunne and Fred MacMurray co-starring. This is the story of a prize fighter who marries a society girl, and goes to live in her Park avenue home. They are happy for a while, but the lure of the ring is too much for him. He is determined to become champion, and leaves his bride to barnstorm around the fight circuit. During one of his absences, a son is born to the couple. As the boy grows up, he comes to hate his father, knowing that his mother is lonely without him. Finally, the parents are divorced. The judge awards MacMurray custody of the boy for a period of six months, after which time, the boy must decide whether he wants to stay with his father. The efforts of the fighter to overcome his son's hate, and to reunite the family bring the drama to a tense and beautiful emotional climax. Irene Dunne is cast as the society girl, Fred MacMurray as the fighter. Billy Cook plays the role of the son, and the supporting cast also includes Charlie Ruggles, William Collier, Sr. and Marion Martin. Wesley Ruggles produced and directed the picture from a screen play by Claude Binyon.

The Star is informed that residents of Cross street are circulating papers petitioning the Selectmen to construct other granolithic or concrete sidewalks on Cross street instead of the present gravel sidewalk which people will not use. Petitioners claim the matter of granolithic sidewalks has been discussed before but that nothing has been done to remedy what they believe is a dangerous situation.

The Police have been campaigning a bit at the junction of Wildwood, Fletcher and Palmer streets, looking operators of cars who fail to stop before going through the intersection. The Star reporter stopped to watch Officer John Murray in action Saturday afternoon and less than half the cars stopped at the stop signs with the Winchester drivers by far the worse offenders. The excuses given by some of those stopped and indignation of other were interesting.

AMERICAN HELIUM FOR POLISH FLIGHT

In the "higher" realm of international relations, helium, a tasteless, colorless and odorless gas made news recently when the United States Department approved the sale to Poland of 20,000 cubic feet of the gas for use in a proposed stratosphere-balloon flight. "Helium," according to the National Geographic Society, ranks after hydrogen as the world's lightest gas. Unlike hydrogen, however, it is not inflammable, and so highly valuable in aviation. Although helium was discovered nearly three quarters of a century ago, it did not come into practical use until the World War when disastrous aircraft losses through hydrogen explosions forced men to seek a less dangerous gas for aerial use.

Helium is particularly useful for stratosphere work for its non-inflammable flight of the balloon, Explorer II, of the National Geographic Society-U. S. Army Air Corps Expedition in 1925. Helium was not only employed to inflate the balloon that carried the flyers aloft, but also in air-conditioned apparatus.

Today this gas has many other potential as well as already developed special uses in scientific, medical and commercial fields. It may serve in the treatment of asthma, in food preservation, fireproofing, and in motor cooling. It is extremely valuable in air-conditioning for deep-sea divers, as well as for sand-bag working in under water construction and subject to bends producing pressure. For the first time in history, helium recently played a dramatic role in submarine rescue, following the Squalus disaster.

TECH OUTPOINTS WINCHESTER IN CLOSE SAILING MEET

Burleigh Takes Top Honors in Saturday's Snipe Race

By Telltale

Feature event in the busy weekend of sailboat racing on the Mystic was the team race between M. T. and the Winchester Boat Club held on Sunday. This was the fifth in a series and proved to be the most evenly matched to date. Any zip that might have been missing due to lack of wind was more than made up by the closeness of the contest.

Apparently the Tech men who normally sail dinghies are becoming better acquainted with the tricks of the Winchester Snipes and the vagaries of the Mystic breeze for after the smoke of battle cleared and the judges finished their computations, the score stood Tech 156, Winchester 152. This was something of an upset for in the past, Winchester invariably won on the lake and Tech walked away with the meets on the Charles Basin.

Two teams of six boats each turned out for the match with the Winchester entries manned by Simmonds and Croughwell, Merrow and Hill, Burleigh and LaCroix, Pyne and Warner, Reeves and Blanchard, Cunningham and Spence.

Winchester Wins First Round

In the first race, the Burleigh-LaCroix combination took first place and Merrow and Hill took second. Tech entries took the next two spots while Winchester spiked down the fifth, sixth, seventh and 11th place berths. This gave Winchester a lead of 46 to 32 points. (Points are figured on the basis of the number of boats entered. In a 12 boat race, first place rates 12 points, second 11 and so on down to 1 point for last position.)

Tech took the lead in the second race but Winchester had the advantage of boats in second, third and fourth positions and won by the scant margin of 38 points to 37. A penalty against Spence and Cunningham was balanced off when the Tech boat which they fouled, immediately interfered with a Winchester entry. Reeves and Blanchard, Merrow and Hill and Burleigh and LaCroix were the high scoring Winchester combination.

Tech Scores

Winchester suffered a serious setback in the third race when one of their best boats manned by Merrow and LaCroix was becalmed at a marker and drifted down on the buoy. Except for Croughwell and Simmonds in second place, it was a case of too much Tech in the early berths and Winchester floundered 29 to 48.

The final race was the best race from the point of view of close competition. Positions changed at least a dozen times on the last leg and there was mighty little green water between boats at the finish line. Tech took the lead by inches with Warner and Pyne coming up fast in second position. LaCroix and Burleigh, and Merrow and Hill were in a fourth and fifth and other Winchester boats took eighth, ninth and eleventh places. Score: Winchester 39, Tech 39.

A breakdown of points scored by Winchester teams credits Merrow-Hill with 37, points, Burleigh-LaCroix 30, Simmonds-Croughwell 28, Pyne-Warner 25, Reeves-Blanchard, 25, Cunningham-Spence 7.

Saturday's Race

The regular Snipe race on Saturday afternoon was also a nip-and-tuck affair. Ted Burleigh's "Tec Bees" did the three five mile triangular course in 50 minutes flat. Don Simmonds in "Weave-It" and Dick Merrow in "Don't Duck" were only a few seconds behind while the last five boats finished exactly one second apart. Official results are as follows:

Boat	Skipper	Time
Tec Bees	Burleigh	50:00
Weave-It	Simmonds	50:25
Don't Duck	Merrow	50:35
Peanut	Spence	51:05
Rondie	Hill	51:35
Trubble	Cunningham	51:38
Phoebe	Pyne	51:38
Woe Too	Hill	51:38
Salome	Snow	51:40

A "Victory Party" and picnic planned for Sunday night lost none of its pleasure in spite of the fact that Winchester failed to win the match. Any disappointment over the outcome of the race was quickly forgotten when a hearty meal and an evening of music, ping pong, entertainment and dancing.

ARTHUR HOWARD ABBOTT

Arthur Howard Abbott of 27 Lloyd street died Monday evening, July 31, at the Winchester Hospital following a shock with which he was stricken at his home during the late afternoon. He was removed to the Winchester Hospital where he died at 9:30 o'clock. Though he had not been in "good health for the past two years he had lately seemed quite improved, his sudden passing being wholly unexpected.

Mr. Abbott was the son of William and Ruth (Sawyer) Abbott. He was born 56 years ago in Clinton, receiving his early education in the Clinton schools and at Clinton High School, and being graduated from Massachusetts Institute of Technology in the class of 1905. He came to Winchester 20 years ago from Pittsfield.

Mr. Abbott was an electrical engineer. For 17 years he was associated with the General Electric Company as a transformer expert, and later went into business for himself, serving as New England agent for manufacturers of heavy electrical equipment, representing among others the Pennsylvania Transformer Company, Roller Smith and the Struthers-Dunn Company of New York. He maintained a Winchester office in the Lane Building and aside from his agencies, manufactured lamp posts, those along the Revere Beach Parkway being among those he installed.

Four years ago Mr. Abbott had a severe illness and two years ago was forced to retire from active business because of poor health, coughing and loss of weight. He had held small enterprises. He had held membership in William Parkman Lodge of Masons, Alliance Temple of the Mystic Shrine, in the Boston Club, White University Club, Winchester Country Club and in numerous sales organizations and engineering societies. He was also a member of the First Church of Christ Scientist, Winchester, and of the Mother Church in Boston.

Mr. Abbott was twice married. His first wife, the former Alice M. Allen having died in 1924. He leaves her with Mrs. Maria B. Abbott's son, Allen W. Abbott, a member of this year's graduating class at Winchester High School; and a brother, Carl Abbott of White Plains, N. Y. Funeral services were held Thursday afternoon at the late residence with Mr. Charles W. Morrill, former reader of the First Church of Christ Scientist in Winchester, officiating. The remains were cremated at Mt. Auburn Cemetery.

THORNBURG TO DIRECT BALLET

Forrest Thornburg of Winchester and former director of the Nashville Civic Ballet has accepted the position of artistic director of the new Worcester Studios in Boston for the coming season. Mr. and Mrs. Thornburg are now on Cape Cod at the Sea Pines Camp where they are conducting their summer school in dancing. On Aug. 12 they will produce "Eggs and Milk," a dance pageant. Mr. Thornburg has several of the members of the Nashville Civic Ballet with him this summer.

On last Friday they appeared at Dennisport at the Rodman estate in a program of dances. Miss Louise Craig one of the Nashville Civic Ballet group appeared with Mr. Thornburg in a short suite.

Mr. and Mrs. Thornburg danced a period waltz. Several of Winchester girls will appear in the pageant to be given at the Pines. Miss Barbara Haines will appear in several numbers in the dance episodes and will also appear with the Glee Club under the direction of Miss Mary Brown.

MAROOINED IN FOG

Mr. and Mrs. H. Kelsey Moore, Jr. of Dix Terrace and Mr. Moore's father, Dr. H. Kelsey Moore, also of this town, had a thrilling time when their motor launch became fog bound for 14 hours off Hamrock Beach.

When the fog lifted sufficiently for them to sight land they found that the anchor line had fouled the rudder and disabled their launch, forcing them to row ashore in a ten-foot dinghy. Mr. and Mrs. Moore dove overboard and swam ashore, notifying Patrolman Harold Jensen of their plight. Officer Jensen informed the Coast Guard Station at Scituate of the trouble and the Moore launch was towed into the inner harbor and safety.

WINCHESTER BOY SAILING WITH AMERICAN EX-PORT LINES

H. N. Taylor, personnel director of the American Export Lines Inc., of New York City, reports that William F. Sheehan, Jr. of this town has been accepted by his company and assigned to one of its freight ships as Deck Cadet Officer.

Cadet Sheehan, a graduate of the U. S. S. Nantuxet, the Massachusetts Nautical Training Ship and is regarded as promising officer's material. He sailed Saturday for the Mediterranean and Black Sea ports.

VISITED WEST WINDS CAMP

A number of Winchester residents were week-end visitors at West Winds Camp, Great Chebeague Island, Me. Mrs. Gretchen Butler and daughter Helen were visiting Mary Butler, Mr. and Mrs. Craig Greiner visited their daughter Nancy and Mrs. Helen and daughter Deborah visited Miss Kathy Gilbert, who is a councillor at the camp.

ROTARY CLUB NOTES

Fourteen members were absent from the meeting of Aug. 3. We wish to call attention to Article IV, Section 7 (b) of the revised By-Laws Constitution which reads as follows:

"The membership of any active, past service or senior members whose percentage of attendance is less than 80 per cent during the first four second six months of the club's fiscal year shall automatically terminate unless he is excused by the directors for good and sufficient reason."

Members should familiarize themselves with this provision and we would suggest that much confusion could be avoided if members who are to be excused from having in place where other Rotary Clubs are not readily accessible for make-ups, should apply for a leave of absence before the meeting of the club. Curtis Nash and David O'Brien have finally located the home trail after several weeks of wandering in far countries. And Tom Quigley was as good as won for his success with us again after a long period under the orders of the M. D. Tom casts a thinner shadow than formerly but just what that shadow grew.

Vermon and we all wish for him the best vacation ever.

Best! Ralph has a scooter-car for sale! No reasonable offer refused.

We have to report an eminently successful session of our District Assembly at Salem Willows on July 28. Five members of our club were present and a larger representation than is ordinarily the case at this event. The Rotary Club of Salem was host club to the Assembly and provided accommodations for the business session in the beautiful open-air auditorium at the Willows. Our President, George T. Davidson, contributed a stirring address in the interests of community service. This address, which featured the work being accomplished at the Winchester Community Center, was greatly appreciated. A delicious clam-bake was provided at dinner time and various sports were available during the twilight hours. Many Rotarians present received their first introduction to District Governor Reuel Beach and all are satisfied that his administration will produce a substantial growth for Rotary in this area.

Our district Governor has issued his list of official visits to all clubs in the district. We note that he will be in Winchester on Thursday, November 2. Further notice of this visit will be posted in the club room and in the meantime let us be diligent in promoting our various services in order that our Governor may be able to submit a good report of our activities to the International.

CHARLES HARPER MASON

Charles Harper Mason of 13 Wedgemore avenue, a resident of Winchester for more than 20 years, died suddenly Wednesday, August 2, at his summer home, Everhill, in Concord, N. H.

Mr. Mason was born January 1, 1873, in London, N. H. In several years he has been retired from business, but formerly he was a member of the insurance firm of Russell & Fairfield in Boston. He was a member of William Parkman Lodge of Masons and of the First Congregational Church which he had served as deacon for many years. He leaves his wife, the former Anna Lohbiller, and a sister, Mrs. Weston L. Fickett of Concord, N. H.

Funeral services will be held on Saturday afternoon at the late residence on Wedgemore avenue, commencing at 2 o'clock. Rev. Howard J. Chidley, pastor of the First Congregational Church will officiate. Interment will be in Wildwood Cemetery.

FORD-CARLSON

The marriage of Miss Doris M. Carlson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herman Carlson of Washington street, to Donald M. Ford, son of Mr. and Mrs. Melrose Ford of Auburn, Maine, took place Saturday afternoon, July 29, at 4 o'clock in the First Baptist Church which was decorated for the occasion with white gladioli, ferns and palms. Rev. H. Mitchell Rushton, pastor of the church, performed the marriage ceremony and the wedding music was played by the church organist, Helen Palmer MacDonald. A reception followed the ceremony in the church parlors.

Miss Carlson, wearing a gown of white Chantilly lace with a tulle veil and a Chantilly cap and carrying a bouquet of valley lilies, was given in marriage by her father. Her honor attendant was Miss Betty Butterfield of Greenland, N. H., and Miss Janet Ford of Auburn, Maine, was bridesmaid. Miss Ellen Carlson of Winchester was flower girl.

Miss Butterfield wore a gown of white starched organdy, made with a tight bodice and full skirt, and carried an old-fashioned bouquet. Miss Winchester and the small flower girl also wore dresses of white organdy and carried old-fashioned bouquets. The bridesmaids wore a trimmed with royal blue and that of the flower girl with royal blue and crimson.

George Nelson of Woburn was Mr. Ford's best man and ushers were Kenneth Ford of Attleboro and Gunner Janson of Winchester.

Mr. Ford and his bride are enjoying a wedding journey through the middle west and will visit Niagara Falls and the World's Fair in New York. Upon their return they will make their home at 8 Rustic street in Melrose. Mr. Ford, who is a draftsman with the Massachusetts Gear and Tool Company in Woburn, is a graduate of Wentworth Institute and of Lowell Institute.

MISS LUCILLE PRATT WED TO MR. OTWAY

Miss Lucille Ardena Pratt, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lester Pratt of Everett avenue, and Horace Otway, son of the late Mr. Horace Otway and Mrs. Otway of Brightwaters, Long Island, New York, were quietly married at the summer home of the brides parents at Webhamet, Maine, on Wednesday, August second.

Rev. R. Mitchell Rushton of the First Baptist Church performed the ceremony in the presence of the immediate families, and after the marriage was pronounced, the bride and groom had a wedding breakfast at Ye Olde Lindsay Tavern at Wells, one of the historical landmarks of Maine.

The bride wore a gown of white organdy with a tulle veil and carried a mixed bouquet of white gladioli and sweet peas. Her only attendant was her sister, Miss Priscilla Pratt, who wore aqua net over tulle and carried a pink and white bouquet. Mr. Otway had for his best man his brother, Robert Otway of Brightwaters, Long Island. Following a wedding trip through Maine, Mr. and Mrs. Otway will make their home in the Greater Boston area after September fifteenth.

The bride is a graduate of Winchester High School, Vesper George School of Art and Miss Allen's School of Design. Mr. Otway is a graduate of the University of St. Lawrence, Canton, N. Y., a member of the Sigma Alpha Epsilon Fraternity and is now in business in Boston.

MANFIELD TO USE SNAVELY FOOTBALL AT BATES

In a recent interview with Lewiston, Maine, newspapermen Wendell D. Mansfield, former Winchester High School athletic director and newly appointed head coach of football and baseball at Bates, is quoted as saying that the "Bobcats" will play the style of football taught by Coach Carl Snavely at Cornell.

When Mansfield was at Winchester High he spent some time with Snavely in North Carolina and adapted some of the latter's plays to his own high school offense. The spinner so finely executed by Gerry Ficeciello and Pete Galuffo is one of the results of that visit and this particular play has been the backbone of Winchester's offense over the past three seasons, no club having been consistently successful in stopping it.

Generally speaking Mansfield's style of play during much of his latter years here was along the lines of the system used by "Jock" Sutherland at Pittsburg, at least so far as formations went. Mansfield was always adverse to the double wing, advocated by Pop Warner, with whom he had studied, and Andy Kerr at Colgate, believing it one of the easiest of all attacks to stop. His success in stopping this style of play was used by Coach Mansfield to win under Earl MacDonough bore out this contention.

Coach Mansfield will spend some time this summer with Coach Snavely at Cornell to get a couple of weeks to the training camp of the New York Giants Professional Football Club. The ex-Winchester High and Springfield college is an admirer of the two football and will also visit the camp of the Chicago Bears. The sessions of the Northwestern Coaching School and a few days at the camp of the college all-stars, who meet the New York Giants in the annual college grid tilt, will also engage his attention before he meets his Bates players at Camp Wonalancet on Eaton Center, Me., Sept. 11.

One thing is certain if the "Bobcats" can imitate some of their new coach's enthusiasm for football they should do alright for themselves. That they will be soundly coached goes without saying!

SIDEWALK PETITION HAS MANY SIGNERS

At Monday evening's meeting the Board of Selectmen was presented with a petition by John S. Nelson, son of 258 Cross street, signed by more than 400 residents asking the Board to construct a black top tar sidewalk the length of Cross street, extending along the southerly side of the street from the Woburn line to the Highlands Station and from there along the northerly side to Washington street.

The petitioners claim that the present gravel sidewalk is not used and that pedestrians habitually use the street, creating a dangerous condition. Especially is this so in the case of the many children walking to and from the town swimming pool at Leonard Field.

An unsuccessful attempt was made, the petitioners say, to get a sidewalk along Cross street two years ago. The present Board was impressed with the arguments presented and promised the petitioners to give the matter its careful consideration.

NEWSY PARAGRAPHS

The alarm from Box 35 at 9:41 last night was for a fire which had evidently been set in some rubbish pile in the old Puffer manufacturing factory off Swanton street. The plant is being torn down and the fire did little damage.

AFRICAN REGION RECLAIMED BY FRANCE

Another headache for the map-maker is the shifting boundary between Italian and French territory in north-central Africa. Tibesti, a 58,000 square mile area between French Equatorial Africa and the Italian dependency of Libya is being reoccupied by France, according to reports from Europe. This action follows the repudiation by Italy last December of the Rome Pact of 1935. Under the agreement at Rome, points out the National Geographic Society, Tibesti, along with other territory, was ceded to Italy by France in what was then called the final settlement of their long-standing colonial account. This region, wild and mountainous, holds the highest peak of the entire Sahara area—the volcano of Emi Koussi, with an altitude of some 11,000 feet. Mountain and desert at the same time, Tibesti has conditioned its inhabitants to a marked degree. These natives, the Tibbus, have tremendous qualities of endurance, coupled with monkey-like agility. An independent African race, black without the typical physical characteristics of the Negro, they number no more than ten thousand, a figure which represents a sparse population of only one person to every five square miles. As fighters, the Tibbus use, among other weapons, the knife, which they throw with great skill.

THE AGE OF INDEPENDENCE

The Declaration of Independence, adopted by the Continental Congress at Philadelphia, on July 4, 1776, was signed by 56 delegates with an average age of 45, according to the National Geographic Society. Benjamin Franklin, the oldest delegate, was 70. South Carolina contributed the youngest signers, Edward Rutledge and Thomas Lynch, Jr., both 26. Twelve of the signers were not present when the Independence resolution was adopted. The average of those present and voting for the resolution at the session of the Congress on July 4 was 41.

In June 1923 the first landing was made at the East Boston Airport, the official dedication took place on Sept. 8, 1923.

OIL-RICH OKLAHOMA CELEBRATES HISTORIC LAND RUSH

Shots fired 50 years ago will echo again in memory as Oklahoma celebrated, during the week of April 16, the dramatic land boom that opened up one of America's last extensive pioneer regions. Today a state of nearly two and a half million people in an area of some 70,000 square miles, Oklahoma 51 years ago was a land of Indian settlements and wilderness, says a bulletin from the Washington, D. C., headquarters of the National Geographic Society. Then came the land rush. At noon, April 22, 1889, in accordance with the proclamation issued by President Benjamin Harrison, signal shots cracked out and thousands of would-be settlers rushed into the formerly unassigned lands in the heart of what is now Oklahoma.

Boomers Vs. Sooners On horseback, muleback, trains wagons, and on foot, they dashed for home sites in one of the biggest mass real estate ventures the world had ever seen. Tent cities sprang up, followed almost overnight by permanent homes, stores, schools, banks, newspapers, post offices, churches, saloons and jails. To the American vocabulary in general were added 2 new words: Boomers and Sooners.

The Boomers were not altogether unheard of. For years before the Government legalized the effort, they had made unsuccessful attempts to colonize in this area. The Sooners made their appearance after the battle was won. They were the settlers who took advantage of the situation by slipping into the region before the entrance signal, thereby obtaining land priority. The resulting fist fights and gun battles between Boomers and Sooners made some of the most melodramatic history of the Wild and Woolly West.

Soon, however, the newcomers (mostly from such neighboring states as Kansas, and Texas, with a variegated collection of Union veterans, disappointed gold-seekers, gamblers, business men, farmers, and hangers-on generally) began to expand their new domain. Railroads were built, soundly organized, and a territorial government set up. Treaties and deals with the Indians added to the white man's possessions and opened up new ground for white settlement. Communications and commercial relations helped the white to a foothold in the adjoining Indian Territory, assigned to certain Indian tribes in the redistribution of land after the Civil War.

Eventually, in 1907, the two territories of Old Oklahoma and Indian Territory were admitted to the Union as one State—Oklahoma. But not before the Oklahomans had discovered that theirs was a country not only of valuable farm and home lands, but of vast potential mineral wealth.

Black Gold Brought Riches Oklahoma has resources in coal, lead, and zinc; in sandstone, limestone, asphalt, and granite. Its greatest wealth, however, is in oil and gas. Drilling on the first well of commercial importance was started at Bartlesville in 1897. By 1904, Oklahoma had become a million-barrel State, moving up to first place among all other oil producers of the country in 1907, with a virtual river of forty-three and a half million barrels.

Later, in the year following the entrance of the United States into the World War, a petroleum experimental station was set up at Bartlesville by the Bureau of Mines of the U. S. Department of Interior. Carrying on work in the interests of human safety and efficient extraction, this station has grown in the past two decades from a staff of three men to a personnel of more than 60 regular employees.

As the black gold bubbled from the earth, in ever increasing quantities, both white men and Indians became rich on the profits. Although Oklahoma no longer leads the state procession of producers today ranking 3rd after Texas and California, its wells contributed in 1937 nearly 229,000,000 barrels of crude oil to supply fuel and lubricants for the power age.

GIRL SCOUT NOTES

Thursday, July 27

A happy group of girls once more wended their way to the Cabin on the Brooks Estate for another day of fun.

The day began as usual with colors, which was followed by a rehearsal of the songs of Hansel and Gretel. This overture is to be presented the last day of camp.

The girls then went into their units and enjoyed horse shoes archery, and volley ball. In volley ball Alice Neily's team won two games out of three.

After these activities the lunch hour and rest period which followed were welcomed. The beautiful shade trees surrounding the Cabin provided an ideal picnic ground. Before beginning the craft work in the afternoon a new folk dance "Here We Go Round the Mountains" was fun for all.

Some fine pictures of leaves of trees and shrubs were then developed using a frame which consisted of wood, a rubber mat, a shelf glass and ozalid paper. Keen interest was aroused by the experiment. The girls were invited to experiment and to compete to see which girl can get the best picture of leaves or flowers.

The rest of the afternoon was spent in craft work.

Tuesday, August 1

This was Traders' Day at camp. The girls brought to camp something they had which they would like to trade. After colors they were led by Alice Davis and Gayle Sawyer in a beautiful gypsy costumes to the trading post down by the spring. Jean Stillman in gypsy costume played on her violin many gypsy songs as they slowly walked to the trading post singing as they went. After they reached the trading post the gypsy (Alice Davis) passed around some rosy apples. Then for a half hour some keen trading and bargaining took place. After each girl was satisfied with her trade the procession went back to the Cabin. In the way back some of the girls gathered leaves, flowers, and ferns which they photographed on their return.

After lunch a "Major Bowes Hour" was presented as a special entertainment for our guest, Mrs. Eva Knapp of Reading, our Regional camp visitor. After the entertainment Mrs. Knapp spoke to the girls complimenting the girls on their beautiful camp grounds and Cabin and expressing her great pleasure in being with such a happy group of girls.

Craft and colors then brought to a close another happy day. Mrs. Stephen Neily assisted at camp closing the day.

Twelve of the younger girls were given an opportunity of an overnight's camping experience at the Cabin. It was an ideal night for camping, with its beautiful sunset, full moon and stars in the sky. It was a night long to be remembered.

Wednesday, August 2

At six o'clock the Cabin was astir with campers all ready and eager to begin the day. After getting breakfast, wash dishes and tidying up the Cabin the girls relaxed until the other campers arrived.

After Morning Circle the Cook Out for the day was arranged for by special committee.

Mrs. Newton our dramatic coach then had a rehearsal of Hansel and Gretel. After this there was just time for an exciting game of volley ball before it was time to prepare the noon day meal. The cook out was a decided success judging from the number of seconds requested.

After rest hour and craft the girls went into units and planned the program for the rest of the days in camp. Everyone asked for another Treasure Hunt. This will be the special feature on Thursday.

Mrs. Lowell Smith again superintended the cooking of the meal and assisted at craft during the afternoon.

MID-PACIFIC AIRPORT BY PRODUCT OF SUN'S ECLIPSE

Canton and Enderbury Islands of the Phoenix group, placed under joint control of the United States and Great Britain for 50 years by the recent April 6 exchange of notes, may be considered to have reached this status partly because of an eclipse of the sun, says a bulletin from the Washington, D. C., headquarters of the National Geographic Society.

Map and astronomical calculations disclosed that the total solar eclipse of June 8, 1937, was visible to best advantage from these two dots of land in the mid-Pacific, continues the bulletin. At that time information in regard to the islets was meager and old. The National Geographic Society and the U. S. Navy sent a joint astronomical expedition to the islets and not only made a study of the eclipse, but also collected data in regard to the geography of the two bits of land with special reference to their suitability as stations for transpacific airplane service.

It was found that the lagoon of Canton Island, fully protected from the sea, can be made into an excellent landing place for sea planes by the removal of coral growths. Shortly after the return of the expedition with this information, the United States Government sent several U. S. citizens from Hawaii to Canton Island as an official colonizing party. The two islands lie 4.6 miles south of the Equator, and are roughly half way between Hawaii and Australia. The Samoan Islands are a relatively short hop to the southwest of Canton and Enderbury.

HIGH HIGHWAYS

The supremacy of the highway to the top of Pike's Peak, 14,110 feet high, as the highest automobile road in the world, has been challenged by the newly constructed highway which reaches almost to the top of Mount Evans west of Denver. This challenge recalls the gradual evolution of highway construction.

The rivers were the first American highways, and their valleys afforded the more level routes to early road-builders, says a bulletin from the Washington, D. C.; headquarters of the National Geographic Society.

Roadbuilding in Reverse Today, roadbuilding has seemingly gone into reverse, with engineers willfully seeking the very obstacles shunned by the pioneers, to provide scenic thrills for a motorized civilization. With seeming aimlessness, great parkways now are built, elongated parks containing broad roads dedicated solely to recreational and social use, through rights of way 800 feet wide, designed to give to the motorist the impression of great open spaces.

In the 27 national parks alone there are today 1,936 miles of highway, constructed primarily for the pleasure of motoring over scenic or historic routes, a highway system greater than from New York City to Denver, or if straightened out, from Chicago to San Francisco.

The Longest High Road

In the Rocky Mountain National Park, Colorado, the Trail Ridge Road is a four-mile section over 12,000 feet in altitude which is probably the longest stretch of road ever built at such a height. In Yellowstone Park, the Red Lodge-Cooke Road rises to an altitude of 10,940 feet, being part of the figure-eight Grand Loop Highway of approximately 145 miles.

An altitude of 8,512 feet is reached by the highway in Lassen Volcanic National Park, California, while the western approach to Grand Teton National Park, Wyoming, crosses the range at a height of 8,431 feet. Driving up to Sentinel Dome in the Yosemite, the motorist attains an elevation of 8,117 feet. The 20 miles of paved road, reaching many points in Bryce Canyon, Utah, has a maximum of 8,000 feet.

The outstanding mountain-top parkway development in the East is the Blue Ridge Parkway through Virginia, North Carolina and Tennessee. This parkway includes the Skyline Drive of 97 mountainous miles overlooking the Shenandoah Valley in Virginia, and extends to North Carolina, eventually linking the Shenandoah National Park with the Great Smoky Mountains National Park in Tennessee with a 600-mile highway through the most rugged of eastern scenery.

The Great Smoky Mountains, with nearly a score of peaks more than 6,000 feet high, constitutes the greatest mountain mass east of the Black Hills of South Dakota. When completed the Park will have an area of 687 square miles. Running from Newfound Gap to Clingmans Dome, second highest peak in eastern America, the Skyway Drive reaches an altitude of 6,311 feet, the highest highway in the East.

STRATEGIC ROAD FOR BIBLICAL SINAI

Across the desolate sand dunes of Sinai, historic peninsula which links the continents of Africa and Asia at the head of the Red Sea, Egyptian authorities are building a new road. This road, says the National Geographic Society, is planned as a strategic route over which to move troops between Palestine and Egypt, without the usual handicap of weather delays. Beginning at Ismailia on the Suez Canal and reaching across the wide northern stretch of one-shaped Sinai, the new road is expected to be less susceptible to sudden washouts (the terror of construction in these parts) than is the present route of the south which now runs from Suez to the Palestine border. Not far away is one of the world's most famous paths, the ancient and much-traveled Biblical route between Egypt and Palestine. Along this way came two Josephs of the Bible, one sold into Egypt by his brothers, the other, husband of Mary. To the south, along the pathway of the Children of Israel, lies Mount Sinai where Moses received the Ten Commandments. Today, although airplanes fly over the peninsula and trains whistle along its northern coast, life as a whole in Sinai seems little changed from the time when the Israelites first saw it.

PITCHED NO-HIT NO-RUN GAME

"Jim O'Connor, son of Dr. and Mrs. James H. O'Connor of White street, pitched a no-hit no-run baseball game for the Gulls against the All Stars in the Hampton Beach Park League last week.

"Jim," who attends Winchester High and was a candidate for the high school team last spring, fanned seven, gave two bases on balls and hit a batsman. His outfielders had virtually nothing to do, most of the All Stars going out by the infield grounder route. It was the Hampton Park League's first no-hit of the season.

Young "Jim" comes by his baseball prowess naturally for his dad was a cracking good third baseman on those fine nines George LeDuc used to coach at high school back in 1903-04. Later he was a steady fielder and dependable batsman in the semi-pro ranks, playing for the Winchester A. A. and the Winchester Town Team, both of which were able to hold their own with the best in the Greater Boston semi-pro ranks.

SOFT BALL

The Ten Old Men won an 11-1 victory over the Park Department Team on Ginn Field Tuesday evening with Al Pennell opposing Joe Tansey. Kidder hit the ball hard for the victors who lined up Young catching, Pennell pitching, Kidder, first base; Oliver, second base; Ritchie, third base; Owen, shortstop; Gamargo, left field; Morse, center field; Atkinson, left field and Deuell, rover. The Park Department lineup was Connors, catcher; Tansey, pitcher; Provinzano, first base; Bolise, second base; H. Chafalo, third base; Procopio, shortstop; T. Chafalo, left field; Clark, center field; McKee, right field; Donovan, rover.

Monday evening the T. O. M. beat the Spencer Track Team from Boston, 11-3 and seem to be going along right well.

WINCHESTER GOLF

The team of C. S. Eaton, T. R. Aldrich, D. F. Connors and Edward F. Bennett carded a 62 in the four-ball tournament at the Winchester Country Club last Saturday afternoon. Eaton's 70-71 was best gross and net in the medal play.

Following are the scores:

RED'S GOING WELL IN SOFT BALL

Another team which will be in at the finish this season in the soft ball league is the aggregation known as the Winchester "Reds". In fact on the basis of averages they probably lead the Winchester Teams with 5 wins in six games. Monday night the "Reds" beat the Boston News Bureau Team in a regulation seven inning game by the total of 8 to 1. Batting order of the "Reds" was "Mo" Butler, 2nd base; Bill Hall, s.s.; Phil Butler, 1. f.; Smith, roving field; "Bo" Farrar, c. f.; Ritchie, 3rd base; Farrar, r. f.; Bellows, 1st base; Charn, catcher; Harry Bean, pitcher.

TIN IS "PRECIOUS" METAL

The importance of tin is emphasized by Uncle Sam's recent ill-fated barter proposal to exchange surplus wheat and cotton for tin from Netherlands East India. Germany, which also needs tin, sought a similar barter pact. To show no favorites, the Dutch refused both offers and will continue to sell for cash their much demanded product. The popular idea that tin is a cheap and accessible metal is probably due to the misnaming of the ubiquitous "tin" can, says the National Geographic Society. Actually these cans are thin sheet steel lightly coated with tin. An all-tin can would be commercially prohibitive. But tin is found in many other less advertised products. The tin automobile was not undiscriminately named, for tin is used for various parts. Alloyed with other metals, tin is an ingredient of such everyday articles as metal beds and tooth-paste tubes; it is used in refrigerator linings, kitchen utensils, table silverware, in roofing and tinfoil. In the major fields of transportation, communications, industry and warfare, tin plays a vital part. The United States, alone, consumed in 1937-38 record-breaking year, nearly 90,000 tons. The world's first tin-producing country is the Malay States; the Netherlands East India ranks second, and Bolivia third.

The State Planning Board has just issued a report on water resources of the Westfield River Basin.

Young "Jim" comes by his baseball prowess naturally for his dad was a cracking good third baseman on those fine nines George LeDuc used to coach at high school back in 1903-04. Later he was a steady fielder and dependable batsman in the semi-pro ranks, playing for the Winchester A. A. and the Winchester Town Team, both of which were able to hold their own with the best in the Greater Boston semi-pro ranks.

Monday evening the T. O. M. beat the Spencer Track Team from Boston, 11-3 and seem to be going along right well.

The team of C. S. Eaton, T. R. Aldrich, D. F. Connors and Edward F. Bennett carded a 62 in the four-ball tournament at the Winchester Country Club last Saturday afternoon. Eaton's 70-71 was best gross and net in the medal play.

SINGLE MEN WON AGAIN

Despite the sterling shortstopping of Rev. Joseph E. McGoldrick, the single members of Winchester Council, K. of C., again won from the married council members in a one-sided game of soft ball Tuesday evening on Manchester Field. No score was available.

No one could seem to find out how Father McGoldrick happened to be playing with the Benedicts, but he put up an excellent game in the field, picking the ball off the grass like "Eddie" Miller and showing an excellent arm. In fact he is credited with the longest overthrow of the night at first base, the ball remaining lost for several minutes.

There wasn't so much excitement at this second game as there was at the first. Perhaps the heat and the dust churned up by the autos speeding by did the trick. The boys, then, too, "Mitch" Mawn didn't show up till too late to play and "Jomma" Dolan and Francis Tansey didn't show up at all.

Penta, again scintillated around third base for the young fellows and drove out a home run, while the old Maestro, Bill Gibbons, with a baseball hat this time, roved all over the married men's outfield shagging flies.

"Eddie" Quill, the man-of-the-hour, contributed a running back to the plate catch of a high fly and "Chub" Murphy contributed a great stop (with his chest) of a ground ball, which he played to first in plenty of time, only to have George Young drop the ball. "That really hurt," said Murphy, but refused to say whether it was the ball or the muff that caused the most anguish.

Patsy Tofuri and Dinny Collins twirled for the married men with Murphy and Walter Malley catching. Tom Hannan hurled for the singletons with Dick Hogan catching, spelled by Father McGoldrick to show there were no hard feelings.

Charlie Barran again contributed his inevitable umpiring to the classic and Dinny Collins made the loudest squawk when he was called out for going out of the baseline to avoid a tag. Dinny claimed there was no baseline, but Chaz was pretty tough about it and threatened to throw him out of the game. Manager Eddie Maguire of the married men adding that he would punish on a second offense. The only pitcher left was waved out of the pastime. Oh yes, Bill McLaughlin didn't play this one either!

CUBS WON FROM SINCLAIRS

Winchester Cubs proved too good for the Sinclairs of Woburn last Sunday, winning 11 to 5 on the Woburn High School diamond behind the six hit pitching of Peter Provinzano.

Peter was on top of the Sinclairs all the way, firing fielding by his mates would have kept the opposition's hits and runs down even lower. The locals knocked Reddy Ralfo from the mound with a five run batter, but Chaz was pretty tough about it and threatened to throw him out of the game. Manager Eddie Maguire of the married men adding that he would punish on a second offense. The only pitcher left was waved out of the pastime. Oh yes, Bill McLaughlin didn't play this one either!

McKittick, who replaced Reddy, was blasted from the hill in the 7th, when the Cubs over another five runs. The final run was scored off Desmond in the 9th. Billy McDonal's well hit triple scored three runs. The summary:

POLLY KIMBALL NORTH SHORE TENNIS WINNER

Polly Kimball, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Allan Kimball of Cabot street and a member of the unbeaten girls' tennis team at Winchester High, paired with 15 year old Gloria Stastum of Maplewood, N. J., to win the North Shore women's doubles championship at the Tedesco Country Club last Saturday, winning in the final round play from another Winchester girl, Shirley White, daughter of Mrs. Alfred J. White of Foxcroft road, and Ruth Carter of Everett, 6-1, 6-2.

MILLIONAIRES-CUBS SERIES STATISTICS

The recently concluded baseball series between the Millionaires and the Cubs for the championship of Winchester has furnished food for countless arguments and post-mortems among supporters of both clubs and local fans generally.

The Moneyemen won the series, three games to two, annexing the championship after spotting the Cubs the first two games. You just can't laugh off this fact, and it is pretty hard to convince the Millionaires' followers that their team isn't the better club on the records.

Cubs supporters, on the other hand, claim the Millionaires were lucky to win, and that the Cubs' inability to take advantage of the many scoring opportunities afforded them, rather than any great superiority on the part of their opponents was the deciding factor in the series.

The good neighbor policy, about which we have heard so much since our ruler took office as head man of the nation, and whereby we were all to go forward into utopia equal in wealth, affection and hours of work, has been amply illustrated during the past three years. Furthermore it has been put into effect without bringing in the Supreme Court, even though the former governor of Michigan received an attorney-generalship in honor of his interpretation of its meaning along New Deal lines. The summer season being on, and propaganda being heavily distributed touting the new prosperity of our country, it is highly fitting that another spasm of good neighbor exemplification be staged. Hence the present increase of the strikes which have accompanied this wonderful innovation since its inception. Its workings are simple. A few "workers" decide to tie things up or else get more money or less work. They stop work and forbid all others from working. If any workman decided to keep on earning his living under the mistaken idea that America is still a free country, he is immediately treated to the good neighbor cure. His head is broken, his car wrecked and his home so threatened that he has to evacuate his women and children. If any employer, likewise imagining that he has some rights handed down from horse and buggy days, decides to keep his factory running, even though he has discharged a slovenly and lazy worker, he has his place of business wrecked, the windows broken in his factory and is put to great expense, if not put out of business, when he gives in to the good neighbor movement. This good neighbor deal is without doubt the greatest innovation for the rescue of the masses, the uplift of the nation and the return of prosperity the world has ever seen. Internationally, it seems working well in Mexico, where American investment appears well under control of the neighbor, and following the possible oil investigation another New Dealer will undoubtedly be scheduled for appointment to high office. South America too, seems to be strongly under its influence. Now that Britain has witnessed its successful introduction here, that nation seems to be trying it out in the Orient. Altogether, as a step in the unifying of peoples and nations, it looks like one of those very successful New Deal programs we have been enjoying since 1933. A grateful nation certainly deserves its blessing.

SOCRATES SAYS-

STOCK PRICES

There seems to be a belief that business is running ahead of stock prices. It cannot run very far for the same forces that control stock prices also control business.

The boast was that the financial center would be moved from Wall Street to Washington. It has now come to pass—so what?

It looks as if we are to have, permanently, "guaranteed" unemployed bank deposits." The surplus funds of the Nation and the life's savings of the people are to stay "all quiet on the Potomac" (at one half of one per cent.)

You never can have prosperity with low interest rates.

"ACCENT ON YOUTH"

New Dealer Hon. Aubrey Williams, head of the National Youth Administration, is quoted as saying that what he has learned from the depression is, "There's still opportunity for American youth."

From his statement it appears that in 1929 (the good old "horse and buggy" days) 85 per cent of these leaving school found jobs, and even in 1933 (the first year of the Roosevelt depression) 73 per cent also found employment.

It would seem that the lesson gained by Mr. Williams should give courage to all our youth, first, that the New Deal is not necessary; second, that there is always an opportunity "to push"; and third, why continue the National Youth Movement?

1929 WALL STREET—1939 WALL STREET

Jesse H. Jones, Federal Loan Administrator, states that he is ashamed to estimate the proportion of loss on Government lending to business.

In the campaign of 1932, President Roosevelt criticized the bankers because they loaned too freely to business. Now, seven years later, it is confessed that the New Deal's loss on the lending of the people's money to business has been so liberal that the Administrator is ashamed at the proportions.

What about the boast that "the financial center was to be moved from Wall Street to Washington"? At least from 1921 to 1929 the people had a run for their money and taxes, for they had a job—1929 Wall Street—1939 Wall Street.

WAR?

Millions of men under arms are marching around and around; billions are being spent on armaments and munitions; national resources are being used up; budgets are out of control; and many countries are facing financial chaos.

When men like power and feel that they have the strength to stay in power, they try to stay. The forces of financial and moral bankruptcy, at their present rate of progress, will before long start to disturb political alliances, and it will be considered necessary to direct the marching millions along the paths of least resistance—thus, it is felt necessary to protect the political front at home.

Millions of men fully armed and trained to fight, usually in the end do one of two things—they fight a supposed enemy, or they fight among themselves—that's war!

IS IT DOWN THE HATCH?

Senator Hatch of New Mexico (Democrat) has just succeeded in getting a bill through Congress which attempts to take politics out of the relief system.

In the first place, this bill would not have passed unless it was thought that there had been some relief for political purposes, or it was feared that there was to be. What an indictment, and how conclusive it is when it is understood that it is a Democratic attack against the New Deal.

When we remember the flagrant violation of the Corrupt Practice Act by the New Dealers in their 1936 campaign, where they obtained contributions from corporations with a campaign book signed by President Roosevelt, we wonder if these same New Dealers will not say, "Down the hatch" with this latest attempt of Jeffersonian Democrats to clean up the relief system.

W. C. T. U. NOTES

In the Union Signal of October 10, 1936, there was printed a poem by Berthalee Broyles, which was taken from the Pennsylvania "Bulletin". It is worth reprinting for the message that it has.

"What is there for a Dry to Say?"
"I think the dries would feel less blue if there was something they could do!"

They watch the brewer's horses prance with sleek and pampered arrogance With clamping bits as if to say, 'We surely feel our oats today!'

Their oats is legal oats, its true.
There's not a thing the dries can do.

The safety experts spend their time asking why motor smashups climb;
Shout "safety first" until they're hoarse, ask more policemen to enforce

The laws as if all unforeseen the mix of booze and gasoline, a dry must pay—there's not a word that he can say.

The old-time magazines defile their pages with the cleverest guile
To make his wife and children think it's very smart indeed to drink.

His radio brings song and tale to urge wine, whisky, beer and ale
On old and young by night and day—
what is there for a dry to say!

The land must pay the evil toll of poverty in purse and soul
Before the time will come again when conscience rules the votes of men.

But who desires to sit and wait the grinding of the mills of fate!
There surely is a thing or two for earnest dries right now to do.

There is, in almost every town,
a paper that turns booze ads down.
Thousands of dollars pass it by because its policy is dry.

The sheriff's shadow may be seen across the linotype machine.
And yet the publishers refuse to mix up liquor with the news.

Following are the leading and Winchester scores for the tournament:

MONAHANS WON FATHER-SON GOLF

Judge Joseph W. Monahan and his 18 year-old son, Joe Jr., shot a 72 to win the 21st annual Father and Son tournament at the Winchester Country Club yesterday as six pairs beat the 78s carried by J. A. and Francis Galvin of Brae Burn and J. J. Reidy of Pakachog and Frank Reidy of Philadelphia, leaders of the first day's play Wednesday. One hundred and fifty pairs competed in this year's tournament which saw the winners make history for the event.

Judge Monahan and his son, by virtue of their victory yesterday, became the 1st team to defend the championship bowl which they won a year ago, the second team in 21 years to win it twice and the record holders for the event with their one-over-par 72 for the 6400 yard course. Only three pairs in recent years, Dave and Mal Whiteside of New Bedford and Jim Reidy of Pakachog, playing with Leo and Frank Reidy, have been as low as 72.

W. E. Robb, Jr., and 12 year old Robby Robb of Weston had an 86 to win the prize for a father playing with a son under 12. Incidentally Mr. Robb drove 150 miles to Watford, Maine, to bring down his son from camp to play. A. H. Turner, 81, of Oak Hill, was the oldest contestant, playing with his son, Prof. Earl O. Turner, the pair having a 92.

The Galvins 74-9-65 gave them a double tie. They tied the Whitesides for second gross and H. J. and Whitney Cook of Concord for second net, the Cooks having 85-20-65. Joe Galvin also shared in another prize, that for fathers playing with two sons, having a net 65 with Bud and a net 69 with Fran.

GRANADA ATTRACTIONS

"Man About Town," with Jack Benny and Dorothy Lamour, plus Douglas Fairbanks, Jr., and Basil Rathbone as the players, will open at the Granada Theatre in Malden on Friday. In "Man About Town," Jack Benny, who is always at his best when playing his natural self, has been provided with a role and a story which allow him to move with ease through a series of farcical situations and sparkling wisecracks. Mr. Benny is surrounded with a large group of featured players including Dorothy Lamour, Edward Arnold, Binnie Barnes, Phil Harris, Betty Grable, Eddie "Rochester" Anderson, E. E. Clive and Matty Malnek and his orchestra, "Rochester," who plays Jack Benny's valet, is as big a hit in his first picture as he is on the radio. In fact, he just about steals the picture. Benny is cast as an impressario who is about to open a show in London. When his leading lady, Dorothy Lamour, arrives, she is accompanied by Phil Harris. Benny is jealous and asks "Rochester's" advice. Rochester suggests he start running around with other girls to make her jealous. Benny takes his advice and steps out with Binnie Barnes with hilarious results. Woven into the fabric of the gags and amorous nonsense are three new hit songs, "Strange Enchantment," "The Sentimental Sandwich," and "Fiddle Joe." The harem sequence presents the famed Merrill Abbott dancers who do the most amazing acrobatic dancing ever seen on the screen. "The Sun Never Sets," is a picture dealing with the British Colonial Civil Service, which protects 500 million people over an area of 13 million square miles. The story is told through two brothers, played by Basil Rathbone and Douglas Fairbanks, Jr. Both are members of an old family whose sons have been in the service for more than 300 years. Rathbone, the elder, has followed family tradition and given his life in service. Fairbanks rebels at being so harnessed by tradition. But he finally goes into the service. He costs his brother his job through a blunder, but straightens everything out in the end. Others in the cast are Virginia Field, Lionel Atwill, Barbara O'Neill, C. Aubrey Smith and Melville Cooper.

TREATY-MAKING CHINA

Since the first commercial agreement with Great Britain in 1842, China has signed almost half a hundred treaties with the British. It serves the National Geographic Society. This figure is nearly twice that of the geographic neighbor, Japan, whose 27 treaties with China deal with such varied subjects as troop movements, territorial cessions, railroad settlements, and trade issues. On Uncle Sam's diplomatic books are recorded 14 treaties with China, beginning close on the heels of Britain with the general friendship, commerce and navigation agreement of 1844. Even in the bare list of China's diplomatic agreements (from the 17th century boundary arrangement with old Russia to the 1937 Non-Aggression Pact with Soviet Russia) terse words hint at the turbulent modern history of this ancient land. Such words are "open ports," "frontier offenses," "Boxer War indemnity," "Opium traffic," "Labor Immigration," "special rights," and "guarantees of integrity."

STRAND THEATRE, MALDEN

Shirley Temple in "Susannah of the Mounties," and "The Kid From Kokomo" with Pat O'Brien, Wayne Morris and Joan Blondell, is the double bill opening at the Strand Theatre in Malden today. Garbed in calico and buckskin, Shirley Temple has a real dramatic role, different from anything she has previously done on the screen. Randolph Scott and Margaret Lockwood provide the romantic angle. "Susannah of the Mounties," deals with the heroic exploits of the Mounties in protecting the construction of the Canadian Pacific Railroad on its push to the west from the outraged redmen. Shirley Temple is cast as the sole survivor of an Indian massacre in Northwest Canada. She is found by Randolph Scott, an officer in the Mounties. The Mounted Police start out to track down the Indians who are guilty of the outrage. The chief of the tribe explains that the massacre was done by members of his tribe and that he will punish them. The chief leaves behind his young son, Martin Good Rider, as an evidence of his good will. From the point the picture builds to an amazing climax.

"The Kid From Kokomo" is a film fashioned entirely for laughs. Pat O'Brien is cast as a fight promoter who is strictly a phoney. He sells a half interest in his fighter, Maxie Rosenbloom, to four men. Then he bets against his own man and WOR just betrays the Brooklyn Dodgers start swinging their bats, you can be sure it will be something pretty tasty.

SPANISH WAR LINKED WITH LAFAYETTE

Americans have special interest in the growing Spanish port of Pasajes, facing France at the elbow bend of the Bay of Biscay. According to the National Geographic Society, it was from Pasajes—where the Spaniards are now reported planning new "pill-boxes," machine-gun nests and other fortifications—that Lafayette sailed in 1776 to play his dramatic role in the Revolutionary War. From the 10th to the 16th century Pasajes was a center of the Basque whaling industry. It has also another claim to historic fame as the home for a the Victor Hugo, author of "Les Misérables." In the recent Spanish War, Pasajes already at work on improved harbor and storage facilities to make it a regular port of call for large ocean-going steamers, grew rapidly in size and importance as a shipping point for insurgent supplies. Its land-locked harbor is one of the best on the Spanish coast. Besides Pasajes, this little seacoast corner of Spain also holds several other well-known Basque towns, including San Sebastian, long one of Europe's east pleasure resorts and industrial port, just across the border from French Hendaye, source of many news dispatches during the Spanish conflict.

NAVY TO INVADE HOME OF KODIAK BEAR

Kodiak Island, which is soon to become the site of a large United States naval base and air station, and possibly a Coast Guard base and air station adjoining, is the largest of the Alaskan Islands—about a hundred miles long and fifty miles wide, according to a bulletin from the Washington D. C., headquarters of the National Geographic Society.

Kodiak was discovered by Russian fur hunters in 1763, when the island was plentiful, but its fame more recently lies in the fact that it is the native heath of the Kodiak bear, the world's largest, carnivorous animal, says the bulletin.

The bears roam in thirty to forty thousand acres of spruce on the island, and in the mountains which rise to nearly 4,000 feet. Much of the interior has been little explored, and the few miles of highway do not penetrate the game preserves. A British botanist here collected 118 species of wild flowers in one day.

The chief industry of the island is the coast-fishing for salmon. Kodiak Scott, an officer in the Mounties, is a ring and halibut. One whaling station handles 200 whales annually. Vast areas in luxuriant grass would seem capable of supporting large herds of cattle, but there are probably not more than 600 head on the island. Friends of the bears deny that they attack the cattle.

Most inhabitants have small truck gardens, but climatic conditions do not favor extensive agricultural development. A United States agricultural experiment station was abandoned there a few years ago.

Kodiak was prominent in the news of the eruption of Katmai in 1912, though about ninety miles distant from the volcano. The clouds of volcanic ash then enveloped the island in darkness for sixty hours. A foot or more of ash covered the island driving the bears to the coast for food.

The Aleutian Islands, which trickle off the Alaska Peninsula towards Kamchatka, divert the warm Japanese currents to the east, greatly altering Kodiak's temperature. Despite its Labradorian latitude, the island's winters are much milder than Boston, and more nearly approximate the climate of Washington, D. C.

The inhabitants are still mostly descendants of Russians. The capital of the early Russian settlement, Kodiak, is still the largest town on the island. There are a few fishing villages along the coast, but with an area that of Connecticut the population now is estimated at less than 1,500. The bears have never been subjected to census takers.

Salads Men Like

WHEN two men put their heads together over a kitchen stove there is no telling just what the resulting dish will always be. But when the two men are Ralph Dumke and Pat Barnes, veterans of the airwaves and currently heard on "News and Views of Baseball" over WOR, just betrays the Brooklyn Dodgers start swinging their bats, you can be sure it will be something pretty tasty.

Besides being experts at the microphones, they are experts in the kitchen too, and when their wives let them, they start mixing and stirring with a will. They especially like to make salads because they feel the feminine cooks are apt to get them a little on the sweet side. "Men," they say, "like their salads tart and bitey."

Pat and Ralph have lots of pet recipes tucked up their sleeves but are usually just as cagey as Mrs. Jones and Mrs. Smith about giving out their secrets. However, we persuaded them to part with two of their favorite salad combinations which are made with plain unflavored gelatine.

With summer and warm weather coming on they decided on the felled salads because they are so cooling to the palate, easy to make and look like a French chef's masterpiece when finished. A few minutes mixing and the refrigerator does the rest.

So if you are making salads for the men folk to eat or they have a hankering to get out in the kitchen to do a little concocting themselves, keep these recipes handy.

Summer Ring Mold (Serves 6)

1 envelope plain unflavored gelatine
1 cup cold water
2 cups canned or fresh tomatoes
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 cup celery
Few grains cayenne pepper
1 stalk celery
1 tsp. onion vinegar
1/2 cup chopped pickles
1 tsp. onion juice
Softened gelatine in cold water. Mix tomatoes, salt, celery and pepper and simmer for a few minutes. Add softened gelatine, vinegar and onion juice. Stir thoroughly and strain. Pour into ring mold that has been rinsed out in cold water first and chill. When firm, unmold onto lettuce and fill center with any desired combination. Here are a few suggestions: Tuna fish, crab, chicken, potato, mixed chopped vegetables, sliced or diced cucumber.

Egg Salad (Serves 6)

1 envelope plain unflavored gelatine
1/2 cup cold water
1 cup mayonnaise
1 hard-cooked egg, sliced or diced
1/2 cup celery
2 tbsp. green pepper, chopped
2 tbsp. chopped chicken, pickled
1 pickle relish
1 tsp. chopped pimiento
1 tsp. lemon juice
1/2 teaspoon salt
Softened gelatine in cold water and dissolve over hot water. Cool slightly and beat into mayonnaise. Fold in remaining ingredients. Turn into loaf pan that has been rinsed out in cold water first, and chill. When firm, unmold and slice to serve. Garnish with slices of tomato, cucumber or radishes.

"CAPTAIN FURY" AT THE UNIVERSITY

Dramatizing the roaring adventure and rich romance of the frontier days in Australia, in the early 19th century, Hal Roach's "Captain Fury," co-starring Brian Aherne, Victor McLaglen and Jane Lang, will start Sunday at the University. Rounding out the hand-picked cast of stars who portray the heroes and heroines of those countless days are such well known Hollywood players as John Carradine, George Zucco, Paul Lukas, Virginia Field, Douglas Donbrille, Lumsden Hare, Mary Gordon, John Warburton and laud Allister. Briefly, the story concerns the high, wide and handsome adventures of Captain Fury, a political prisoner from Ireland, who arrives in Australia to discover the perfidious and greedy practices of land barons who are trying to oust the settlers and colonists so that they can establish vast feudal estates and rule them like medieval tyrants. Fury is set to work, shearing sheep, on the compound of Arnold Trist, a cold-blooded villain who has been terrorizing the entire settlement. A few hundred miles outside of Sydney, how Fury outwits this man and brings civilized law and order to the community provides a thrilling climax to the story which is filled with many hair-raising, blood-and-thunder episodes.

Highlighted by the gay and amusing events in a home where every one does as they please, the comedy drama, "The Family Next Door," is the companion feature. Hugh Herbert is seen as the whimsical father who has reason to doubt whether he is really the "head of the house." Ruth Donnelly, popular comedienne, has the role of the mother who spends her time, trying to marry off her pretty daughter, Joy Hodges. Eddie Quillan portrays the elder son who has a million ideas for getting rich, and Juanita Quigley appears as the small daughter.

On Wednesday, Review Day, the program includes "Bluebird's 8th Wife" co-starring Claudette Colbert and Gary Cooper and "I'll Give a Million" with Warner Baxter and Peter Lorre.

A new comedy theme, bringing a delightful new team in unusually novel and daffy complications, comes to the screen Thursday when "It's a Wonderful World" makes its local debut starring Claudette Colbert with James Stewart in the male lead. Catching the elusive spirit of Claudette Colbert's Academy Award hit, "It Happened One Night" the new romantic comedy strikes out into new zany channels both in character and plot. Stewart is an All-American football player cast as a private detective hired to keep an irresponsible, oft-married millionaire playboy out of trouble. Miss Colbert is, of all things, a poetess. When the millionaire playboy is murdered and Stewart innocently involved, Miss Colbert joins forces with him in solving the murder. The complications run wild, the work of the amateur detective is more than weird, and Stewart even socks Miss Colbert on the jaw. But it all romps to a happy, if unexpected ending.

The stirring and dramatic experiences of a beautiful French girl, who finds herself locked behind the cold, gray walls of a reform school for girls, located on the outskirts of Paris, is poignantly and movingly told in Alexander Korda's "Prison Without Bars," the associate film with Corinne Luichare, Mr. Korda's newest discovery, playing the heroine of the story.

Goldenrod is cultivated and gladioli grow wild in parts of Africa, just the reverse of the situation in Massachusetts.

Winchendon's wooden-ware industry dates from 1827, its world-famous by industry from about 1877.

TEXAS TO THE FORE ON THE LATIN AMERICAN FRONT

Hands across the border are being followed by heads—wearing thinking caps. The University of Texas announces the opening of a Latin-American Institute. Thirty-three courses will insure the good neighbor policy's good intentions with a clear understanding of the problems and possibilities of relationships between Latin American countries and the United States.

Texas is a bridge between North America and Latin America, both geographically and culturally, points out the National Geographic Society. The principal highways and railways, and some of the airways which string the Americas together, enter the United States through Texas. About half of the 1,423,000 Mexicans in the United States make their home in the Lone Star State; one-fourth of the total are concentrated in twelve southeastern counties.

The longest international frontier that any state has is the 1,300 mile boundary between Texas and Mexico. It is, moreover, a variable river boundary that brings up international complications every time heavy floods shift the course of the shallow Rio Grande. Water rights for irrigation in both sides of the boundary river are another problem that Texas and Mexico have in common.

Beginning with the cruise of the Spanish explorer Pineda to the Texas coast in 1519, the banner of Spain waved over the region more than three times as long as the Stars and Stripes have flown there. The State's Spanish traditions date back to Cabeza de Vaca and Coronado and the survivors of de Soto's expedition. Spanish priests braved the Indians—not all as friendly as the Texas tribe which gave the State its name—and established missions with Spanish language, customs, arts and laws, serving as the first centers of European civilization in Texas. English-speaking settlers, led by Moses and Stephen Austin did not establish themselves there until 1821. Fifteen years later, Sam Houston cut Texas from Mexican apron strings, (which had replaced those of Spain) and helped set up the Republic of Texas which for 11 years was a member of the international family of nations. It was in the wake of Texas that the other areas of the Southwest and West that had been under Spanish influence came into the United States family circle: California, Arizona and the major part of New Mexico as well as Nevada, Utah, and a portion of Colorado.

DEADLY MOSQUITO INVADES SOUTH AMERICA

One invasion of South America which "viewing-with-alarm" statesmen have overlooked is causing some dismay among members of the medical profession. The invaders, small but deadly, are the mosquitoes known to science as Anopheles gambiae. This mosquito, says the National Geographic Society, is one of man's most dangerous enemies. Carrying a form of disabling and often fatal malaria, it has long been known in tropical Africa, its chief breeding ground. It was in 1930, that the species was discovered in the Western World, in a Brazilian seaport where the globe-trotting mosquito had apparently emigrated by way of modern transport service from West Africa. Moving up the coast and inland, the Anopheles gambiae has ravaged an area covering much of the great northern shoulder of Brazil. In 1938, one district alone reported an epidemic of more than 50,000 cases of malaria. Doctors fear the continued spread of this mosquito, possibly even to North America, although the Rockefeller Foundation and the Brazilian Government are cooperating in an effort to halt its progress.

W. C. T. U. NOTES

In the Union Signal of October 10, 1936, there was printed a poem by Berthea Broyles which was taken from the Pennsylvania "Bulletin". It is worth reprinting for the message that it has.

"What is there for a Dry to Say?" "I think the dries would feel less blue if there was something they could do!"

They watch the brewer's horses prance with sleek and pampered arrogance. With clamping bits as if to say, "We surely feel our oats to-day!"

Their oats are legal oats, its true. There's not a thing the dries can do!

The safety experts spend their time asking why motor smashups climb! Shout "safety first" until they're hoarse, ask more policemen to enforce.

The laws as if all unforeseen the mix of booze and gasoline. Insurance mounts, a dry must pay — there's not a word that he can say.

The old-time magazines defile their pages with the cleverest guile. To make his wife and children think it's very smart indeed to drink.

His radio brings song and tale to urge wine, whiskey, beer and ale. On old and young by night and day — what is there for a dry to say!

The land must pay the evil toll of poverty in purse and soul. Before the time will come again when conscience riles the votes of men. But who desires to sit and wait the grinding of the mills of fate!

There surely is a thing or two for earnest dries right now to do.

There is, in almost every town, a paper that turns booze ads down. Thousands of dollars pass it by because its policy is dry.

The sheriff's shadow may be seen across the linotype machine. And yet the publishers refuse to mix up liquor with the news.

So here's a place for dries who're blue because there's "nothing they can do".

These publishers have paid a price of real financial sacrifice. Your name belongs upon their list; your check will help them to persist.

Why wait great victories by and by? Begin today by reading dry!

SUNDAY DINNER SUGGESTIONS

By Cora Anthony
Director of A & P Kitchen

All meats but top grade veal are lower and reasonable in price. The "roast" in lamb prices is quite noticeable. Poultry prices are especially attractive including broiling and frying skin chickens, fowl, ducklings and new drop turkeys. Eggs and butter are plentiful and unusually reasonable.

Maize, that most popular summer fish, continues to elude the fishing fleet. The catch to date is only about a quarter of normal.

Fruits and vegetables are plentiful and low in price. Apples, peaches, plums, pears and melons are the outstanding fruits and all kinds of beans, beets, carrots, corn, eggplant, spinach and the squashes the cheap vegetables. Salad greens, cucumbers, tomatoes and asparagus keep the salad bowl full at low cost.

FUNERAL RITES FOR CHARLES H. MASON

Funeral services for Charles Harper Mason were held on last Saturday afternoon at his late residence, 43 Wedgemere avenue, with Rev. Howard J. Chidley, pastor of the First Congregational Church, officiating. Franklin E. Barnes, David F. Choate, Paul L. Crabtree, George T. Davidson, Weston L. Fickett, William A. Kneeland, Edmund A. Merriam and James C. McCormick were honorary bearers. Interment was in Wildwood Cemetery where the committal service was conducted by Dr. Chidley.

Mr. Mason died suddenly August 2 at his summer home, Riverhill, in Concord, N. H. He was the son of Charles H. and Phoebe (Harper) Mason, and was born in Loudon, N. H., January 1, 1873. He had been a resident of Winchester for more than 20 years and before his retirement was a member of the insurance firm of Russell & Fairfield in Boston. He had been for many years a deacon of the First Congregational Church, and was a member of William Parkman Lodge, A. F. & A. M.

Mr. Mason is survived by his wife, the former Anna Lohbiller, and by a sister, Mrs. Weston L. Fickett of Concord, N. H.

TWO INJURED AS CARS COLLIDE

Daniel Capone of 37 Tremont street reported to the Police that as he was driving his Ford coach north on Washington street shortly after 5:30, Tuesday afternoon, and as he was making a left turn to enter Harvard street, his machine was in collision with a Pontiac coach, driven in the same direction on Washington street by Milton Hodgdon of 70 Reed street, Lexington.

Capone's car was badly damaged about the left rear and Hodgdon's machine was damaged about the right front. Capone complained of injuries to left shoulder and right hand. Francis Ferro of 11 Harvard street, riding with Capone, complained of injuries to his right side and elbow.

NEW SERVICE TRUCK

The firm of Murphy & Reardon, proprietors of the local Texaco certified filling station on Main street, have just added to their equipment a fine new Ford service truck to enable them to provide better tire, battery and bicycle service for their patrons, both at their homes and on the road. The new truck is painted a bright red with white lettering and already has attracted much favorable comment.

UNITED STATES SHORT ON VOLCANOES

Recent eruptions of Mount Veniaminof, Alaska, remind Uncle Sam's family that although there is considerable volcanic activity in that distant Territory, the United States proper has only one active volcano, and that one reasonably quiet for most of the last quarter century. At Lassen Volcanic National Park, in California, points out the National Geographic Society, visitors come to see fantastic lava fields, boiling springs, ruined forests, and Lassen Peak itself, reaching 10,453 feet skyward. It was in the spring of 1914 that Lassen, after some 200 years of good behavior, began a series of eruptions climaxed in May, 1915. Then a giant mushroom-shaped cloud thrust upward four miles over the volcano and was seen as far away as the Sacramento Valley. Fireworks-like flashes illuminated the night, and blasts of hot gases, pouring out of the mountain, turned snowy slopes into torrential rivers that drowned meadows, snuffed old and uprooted trees in miles of devastation. Named for Peter Lassen, one of explorer Fremont's guides in the growing days of the Republic, Lassen Peak is a dormant volcano. Scientists estimate that the next outburst may come about 1930.

GIRL SCOUT NOTES

Thursday, Aug. 3.

Upon arrival at camp, another treasure hunt, which had been requested, was in order. After the morning circle Jean Stillman and Barbara Browning, who had written up the clues the night before, posted their instructions all over the Brooks Estate. While they were doing this the rest of the girls were busy folk dancing in the Cabin and knew nothing of what was taking place outside.

After the treasure was hidden the girls started out in search of it. The clues led them from one end of the estate to the other. Finally after a long search the treasure was discovered by Alice Davis right beside the Cabin. This proved that often the best treasures in life are often right in our own yard.

"Capture the Flag" another request followed. Marjorie Ruby was the first to discover the opponent's flag, but Alice Davis was finally victorious in carrying the enemy's flag over into her own territory.

Directly afterwards Mrs. Newton rehearsed for the operetta "Hansel and Gretel." Lunch, which followed was most heartily enjoyed after a strenuous morning. The watermelon which was the treasure made a very luscious dessert.

The afternoon passed quietly with the usual craft work.

Tuesday, Aug. 8.

Tuesday started off with a "scavenger hunt" which had been previously requested. Miriam Welch had efficiently typed out a list of 20 objects of nature, which were given to the girls, together with paper bags in which to place the articles as they found them. Natalie Dickson in Miss Gregg's unit was successful in finding 19 of the 20 while Nancy Reynolds of Miss Fuller's unit of "ten year olds" was the winner with 13 objects found.

This activity consumed most of the morning so we had an early lunch. A music memory contest was held upon request during rest period.

Snatches of 20 musical numbers were played by Miss Gregg, the girls writing the names of all those they recognized. Shirley Snider had the highest score as she recognized 19 out of 20.

Miss Stillman was a close second with 18 correct, while Alice Davis came in third with 17.

Preparations for the closing were in progress at intervals throughout the day. A musical number by Mrs. Newton, who rehearsed the cast for the play.

During the afternoon the girls worked hard getting their craft work ready for exhibition. Mrs. Neiley assisted during this period. Closing came all too soon.

Wednesday, Aug. 9.

Immediately following "colors" a rehearsal of the music of the operetta was held under the direction of Mrs. Newton, accompanied by Jean Stillman on the violin.

As it was cook-out day the girls made all the arrangements as successfully as one of the American chop suey, the favorite luncheon, was again served, under the direction of Mrs. Lowell Smith.

Three of the favorite folk dances which they had learned this year provided the amusement following arrangements for the cook-out. Volley ball and archery were enjoyed just before lunch.

After lunch during rest period girls were invited to try out for an amateur radio hour. The winning contestants were chosen to entertain the closing day of camp.

An announcement was made at the close of this hour that Nancy Reynolds had won the contest, announced at the beginning of the season, for the best original camp song.

After this the girls divided into groups, one working in nature craft with Mrs. Stillman, another rehearsing the play with Mrs. Newton, while still another group did craft work with Miss Gregg and Miss Fuller.

Goodnight were said after Friendship Circle.

HELGOLAND BECOMES "VERBOTEN" LAND

No Admittance, has been the greeting for foreigners knocking at the door of Germany's tiny island of Helgoland in the North Sea. And now a recent rule excludes Germans as well, unless they are under fifteen years of age. Popular interest in Helgoland has revived with rumors that Germany is running fortifications on the island, which was stripped of guns by the Versailles Treaty.

Helgoland is Germany's North Sea sentinel, says the National Geographic Society. Lying 28 miles off shore, it is a defensive outpost for the vital German ports of Hamburg, Bremen, and Cuxhaven. This small chunk of red sandstone has an area of less than one square mile; yet there are Britons who regret that England in 1806 gave it to Germany for all the thousand square miles of the Zanzibar protectorate in Africa.

German Naval Base During World War

Helgoland as a German base in the World War was one of the chief North Sea threats to the British Navy. When British ships sailed into Helgoland Bight in August, 1914, their clash with the Germans was the first serious sea battle of the war.

Residents of the island are peaceful red-faced sea-going folk, chiefly fishermen. Their small island rock was once headquarters for the North Sea herring fisheries, but mysterious eddies of herring migrations swept the fish away; now the fishermen trap lobsters. Their wives until recently had a summer business of entertaining tourists, for Helgoland has been a popular resort for vacationists from northern Germany.

UNKNOWN PEAKS FOUND IN CANADA

Canada's geographical secrets are rapidly being revealed with the growth of aviation. Aerial cameras in recent years, have been focused on mountains and valleys and map-makers have added thousands of square miles to their data.

In 1935, the National Geographic Society's Yukon Expedition photographed and mapped a vast area in northern Canada, and last month an aviator reported sighting an uncharted chain of lofty peaks in the northern part of British Columbia.

British Columbia is largely a land of lofty peaks and deep, fertile valleys spreading over an area larger than all of the Pacific States of the United States, Washington, Oregon, and California, says a bulletin from the Washington, D. C., headquarters of the National Geographic Society. Many of its mountains are unsealed and unnamed, and vast areas are known only to Indians or prospectors.

Once a Crown Colony

The coast of British Columbia was discovered in 1774, nearly three centuries after Canada's Atlantic Coast was sighted. Crown colony status came in 1858, and 13 years later it joined the provinces of the Dominion of Canada.

Glowing reports of the discovery of precious metals, and known wealth in timber, fish, and fertile lands attracted streams of immigrants. In the first quarter of the present century, the population trebled. Chinese and Japanese immigrants were welcomed in the early days of settlement to work in the various industries. But so great was the influx of Orientals that Chinese immigration was forbidden, Japanese restricted. Nearly 25,000 Indians live in the province today.

In spite of its rugged mountains, agriculture is the province's leading industry. It has not, however, been fully developed. There are 20 million acres of tillable land but barely a tenth has been farmed. Specially suited for fruit-growing, the valleys have shipped apples as far away as eastern Canada to compete with fruit grown in Nova Scotia's Annapolis Valley.

British Columbia fishes for much of its commerce. Salmon, halibut, herring, and cod slide by the shipload from nets to markets and canneries. During the great demand for salmon, hatcheries on rivers most frequented by the fish have been established to ensure the supply. Another development in the fishing industry is extraction of oil from whales and dog-fish.

Mercury Rises in Mining Regions

Gold was the first mineral to be mined, and still is important among the province's mineral resources. In recent years, however, lead, copper, coal, zinc and silver have shovelled gold down to sixth place in the mineral output. British Columbia is Canada's chief copper-producer. It also supplies mercury.

British Columbia trees find their way into world timber markets. Most important of the province's trees is the Douglas fir which grows to a height of about 300 feet on a trunk eight to ten feet in diameter at its base. Ship and building contractors like Douglas fir because it is tough and strong.

Canada's chief Pacific port and No. 1 city of the province today, Vancouver, owes its increasing commercial importance to the shipment of wheat.

Eighty miles across the Strait of Georgia from Vancouver, Victoria, capital of British Columbia, and a typical English city, spreads over the southern end of Vancouver Island.

Steamers regularly serve other ports on the fjordlike coast, and furnish the easiest entrance for travelers to the province's several national parks.

Most of those who drive automobiles and the great majority of pedestrians will sympathize with Police Chief Rogers' decision to put a curb upon the promiscuous riding of bicycles about the town. There are now so many bikes being ridden here that riding them illegally has become not only a nuisance but dangerous. The law says that bicycles shall not be ridden upon the sidewalk, and also provides that thirty minutes after sunset bicycles on the highway shall show a reasonable light front and rear. These provisions, Chief Rogers will enforce. His plan is to notify the parents of youngsters under 17 that they have been detected riding upon the sidewalk or without lights at night. A repetition of the offense will result in a summons to court. Those over 17 found breaking the bicycle laws will be summoned into court at once. The danger to pedestrians and motorists, to say nothing of the cyclists themselves, is too great to longer condone the careless riding of bicycles.

The opening for use of the Ginn Field playground has added to the automobile hazard at Manchester Field. Many of those who use Ginn Field in the evening or who go to watch games there make the trip to and from the playground in automobiles. The great majority of those who do so drive through Manchester Field carefully, especially when that playground is being used and there are people and automobiles along the right of way. Others there are, however, who drive through Manchester Field at a rate of speed that is away in excess of what is reasonable and proper. At a recent soft ball game many spectators noted two cars in particular, driven from Ginn Field through Manchester, as being absolutely dangerous. Both cars happened to be driven by young women, but the fair sex has no monopoly on racing cars along the playground track. Some action should be taken by the authorities to stop this dangerous speeding before injury or death results. The condition of the drive at Ginn Field precludes driving there, but when the machines speed through Manchester, altogether too many drivers "step on it" with resulting danger to a public that rightfully shouldn't have to bother about speeding autos on a playground. A trip to Woburn and as stiff a fine as $100 would seem to be indicated for these drivers who have so little consideration for the rights and safety of others, or the loss of their rights might work out even better!

WHITE SAILS ON THE MYSTIC

The true measure of a community is the enthusiasm with which its citizens participate in its various activities be they cultural, spiritual, civic or social.

Winchester, we are proud to say, stands high when measured by these standards. Given the opportunity, residents of our town are seldom found wanting in that spirit of civic which makes any community a better place in which to live.

Certainly, Winchester has no reason to be anything but proud of its cultural attainments, its spiritual developments or its civic accomplishments.

But in recent years, conditions seem to have worked against the fostering of the more carefree and casual side of community life. It would almost seem as if the varied and incessant demands of this modern age had made us forget what genuine pleasure there is in being just plain neighbors.

Recently, however, we have witnessed what promises to be a hearty reawakening of this friendly spirit of social consciousness in a new activity at the Winchester Boat Club.

The "Boat Club" has played a part in the community life of Winchester for a great many years. In the past its importance increased as usual diminished with the rise and fall of canoeing, both the racing kind and the more romantic variety.

The new activity, sailing and sail boat racing, bids fair to thrive for many years in this sport is any indication. Its permanence, however, is of less importance than the fact that it provides a perfect social activity for everyone.

To those for whom "recreation" means merely new channels for the outpouring of nervous energy, it offers the keenest kind of competition, and it would be hard to find a cleaner or more healthful sport.

Age is no factor for boys and girls in their teens can be (and often are) better skippers than their fathers. In better skippers than their fathers. In better skippers than their fathers. In better skippers than their fathers.

On the other hand, actual participation in the racing is by no means essential. The sport is fun to watch and it is easy to become absorbed in the general excitement that surrounds the related activities; the fleet luncheons and dances, the picnic suppers and sports for those who prefer to do their sailing on the after deck of the club verandah.

We suggest that you visit the club and meet the people who have brought this new sport to Winchester. You'll like them and they'll be sure to make you welcome.

SOCRATES SAYS

"EMPLOYMENT TAX"

"Way out in Indiana, while 'Down the middle of the road' P. V. McNutt was Governor, the New Dealers established a 'Two Per Cent (Sales Tax) Club' that is, about 9,000 State employees paid into a fund.

Campaign funds are created in order that the voters may become informed fully as to the issues involved. The possibility that jobs, for 'the servants' of the people, may be involved is surely incidental.

Perhaps contributions by federal employees may have been an 'employment tax' in the past, and perhaps they may be in the future—especially if it's to be 'down the Hatch' again, as it was with the New Deal 'book' when they solicited funds from corporations for their last campaign.

GOLD

New Dealers first closed the banks—then prohibited any citizen from owning gold—then increased what the Government would pay for gold—then the gold started coming to this country from all over the world, until today we have over one-half of all the gold in the entire world.

As near as can be found out, no one knows very much about the real value and use of gold, other than its relation to money and foreign trade, or in fact, as a monetary reserve.

The best information obtainable is that further devaluation of gold would probably cause a psychological deflation in stock prices.

In 1936 I started asking the question of many economists, bankers, and brokers—"Suppose the United States Government, in time, bought and owned all the gold in the world, what effect would gold then have as a monetary influence?"

The answers were very general, but uniform, and usually about like this—"It is sometimes possible to ask a hypothetical question so fantastic as to challenge a reasonable reply," or, "It would be about as easy to make a chart of infinity," etc.

During these three years the gold supply in the hole in the ground in Kentucky has steadily grown larger and larger. It is becoming more and more difficult for Germany, Italy, Russia, etc. to import what they need because of their lack of gold.

The Hull Reciprocal Trade Treaty theory has not produced much results—European countries are resorting to the 'barter' method for foreign trade. Some action should be taken by the authorities to stop this dangerous speeding before injury or death results.

The New Deal theory either did not understand, brushed aside, or attempted to change the "psychological" reactions of man to gold.

Recently, the Secretary of the Treasury, Mr. Morgenthau, has admitted that certain New Deal taxes on business have been a "psychological irritant". He stated that the taxes on the dealer have been "largely" because of the widespread and emotional criticism which has been directed against it, he felt that they should be changed. The point here is that at least some dealer now recognizes the great effect of psychology where an attempt is made by government to change too quickly any economic order.

We are told that money, in itself, has no value, it is only a medium of exchange—that gold, in itself, is only valuable because of its relative scarcity. This may be true, but from the beginning of time there has been an inherent belief that gold was precious, in the minds of man cannot and will not be easily blotted out by the schemes of New Deal professors.

There are certain traits of human nature, certain beliefs, beyond logic and gold is one of them. The New Deal has attempted every possible method to stifle profit, thrift, economy, and soundness, as it affects the belief of the individual. The theory may well have been that by changing the attitude of Americans towards individual economic security it would be easier to create a central government and force the individual to look to the State.

The quicker the peoples of the world return to the gold standard, the quicker will they have an economic standard that they can rely upon.

In 1932 President Hoover suggested a World Economic Conference but the New Deal Party in the making, defeated his plea. History will, without any question, record the defeat of Mr. Hoover's suggestions in 1932 as the greatest single factor that retarded world recovery so long.

A religious revival, the Golden Rule, and the return of a monetary gold standard, will aid in the recovery before the statesmen—not politicians. This requires statesmen—not politicians.

ROTARY CLUB NOTES

Nine members were absent from the meeting of Aug. 10. No guests or visitors attended the meeting.

Eight of the 14 absentees from the meeting of Aug. 3 made an appearance at the meeting of Aug. 10. Under the circumstances this is a satisfactory percentage and we are very grateful to these men for making possible a good record for the club.

We welcome Jimmy Scott safely returned from a sojourn in the wilds of northern Quebec. George Carter, too, is at home once more and planning the campaign for the coming season.

Harry Winn has had the misfortune to sprain an ankle and is putting much faith in the trusty cane. But Harry had the courage to come to the current meeting of our club just the same.

President Harry Damon called a meeting of the Board of Directors immediately after yesterday's regular club meeting.

From Rotary International we are in receipt of Pamphlet No. 12, which embraces the revised constitution and by-laws of Rotary International. The standard club constitution and the recommended club by-laws. Regulations governing the newly established "senior membership" provide that a Rotarian who has been an active member of one or more Rotary clubs for a total of 20 years or more, or who has attained the age of 65 after having been an active member of one or more Rotary clubs for a total of five or more years, is eligible for senior membership. Senior members have all the rights, privileges and responsibilities of active members but are not considered as representing and participating in professional classification. Classifications previously represented by senior members are open for representation to newly elected members of that club.

The "Hub," publication of the Rotary Club of Boston, reports via the news letter of Rotary International that "Rotary Boy No. 291" (designating the 291st boy who has received aid from the "Hub" student loan fund) was the recipient of four high honors during the month of June. He was awarded a $1000.00 fellowship in the Harvard University Graduate School, was given an assistant fellowship for the summer with a Harvard professor, was elected to the Bates chapter of Phi Beta Kappa and won a radio-conducted quiz in competition with a selected group of students.

By mid-August our community is wont to attain its minimum of activity but it is not necessarily so with our club. We would suggest that all members in town on next Thursday, the 17th, make especial efforts to attend our regular meeting. In our opinion there is no better way to dispel the somnolence of summer than by attending the August 17, 1939-82.35 per cent.

Average Attendance for July, 1939, 75 per cent.

WINCHESTER RED CROSS CLOSES WATER SAFETY INSTRUCTION

Saturday, August 12th, marks the end of the summer's eight week's course at the Leonard Field Pool saving given by the Winchester chapter of the American Red Cross.

The season has been particularly successful for a number of reasons. Weather conditions have been ideal, the erection of the new 50 meter course at the Leonard Field Pool has been of inestimable aid to the youngsters who are really ambitious to make the big time in speed swimming. The Park Committee itself has played no small part in cooperating towards this success. And finally the active and helpful presence of Mrs. Harry Goodwin during the entire season has added immeasurably in keeping activities working smoothly.

During these eight weeks, approximately 165 girls and boys have received instruction of some sort. From this group, however, only a small part have remained actively with the daily workouts, and it is hoped that another year will show an increasing regularity and interest in all phases of the Red Cross work.

Approximately 20 have passed their Junior Life Saving test, while only three have met the requirements for the Senior examination. Those who have failed this year will probably be able to pass of their test another year without any difficulty.

Changes in the program, there will be a short demonstration of the various carries taught in Life Saving at the Carnival held tomorrow afternoon, Leonard Field Pool, at 2.00 p. m.

Something new. Smooth writing pencils in attractive colors with your initials. See them at the Star Office.

PLAYGROUND NOTES

Over three hundred boys and girls were taken to the Red Sox-Philadelphia baseball game last Tuesday, as guests of the Red Sox management. The two prodigious home runs hit by Jimmie Foxx were greeted by ear-splitting shrieks and yells that will long be remembered. Transportation furnished by the following people and to them, we are most grateful: S. Barnes, J. Nowell, F. Tansey, R. Capini, M. MacFarland, O. Galuffo, B. Powers, C. Roche, B. Mastretta, Marchesi, T. McGowan, C. Cassidy, M. Dibona and P. Walsh. Officer James Farrell of the local Police did much to make this memorable day a success.

The mid-season field day was held last Friday morning at a afternoon at Loring Avenue. In the morning a baseball game between the Cardinals and the Elks for the first-half title saw the former team behind the fine pitching of T. Ganchi win the championship by a score of 18-15. A tennis tournament open to those who did not win in the July 4 contests followed. Charlie McClellan and Alie Post won the boys' contests and Edith Chelafos and Ruth Gailor won the girls'. A red hot horse shoe tournament topped the morning events, R. Heitz and S. Kelley winning through 36 opponents.

In the afternoon a costume party with 22 entrants was held. The following won prizes: Leonard Field—M. Chelafos, Joyce Dana, M. Derro, Loring Avenue—Dorothy Shea, Barbara Waters.

A soft ball contest between the Loring Avenue playground and Leonard Field was won by Leonard Field by a wide margin of eleven runs. The score being 28-17. Loring Avenue had previously beaten the winners on two occasions, hence this defeat came as a stunning surprise. Grace Phillapino the attractive and efficient hurler of the winners says she is going to throw them up left-handed in the next meeting with Loring Avenue. Enthusiasm for the playground activities remains at high pitch in spite of the hot weather. Attendance at the two playgrounds reached a total of 10,000 during the month of July. 65 girls and women at Loring Avenue and 51 at Leonard Field fill the shelters to capacity every day.

TWO AUTO ACCIDENTS SATURDAY

The first of two automobile accidents reported to the police last Saturday took place shortly before 12.30 in the afternoon when an Oldsmobile sedan being driven east on Mystic Valley Parkway by Charles G. Veige of 670 Main street, South Winchester, was in collision with the intersection of Main street with a Plymouth sedan, being driven north on Main street by Marion Chicoine of 40 Boston Avenue, Somerville. Both cars were damaged, but no one was reported injured.

At 10.30 Saturday night Headquarters was notified that an automobile had struck an Edison Light pole in Widwood street in front of the residence of Mr. Frank E. Crawford. Patrol 52 was sent to investigate and the officers found that the pole had been struck and badly damaged by a Lincoln sedan, driven south on Widwood street by Peter P. Collins of 3 Hingston road, Mr. Collins was found at a home on Woodside where he had been visiting before the accident. He complained of injuries to his stomach and told the police that a sudden attack of illness had caused him to lose control of the car. The machine was towed to the Super Service Garage.

STRAND THEATRE, MALDEN

"It's A Wonderful World," starring James Stewart, Claudette Colbert, Nat Pendleton, Frances Drake, Guy Kibbie, Edgar Kennedy and Ernest Truex, will head the double bill opening at the Strand Theatre in Malden on Friday. "It's A Wonderful World" combines the qualities that made the "Thin Man" and "It Happened One Night" smash hits, but has a flavor all its own. James Stewart is cast as a former football star who accepts a position as private detective and body-guard to a Broadway playboy, who is about to be married for the fifth time. When the playboy becomes involved in a murder and is sentenced to death, Stewart starts out to solve the mystery. He is aided in his search for the real culprit by Claudette Colbert, a scatterbrained poetess. Here is where rhyme and reason become hopelessly and hilariously mixed as the pair proceed precariously to track down the murderer. By daring exploits and clever deductions the pair bring the guilty parties to justice, but go through harrowing, hairbreadth experiences in their efforts, and though Stewart finds that the path of true love does lead him to a spot where he actually has to seek Miss Colbert on the jaw. Love certainly deserves its hard-won triumph after its breath-taking and screamingly funny complications which romp rattlebrained through the night clubs of New York to trains, yachts, a theatre, an auto camp, and apple orchard and even to Sing Sing prison. James Stewart has one of the best roles of his career as the amateur sleuth, while Claudette Colbert shows great ability as a comedienne.

"Charlie Chan in Reno," with Sidney Toler, Ricardo Cortez, Phyllis Brooks, Slim Summerville, Pauline
Moore and Eddie Collins as the players, will be the second attraction on the hill starting today. Sidney Tol-er plays the famed Oriental detective who flies from Honolulu to Reno to save a woman accused of murder.
Pauline Moore is accused of the murder of Louise Henry, who intended to marry Miss Moore's husband after her divorce. The police discover Pauline Moore in the room with the dead woman and are convinced she is the killer although they cannot find the weapon. Then Charlie Chan steps in and solves the case in a novel manner.

'GARDEN OF EDEN' SEES MOD-ERN IMPROVEMENTS

With life-giving water from recently completed irrigation projects, the government of Iraq is transforming the traditional site of the Garden of Eden from dusty desert into green, productive land. West of Baghdad, between the ancient Euphrates and Ti-gris Rivers, the reputed home of the Biblical Eden is fast learning the ways of modern civilization, points out the National Geographic Society.
Over it fly birdmen of three airlines.
By it roll the mechanized giants of rail and motor bus transport. Little more than a hundred miles away are the two pipe lines through which oil flows hundreds of miles to Mediterranean ports.

UNIVERSITY THEATRE

"Daughter's Courageous," the comedy of domestic life which opens Sunday at the University Theatre, could be termed a first cousin to the highly successful "Four Daughters," but it is not a sequel to that picture.
While the plot concerns different people than those in "Four Daughters," there is a basic similarity in that the new picture is also about the joys, the sorrows, the laughs, the tears in the lives of a genuinely "folksy" family. There are the same four daughters in this family and among they are played by Priscilla, Rosemary and Lola Lane and Gale Page.
Their father again is Claude Rains.
Their suitors again are John Garfield, Jeffrey Lynn, Frank Mc-Hugh and Dick Foran. May Robson again is a member of the household, this time, however a faithful and outspoken-old servant who has been with them for years. And this time the girls have a mother, in the person of Fay Bainter—the mother in
"Yes, My Darling Daughter," a newcomer to the cast, and their mother has a suitor, in the person of another newcomer to the cast, Donald Crisp.
The girls' errand father returns on the eve of the wedding and he soon has it within his power to upset the nice future which loomed for his little family until he suddenly appared on the scene. The working out of this situation makes a sentimentally amusing tale with a moving development.

What goes on behind the closed doors of a modern sorority house is the dramatically revealed in the current Anne Shirley vehicle, "Sorority House," the companion feature.
James Ellison is cast opposite Miss Shirley as a young student who falls in love with her during "rush" week.

On Wednesday, Review Day, the program includes "Vivacious Lady," starring Ginger Rogers and James Stewart and "The Rage of Paris," featuring Danielle Darrieux and Douglas Fairbanks, Jr.

The newest achievements of Technicolor, in make-up and color has-monies, will be revealed on the screen in the film adaptation of Gilbert and Sullivan's masterpiece, "The Mikado," which starts Thursday. "The Mikado" was directed by Victor Schertzinger from the original Gilbert and Sullivan music and book, with no line that is not Gilbert's, nor any song that is not in the score. It is a complete presentation of the world-famous musical, adapted to meet the wider requirements of the screen. Kenny Baker, radio and screen star, has the romantic lead as Nanki-Poo, with the Dolly Carte master company and chorus in support.

Deriving drama from the ever-changing world affairs of today, "The Sun Never Sets," the associate feature, will bring Douglas Fairbanks, Jr., Basil Rathbone, Virginia Field and Barbara O'Neil and others to the screen. While the new picture concerns itself largely with the romantic careers of two close-knit couples in England and on the Gold Coast of Africa, it has its background in the channels of international diplomacy.
Fairbanks and Rathbone, as brothers and British civil service officials, find themselves in a dramatic position as key characters in a political emergency that might rack the entire world if their heroic efforts prove in vain.

ISLAND OF BARBADOS

As Barbados celebrates the 300th anniversary of its first elective assembly this summer, Americans may recall that it was to this British West Indies island that George Washington made his only foreign journey.
The trip, undertaken for his brother's health, was made in 1751, points out the National Geographic Society. At that time Barbados had been in England's continuous possession for more than a century and a quarter. The elected assembly of Barbados is the Empire's third oldest—after the British House of Commons and the legislature of Bermuda. Its representative body was laid in 1639 by the island's third governor. Thirteen years later, following the conflict between England's Charles I and Parliament, Cromwell sent a fleet to assist Barbados' republicans against the royalists. Out of the surrender of the royalists came the "Charter of Barbados," which provided that the island should be ruled by a governor, a council and an assembly. The assembly was to be elected by a "free and voluntary election of all freeholders." In view of George Washington's visit there a century later, significant words then were those of an accompanying declaration: "No taxes, customs, impositions or excise should be laid, and no levy made, on the inhabitants without the consent of the elected Assembly."

band and drum corps adds a picturesque note (and a loud one) to the spectacular demonstration which ushered in the 1939
St. Paul Winter Carnival.

HAINAN -- CHINESE FOR 2,000 YEARS

First important break in Chinese ownership of Hainan Island, southernmost possession of China, for more than 2,000 years, came with the recent landing of Japanese troops on the island, it is pointed out in a bulletin from the Washington, D. C., headquarters of the National Geographic Society. The island lies in the Gulf of Tonkin whose shores are formed by the southern part of the Chinese mainland and by the northern part of French Indo-China.

Ever since the Chinese conquest of the flat coastal regions in 111 B.C., Hainan has been Chinese, says the bulletin. There now are more than 2 million Chinese on the island but most of them live in the coastal zone.
The mountainous region in the interior is the domain of the Loia, aboriginal tribesmen who have refused to be dominated by outsiders.

Important Strategically

Because of Hainan's lack of modern development, it is of little commercial value to any country. The climate is tropical and coconuts, pineapples, mangoes, bananas, bread-fruit, oranges, sugar and rice thrive, but a comparatively small area of the island has been cultivated. The forests are rich in hardwoods, including mahogany, but there has been no extensive lumbering operation.
There are known deposits of gold, silver, tin, and reports of the discovery of copper, lead, iron and coal deposits, but mining has been done only on a small scale.

Strategically, however, the island is important. It places Japanese forces within 1,500 miles of Britain's new naval base at Singapore. A modern transport airplane could take off from Hainan and land in French Indo-China after an hour's flight; and a flight to Manila would take only about three and one-half hours. In fast battle planes, those times could be halved.

Tribesmen Retain Old Customs

The Loia tribesmen are partially responsible for Hainan's economic backwardness. They inhabit small villages in the inland mountains, to which they were pushed back by Chinese immigration. Most of the tribesmen have managed to avoid coming under Chinese control.

Loia customs have not changed for centuries. Three blue tattoo rings are worn on their left hands to protect them from smallpox. Charms are generously worn to ward off evil spirits; and the Loia men are highly respected as devil chasers.
Like their ancestors, the Loia of today do not use hooks when they fish.
Instead, they dam a river, pour into the stream poisonous juices from rocks, and catch the stupefied fish. Smallpox and malaria are scourges to the tribesmen. The Loia are normally friendly to visitors. A reputation for headhunting has been erroneously given them.

Even in the Chinese-occupied coastal zone, Hainan is far from modern.
The towns are not free from epidemics of cholera. Only small vessels can reach Hoihow the chief port and gateway to the island from the China mainland, fifteen miles across the Hainan Strait; larger ships must anchor two miles off shore. Outside the towns good roads are unknown. That part of the island's freight which is not borne on the streams is transported in bundles suspended from poles carried by two men or in wheel-barrows or two wheeled buffalo carts.

GRANADA ATTRACTIONS

"Goodbye, Mr. Chips," hailed as the probable Academy Award winner for 1939, with Robert Donat, Greer Garson and Terry Kilburn heading a cast of thousands, will open at the Granada Theatre in Malden today. This is a screen version of the best selling novel by James Hilton. "Goodbye, Mr. Chips," tells a story of ideals, romance, tragedy and deep understanding. Robert Donat plays the part of the beloved "Mr.
Chips," who enters an English school as a teacher. He is full of confidence but soon runs afoul of the established traditions of the school. While on a holiday in the Tyrol he meets a beautiful and charming girl, played by Greer Garson. He marries her and brings her back to the school. The charm and tact that make him a favorite with other instructors who had previously considered him too modern in his ideas. Within a few years she dies at childbirth and "Mr.
Chips" grows love for her turns to an inexhaustible fund of kindness to the whole school. Gradually "Mr.
Chips" becomes a tradition, a trifle eccentric, kind, wise-cracking, but respected, loved and recognized by successful men as the true builder of their careers and character. A new and making it so uncomfortable for himself that "Mr. Chips" that he resigns. He lives in retirement just across from the school, still a friend and counselor to all who wish it.
Then comes the War and in 1915,
"Mr. Chips" is called back to the school as acting headmaster, a position he holds until his career is ended.
The film version follows the book very closely but the greater scope of the screen permits intimate touches not possible in the story.

"Grand Jury Secrets," with John Howard, Gail Patrick, William Fray-ley, Harvey Stephens, Jane Darwell and Porter Hall, will be the second attraction on the bill starting today.
John Howard is cast as a reporter and short wave enthusiast who gets his stories no matter whom they may hurt. With the aid of a short wave transmitter he is able to scoop the town in discovering what the Grand Jury is investigating. His brother, Harvey Stephens, and Gail Patrick, his fiancée, are angry about this and Howard's scoop gets him into serious difficulties.

BAN ON PANDAS

No more giant pandas for foreign zoos and collectors. Chinese authorities have decreed by a new law which forbids the capture of these rare and odd-looking creatures. Found in eastern Tibet, the giant panda is related to the American racoon, points out the National Geographic Society. It is bovine in form and habits and has been observed in zoological gardens to rush at its keeper, when angered, on its hind legs, like a bear.
About the size of a black bear, this animal has a white body and face, with black, bespectacled eyes, black arms and legs, which gives it the quaint look of a partially whitewashed teddy bear. The giant panda is normally a vegetarian, living chiefly on bamboo, but it also enjoys eggs and insects. There are comparatively few pandas in captivity, since they are not robust. Of the two giant pandas which one English explorer managed to capture not long ago one was reported to have died within a week, the other on its way to the London Zoo. Other collectors, however, including Americans, have had better luck.

GIRL SCOUT NOTES

Thursday August 10

A delightful day for Camp closing. The girls began to arrive early laden with craft articles they had made for exhibition; cakes and cookies for refreshments; and costumes for the operetta Hansel and Gretel. As soon as they arrived they began arranging their craft work for the exhibition.

After colors there was a dress rehearsal of the operetta and a try out for the Major Bowes Amateur Hour. Time flew by so quickly that it was lunch time all too soon. After lunch the girls divided into groups to prepare for the arrival of the guests. One group arranged the chairs; another group prepared the snacks and arranged the cakes and cookies, while still another group was putting the finishing touches on the stage setting for the play.

At 1:45 the guests began to arrive. Carolyn Heeneberger welcomed the guests to the Day Scout Camp, and invited them to look over the exhibition of craft work.

At two o'clock the operetta Hansel and Gretel was presented. The leading characters were Hansel, Marjorie Ruby; Gretel, Shirley Marchant; the witch, Catharine Simonetta; and the tiny man in the forest, Cecelia Snyder. The rest of the girls sang the Chorus accompanied by Jean Stillman on the violin. The operetta was a decided success due to the excellent coaching of Mrs. C. Newton.

The second part of the program was a Major Bowes Amateur Radio Hour. Miss Gregg taking the part of Major Bowes. This programme was as follows: A dance by Shirley Snider and Shirley Varvart; a motion song Down by the Old Mill Stream by Alice Davis, Jean Stillman, Miriam Welch and Marjorie Ruby; a harmonica solo, a song, and a whistling solo by Norma Farrar; a playlet "Evening at Home" in 2 acts by Barbara Bonnell, Martha Payne and Shirley Bonnell; a violin solo by Shirley Snyder; piano solo, b- Catharine Simonetta, imitation of Baby Snooks, and a piano solo by Barbara Elliot; a song by Natalie Dickson, and imitations by Alice Neiley. At the close of the amateur hour Miss Gregg presented the prizes to those having the best exhibition of hand craft and nature craft. First prize was given to Ann Harris; second to Natalie Dickson and third to Jean Cranton.

After the presentation of the prizes Mrs. Farnsworth Commissioner of Winchester Girl Scouts spoke to the girls. Mrs. Stillman then told the girls how much she had enjoyed her work with them in her teaching of Nature Craft during the season.

Refreshments were then served by the girls to the guests and campers.

Goodnight Circle brought to a close a very successful and happy camping season.

On Tuesday all the girls having a perfect attendance at camp; and those who were absent only one day were given an outing to Devereux Beach in Marblehead. A pleasant time was had by all.

HELEN FOSDICK AYER

Helen Fosdick Ayer, a former resident of Winchester, died Friday, Aug. 11, at her home in Plainfield, N. J. The funeral was held in Plainfield with committal services Tuesday morning at 11 o'clock in Woodbrook Cemetery, Woburn.

Mrs. Ayer was 62 years old and a native of Woburn, the daughter of George F. and Sarah (Clough) Fosdick. She came to Winchester with her parents, who made their home on Black Horse Terrace, and was married here December 12, 1901, to Luther Symmes Ayer, son of A. Eugene Ayer, formerly of Sanborn place. For some years after her marriage Mrs. Ayer made her home in Winchester, leaving town about 30 years ago. She leaves a sister, Mrs. Wendell E. Richardson of Arlington.

BOY SCOUT NOTES

Saturday evening, August 12, troop 1 under the leadership of their scoutmaster, Anthony Barbaro, went on a "weenie" roast to the sheepfold in Stoneham, Mass.

When the troop arrived at the Sheepfold orders were given to each boy and Asst. Scoutmasters R. William DeTeso and Joe Russo and Jr. Asst. Scoutmaster Mike D. Saraco saw that they were carried out.

After spending an hour playing games the roasting of "weenies" and the toasting of the marshmallows was the next event. Eating "weenies" and marshmallows while telling jokes kept the boys in good humor. Having the boys together the scoutmaster thought that it was an appropriate time to make plans for future events. He suggested that the troop should go on an outing and an overnight hike before the opening of school. The boys were so enthused on what the scoutmaster suggested that definite dates were decided for these two events.

Asst. Scoutmaster R. William DeTeso and Joe Russo were the fire makers. Mike D. Saraco did a good job in conducting the games. What would James Migliacchio have done if he didn't have his flashlight? Generously Nick Molea and J. Treacy offered their "weenies" to two young women who had joined us. What if R. Saunders and J. Carson got homesick? It was puzzling to all the rest of the scouts, except J. Treacy, N. Zamanakos, and A. Amato, how the forenamed had marshmallows before they were distributed. The attention of the girls were drawn by the Lat-ahn twins. The boys who ate the most "weenies" were Dante DeTeso and Mike Cambino. Scoutmaster, Anthony Barbaro, kept the boys amused throughout the evening.

The ones that were present were as follows: Scoutmaster, Anthony Barbaro, Asst. Scoutmaster R. William DeTeso, Asst. Scoutmaster Joe Russo, Jr. Asst. Scoutmaster Mike D. Saraco, Scribe Dante DeTeso, Nick Zamanakos, James Migliacchio, Junior Treacy, Buddy Carson, Robert Saunders, Roger Latham, Roland Latham, Nick Molea and Andrew Amato.

W. C. T. U. NOTES

In the August 11th issue of the Watchman-Examiner is an article which is startling enough to make men and women stop and think. It is captioned

Growth of the Liquor Habit

With unprecedented rapidity the alcohol habit is being fastened on to the lives of American people. For the first time in history public revenues from alcoholic beverages exceeded one billion dollars last year. Outside of income taxes the Government receives more from liquor than from any other source. Do our American people stop to think of the tremendous waste of life, morals and economic purchasing power there is in the national debacle? It is one of the causes of the present business decline. It is responsible for thousands of deaths and injuries on the highways. It means the degradation of youth, the despair of poverty, shadows of ill-health, and millions of dollars of religious living. Brewers and politicians are holding high carnival piling up profits and campaign funds while children starve, domestic happiness is wasted, terror and folly ride through the land. Where is the force that can restore the lost American conscience?

In 1937, arrivals from foreign ports, in Boston, consisted of 1371 steamers, 524 motor vessels and 21 sailing vessels.

Tourists visiting Massachusetts in 1938 spent $180,387,000 or $40.75 per tourist, the U. S. Travel Bureau reports.

FORMER WINCHESTER RESIDENT DEAD IN NEW YORK

Word has been received of the recent death of a former resident of Winchester, T. Hart Anderson, New York attorney who died at his home, 90 Morning Side drive in that city, after a long illness.

Mr. Anderson, a native of Louisville, Ky., was 74. He studied for the bar at George Washington University in Washington, D. C., where he had already worked as an examiner in the United States Patent Office. He practised in Boston from 1895 to 1911, making his home in Winchester at 6 Winthrop street for a short while during the latter part of that time.

Mr. Anderson was an expert in handling cases dealing with boot and shoe manufacture. He was a member of the New York law firm of Munn, Anderson & Liddy, which he joined in 1911, leaving Winchester for New York in that year.

He was a member of the New York and Massachusetts State Bar Associations, New York County Lawyers' Association, Kentucky Society and the Engineer's Club.

Surviving are two twin brothers, George L. Anderson of Washington; a daughter Mrs. Edwin C. Lee of New York City, a son, T. Hart Anderson, Jr., of Princeton, N. J., president of the New York Advertising Agency, Anderson Davis & Platte, and three grandchildren.

TO FORM LOCAL BUSINESSMEN'S ORGANIZATION

Last Tuesday evening a large gathering of Winchester merchants met in Scholl's banquet hall to form an association to try to improve general conditions in the center of the town; particularly the parking facilities.

William J. Murray opened the meeting, and the merchants were addressed by George R. Carter, manager of the E. M. Low's Winchester Theatre, Fred Scholl of Scholl's Restaurant, Henry McCormack of the McCormack Drug Company, and James Chisholm of the Winton Hardware Company.

William J. Murray was elected temporary chairman of the association, and a committee will be appointed to bring in rules and regulations. The next meeting will be held in Scholl's banquet hall Monday, Aug. 21 at 7:30 p. m.

VICTORS PARADED HERE

That prolonged blare of automobile horns you heard shortly after 10:30 last Sunday night was just the royal rosters of the Medford Legion Baseball Team starting a motor parade from Winchester Station back to Medford.

The Medford nine won the Legion baseball championship at Manchester, N. H., Sunday afternoon and accompanied by the Mayor arrived at Winchester Station via the Boston & Maine at 10:32. They were met by a rabid crowd of rooters in automobiles displaying red lanterns, and led by a Medford police car, were escorted in state back to their home city. Winchester Patrol 52 with Patrolmen John Hanlon, Winthrop Palmer and Special Officer James Flaherty helped with traffic at the station, the line of Medford cars extending the entire length of Common street. The noise of the horns was easily heard all over town.

KNIGHTS TO PLAY TWO SOFT BALL GAMES

Manager "Mike" Penta has arranged two games for his unbeaten Winchester Council, Knights of Columbus, softball team, playing the New England Sanitarium club of Stoneham Monday evening and the Malden Police Department team on Tuesday evening. Both games will be played on Manchester Field, and the local boys are out to preserve their unbeaten record.

"Patsy" Tofuri will pitch against the Stoneham club and Frank Tansey will toss them at the Malden cops. "Nig" DeGrasso will catch both games and the remainder of the local lineup will include Tansey or Ralph Ambrose, first base; Package O'Melia, second base; Manager Penta, third base; "Jommy" Dolan, shortstop; Tommy Hanlon, left field; Joe Cullen, center field; Henry Boyle, right field and Mitchie Mawn, rover.

SOFT BALL

On Thursday, Aug. 10, the Ten Old Men soft-balls defeated Moe Butler's Winchester Reds by a score of 6-1. This makes 15 wins out of 23 for the T. O. M.

On Thursday, Aug. 24, the Pequot All Stars, representing the Pequot Mills, shoe manufacturers, of Salem, will play at Ginn Field. This club was runner-up to the Thompson Club from the General Electric of Lynn in the Essex County League. The winners of this league plays in the State play-offs at Worcester the latter part of this month.

The Pequot All Stars will wear six different kinds of jerseys and caps as they are picked from the six-team Pequot league. A close game is expected.

STATE OFFERS AIR CONDITIONING INSTRUCTION

Fireman, school or municipal building custodians, property owners, restaurateurs, apartment or store owners and janitors will now have an opportunity to learn the fundamentals of air conditioning, that convenience which has blossomed into an industry almost overnight.

The Massachusetts Department of Education, Division of University Extension is offering a course of eight lectures on "Practical Air Conditioning" will begin Tuesday, Aug. 22, at 7:30 p. m., at Massachusetts Institute of Technology, 77 Massachusetts avenue, Cambridge, under the instructorship of P. A. L. Foulds, Consulting Engineer. Instruction concerns the selection of equipment and calculations for the application of air conditioning to various types of construction as above mentioned.

The subjects of the course are: properties of atmospheric air, conditions desired indoors, temperature, humidity, pollution, conditioning methods for winter and for summer, types of conditioning apparatus, capacity requirements for apparatus, control methods and devices.

Enrollments in this course will be accepted at the first meeting of the class, or previously at the office of University Extension Division, room 217, State House, Boston.

MILLIONAIRES AGAIN TOPPED CUBS

The Millionaires won another ball game from the Cubs Monday evening, 4-3, in connection with the carnival at Leonard Field, and it looks like the Cubs just never will beat the Moneybags, at least until they stop playing stupid baseball and give the old percentage a try.

"Bobby" Farrell and "Lib" Gaudioso were the opposing pitchers and despite the fact that the latter was undeniably hit harder than the Millionaires' left hander, that club's superior power at the plate makes the two pitching performances about on par. Manager Quigley yanked Farrell after the Millionaires broke the tie in the 7th and sent in Red Noble to pitch the final half frame, Red's fireball retiring the Cubs in order. The chances are Farrell would have done equally well. It was so dark no one could see much of anything and Bobby is plenty fast.

The Millionaires earned two runs and the Cubs one, and the first of the Moneybags' tallies was debatable, for there is at least an even chance that Lee's synthetic two-bagger which dropped inside a concession yard in right field would have been caught under orthodox conditions. Rod MacDonnell followed Lee with a well-hit two baser, also to right and Olio tallied. There was one away before Lee and no one did anything after Roddie. This was in the 4th.

The first run the Millionaires put over in the second combined smart base-running by Lee and sloppy work by the Cubs infield. Olio walked, got a tremendous start and stole second, advancing to third when Gaudioso loafed in retrieving an overthrow back to the box by DeTeso. Rod MacDonnell hoisted to McDonald in short right and Lee held third. Noble rapped to Len Rallo who held Lee momentarily and threw to first. Lee started with the throw, but would have been out at city block, except for a high wide throw home from Styles who had plenty of time to make the play. At that DeTeso would have had Lee had he held the ball, but the error was Styles as the throw was bad.

There was nothing fluky about the Moneybags' third tally. Tom Donaghey golfing a Gaudioso fast one well over the center field fence in the 5th for the hardest hit ball of the night and a recall walkoff.

The Cubs scored a sour one in the fourth. McDonald drove a clean hit past Rod MacDonnell, was safe at second on an attempted steal when Joe Dineen dropped Donaghey's nice pop and reached third when Rod MacDonnell made his first of two errors on consecutive ground balls hit to him at short. The second bobble permitted McDonald to tally.

In the sixth the Cubs pulled up even. Provanzo drew a pass with one away and went all the way to third when Kenton hit over second. Kenton stole, Provanzo holding third. DeTeso rapped to Dineen and his throw to the plate apparently bent the runner, but Donaghey evidently was unable to get the ball on the sliding Sammy who was called safe by Umpire Gentile without any squawk from the Millionaires. Kenton had reached third when he held while Rallo skied to Noble, though he could have scored on Red's wild heave to the plate. Lennie Rallo, however, brought Kenton over with a single to left, for a clean earned run. With two on Gaudioso struck out.

Farrell opened the Millionaires' seventh with a life when Len Rallo fizzled his easy grounder at second. A wild pitch sent him to second and he reached third as Provanzo bobbed. Dineen's fly to Manzie sent Bobby over, but J. Donaghey's grounder to short.

Dineen's fly to Manzie sent Bobby over, but J. Donaghey's grounder to short. Noble went in to pitch for the Millionaires against the head of the Cubs' list. Manzie attempted to bunt and was out at first. R. Donaghey to J. Donaghey, a fine play. McDonald struck out and Tom Donaghey tossed out Styles at first to end the game.

The crowd still turns out for the Cubs and Millionaires, and again Monday night those at the field saw a good game, with plenty of interest till the last man was out.

It is hard to understand why a club that has played the ball the Cubs have played continue to disregard percentage. It wasn't smart baseball to hit away with men on first and second and no one out, one run behind, as the Cubs found out to their sorrow.

Again it wasn't percentage to hold third on a fly to center field and if Red Noble has a fine arm. Everything has to be right to get the runner on those throws from the outfield home and as things turned out Red's rifled shot was half way to the third base line and Donaghey fell down making a fine catch of the wild throw. An easy scoring chance wasted.

Lee surely took a long chance when he scored from third on a peg from second to first. A one too fast runner, he would have been out a mile on anything like a good peg from Styles. His gambling brought results as this big unearned tally proved just the winning edge.

You want see many double plays any better than that one Tommy Donaghey, Joe Dineen and Junior Donaghey pulled off in the third. Tom had to go away to his left to get the ball on the big hop and both he and Dineen handled the ball very smoothly. They had to!

Another slick play was that on Charlie Johnson, running for Red MacDonnell in the 4th. Charlie was on second and went off to third on Noble's sharp grounder well to Sammy Provanzo's left at shortstop. Both Sam and Lucky Rallo fielded sharply and surely on the killing.

Rallo robbed Tom Donaghey of a hit in the sixth when he dove and came up with his sharply hit grounder very fast and rifled a nice peg to first to erase Tom with plenty to spare. The best play of the game.

Another corking play was Tony DeTeso's clutch of Junior Donaghey's foul in the 5th, a great running catch actually past the flag pole near the bleachers.

Len Rallo made a quick recovery when he got Lee at first in the 6th after Olio's sharp bouncer bounced off his shins. Lennie was the hero and goat of the game, his hit in the 6th tying the score, and his miff in the 7th putting the winning run on.

The usually reliable Manzie looked bad on Albie MacDonnell's long fly in the second, misjudging the hoist which went over his head for a double. Ordinarily the fly would have been a dime a dozen for Manzie, a clever ball hawk.

Mex Kelley, former fast ball right hand semi-pro pitcher, called them at third to start the game, but changed with Saunders midway through when the Cub didn't like some of that arbiters decision at first.

The Donaghey brothers, Rusty and Junior, made a nice play on Manzie's bunt in the 7th. Junior especially doing well to see and hold Rusty's hard peg from well down the baseline.

Manager Quigley's strategy turned out all right when he sent in Noble to hold that one-run Millionaire lead in the 7th. With darkness settling down, if any one hit Red's hard one it would have been pure luck and nothing else.

The Ten Old Men continue their winning way, defeating the Woburn Knights of Columbus Team Tuesday evening on Ginn Field, 9-2. Hall Gamage, pitcher, and Cy Young, catcher, were the battery for the T. O. M.

start of the Snipe class and the race committee signaled a postponement. Nearly a dozen boats starting in the Snipe class were bowled over in the blast and were hauled in by Coast Guard or harbor police. All the Winchester Snipers either rode out the storm or downed sails and moored.

The race-off held last Saturday a.m. proved a walk-away victory for Winchester. Breaking away to a good start 4 Winchester boats held lead positions and finished in one-two-three-four order. The two other Winchester boats finished eighth and ninth for a total score of 51 points against 26 for the five South Boston contenders. Winchester standings are as follows:

Grief Catches Third

On Wednesday, the first day of heavy sailing weather, misfortune caught up with part of the Winchester fleet. Charlie Reeves' 11th entry nudged another boat in the starting line and the Race Committee chalked up a foul. A blustery, gusty blast snapped the stick in Don't Duck as it turned on to the fine style. A stiff left Dick and Ruth Ann Morrow foundering in a sea of canvas. And finally, the crew who was aiding Wendell Irving, in a moment of misguided ambition, chucked the high end of the mast into the water and the boat was left in the water and the boat was left in the water.

As a result, Winchester's seven starters could account for only 40 points while the 12 other entries scored 117. The Winchester returns were:

Thursday proved nearly ideal for racing—bright, clear, with a comfortable brisk northwest breeze scoting the Snipes along in fine style. A stiff left to windward on the second leg of the two lap, six mile, triangular course changed the fortunes of war considerably and the final gun found the Snipes along in fine style. A stiff left to windward on the second leg of the two lap, six mile, triangular course changed the fortunes of war considerably and the final gun found the Snipes along in fine style.

Friday proved one of the most exciting days in the week when a strong flow tide ripped into the harbor directly counter to the course of the windward leg. At times it was a case of sailing twice as fast to way in on a southerly breeze and as fast as you could as another's as to which was the best tack. Commodore Simonds' craftily figured a favorable current in the lee of Cat Island and rounded the weather mark ahead of the fleet. The Tea Bees failed to pull enough slack for the tide and got pulled down on the buoy. Five Winchester boats scored 49 points against 70 points for nine other Snipes. The results:

And now, having obtained his objectives and consolidated his gains, the head man in Washington who benevolently distributes our wealth, feeds us and tells us what to do in his scheme for the perpetuation of this new-fangled Democracy we are forced to swallow, has turned his eagle brain to other things. Thanksgivings is to be changed. The old Puritans did not know what they were doing anyway when they set aside this feast day, now known as the national fish day and which comes too late to suite the retail merchants of the country. As the merchants apparently did not know what was best for them, they are being told, and according to propaganda reports flooding the country are overwhelmingly delighted with it. Business has been put to bed and told when to get up so long and so much during these past seven years, that it is a wonder that it knows anything—other than it is growing less and less each year. But the country has to be saved from itself, and there is only one man who is capable of doing it. He, in his almighty wisdom and far-seeing experience, will soon have us properly made over. The wonder of it is, why are we allowed to still retain such an old-fashioned institution as Thanksgiving anyway? With all our purer morality thrown into the discard, why retain this relic of the dark ages? Even though the most of America had something to be thankful for when it was instituted, it certainly has nothing now, and why continue to perpetuate it? That, in our opinion, is a grievous mistake. But as we previously said, with all objectives reached and consolidation under way, great minds must perform turn to other things to keep in training, and in a way it is a good idea in obtaining just an inkling on the state of the nation regarding many things, including a third term.

The President has harassed certain members of our society whom he has designated economic royalists, Bourbons, Tories, etc.; he has raised hob with business and smitten the ordinary tax-payer hip and thigh. Now, with his changing the date of Thanksgiving, he is treading on the toes of the football fan, a dangerous bird to arouse and one to whom Turkey Day means just one thing: the climaxing of his gridiron season. If we know Phineas Phan at all, he won't want that season shortened by a week, he won't want his big game played on any but Thanksgiving Day, and he won't want an anti-climax game on the Saturday after the holiday classic. He will want things just the way they've been for years, and years and years; and he will claim to helping retail business by giving women another week to shop before Christmas as an excuse for tampering with his football calendar will leave him critical and cold. There are lots and lots of football fans. Get them started and they'll make the opposition F. D. says he has met from the "intrenched greedies" look like a gentle summer zephyr compared to an Indian Ocean typhoon!

SOCRATES SAYS—

"THANKSGIVING"

Maybe its smart to advance Thanksgiving before it's too late—almost everything else, that belongs to the people, has been.

GEES

"There is nothing in the Constitution which compels the Government to support you," so said Judge Ferry.

There is nothing in the Constitution which compels the Government not to support you. This is the only important issue, that confronts the nation, for when everyone relies upon the Government for the necessities of life, there is but one sure, final result—the "goose step"—do as you are told, or else.

"WHISKY DRINKING, ETC."

In the "horse and buggy" days, during the Presidency of Abraham Lincoln, and the Civil War, some prohibitionists called upon Mr. Lincoln and complained about the alleged "whiskey drinking" of General Grant. President Lincoln, encouraged by the ability and victories of General Grant, remarked that perhaps the other generals would do well to find out what brand it was.

The recalling of this episode, while it is not intended to advocate whiskey drinking as "the plan" for success, presents a rather interesting parallel:—General Grant became President after this accusation, and Vice President Garner has it in mind.

Intemperance in "accusations" may prove to be as great an "evil" in the poker playing game of politics, under the New Deal, as it was in Lincoln's time—(Tories, Economic Royalists, Whiskey Drinkers, etc.).

Will the campaign of 1940 have for its issue—"New Deal Prohibitionists, Republican and Anti-New Deal Temperance?"

The whole New Deal is built upon the theory of prohibition, and not upon temperance.

—Socrates

A FAMOUS VETO

To the Editor of the Star:
The following is the famous message of Calvin Coolidge, who, as Governor in 1919, vetoed a bill to raise legislative salaries from $1000, to $1500 a year, seems especially apropos at this time. Perhaps you would care to print it.

"These are times that require careful scrutiny of public expenditure... The addition of $142,000 to the expenses of the Commonwealth in no petty is not to be undertaken but upon proven necessity."

"Service in the General Court is not obligatory but optional. It is not to be undertaken as a profession or a means of livelihood. It is a voluntary public service. . . . There is no man of sufficient talent in the Commonwealth so poor that he cannot serve for a session."

"Membership in the General Court is not a job. There are services rendered to the Commonwealth by Senators and Representatives that are priceless. For the searching out of great principles on which legislation is based there is no adequate compensation. If value for services were the criterion, there would be 280 different salaries. When membership is sought as a means of livelihood, legislation will pass from a public function to a private enterprise."

"Men do not serve me for pay. They seek work and places of responsibility and find in that seeking, not in their pay, their honor. . . . The realities of life are not measured by dollars and cents. The skill of the physician, the divine eloquence of the clergyman, the courage of the soldier, that which we call character in all men, are not matters of hire and salary. No person who ever honored for what he received. Honor has been the reward for what he gave. . . . The place each member of the General Court will hold in the estimation of his constituents will never depend on his salary but on the ability and integrity with which he does his duty; not on what he receives but on what he gives."

"It is because the General Court has recognized these principles in its past history: that it has secured its high place as a legislative body. This act disregards all this, and will ever appear as an undertaking by members to raise their own salaries."

The bill was passed over the veto. A decade later the Legislature boosted pay from $1000 to $2000 over Governor Allen's veto.

SLEEP DISTURBED BY DREDGING

To the Editor of the Star:

It seems highly probable that others besides members of our household have had their sleep disturbed or prevented by the clanging of machinery during the night on the Bacon Pond project. Nevertheless the Metropolitan Commission, under whose auspices this work is being done, says ours is the first complaint. If letters are written to the Metropolitan Commission direct, or if people who are annoyed will send to their names and addresses, I believe that if the work is continued, this nuisance can be much lessened, if not entirely abated.

STOLEN CARS FOUND IN WOODS

Sunday Mr. Edward R. Grosvenor of Washington street came to Police Headquarters to report that while he and his son, David, had been walking in the woods at the rear of Westland avenue in the west side hill section they had found a stripped automobile which had been hidden by bending the limbs of trees about it. Chief William H. Rogers went to investigate and found near the machine the Grosvenors had discovered another stripped car which had also been left in a way to make visibility difficult. All four wheels had been taken from the cars and other articles of value ripped out or off, and in one of the cars the vandals, unable to get into the rear compartment from the outside, had literally ripped and torn the inside of the machine apart to get at the spare tire.

One of the machines was a 1939 Buick coupe, owned by Teresa S. Fitzpatrick of 104 Chestnut street, Boston, and stolen in that city July 27. The Noyes-Buck Company notified the Police that they would remove this car.

The other was a 1939 Buick sedan, owned by Mrs. Minnie N. Frankenhoff of Lander, Wyoming. This car was stolen in Cambridge July 26, and a representative of the Franklinford family, who had headquarters on Monday, said it had been taken just 20 minutes after it had been parked at the conclusion of its long trip east before many of the personal effects of its occupants had been removed.

NIGHTGOWN THIEF GOT SIX MONTHS

Lewis Galloway of 17 Rockland street, Roxbury, who was arrested last week Friday night in the Roxbury and Gift Shop on Thompson street for the theft of ten nightgowns from the lingerie shop of Mrs. Doris Fitzgerald on upper Main st., was found guilty in the District Court at Woburn last Friday morning and sentenced to serve three months in the House of Correction.

An additional three months was added to the term for the theft of a pair of pants from Bart Wynn's Department Store in Woburn, the pants 20 cents in cash and a book on betting having been in the defendant's possession when he was taken into custody by Patrolman Demetrios.

Galloway steadfastly refused to disclose what he had done with the nightgowns taken from the Fitzgerald shop. He is the possessor of a police record which dates to 1926.

ROTARY CLUB NOTES

Thirteen members were absent from the meeting of Aug. 17, one of whom has already made up for his absence. It appears that revision of this record is highly desirable. There are three days left for action.

We have learned of the death in Mansfield, on Thursday, Aug. 3, of Past District Governor G. Adelbert Emard of the former 31st (our own) District of Rotary International. Governor "Bert" had appeared twice in this town in his official capacity and impressed us with his kindly disposition, his extensive knowledge of Rotary and his zeal in conducting his life in accordance with Rotarian principles. For many years he was a practicing physician in Mansfield. Both his community and Rotary have suffered the loss of an able and sincere friend and devotee.

Attention, you Rotarians who are so eagerly planning to attend the Convention in Rye Beach, Wis., in September "Rotarian" there will be initiated a short course in the Portuguese language which should enable you to better understand what it is all about. Yes, there are many angles to Rotary. Prepare to enjoy this experience. Also you may keep up to date by reading in the "Rotarian" about the airplane service in South America, and again, about the rapidly developing radio-newspaper service available simply by throwing the switch on your radio.

The 1939 revision of the official directory of Rotary International is at hand and again we would remind our members that the secretary is prepared to give assistance in the matter of indicating available clubs to be visited when traveling. Don't miss opportunities to know Rotary and Rotarians more thoroughly. This is a practice which you will never regret once it has been undertaken.

These summer days are rapidly passing and in something less than three weeks we shall swing into regular activities. Vice President Nick is preparing an entertainment schedule which will make us sit up and take notice, and committee work is getting under way. In the meantime members will contribute no mean service if they give that attendance percentage a more robust aspect. Do it now!

Percentage of Attendance, Aug. 10, 1939—79.41 per cent.

DECEASED PASTOR FORMER CURATE AT ST. MARY'S

Rev. Timothy J. Holland, I. P. P., pastor of the Church of the Immaculate Conception, Revere, who died in his rectory Tuesday morning, Aug. 15, formerly served as a curate at St. Mary's Church in this town.

Father Holland had been for 51 years a priest and since 1924 had been an irremovable parish priest at the Immaculate Conception Church. He was born in 1863 in Salem, was graduated from Boston College in 1884 and from St. John's Seminary in Brighton in 1888. He was ordained to the Catholic priesthood in that year by the late Archbishop Williams.

Father Holland was first assigned to St. John's Church, East Boston. Later he served at St. Mary's, St. Malachi's, now St. Agnes Church in Arlington and at the Sacred Heart Church and St. Joseph's, Malden. While at St. Joseph's he organized the Blessed Sacrament Church, Saugus, made a parish in 1917, and when the new Sacred Heart Parish was formed in Malden, he was made pastor of the Holy Redeemer parish in 1924 and later supervised the building of St. Theresa's Church near the Point of Pines in that city.

Father Holland celebrated his golden anniversary as a priest in June of 1938. He had been in poor health for the past five years, but his death had not been expected. Solemn requiem high mass was sung at the church of which he was pastor this morning.

TWO WINCHESTER STORES ENTERED

Two business houses in the center were broken into some time during Sunday night or early Monday morning, a break at the Shell Filling Station having been discovered by Patrolman Whthrop Palmer at 1:35 Sunday morning, and a second break being discovered later in the morning by Mr. P. T. Foley in the old Park Battery Company Garage, now worked by Mr. Foley as a storage place for his plumbing supplies and located less than a stone's throw from the Shell Station.

At the filling station access was gained by forcing up a window and breaking over the lock in a side door. Apparently nothing was taken. At the Foley garage the panels at the bottom of the door had been broken, and again nothing was apparently missing. The Police are inclined to credit the breaks to boys.

NEWSY PARAGRAPHS

Mr. and Mrs. James Fisher Dwinell, Jr. of Fernway are the parents of a son, born yesterday afternoon, Aug. 17, at the Morrill Wyman House in Cambridge. Grandparent honors are shared by Mr. and Mrs. William D. Eaton and Mr. and Mrs. James Fisher Dwinell, all of this town.

Mr. and Mrs. Gustave Feiber have returned from Chebeague, Me., to their home on Bacon street.

Miss Anna M. Little of Washington street, returned to town after a summer at Amesbury.

The A. J. Wallaces of Lewis road, left town this week for a vacation at Ann Arbor, driven by Sidney C. Erb of 29 Canal street and Margaret M. McSweeney of 139 Grant ave., Medford, were in collision on Kenning road at the intersection of Highland avenue, shortly before 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon. Both machines were travelling up the hill and when Erb stopped before entering Highland avenue his machine was struck by the McSweeney car in the rear. Both cars were damaged but no one was injured.

NEW WALDORF CAFETERIA

Beautiful Restaurant in Boston's Shopping District

Boston's famous dining places, which for many years have served millions of patrons under the "Sign of the Red Apple," reopened the well known location on Washington street near Avery street Tuesday, which for weeks has been closed while a complete renovation has taken place. This new Waldorf unit is an outstanding example of the tremendous improvements that have been developed in the industry during the past few years. Soft yet brilliant lighting effects have been so arranged that not a shadow can be seen. The color scheme is reds, yellows, and blues, the beauty of which is increased by large mirrors which reflect in clever fashion not only the tones, but the brilliance of the Neon lights.

The chairs in this new cafeteria are made of aluminum with red leather backs. The tables carry out the general theme of color. Off the street floor are new and modern rest rooms. And a very elaborate air-conditioning system insures the comfort of the customers in this large restaurant. As is always the case in Waldorf cafeterias, the kitchens and refrigeration systems are marvels of restaurant engineering, so designed and so built that orders flow in and out smoothly and with dispatch. In every way this new large unit of Boston's Waldorf System is not only a beauty spot, but so laid out that the comfort and convenience of Waldorf customers has the first consideration.

BUILDING PERMITS GRANTED

STRAND THEATRE, MALDEN

Lionel Barrymore, as the cantankerous but human old doctor, guides Ayres through another tempestuous adventure in "Calling Dr. Kildare," the second in the new medical-detective series, which opens Friday at the Strand Theatre, Malden for a week's run. Ayres, as young Dr. Jimmy Kildare, gets into trouble with the police when, infatuated by pretty Lana Turner, he hides and cares for a wounded murder suspect. So there's nothing to do but find the real murderer to clear the boy. He sets out to do it, solves the riddle, then finds he's lost the girl he did it for. The wily old Dr. Gillespie gets him out of his troubles in a deft dramatic twist. In addition to those already mentioned the cast includes Nat Pendleton, Marie Blake, Alma Kruger, Laraine Day, Samuel S. Hinds, Wayne Carver, Emma Dunn and Walter Kingsford.
"Naughty But Nice," a new musical comedy, which will be the second feature opening Friday at the Strand Theatre, Malden, is a hilariously satirical disclosure of some of the skeletons in the closets of the denizens of Tin Pan Alley, both the composers and the publishers. Since it is about the industry art or profession of supplying America and most of the rest of the world with popular music, it has a good deal of music as well as comedy in it. Sharing almost equally in the acting and singing burden are Ann Sheridan, Dick Powell and Gale Page. The comedy is mainly entrusted to as impressive a cast of actors and fun-makers as has ever been assembled in a picture, numbering such sure-fire favorites as Helen Broderick, Zasu Pitts, Allen Jenkins, Maxie Rosenbloom, Romall Reigan, Luis Alberni and Hobart Cavanaugh. In addition, the National Jitterbug Champions, a crew of swing happy youngsters, do their stuff in a big dance scene.

SUNDAY DINNER SUGGESTIONS

By Cora Anthony
Director of A & P Kitchen

Outstanding in the week's market are peaches and seedless grapes, potatoes and sweet corn. Bananas are unusually inexpensive. New apples are cheap. Melons are in season with cantaloupes and watermelons the best value. Plums have passed the peak of their season. There are fewer barlett pears in market this year than last. The prolonged hot spell has sent meat prices, with the exception of egg, still lower. Lamb shows the greatest markdown. Poultry, too, remains low in price.
Egg production keeps up and even top quality are plenty at a reasonable price. Butter prices are steady.

GRANADA ATTRACTIONS

Bringing together again the cast and director which made "Four Daughters" such a memorable event on last year's screen program, "Daughters Courageous" will open at the Granada Theatre, Heading the cast are John Garfield and Priscilla Lane, with a notable supporting group of players including the two other Lane girls, Rosamary and Lora, Gale Page, Fay Bainter, Jeffrey Lynn, Claude Rains, Frank McHugh, May Robson and Dick Foran. All of the cast of "Four Daughters" are present again in short, with the delightful addition of Fay Bainter in the role of the young and modern mother of the four girls, and Donald Crisp, as her solid, middle-aged fiancé. The story of "Daughters Courageous," however, deals with an entirely different family than last year's screen play, and while the two films share the same charming, heart-warming quality, the new one has a good deal more humor interspersed with the romance.
The consummate artistry with which he starred in "Wuthering Heights" to win an international acclaim, is said again to be exhibited by Laurence Olivier in "Clouds Over Europe," which will be the second attraction opening Friday at the Granada Theatre, Malden. Ralph Richardson, unforgettable doctor of "The Citadel" is featured in the new film, a laugh-filled romantic drama depicting the efforts of Scotland Yard to solve the mysterious disappearance of airplanes in flight. Olivier's performance as a dashing test pilot in "Clouds Over Europe" is one of the finest swash-buckling, devil-may-care characterizations ever given the screen. "Clouds Over Europe" weaves a story of romance, intrigue and daring with the fight of a great nation to grid herself against the threatening sabotage of alien agents. Valerie Hobson, George Curzon, David Tree and Sandra Storme have the principal supporting roles.

WINCHESTER ATTRACTIONS

Now through Saturday the Winchester Theatre presents Paul Mann and Betty Davis, the screen's two greatest artists will be seen together in "Juarez," a magnificent story of one of history's greatest liberators.
In addition to Mann and Davis, Warner Bros. assembled a mighty cast for this mighty motion picture. Brian Aherne, Claude Rains, John Garfield and Donald Crisp, all turn in unforgettable performances. Don't miss them! On the same program is "With in the Law," with Paul Kelley and Ruth Hussey.
Starting Sunday through Wednesday is Bing Crosby and Joan Blondell in "East Side of Heaven," which is the main attraction with down to earth humanness combined with music so catchy that you just naturally hum it as you leave the theatre is a movie formula guaranteed to please. Bing is a cruising troubadour, or to put it more plainly a singing taxi driver. Joan, his sweetheart, is an hotel telephone operator. Mischa Auer is Bing's unemployed roommate who has learned from reading the stars that he should not even look for work until 1942. On the same program is "Torchy Runs for Mayor," with Barton MacLane and Glenda Farrell.

AMERICANS AWAY FROM HOME

How many Americans citizens live outside the United States? One million? One hundred thousand? Give up? The answer, according to the National Geographic Society, is about 350,000 persons exclusive of tourists and transite visitors. This figure includes an estimated 175,686 Americans in Canada and Newfoundland, the largest single group. The smallest number reported comes from Arabia, with but ten resident Americans—or about one to each 100,000 square miles of territory.
In South America there are more Americans in Brazil, which has 3,812 than in any other country. Mexico counts 12,840. Latin America, in all, however, despite its "neighborhood" status, has less than 50,000 resident Americans, compared with nearly 85,000 in Europe. There Italy has the largest share, with more than 23,000 Americans. Picking out a few of the world's present "trouble spots," the Baltic port of Danzig now contested between Poles and Germans, is host to an estimated 28 Americans. Palestine, it is recorded contains 9,000 resident Americans; while in war-torn China there are reported some 7,700 Americans away from home.

UNIVERSITY THEATRE

With Jack Benny providing comedy, Dorothy Lamour turning on the romance, Edward Arnold in an important role, and Binnie Barnes, Phil Harris, Betty Grable, "Rochester" and Matty Malneck and His Orchestra numbered among the supporting cast, the lively comedy with music, "Man About Town," opens on Sunday at the University Theatre. Jack plays an American theatrical impresario who, while readying a show in London, showers attention on a lady of the English nobility in order to arouse jealousy in the heart of a member of his troupe. The English Lady, however, ages Jack because her husband is so involved in his business that he has little time for her. When Jack and his troupe entertain at the Lady's house and the husband begins to suspect Jack all sorts of hilarious complications ensue.
A queer twist of fate brings Chan to the playground of glamourous women to save an innocent girl from death in "Charlie Chan in Reno," the companion feature with Sidney Toler again playing the popular Oriental sleuth.
On Wednesday, Review Day, the program includes "San Francisco" starring Spencer Tracy, Clark Gable and Jeanette MacDonald and "Little Miss Thoroughbred" featuring John Littel, Ann Sheridan and Janet Chapman.
Laurence Olivier, the sensational, handsome young star of "Wuthering Heights" comes Thursday in "Clouds Over Europe," hailed as one of the most thrilling mystery action dramas of the year. The film, which is concerned with the mysterious disappearance of planes in flight, also has in its cast such notable performers as Ralph Richardson, who scored a personal triumph in "The Citadel" and lovely Valerie Hobson. In addition to its timeliness and action, "Clouds Over Europe" is said to be an excellent example of the modern romantic comedy, with its gay dialogue and delightful romance. "Clouds Over Europe" is the story of Scotland Yard's desperate efforts to track down a nation-wide espionage ring. The workings of the world famous police agency are revealed as well as the ingenious intrigues of the enemy agents. "Clouds Over Europe" reaches a smashing climax in which a number of aviators wage a desperate hand-to-hand struggle in order to capture the ship on which they have been imprisoned, while a gunboat whose commander is unaware of his countrymen's plight fires upon the embattled vessel.
Thrilling adventure, stirring conflict and breathless emotion crowd each other for plenty of excitement in Shirley Temples latest picture "Susannah of the Mounties," the associate film.

OPENING OF NORTH ATLANTIC GREAT CIRCLE ROUTE PUTS NEW PLACE NAMES ON AIR TRAVEL MAP

The Great Circle Route for aircraft across the North Atlantic, pioneered by Alcock and Brown in 1919, and followed by Charles A. Lindbergh on his flight to Paris, is coming into its own at last. The first air mail flight along this course began Saturday, June 24 when a Pan American Clipper took off from Port Washington, New York.
New places, not previously well known to travelers, such as Shediac, Botwood, and Foynes are sharing the spotlight now with New York City and Southampton, England, as this new air trail is blazed between the New World and the Old, says a bulletin from the Washington, D. C., headquarters of the National Geographic Society.
Shediac a Lobster Center
Shediac, on the coast of New Brunswick, northeast of Maine, looks across Northumberland Strait to Prince Edward Island. It is 600 miles in an air line from Port Washington, L. I., United States terminus for the Great Circle air route.
Lobsters, which Shediac claims to fame, long before air lines began roaring down out of the skies to alight there. Countless lips have smacked over broiled live lobsters which started their travel from Shediac. Vast numbers of the crustaceans are shipped alive or canned from this busy seafood center.
Fishermen catch lobsters off Shediac shore and bring them back to the town's canneries and the "pounds" where live lobsters are kept before shipping. The most modern "lobster pound" nowadays are large cages through which sea water is pumped, to keep the creatures healthy in their natural environment.
Good local weather conditions provided one reason for the choice of Shediac as a station on the North Atlantic air line, and perhaps this also is why it has been a favored summer resort for so many years. Beyond the white beachside along Northumberland Strait stand many summer homes and cottages, some with broad lawns and flower beds, other simple retreats of people of modest means.
Betwixt a Lumber Port
From Shediac it is a hop of 470 miles to Botwood, on the east coast of Newfoundland, last jumping off place for the low-flying across to Ireland. Newfoundland has figured in transatlantic history before. The first Atlantic cable was landed at Trinity Bay in 1858. In the last 29 years a stream of transatlantic flyers, some successful, some destined for failure, have winged their way over Newfoundland. Not only Botwood but also Harbour Grace and St. John's have become familiar to readers of aviation news.
Botwood, with a population of only a few hundred people, is a shipping center for lumber and pulpwood, and for minerals mined in the interior, including lead, zinc, copper, silver and even some gold. Located on an inlet of Notre Dame Bay, it has ample space for maneuvering large flying boats, and a field for land planes has been cleared.
Taking off from Botwood, planes on the northern route will cross the Labrador Current, and the region where icebergs drift down in spring from the Greenland glaciers. In this stretch of ocean King George and Queen Elizabeth were delayed by floating ice on their voyage to Canada and the United States, and here the U. S. Coast Guard patrols the sea lane to warn surface craft of ice, service supported by all the maritime nations whose ships use this northern route.

Foynes on River Shannon
Across the open ocean it's almost 2,000 miles from Botwood to Foynes, on the estuary of Ireland's River Shannon, famous in song, and the Free State's chief river. A busy traffic crisscrosses the waters around Foynes and Limerick, 20 miles farther up the Shannon. Gasoline, oil, coal and grain are stored and transhipped here. Black-suited peat-carriers mingle with cargo steamers. Limerick is headquarters for Ireland's salmon fisheries.
Foynes played a part in American history long before airplanes were heard of. The first steam packet to sail from its harbor was a blockade runner, loaded with uniforms for the Confederate Army during the Civil War.
From Foynes it's only 350 miles to Southampton, England, and there many an air traveler who previously has crossed the Atlantic by boat will find himself at home. Southampton probably is the best known British port to American tourists. It has one of the finest harbors in Europe, for it is 12 miles from the turbulent English Channel, and has two tides, one from the North Sea and one from the Atlantic, which prolong high water for two hours, facilitating the navigation of large vessels.
Cruisers embarked here in 1189, and English troops have sailed from Southampton for many wars, from invade France, later to help defend it in 1914. The Mayflower, with its load of Pilgrims, sailed from Southampton before stopping at Plymouth on the way to America. John Alden, a passenger, was a native of Southampton.

AUGUST Bachelor

So the family's away for August? Do you miss them? You can be with them in no time... hear their voices, learn they're well, find out what they've been doing today... tell them what they want most to hear... you are going to join them this week end. Out-of-town calls cost little. By day they are thrifty. At night and on Sunday very cheap rates are in effect.

Fresh Blueberry Waffles for Dessert

Courtesy Schrafft's Restaurants, New York

NOW, while blueberries are on the market, take advantage of their flavor and use them in every way possible. Stir them into your best batter and make light, tender blueberry muffins. Sprinkle them as a garnish over fresh fruit cocktails, salads and special fruit platters. Combine them with dash of lemon and make even more flavorful blueberry pies and tarts.
And when you want an entirely different dessert, make Fresh Blueberry Waffles! These crisp, fruity waffles make a delicious dish when served with Supreme Sauce, as in the photograph above.
Here is the recipe suggested by Schrafft's:
Blueberry Waffles
Use any good waffle recipe. Add carefully washed, fresh blueberries in the proportion of 1/4 cup of berries to 1 cup of batter. When pouring the batter onto the heated waffle iron, spread with a spoon to be sure the berries are evenly distributed. Bake the same as plain waffles.

Supreme Sauce

2/3 cup sifted 1 cup whipped cream brown sugar 2 1/2 teaspoons rum
2 egg yolks 2 1/2 cups rum
2 egg whites dash salt

Add about 1/2 cup of the measured sugar to the egg yolks, which have been beaten to a lemon color. Beat all well. Beat egg whites separately until stiff. Add the rest of the sugar, continuing to beat until it is well incorporated. Combine the two mixtures. Fold in the whipped cream and flavoring. Lastly, add salt. This makes 2 1/3 cups of sauce.
To serve: Allow two sections of waffle per person. Place one section on a tea plate. Pour over it a little of the supreme sauce. Cover with another section of waffle, pouring over it a generous amount of the sauce, allowing some to come down onto the plate. Scatter 8 or 10 berries over the top as a garnish.

UNCLE SAM LOOKS AT COCOS (TREASURE) ISLAND

To protect the Panama Canal, Congressional naval experts have proposed the acquisition of Cocos, a palm-fringed island 400 miles from the mainland of Costa Rica in the Pacific. Cocos has long been the "sweepstakes" hope of prospectors. For there the immense treasure of Peru—in flight because of a threatened revolution—was supposedly buried when the schooner Mary Dyer was wrecked on its coast, two centuries ago. Most Costa Ricans believe in their treasure. At the beginning of the century the President of Costa Rica organized a fruitless expedition which he hoped would place his country out of reach of taxation. Some years ago, when a writer for the National Geographic Magazine called at San Jose, he reported that the American consul was just starting on the quest.

MILLER—WENTWORTH

With the father of the bride—soon officiating, Miss Barbara Wentworth, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Royal Sumner Wentworth of Calumet road, and Kenneth Palmer Miller of Cambridge, Ohio, Rev. Dr. and Mrs. Isaac Eugene Miller of Cincinnati, Ohio, were married Saturday evening, Aug. 10, at 8 o'clock in Ripley Memorial chapel of the First Congregational church. The chapel was lighted with candles at the altar and along the aisle, and the reception which was held after the ceremony at the home of the bride's parents was also a splendid affair.

Miss Wentworth was given in marriage by her father and was attended by her sister, Miss Dorothy Wentworth and by Mrs. Charles Newcomb of Mansfield, O., sister of the bridegroom. As honor attendants, Miss Joyce Jarman of Searsdale, N. Y., Miss Rosella Sanders of Cambridge and New Haven, Conn., Mrs. Roger Sherman of Arlington and Miss Florence Waters of Winchester were bridesmaids. Prof. Hillis Kaiser of Middlebury t., acted as best man for Mr. Miller. And the usher corps included Paul T. Ventworth of Hartford, Conn., brother of the bride; the bridegroom's brother-in-law, Mr. Newcomb; Madison B. Graves of Marblehead; Frederick T. Keeler of Scarsdale, N. Y.; Granford P. Millar of Cambridge and Donald C. Dixon of Milwaukee, Wis.

The bride wore a gown of ivory tulle with a square neck and puff sleeves. A coronet of orange blossoms held her tulle veil in place.

Both the matron and maid of honor wore gowns of chartreuse chiffon with matching braided velvet corsets and carried coral gladiolas and blue larkspur. The bridesmaids wore dresses of larkspur blue chiffon with matching coronets and carried bou-rets similar to those of the honor attendants. The bride's mother, Mrs. Wentworth, wore a gown of soft lue and orchid chiffon with a garland corsage, and Mrs. Miller, the bridegroom's mother, wore a corsage of orchids with her gown of deep ink.

The bride attended Abbot Academy and the Garland School. Mr. Miller graduated from Ohio Wesleyan University and subsequently studied at Harvard and the University of Frankfurt-am-Main in Germany. He is a member of Phi Beta Kappa honorary scholastic fraternity and of Phi Gamma Psi. After a trip through New England and New York, he and his family will make their home in Towson Maryland.

Miss Mary Ottaviano, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Pasquale Ottaviano of Easton avenue, Woburn, and Michael Topfuri, son of Mr. and Mrs. Augustino Topfuri of Spruce street, were married Sunday afternoon, Aug. 20, at 3 o'clock in St. Charles Church, Woburn, by Rev. Fr. James A. Garrity. The wedding music was played by Mrs. James J. Doherty, organist at St. Charles, and Mrs. Charles Lyons, soprano soloist of St. Charles' Choir, sang the "Ave Maria."

Miss Ottaviano was given in marriage by her father. She wore a princess style gown of white satin with long sleeves and a rounded train. Her tall veil was held in place with orange blossoms and she carried a shower bouquet of white roses, lilies of the valley and baby's breath.

Attending the bride was her sister-in-law, Mrs. Marion Buck Ottaviano of Woburn, who wore aqua satin with a matching hat and short veil, and carried delphinium with pink roses. Also in the bridal party were Louise Frenesza as flower girl and Ralph Sissi as ring-bearer. The small flower girl wore a frock of shell pink satin with an aqua hat, tied under the chin, and carried an old fashioned bouquet. The ring-bearer wore a tuxedo and carried the rings on a heart-shaped pillow of satin and lace.

During the evening a reception to more than 500 relatives and friends was held in Knights of Columbus Hall, Woburn. Upon their return from a wedding trip to New York and the World's Fair, Mr. and Mrs. Topfuri will make their home at 52 Holland street in Winchester.

WEEK-END FIRES

The Fire Department answered two alarms over the week-end, the first coming from Box 53 at 3:28 Saturday afternoon for a fire in a truck on Church street near Bacon street. A passing motorist noticed that the truck was on fire and notified the driver, Gaspar Maggio of 72 Swanon street. The machine was owned by Anthony Derr of 434 Washington street.

Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock the department was called by phone to put out a chimney fire at the home of Mr. Charles W. Haggerty, 33 Loring avenue.

HIGH SCHOOL TEACHER WED

The many friends of Miss Estelle B. Coffin, former teacher of current history at Winchester High School, will be interested to learn of her marriage on Aug. 18 to Prof. Robert S. Cornish, who is head of the Department of Business Administration at Wayneburg College, Wayneburg, Pa. and financial advisor to the college.

Professor and Mrs. Cornish were in Winchester for a few days this week and were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Attwater Smith of Highland avenue.

NEW ENGLAND CONFERENCE

The fall meeting of the New England Conference of Federated Women's Clubs will be held at the Hotel Esplanade, Manchester, Vt., Sept. 27, 28, 29.

The first machine-made watches in the United States were manufactured in Waltham in 1854.

The following article, published in "The Message" of November 1936, is reprinted from the Christian Science Monitor.

It Just Isn't

An amazing amount of information fairly swamps the magazine and newspaper reader, and radio-listener, that isn't so. Of course, preconceived and proved notions may have been all wrong.

For instance, gentle reader, you may recall athletic events at school or college when you were not on the winning team or crew. Perhaps you had omitted to smoke a package of "fags." You had never been informed by a widely advertising tobacco company that cigarettes help athletes to win championships.

Later a job in a hot climate may have been offered you. Did the managers advise you to drink whiskey in the tropics to cool off? Ignorant fellows. They didn't know that—according to a widely displayed advertisement—any chap who knows the ropes also knows that in a hot spot a stiff slug of whiskey beats everything for its effect. Those supposedly shrewd business men had accepted the record of the noted English medical practitioner, Sir Frederick Treves, whose duty it was to watch over the health of the soldiers in the heat of Africa during the Boer war. This is what he said:

"The first who dropped out were not the tall men, or the short men, or the big men or the little men—they were the drinkers, and they dropped out as clearly as if they had been labeled with a big 'D' on their backs."

At the work bench or the desk, do ideas seem slow of coming? Again, simple is your remedy. Have you ever noticed that in so many emergencies calling for quick and clear thinking—on the screen—all the hero or heroine or the villain has to do is to light up and drink up. It must be their search for ideas that impels the down-and-out and the Bowery denier to search the gutters for a discarded fag-end.

Yes, an amazing amount of misfortune fills the air and advertising columns.

CO-OPERATIVE BANKS OF MASSACHUSETTS

The Co-operative Banks of Massachusetts are holding to their established proportion of Real Estate mortgages recorded, one third of all home mortgages recorded in the state in the four weeks ending July 29 having been made by these banks.

"It is gratifying," said Walter T. Chamberlain, president of the Massachusetts Co-operative Bank League and treasurer of the Arlington Co-operative Bank, "to know that the esteem in which we are held, due to our 60 year record, is such that we continue to hold first place in the minds of most people as Home Mortgage Institutions."

Mr. Chamberlain further said, "Despite the fact that several agencies not heretofore interested in real estate loans have entered the field, which if not particularly our own, we have served with particular efficiency. Co-operative Banks made in July nearly as many loans as all other mortgage institutions together, and this is but a reiteration of the record of earlier periods."

"They offer the same sympathetic understanding to the would-be home owner that they have since 1877, with practical assistance in buying or building, then providing financing calculated to meet the need and ability to pay of the individual family, and in every case permitting monthly repayments in amounts frequently no larger than would be the rental for the same or similar accommodations."

"It is quite evident," said Mr. Chamberlain "that we are not only held in highest esteem by the people of Massachusetts, but that we have what they want in the way of home-financing plans and service. To do one third of all the mortgage business of the state in loans of $10,000 or less, is certainly no small contribution toward the welfare of the Commonwealth and its citizens."

SIAM'S NEW GOVERNMENT CHANGES ANCIENT NAME

Henceforth Siam is Thailand.

The Siamese have long called their country Muang Thai, the land of the Thai race, says a bulletin from the Washington, D. C., headquarters of the National Geographic Society, but the name Siam or Sayam is of record for the country for more than a thousand years.

Siam adopted a constitutional government June 24, 1932. With the advent of the new regime, international treaties were revoked and new treaties gave Siam full jurisdictional and fiscal autonomy.

Siam's New Regime

The change from an absolute monarchy has been attributed in part to the infiltration of Western ideas following the custom of sending princes of the blood royal and sons of prominent families to the United States and other countries for their education. The new king has been at school in Switzerland. The president of the new council and commander of the army was a classmate of General Goering's in Germany. The new Minister of foreign affairs was educated in France.

The latter has expressed the hope that Siam's international position may be neutral, and an enlarged defense program is in progress. Under new enactment, every able-bodied man between eighteen and thirty is now liable to serve two years with the colors. The navy has been more than doubled in strength, and high-speed bombing planes were purchased in the United States. Latest available figures indicate that a quarter of the national budget was marked for defense, about $50,000,000.

Industry is Developed

Substantial appropriations have also enabled the government to increase public utility service, in addition to private plants, and new factories have been set up, some by the government. These produce paper, cotton cloth, petroleum, sugar, hemp, silks, vegetable oils and drugs.

Rail transportation now covers 2,037 miles of government-owned railroads, with reduced freight and passenger rates. Mail service has been extended to 481 post offices, and there is also airmail service. Highways total 2,722 miles, and new docks have been built to provide Bangkok, the capital, with a suitable port for ocean steamers which previously anchored outside the delta of the Chao Phraya. This river penetrates the most valuable portion of the country and is crossed by lateral canals.

The new administration has completed extensive irrigation schemes, established fish hatcheries, and is conducting experimental work in hemp, fruits, tobacco, rice and cotton cultivation. In addition to the provincial agricultural colleges, a General Agricultural College with an established horticulture exhibits have been promoted throughout the nation.

The Siamese are more than 80 per cent farmers, with about two per cent engaged in industry. Commerce is mostly in the hands of the Chinese and Japanese, with other foreign merchants. The population of Siam, with an area almost as large as New York, Pennsylvania, Ohio, Indiana and Illinois combined, is nearly 15,000,000, including many Chinese. The Japanese population is less than 600, mostly located in Bangkok, the only large city. The area of Siam is 249,000 square miles.

Almost a million acres are devoted to rice, with lesser acreage in para rubber, coconuts, tobacco, cotton and pepper. The rubber plantations in southern Siam export more than $10,000,000 in rubber and rubber waste annually. Northern Siam is covered with forests where much teak wood is cut by British interests.

The value of teak exported is in excess of $4,000,000. This industry employs in dragging the dry logs to the river, and showing an uncanny instinct for selecting the right logs to loosen river jams. Farm power is supplied mostly by the more than a million bullocks and buffaloes. Mines produce tin and other metals which altogether raise the export figure to more than $75,000,000 a year, with imports into Siam amounting to $50,000,000.

BIRDS OF PARADISE IN WORN-OUT DRESS

Latin America's exotic bird-newcomers to the Washington Zoo have caught some of the older inhabitants in the sad state of the proverbial wife-beater. They haven't got a thing to wear. In their cages at the National Zoological Park, a dozen or more birds of paradise hop about dispiritedly in the capital's summer heat, their feathers bedraggled and worn down to ragged remnants of the glorious plumage seen in the spring courtship season. Even then, however, the brilliant and eccentric feathers are largely confined to the male. Hence among the birds of paradise it is the males who do the showing off. In their native home, chiefly New Guinea and neighboring regions, certain species assemble during the mating season for the famous early morning "dancing parties." Others display singly or in twos and threes. Before the admiring gaze of prospective mates they preen and strut, going through remarkable contortions and gymnastics. So absorbed are the dancers that humans often have been able to watch the dance at close quarters. The native habit of cutting off the wings and feet of these birds once gave rise to a popular belief that they touched earth only during the mating season. Early traders called them "God's birds," the Portuguese knew them as "Birds of the sun." The Dutch gave them their modern name, "Birds of paradise."

The State Planning Board is making a special study of the resources and opportunities in Worcester County.

CANNES: GAY RESORT TOWN OF THE FRENCH RIVIERA

A new International Film Festival has been announced by the French Government to be held at Cannes, early in September, when an international jury will undertake the selection of the greatest film stars of the world, as well as the best film produced in each of the competing countries during the past 12 months.

As the greatest producer of cinematic entertainment, the United States will be permitted to enter 12 long films and 10 shorts in the competition.

An International Resort

Cannes is the fashionable resort on the French Riviera, which annually entertains thousands of visitors from many nations, says a bulletin from the Washington, D. C., headquarters of the National Geographic Society.

During the World War at the Casino where the Festival is to be held, dancing, motion pictures and other entertainment was provided for the soldiers on leave, and those sent there to recuperate. The Cercle Nautique, exclusive Cannes yacht club, served as an officers' club for the A. E. F. Here, while the peace conference was in session, the League of Red Cross societies was organized under the sponsorship of the American Red Cross.

Since the War, the city has resumed its social position and is Europe's great center for polo, horse racing, yachting, golf, tennis and sea bathing. It has been particularly popular with the British, notably with Queen Victoria and King Edward VII. The harbor for yachts and small fishing vessels is overlooked by the lofty site of the ancient walled town of Aegina.

Cannes is within easy reach of Nice and Monte Carlo by tram or motor over the Corniche routes, one winding over the tops of the foothills of the Alps, the other closely bordering the ocean.

St. Patrick and Dumas' Hero. The large white villas are on the outskirts of the town, while many of the four score hotels are along the Croisette, similar to the "boardwalk" of American seaside resorts. This popular promenade parallels the coast for miles.

Orange trees grow at Cannes in sight of snow-capped peaks in the background and there are many acres devoted to olive groves. The principal product of the land to the north is flowers for the production of perfumery, the French industry center in near-by Grasse, birthplace of the painter Prunard. Here one perfumery occupies an ancient convent building with walls several feet thick.

Just off the coast of Cannes is the Isle of St. Marguerite, famed for the long imprisonment there of the "Man in the Iron Mask." Almost adjoining is the Isle of St. Honorat where he built his monastery in 410; among the earlier monks was St. Patrick, who is said to have spent a few years in this island monastery.

The transformers for Boulder Dam were constructed by the General Electric Company at Pittsfield, the same plant where the first alternating current transformer, invented by William Stanley, was developed.

MILLIONAIRES SET BACK SINCLAIRS

"Ollie" Lee held the Sinclairs off Wednesday night at Leonard Field as the Millionaires won from the tanning city club, 5-2.

The locals weren't any stronger with the willow than the invaders, but Hubbard's seven passes and five visiting errors provided the winning margin. Not a single hit for extra bases was run up during the game which only went five innings. The summary:

TEN OLD MEN 15—WINCHESTER PARK DEPARTMENT 11

The shades of night were falling fast, with the tying run on second base, when "Joe" Tansey of the Park Department socked one of "Bob" Harmon's fast ones into deep left field. As the ball emerged from the gathering gloom, Hall Gamage caught a glimpse of it, stuck up his gloved hand and made the catch which ended the merry-go-round.

The game, played Thursday, Aug. 17, saw the Ten Old Men off to an early lead, but the Park Department boys kept coming right back which left the game in doubt to the very end.

HARKINS TENNIS WINNER

Robert L. Harkins, soc. of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas J. Harkins of Eaton street, recently won the invitation tennis tournament at the Woodland Country Club.

"Bob," who plays plenty of tennis at Palmer street, is a junior at Suffolk University Law School. For the past two years he has played on the University tennis team, this year at number three, and is undefeated in the ten intercollegiate matches played during that time.

WEAVE-IT AND TEE BEES WIN MYSTIC SAILING CONTESTS

Simonds and Barleigh Split Snipe Racing Honors

"Don" Simonds and "Ted" Barleigh succeeded in beating both the heat and the competition by tillering their Snipes around the wind-swept course on the Mystic Lake to chalk up a win apiece during the regular Saturday and Sunday races. Simonds' turn came first when he nudged out Barleigh's Tee Bees and his Wee Too of the first of Saturday's struggle. Pyne's Phooka, Blanchard's Dunlin, Hall's Rondie (sailed by Warner) and Snow's Salome were the other entrants. Penut, sailed by Dick La Croix, was disqualified for a fault on the starting line.

"Beating the heat" on Sunday meant sailing the five-mile course through a driving cold shower. It's almost axiomatic that a bad day for the spectators means a good day for the sailors, for the wind was plentiful and the boats moved along at a fast clip. Barleigh's big moment came on the last windward leg when Tee Bees out-manoeuvred Pyne's Phooka and garnered the 1600 points that fatten the winners average. Sherman's Snail crawled in while Sprague in Peanut and Simonds in Weave-It played ring-around-the-rosie with the leeward finish marker. Snow in Salome and Wiswell in his as yet unnamed Snipe were the chief mourners. Point standings as of Aug. 20 are as follows: Merrow, 1648; Simonds, 1569; Barleigh, 1555; Hill, 1478; Sprague, 1472; Blanchard, 1455; Reeves, 1443; Croughwell, 1383; Pyne, 1356; Hall, 1327; Sherman, 1301; Cunningham, 1288; Snow, 1276; Millican, 1245; Wiswell, 1166.

Boat Club Bearings

All is not sail that races on the Mystic. Sunday, Aug. 27 will see some championship single blade paddling when the paddle-and-puff boys make their bid for the coveted Mystic Challenge Cup. The cup is now in the hands of the boys of the Medford Boat Club.

Winchester pins high hopes on Phil Newman, a likely lad with a yen for canoe racing. During casual workouts recently, Phil has been displaying some mighty smooth form and may put the cup back on the Winchester Boat Club mantle. The contest starts at 3 p. m.

Other Winchester contenders include such reliable old stand-bys as Ken Pratt, Jimmy Fitch and Ned Benn and among the younger blades, such paddlers as Stan Puffer, "Red" Irving, Frank Cheney and the Fowler Brothers, Johnny and Arthur.

Fred Fish just back from the annual Camp Week of the American Canoe Association at Sugar Island, Lake Ontario, reports that the championship fleet, stacked against a crack fleet of 15 deck sailing canoes in the National Trophy races, Fred took a pair of seconds and only had a chance in one of the heats which netted him an eighth kept him out of top position. As it was, the Banshee placed fourth in the final standing, only one point back of the Herman Dudley Murphy, dean of canoeists, visited Sugar Island during Camp Week.

It's been many years since the grand old man sailed the Banshee to win trophy after trophy but he still takes a keen interest in A. C. A. activities. It must have pleased him to know that the Banshee is still up at the top and being sailed by competent hands.

Club members who have enjoyed the friendly informality of the Sunday field luncheons will be pleased to know that entertainment committee chairman, Dr. Allen Cunningham, has announced that the trophy will be resumed this Sunday. There's a priceless chance for some of the lady members to let someone else worry about what to have for the Sunday noon meal.

Canoeists who think they really can paddle are welcome to prove it by representing Winchester at the A. C. A. meet at Harmony, R. I., over Labor Day weekend. Ken Pratt knows all the details. . . . And if that's not possible, how about getting in shape for the Splash Regatta with Medford scheduled for Sunday, Sept. 10.

Snipe racing fans will be pleased to note that the list of actively racing Snipes have been swelled by the addition of several new boats. The list now totals 15 with at least one more soon to be added. This doesn't include unregistered Snipes and other boats in the rapidly growing fleet at the Winchester Boat Club. . . . All of which indicates bigger action and races for the best of the season and a record-breaking fleet for next year.

WINCHESTER MAN HEADS ALL-STAR GAME COMMITTEE

T. O. M. 6—MISHAWUM CLUB 5

George C. Wiswell of Fletcher street, hustling member of the Crosscup-Pishon advertising men's Post of the American Legion is heading the Post's committee in charge of the big football classic of Monday evening, Sept. 11, at Fenway Park in Boston, pitting the All-Eastern College All-Stars against the Washington Redskins, professional league football team, who formerly played their football in the Hub.

Mr. Wiswell's committee has signed "Suede" Nelson, former Harvard lineman, to coach the All-Stars, and his assistants will be Tuss McLaughry, Brown mentor, and Columbia's famous Coach Lou Little. "Al" Van Ranst, Sid Roth and Brad Holland of Cornell; Bob Gibson and Bob McLeod of Dartmouth; Mike Koechel, Fordham; Walter Raskowski and Elmer Merkowsky of Pittsburgh; Peter Shulha and Bill Dorsey, Manhattan; Joe Delaney and Bill Osmanski, Holy Cross; John Siegel and Robert Taylor, Columbia; Jack Lee, Carnegie Tech; Wilmer Slat-Singh, Syracuse; Cliff Wilson, Harvard; and Fella Gintoff, Boston College; are some of the stars already signed for the Collegians with others equally potent, yet to be heard from.

Washington, with its Slinging Sammy Baugh to Wayne Milner passing attack, its massive tackle, Turk Edwards and great blocker, Ernie Pinckert should receive a thorough testing from this array of talent, and Chairman Wiswell promises added before-the-game and between-the-halves attractions. All in all Sept. 11 looks like quite a happening in local football fans' calendars.

WINCHESTER GOLF

"Larry" Martin and George Barton had a 67 to lead the teams in the four ball, Jack Lee, Carnegie Tech, and Columbia's famous Coach Lou Little. "Al" Van Ranst, Sid Roth and Brad Holland of Cornell; Bob Gibson and Bob McLeod of Dartmouth; Mike Koechel, Fordham; Walter Raskowski and Elmer Merkowsky of Pittsburgh; Peter Shulha and Bill Dorsey, Manhattan; Joe Delaney and Bill Osmanski, Holy Cross; John Siegel and Robert Taylor, Columbia; Jack Lee, Carnegie Tech; Wilmer Slat-Singh, Syracuse; Cliff Wilson, Harvard; and Fella Gintoff, Boston College; are some of the stars already signed for the Collegians with others equally potent, yet to be heard from.

In the midst of the general regret occasioned by the drowning at Leonard Field pool Wednesday evening it should be remembered that the accident occurred after the beach had closed and the lifeguards had left the premises. The Park Department takes every precaution to guard against such accidents during the hours that swimming is permitted at both Leonard Field and Palmer street and the records at both beaches are excellent. Local authorities have attempted to prevent swimming after hours, but have found the task difficult, particularly at Leonard Field. Wednesday's fatality means that their efforts will have to be redoubled. Of course a drowning might occur during the time when the beaches are open and the guards on duty, but the odds are away against it. Both Leonard Field and Palmer street are exceptionally safe places to enjoy swimming.

SOCRATES SAYS-

Who will the Republicans nominate as their candidate for president in 1940? This question is on every tongue. There is a great possibility that the name of the next president has not yet even been seriously mentioned.

The personality of the man will not be of great consequence in 1940. The period from 1932 to 1940 seemed to require a personality that could spread optimism and promises of good cheer, one based on the wishes of men.

The type period of 1940 to 1944 is not definitely known yet, it might be, it might be still greater deflation; or more likely, great inflation. It would appear now that the requirements of the 1940 period would call for a serious attack on the realities of life, the practical, workmanlike and unpleasant job. Reform, almost a crusade against waste, will probably grip the nation.

The efforts of Dewey of New York and the attempt of Alton B. Parker of New York to catch up, in Missouri and Louisiana, may be just a fore-runner of the 1940 period.

Statesmanship, as exercised by Senator Vandenberg of Michigan, may be the keynote for 1940.

It is also interesting to follow the crusade of Bridges of New Hampshire against government socialism.

The economy fight of Governor Saltonstall of Massachusetts, and his stand against borrowing to pay further deficits, has already caught the eye of practical men throughout the nation.

The man of 1940 will be the man who has best sensed the path to realities. Serious, deluded citizens will go to the polls in 1940.

DOWN THE HATCH

New Dealers solicited and obtained over a million dollars to pay for their campaign of 1936, much of it from corporations—which is not illegal—yet the then New Deal Attorney General ruled that it was not illegal. This was the famous campaign book signed by President Roosevelt, "Down the hatch" it was—if you do something after it happens it's not illegal.

Now, after the 1939 Hatch Bill, which makes it illegal for Government employees to participate in politics, the new Attorney-General rules that non-civil service employees are free to "go on the air," but those covered by civil service are not. This New Deal Attorney-General is the former Governor who sat out the "sit downs."

If we read this ruling correctly, it would appear that employees on civil service, and thus more fully protected with their jobs, would be as interested as those not on civil service and thus depend on political success.

This Hatch Bill is not worth the paper it is written on unless it is enforced. The intent of this Hatch Bill is to prevent public patronage. President Roosevelt himself once said—"It is not what you say that matters, but what you do"—also something along the line that the high public acclaim, was to prevent unfair political patronage.

"NEW DEAL SOCIALISM"

Relief spending is now close to $4,000,000,000 annually in the Roosevelt depression.

In the depth of the 1932 depression it was only $444,000,000. It is almost ten times greater in 1939. In 1929 (the Wall Street year) relief cost only $48,000,000. This can only mean one thing—the New Deal has utterly failed. Unemployment is as great, or greater, in 1939 than in 1932, for there are still ten million unemployed. Relief is costing ten times as much—taxes are greatly increased, and will continue rapidly upwards.

National debt doubled — incomes lower—interest rates at an all-time low—new enterprises and investments at a very low obnoxious business no greater (except for munitions)—and real standards of living growing lower each year—there's the record.

In addition to all this, such agencies as the C. C. Farm Security Administration, and a host of others, have become permanent, and the Government Agencies are now spending over $17,000,000,000 annually.

This means that those citizens still working must continue, either through direct taxes or in their cost of living to support all these schemes, and that those obtaining government relief must continue to subsist on what the Government gives to them.

"The plan" may have been to spend the entire resources of the nation—then every citizen must look to the State for his bare necessities of life. That's Socialism—through "peaceful revolution," as the New Dealers used to call it.

Both those working and those finding themselves looking to the Government for relief, for a job, would do well to think this thing through carefully before 1940. Only confidence that individualism is to prevail in these United States, will ever obtain again the opportunities for real economic security, the belief that the spiritually-minded founders of this country had, and the theory that created, previous to 1932, the great growth of these United States to the highest standard of living in the history of the world.

T. N. E. C.

The Temporary National Economic Committee, assisted by the Securities and Exchange Commission—with the blessing of President Roosevelt—is sitting in an effort to ascertain why we should have such a low level of business activity with an all-time record amount of available credit stored up in the banks.

In the first place, this is a definite confession that in spite of the proclaimed fact that the New Dealers had a plan in 1932, it has failed after seven long lean years.

In the second place, it would seem as if the record for the "record amount of available credit" could be easily understood as largely due to government borrowing which finds its way back to the banks. In other words, the very loose fiscal policies of the New Deal have provided most of "the record amount."

In the third place, the theory of stock market restrictions, while desirable in some instances, has so hamstrung money markets, has so limited trading, if short selling, which definitely has a real place in money economics, had not been so restricted, money and credit would have been used.

In the fourth place, low interest rates, fostered by the New Deal—later fixed by "the record amount of credit"—are not conducive to either saving or investment. What is cheap nobody wants or needs. Prosperity never exists with low interest rates.

In the fifth place, almost every move of the New Deal has been political, and as votes have been the goal, everything possible has been said, "Tories," "Economic Royalists," "Entrenched Greed," etc., to create the belief that profit was a crime, and "savings" (capital) was an offense against society. The very example of the New Deal has been spend and waste—never creative, thriftless, or soundness. This has created credit—almost rendered it an outlaw—a thing to shun and not to use.

In the sixth place, the theory of the New Deal, to create artificial works projects, has accomplished the wrong results. Millions of ambitious citizens have been stunted, instead of relying on their own initiative and ability, which would have, as always, found a way. People are being taught that the State creates. The direct dose should have been utilized.

In the seventh place, whenever a plan has been tried in history, the same results have always followed. China, in 500 B. C., actually tried every New Deal theory (Book of Learning 500 B. C.). The law of survival and demand cannot be broken—proof: "the record amount of credit in our banks today," with no demand. Now a commission is actually sitting to find a way to create a demand for citizens to use idle money. This theory of trying to find a way to spend all possible money by creating deficits and borrowing from the labor of our children's children — thus creating "a record amount of idle money" in an attempt to create prosperity and the use of money—is like trying to increase the value of diamonds by dumping them on the market and ten cents a dozen—then to wonder why they are not worth more.

There is only one answer that will ever solve the problem, and it will not be done by the New Dealers. The answer is, start towards balancing the budget, slow up the expenditure, dole, slow up reciprocal trade treaties, greater immigration cut, out loose name calling, return confidence that no change in the American form of government, as laid down by the spiritually-minded founders of our country, is to be allowed, and have citizens really believe it.

The fact that in four out of five national Republican victories the stock market went up, and in four out of five Democratic victories it went down, should prove to any T. N. E. C. Commission that the psychological reaction to conservative government is to cause less "idle men, machines, and money."

The report will be, if consistent, that business should borrow this idle money, then plow it under, and be paid for not using it.

ALL-WINCHESTER FLOWER SHOW

Sept. 14 and 15 to See Bigger and Better Exhibit

The fourth annual all-Winchester flower show will be held on Thursday, Sept. 14, from 2 to 9 p. m. and Friday, Sept. 15, from 10 a. m. to 5 p. m., in the social and recreation halls of the First Baptist Church. Sponsored by the Better Homes Garden Club, with the co-operation of the Winchester Garden Club, the garden group of the Fortnightly and the Garden Lovers' Club of Greater Boston in special exhibits, all classes in the show are open to any resident of Winchester.

Providing a local meeting ground for all gardeners and flower lovers of the town, a local opportunity and stimulation for any of them to try things and learn things about flowers, it is becoming an institution for its scope and, it is hoped, its interest in raising the standard of quality in exhibits. In this year's show the number of classes is fewer than ever before, with considerably more space allotted for their proper and pleasing display; but these fewer classes offer variety enough to interest almost all possible entrants. The staging, under Mr. Samuel Kirkwood (Grace High), widely known as a landscape architect, has been carefully designed to be effective as a whole as well as in its elements. The use of the two large halls will give room for more special exhibits than before and will enhance all exhibits by allowing them to be seen.

The general committee for the show consists of Mrs. Norman M. Mitchell and Mrs. John Burdick, co-chairmen, Mrs. Samuel Kirkwood and Mrs. George E. Moffette. Class chairman is Mrs. Ambrose Reasoner. Further information may be secured from any of the above. The schedule of classes and further details will be published in the Star.

ENGAGEMENT OF WINCHESTER INTEREST

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Sumner Jacobs of Ashcroft road, Medford, announced on last Sunday the engagement of their daughter, Miss Elizabeth Jacobs, to Frederick Lee Churchill, son of the late Dr. and Mrs. John D. Churchill of Plymouth.

Miss Jacobs was graduated from Winchester High School and Vassar College in 1939. She has been prominently identified with amateur dramatics in Winchester, having played leading part in many productions of the Group Theatre. Mr. Churchill is a manager of a fire insurance company in New Orleans. He was previously a lieutenant in the Army Air Corps, having graduated from Plymouth High School and Kelley Flying Field in Texas.

ROBOT BALLOON OBSERVER REPORTS ON OZONE IN STRATOSPHERE

Three recent flights into the stratosphere over Beltsville, Maryland, by means of groups of rubber sounding balloons reached heights of 14 to 16½ miles above the earth. The balloons, sent up as a joint project by the National Geographic Society and the National Bureau of Standards, carried on each flight a "robot" — an ingenious robot consisting of electric batteries, a tiny motor, photo-electric cells, moving screens and radio tubes.

The object of the flights was to gather additional information about the atmosphere's ozone layer, an important concentration of gas which screens away from the earth's surface certain rays of sunlight injurious to vegetable and animal life. The metal and glass robot made "readings" of the varying concentrations of ozone at different altitudes and automatically radioed them to a receiving station on the ground. The results are being compared with other observations for a later report by the National Bureau of Standards.

On each of the three flights the lifting power was furnished by six rubber, hydrogen-filled balloons attached in tandem. Four-and-a-half feet in diameter when they were released, these balloons expanded to diameters of 14 feet or more in the rare upper air near the top of the ascents.

The string of balloons continued to rise until one of them burst as a result of expansion. The remaining balloons lowered the observing apparatus slowly to the ground and in every case it was recovered. The flights were made under the supervision of Dr. Lyman J. Briggs, Director of the National Bureau of Standards and Dr. W. W. Coblentz, chief of Radiometry, at the Bureau.

THE UMBRELLA STAGES A "COMEBACK"

Prime Minister Chamberlain's umbrella a boon to the cartoonist is world-famous. Queen Elizabeth's parasol on the American royal visit launched a new feminine silhouette. There's a popular song dedicated to the Umbrella Man. And now comes word of an umbrella museum recently opened at Gignee, small town in northern Italy.

Sign of Power and Rank

In the ancient East, used chiefly against the hot rays of the sun rather than rain, the umbrella was a sign of power, as it still is in various lands. At religious ceremonies in Siam, the King rides through the streets on a gilded throne, a red-clad page holding a scarlet umbrella over him. Another porter by his side carries another sunshade, while symbolic five- and seven-tiered umbrellas precede and follow the royal vehicle in the procession.

Old pictures of the erstwhile King of Kings, Emperor Haile Selassie of Ethiopia, show the monarch in the protective shade of an umbrella held by a retainer.

Since time immemorial, the umbrella has been a favorite with the Japanese. Early Greek and Roman laces of position carried it. High churchmen of the Middle Ages used it as a sign of prestige.

SCIENTIFIC STUDY MADE OF UNUSUAL AURORA BOREALIS

The unusual display of the aurora borealis on the night of Aug. 11, visible over the northern portion of the United States and Canada, was scientifically clocked, photographed, and measured more completely than any other auroral display that has occurred in many years, reports the National Geographic Society. Scientific observers pronounced it the most brilliant and extensive aurora of 1939 and one of the most striking in the past 10 years.

A three year study of auroras is being made as a joint research project by the National Geographic Society and Cornell University and has been in progress for nearly a year with observation station set up at Ithaca, Hamilton and Geneva, N. Y. The stations are connected by direct telephone wires and during the exceedingly brilliant display of August 11, made numerous photographs simultaneously. Comparison of these exposures made many miles apart will make it possible to estimate with considerable accuracy the heights above the earth of the various features of the display.

"Christ Jesus" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon which will be read in Churches of Christ, Scientist, throughout the world. On Sunday, August 27, "The Word was made flesh, and dwelt among us, (and we beheld his glory, the glory which the only begotten of the Father), full of grace and truth" (John 1:14).

Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible: "And he said unto them, Go ye into all the world, and preach the gospel to every creature." And these signs shall follow them that believe: they shall take up serpents, and if they drink any deadly thing, it shall not hurt them; they shall lay hands on the sick, and they shall recover. And they went forth, and preached every where, the Lord working with them, and confirming the word with signs following" (Mark 16:15, 17, 18, 20).

The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook: "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "Christians are under an sacred obligation now, as they were then, to be Christlike, to possess the Christ-spirit, to follow the Christ-example, and to heal the sick as well as the sinning" (p. 138).

Ohio's Miami Valley

key its beauty and fertility were made in the Ohio Miami valley. Long before any permanent settlement known to the inhabitants of Kentucky and the people beyond the Alleghenies.

As a consequence, repeated efforts were made by the white man to get possession of it. These efforts of course led to retaliation on the part of the Indians, who resented the attempts to dispossess them of their native lands, and the continuous raids back and forth across the Ohio river to gain or keep control of this beautiful valley caused it to be called, until the close of the Eighteenth century, the "Miami Sunstir-house."

Nude Horse

Dorothy and Sally, age five and three, were visiting their grandparents in a southern Indiana town. One morning they had been out playing when they suddenly burst into the house very much excited and frightened. Being asked the reason for their hurried entrance, Dorothy gasped out: "Oh, there was a horse went running down the street and nobody was with it. And it didn't have a thing on, not even a strap—noting but just its skin and its tail!"—Los Angeles Times.

ARTIFICIAL EARTHQUAKES TO EXPLORE SECRETS OF PACIFIC OCEAN'S BOTTOM

Artificial earthquakes on the ocean bottom produced by explosions of TNT, a new method of submarine exploration, will be used to determine the thickness and types of sediments beneath the sea, by a scientific expedition that will leave Sept. 19 for the islands of the South-Central Pacific Ocean.

The expedition, which will spend a year among the islands, will be sponsored by the National Geographic Society and the University of Virginia, with the United States Coast Guard cooperating.

Will Supplement Studies of Geology, Gravity, and Magnetism
 The artificial earthquakes, developed by Prof. Maurice Ewing of Lehigh University, will fit into the expedition's program of studying geology, gravity and magnetism over an area of islands and ocean larger than the United States. The data obtained are expected to shed new light on the age and origin of the Pacific Ocean and the history and structure of the continents.

The expedition expects to learn for the first time whether any appreciable amount of sediment lies on the bed rock floor of the Pacific. The amount of sediment that has been washed down to the sea bottom from land; has accumulated from the shells and skeletons of sea creatures; and has been deposited from dust in the air, will help to show how long the process has been going on, and hence furnish a clue to the age of the Pacific Ocean basin.

Quakes to be Created by Time Bombs of TNT

The artificial earthquakes are produced by small time bombs which are sunk to the bottom and exploded automatically by clock work. The explosions cause vibrations in the sea bottom like those produced by earthquakes. Automatic recording devices are sunk to the bottom at a considerable distance from the bombs. When a bomb explodes, the sound vibrations travel down through the sediment to bed rock, through the rock in a horizontal direction, and up again through the sediment. The vibrations are picked up by microphones in the recording devices, and cause beams of light to vibrate. An automatic movie camera in the recorder photographs the vibrations. The vibrations are picked up by microphones in the recording devices, and cause beams of light to vibrate. An automatic movie camera in the recorder photographs the vibrations. The vibrations are picked up by microphones in the recording devices, and cause beams of light to vibrate. An automatic movie camera in the recorder photographs the vibrations.

From this record Professor Ewing can calculate the thickness of the sediment through which the sound vibrations have traveled. He also can determine the type of sediment, how far it has progressed toward hardening into rock, because sound vibrations move more slowly through soft sediments and more rapidly through harder ones.

By Professor Ewing's process it is possible for the first time to make accurate surveys of the sediments beneath the oceans, which cover about three-fourths of the earth's surface. He has developed his apparatus with financial aid from the Geological Society of America, and has been granted a Guggenheim Fellowship covering the academic years of 1938-40.

Prof. Wilbur A. Nelson, of the University of Virginia, will be leader of the expedition, which will sail from San Francisco, on the Coast Guard cutter "Hamilton."

The Greek Orthodox Church in Lowell, established in 1907, was the first of its denomination in America.

Mountain-Hopping in Hydroplaning. It was for these highland people and highland products that Colombia solved the transportation problem on wings. The air service began in Bogota, Colombia, as the water route of surface shipping from Barranquilla up the Magdalena and tributaries to the principal ports. Within two years, travel time between Bogota, Colombia's four-century-old capital city, and Medellin, 100 miles away, was cut from 21 hours by air from the old uncertain week or ten days by boat. Soon the mountain-hopping planes were not only speeding communication along the north-south routes of traditional travel, but were crisscrossing the highland valleys from the Pacific coast to interior, from outlying eastern plains to central highlands.

Dr. Lowell pictured Mars as a planet that is gradually drying up, while its surviving inhabitants struggle to keep alive by irrigating their fields from a dwindling water supply. There are no signs of oceans or lakes on the planet. The polar caps, though they cover considerable space in winter, may be only a few inches thick, containing comparatively little water in a frozen state.

Must Increase Farm Income, Says Ford

WITH Edsel Ford in the driver's seat to turn the first furrow, the new and vastly-discussed Ford Ferguson tractor made its world's first public appearance at the New York World's Fair in late July. Shown above are Henry Ford and Harry Ferguson, Irish inventor who designed the new tractor and its unit implements, with a small model of the tractor between them.

Henry Ford, who had looked forward to this tractor to accomplish two things—turn the farm deficit into a profit and reduce the expense of going on the "land," enthusiastically endorsed the tractor. "The Ford added," Ford said, "the farm is one of the most vital problems now before the country. No political solution is possible until we find a way to solve it. To increase farm income by increasing the cost of food in the cities is a policy no one, not even our agrarian, approves of. Every farmer's farm income must be increased."

"My father and I believe that if the farmer can do what industry has done, he can make a good living on his own land. The new economy of production and distribution will benefit the farmer as well as the city dweller."

Thrills, drama and tender romance, told amid the jungles of Africa are the elements of "Tarzan Finds a Race," which will be the feature attraction at the Lyric Theatre today. The Theatre, reuniting Johnny Weissmuller and Maureen O'Sullivan in the leading roles, A new character comes to the screen on the fourth of the story based on the novel by Edgar Rice Burroughs characters in "Tarzan, Jr.," played by John Sheffield, amazing five-year-old athlete who played the role of the boy Tarzan in the New York stage. The new story leads to the finding of a baby, only survivor of a plane wreck in the jungle. Tarzan and his mate raise the boy. A year later, Tarzan is searching for plane survivors because of the English East Africa land, and the boy becomes the center of a plot to conceal his claim. A wild ride of a chimpanzee cavaller mounted on a tiger, a rescue of a girl, a rescue of the baby, charging rhinoceros, amazing underwater swimming by Weissmuller and young Sheffield, and dramatic sequences of the Tarzan and his mate in the points in the eventful romance.

A fast-moving murder mystery with a lot of humor in it will be the second feature opening today at the Capitol Theatre, "The Girl Who Could Happen to You," with Stuart Erwin and Gloria Stuart heading the excellent cast which also includes William Morris, John Douglas, Twiss Little, Gale and John Kolb. A little slow on the trigger, but very lovable and ambitious, Erwin returns from a party at 4 a. m. only to have a woman tell him that she is afraid that there is a murdered woman in the back of the car. From that point onward thrilling suspense alternates with stirring laughter as the wife attempts to save her husband in danger of his life. It is this very human-ness of the story, tragically relieved by comedy, that makes the story so interesting and credible.

DOORS AND SUPERSTITION

The lavish use of doors in modern construction was emphasized recently when an architect working on a large scale apartment house saved thousands of feet of board simply by substituting hangings for dress-closet doors throughout the building. Doors, as we know them, are comparatively modern, says the National Geographic Society. Long after man moved out of the cave and into the hut or house he used no doors. Entrance to the homes of the early Egyptians, Greeks and Romans led usually through doorways covered, for privacy, with tapestry, silk curtains, skins and walls. Even in fairly recent times curious superstitions lingered about the door. In parts of England and Scotland it was customary to open the door whenever some one died in the house in order to let the soul pass through. The Italians used to build narrow openings by the side of the regular doorway which they called the "door of death." Just wide enough for a coffin to pass through these openings were used exclusively for the purpose, in accordance with the belief that where death has once passed out, death can more easily pass in.

"LIVING ROOM" FOR NATIONS

Some enlightening statistics which are on the subject of comparative population density (more dramatically known in recent history as "living room for nations") come from the National Geographic Society. Of European states, it is pointed out, the greatest human concentration is found in the little principality of Monaco, with a population of some 24,000 people in an area of only 370 acres. Among the more "regular" sized nations, Belgium has more than 700 citizens to each square mile of territory. The Netherlands counts some 680, while the estimate for Great Britain is nearly 480 persons per square mile. In comparison with these figures, German and Italian populations in numerical terms at least—are less crowded. Germany, including acquisitions of territory, is credited with roughly 340 inhabitants to the square mile, Italy with 359. Incidentally, the absorption of Bohemia—Moravia by the German Reich added to rather than subtracted from German population density. For these former Czechoslovakian provinces were by far the most closely settled regions of that country, with an average density of over 357 people for each square mile.

THE ROMANS ATE SANDWICHES

The Earl of Sandwich, who usually gets credit as the inventor of the sandwich, merely revived interest in this food and gave it a modern name. "The Romans ate sandwiches," according to the National Geographic Society, centuries before the time of the English lord. They knew the delicacy under the name of offula, the diminutive form of offa, meaning a bit of morsel. Historians believe that the food form was introduced into England at the time of the Roman conquest.

WINCHESTER CYCLIST INJURED IN WOBURN

John J. Rafferty of 3 Spruce street was painfully injured last Saturday afternoon when he was knocked from the bicycle he was riding on Main street in Woburn by an automobile, driven by Harold E. Cady of 137 Bedford road, Woburn.

According to the Police account of the accident Mr. Rafferty said he was riding north on the right side of Main street and was struck by the automobile which was headed south and which had swerved to enter the driveway of the Sinclair Filling Station. The Winchester man was thrown over the front wheel of his cycle which was damaged in the collision.

A Red Cab Company driver, Henry Breen, took Mr. Rafferty to the Choate Memorial Hospital where he was treated for injuries to his right eye, nose and left knee. His glasses were broken and he was generally shaken up. After treatment by Dr. Daniel J. Joyce of Woburn, he was taken to the city line in a Woburn cruiser where he was met by Patrolman John J. Murray in Patrol 52 and taken to his home.

SUMMER REAL ESTATE SALES FAR EXCEED EXPECTATIONS OF LAST FIVE YEARS

Robert O. Rockwell, Jr., realtor of Medford and Winchester, reports several sales for the month of July and the first part of August.

Sales activity has increased considerably. Mr. Rockwell reports the increasing activity on the part of the public to buy that home of your own, and we are receiving many inquiries from individuals who realize that the market is now at its lowest point, and values are of the best. The general sales activity for the months of July and August are most unusual, being the best Mr. Rockwell has seen in the last five years, and this in spite of extreme weather conditions, makes certain the fact that the fall business will be even greater.

The two family home at 5-7 Lebanon street, Winchester, has been purchased by Pauline Cassari from the Conveyancers Title, Insurance and Mortgage Company. The Ruth C. Porter office in Winchester co-operated with this office in the transaction.

The two family residence at 9-11 Lebanon street, Winchester, has been purchased by Rose Propocia, from the Conveyancers Title, Insurance and Mortgage Company. Mr. Rockwell represented both parties with the co-operation of the Ruth C. Porter office in Winchester.

The beautiful home and grounds at 7 Warren street, Winchester, has been purchased by James R. Ware, from the Home Owners' Loan Corporation. This house is assessed at $10,900. The J. Vernon Jones office in Winchester co-operated with Robert O. Rockwell, Jr. in this transaction.

INJURED AS SMOKESTACK FELL

Two Winchester workmen, Bernard McGowan of Cross street and Paul Gange of Swanton street were slightly injured when a 60 foot smoke stack fell at the plant of the Porter Japanese Company on Webster street in Woburn at 12:30 Tuesday afternoon. The accident was caused by a heavy tank truck striking one of the guy wires that anchored the stack.

Groups of workmen on lunch hour were in the vicinity of the stack and several were injured by falling wires, electric light, telephone and guy wires, pulled down by the falling stack. Some of the workmen were blinded by the soot that poured from the big chimney and had to be worked on for some time before they were able to use their eyes again.

All those injured were given first aid at the plant and then taken to the office of a Woburn physician for treatment. None was said to be seriously hurt, though those who saw the accident believe it almost miraculous that such was the case. Gange sustained scrapes and bruises, and McGowan, injuries to his back.

W. C. T. U. NOTES

In response to a protest written to the Beech-Nut Packing Company in regard to one of their products called "Rummies" the following reply was very promptly returned. "We are happy to report to you that there is no rum, alcohol, or any intoxicating liquor in any Beech-Nut product.

We do not make a gum, the flavor in which in any way resembles rum. We do put out a candy called "Rummies," which, in the opinion of the writer, does not even taste like rum, but which is a pleasing flavor that has met with universal acceptance. Please be assured that we regard the goodwill toward this company too highly to jeopardize it by utilizing alcoholic liquors in the production of our products.

We are glad to have this opportunity to correct the impression which you have gained; and we appreciate your writing us."

This note was signed for the company by the secretary, Mr. G. W. Sharpe.

Isn't it encouraging in these days, when the liquor interests are doing everything in their power to inveigle young people to become drinkers, to have a huge company such as the Beech-Nut Company is take so high a standard as this letter shows?

SEVENTH STATE JOINS PETROLEUM SHUT-DOWN

An emergency order in Michigan has just brought about a partial stoppage of the State's oil field activity. Michigan is the seventh State to curtail production for a limited time in the current oil price crisis.

How the petroleum industry fits into the American economy is pictured in a report by a bulletin from the Washington, D. C. headquarters of the National Geographic Society. The temporary shut-down of oil production in seven States, if complete, would bottle up approximately 71 per cent of the United States' output of petroleum, the bulletin explains.

Texas Produces More Oil Than Any Foreign Nation

Furthermore, the wells affected by this shut-down ordinarily produce about forty-five per cent of the world's flow of petroleum. The States restricting production are Texas, Oklahoma, Louisiana, Kansas, New Mexico, Michigan and Arkansas (in the order of the volume of output). These include four of the leading oil States of the Nation, which in turn is by far the leading oil producer of the world. United States wells last year poured forth nearly a billion and a quarter barrels—six times the output of Soviet Russia, which ranked second, Texas alone, with more than 80,000 wells, accounts for about 14 per cent of the world's annual yield, more than any foreign nation.

The vast United States petroleum industry is a young one, dating from Col. Drake's striking oil in Pennsylvania just 80 years ago. But the industry now involves investments of some fifteen billion dollars, employees numbering three-quarters of a million, and innumerable consumers, not the least of whom are the drivers of America's 31 million motor vehicles (including trucks and tractors). Pennsylvania gave the oil business its start when prospectors began boring for oil from hand-dug wells, instead of skimming it off the surface of seepages. For nearly three decades, 98 per cent of the nation's oil came from Pennsylvania; now her percentage has dropped to 2. Texas, with 39 per cent, and California, with 17 per cent, now lead the oil parade. Twenty-one States have producing oil wells.

In the value of its varied and widely used products, petroleum ranks fourth among the industrial giants of the country (steel, automobiles, meat, petroleum. And it is necessarily the basis for the second-ranking industry, the automotive.

Explosives, Inks and Anaesthetics

From Petroleum By-Products
The driver who pulls into the filling station and casually gives the fill 'er up, is tapping an industry that reaches from coast to coast, from mile-deep oil wells through pipe lines, refineries, chemical laboratories, tank ships and cars, large central accounting offices, to the curbstone pump of vari-colored gasoline. Anyone who lights a kerosene lamp, buys an oil furnace, rides an airplane or a Diesel-powered passenger train, oils a squeaking hinge, crosses an asphalt-covered street, unwraps paraffin paper from a sandwich, or uses anything imported on an oil-burning boat, is taking advantage of the subterranean power pumped into circulation by the United States' extensive petroleum industry.

Press reports of a riot provoked by a Communist rally at San Antonio, Texas, last Saturday, where a "howling angry mob" . . . battled 200 policemen and firemen, recount the noteworthy fact that "a 14-year-old boy was arrested, but released." They evidently take their youth movement very seriously in San Antonio!

The good neighbor policy as illustrated by peace and prosperity: "The state board of arbitration has called for a conference in the strike of warehousemen against four grocery stores . . . State Police yesterday refused to furnish escorts for trucks as protection against roving pickets . . . In Attleboro a dozen men forced a driver from a truck, drove the machine a half mile, and then set it on fire, destroying it and its load of bread . . . Malden and Melrose Police chased a number of men who tried to dismantle a truck . . . Brookline Police provided guards yesterday after three large cartons of bread left for a store had been thrown into the street." How are you betting on the outcome of this strike?

"Some day I'm going to hire a truck!" How many times we have all heard some harassed motorist voice this sentiment as he indulges in a bit of pleasant day dreaming about the righteous retribution he would mete out to the ever increasing group of anti-social individuals who drive motor vehicles today. We admit freely and frankly that this thought has occurred to us at times. The truck we will hire will be big and heavy and not too stream-lined. With it we are going to keep right on going when those bright boys (and girls) in an outside lane cut to the left across our bows as we are about to turn right at the Police box in the center. Driving our own car, we want neither to cuff the machine of the motorist, who with his nose in the air is asking for it by driving deliberately in front of us, nor to strike the Police box and perhaps injure the officer on duty or (perish the thought) put the traffic signal system in the square out of commission. With that truck we are going to get we can let nature take its course, and perhaps teach the first-ay-away-from-the-line boys and girls that they really ought to be in the main street if they want to go south on Main street. A difficult lesson it would be to teach we will admit, because the type of driver who will cut off another deliberately doesn't like to stay in line. He (or she) just has to be as far forward as possible at the stop line, let the fenders fall where they may! Still, we do feel that our truck may help. It isn't going to be stream-lined, to be sure, and you will recall we are going to keep right on going. We are afraid the bright boy (or girl) who happens to be cutting us off, with or without the dirty look that generally goes with the operation, is going to get his feathers ruffled! And we won't have to settle or anything because there is generally a policeman at that particular corner and he of course will know that we are right!

It is interesting to the down-trodden layman of this great democracy to note the workings of some great minds. If you or I, in our lowly serfdom, should come forth with the great thought of changing the date of our Thanksgiving observance, we would be regarded with scorn and amusement. The mere suggestion would immediately relegate us to the proper position which has been assigned us by more lofty minds. We would immediately be assigned under a collection of new and snappy titles to the backwoods and the horse and buggy. But our great ruler advance this idea and what a shout of rejoicing goes up! His keen perception and forthright, it is pointed out by competent observers, is always on the alert to improve and protect the welfare of his subjects. The fact that no one even knew or imagined that our Christmas buying had to be done between Thanksgiving and the holiday date is wholly aside from the great thought, but since it is so announced, merchants . . . may now continue to dabble along until this designated period is reached. Of course in pre-New Deal days, no one gave a thought to the fact that Christmas purchases MUST be made between the two dates. One only bought his gifts during some period previous to Christmas. No doubt this scheme of buying between Thanksgiving and Christmas constitutes another great thought. It is hard to conceive how America was able, not only to exist, but to prosper, during a period devoid of such great and able minds. However, it now opens another opportunity for great minds to work. Something new in America to play with. The suggestion is well put that our July 4th observance should be changed to January. To our lowly mind the idea has great merit—even more than the Thanksgiving change, since probable snow would prevent great confagurations and mittens necessarily worn would eliminate burned fingers. No doubt other active minds among the economic royalists will advance well thought-out reasons for further changes in other outmoded American holidays. But alas and alack, someone is always ready to jump into the lime light with new ideas to save humanity. Of course the big fellows, those who see power and gain in these great minds so actively working day and night to uplift the masses, distribute the wealth and secure themselves in political office, hail our Thanksgiving change with delight, but the little fellow, the one who pays the bill and who is being sucked dry by taxes and foibles thought up by instant concentration or less than that, is now wondering what law he will now break if he dares to sell Christmas goods before Thanksgiving. Altogether it is a master stroke of thought. If we could only be brought to feel that the great minds will be content to hold alone this line and not slop over as they have been doing for the past seven years, what a relief it would be. It seems almost too much to hope for. But with these constant meeting of minds, strikes and shut-downs, the social security, and other great thoughts, some time, some how, the one great mind will meet the one great thought—and America will be saved. If manufacturers have not been benefited thus far, at least the retail merchants seem to be saved. Forward with great minds!

SOCRATES SAYS-

THE THIRD "FOUR-YEAR PLAN?"

In spite of courageous Anti-New Deal Democrats, supported by Republican Congressmen, President Roosevelt has obtained 13 billion dollars ($13,000,000,000) more to spend, the highest ever spent by the United States in any peace-time year. What happened to "the plan" of 1932?

If the New Dealers had their way, and it is their aim—they would spend the entire resources of the United States—then everyone would look to the Government for their bare necessities of life. When everyone looks to Government for their bare necessities you have "Socialism."

Let's not laugh this off—it is happening here! Opportunities to improve one's lot will never return under the New Deal centralized control. Get relief if you need it—yes, but keep the old order, unless you are ready for some kind of "Socialism" under some kind of a "third-four-year plan" through "peaceful revolution."

SALARY GRABS

The people of Massachusetts voted for the biennial session of their legislature for two principal reasons:

First—because they would be saved the expense of one year's salary of their legislature.

Second—because they would be saved so many foolish and useless laws. Many legislators are said to be furious because Governor Saltonstall vetoed their vote to increase their own salary. Every one of those legislators knew when they ran for office what the salary was, and that the people would favor biennial sessions, and why—yet they ran and accepted office. What was in their minds? Governor Saltonstall simply carried out the voted wish of the people.

It will prove to be poor political judgment for legislators to complain about this veto of Governor Saltonstall to their constituents, for even if some friend might feel like agreeing with them for "old time's sake," the answer will invariably be, even of jokingly—"You're not worth any more" and it will go the rounds.

The question was not how much was the 1939-1940 job worth; those legislators were already hired at a definite rate of wages. If they had wished to consider how much the 1941-1942 job was to be worth, they might have put it over—then the people in the 1940 election could have decided whether to have a $2,000 man or a $3,000 one.

That veto of Governor Saltonstall's will be enough to re-elect him, if he chooses to run again, and perhaps, together with the final analysis of his term, to an even higher office. Many a legislator may be defeated in 1940 because of his stand and vote on the Salary Grab Bill.

LEADERSHIP

A Democracy does not need, nor should it tolerate, a leader. A Monarchy, an Empire, Communism, Fascism, Nazism, have leaders. They are built around "one mind". A leader commands—you follow, or else.

In ancient China (500 B. C.) every New Deal theory was tried (The Book of Learning)—"oneness" it was called. The state was supreme—centralized government was the aim. Some professors have peeked—but they did not read to the end of the story—or else in their wisdom they believed that they could order society much better than did Confucianism—they have tried.

In a Democracy an elected office holder is a servant of the people, and is paid a salary by the people. He is ordered to only administer the laws as enacted by Congress—the direct representatives of the people. "Must legislation", ordered by any executive, smacks of leadership, the relics of royalty.

The people of the United States are facing 1940. The issue is very clear—it is centralized control (leadership by "oneness"); or government by exact laws as enacted by the people's Congress, to be administered as free from personal interpretations as real belief in the principles of Democracy should dictate.

As to the man to be chosen as chief executive, let there be no attempt to obtain leadership, let the attempt be to obtain an executive who will impartially administer the great office; one who will be guided in his administration by the success of our Democracy up to 1933, and not by the belief that America was poorly conceived without plan and had failed.

PRESIDENT HOOVER

There was and still is a dam, an enormous engineering accomplishment, named "The Hoover Dam," but New Dealers, in their fear of the real accomplishments of Herbert Hoover, changed the name, striving in every way and manner possible to destroy anything connected with his administration.

History will show that the only things finally accomplished by the New Deal were originated, suggested or started by Mr. Hoover. Most all the others will, or have proven to be "trials through error."

If further proof were needed that the New Dealers still fear Mr. Hoover, and still worry about his intellectual strength and integrity of purpose, let it can forever be settled by their lat-

TIMOR SERVES TWO MASTERS
When disasters such as the destructive storm of mid-May strike the Island of Timor, in the East Indies, telegraphic reports are rushed to the colonial offices of two European nations. For although Timor only 300 miles long and averages about 60 miles in width, it is owned by both Portugal and the Netherlands, points out a bulletin from the Washington, D. C., headquarters of the National Geographic Society.

The eastern part of the island and a tiny nick out of the western part, or about 7335 square miles, is Portuguese, continues the bulletin; the remainder, or about 5000 square miles is a part of the vast holdings of the Netherlands in the East.

Portuguese Were Early Settlers
Lying about 300 miles off the northwest coast of Australia, Timor until recent years, was just another of the Sunda Islands which form an arc making the northeastern extremity of the Indian Ocean. There was a Portuguese settlement on the coast a century before Capt. John Smith arrived at Jamestown; and the Dutch land on another part of Timor about the time of the famous Smith-Poehontas life-saving episode. But today the island shows few effects of long contact with the western world.

Aviation has thrust Timor into the spotlight. In 1934 it was reported that Great Britain wished to purchase the island for an air and naval base. In November 1938 it reached the news headlines when one of the three British airplanes which took off from Ismailia, Egypt, on the world's record non-stop flight to Australia, was forced down at Koepang because of fuel shortage.

Timor has only a few population centers large enough to be called towns. Koepang, capital and largest town of the Dutch portion of the island, has only 5500 inhabitants; Dili, chief town of the Portuguese portion, has only 3500 residents. The island is without railroads, and roads passable by automobiles are few beyond the borders of the towns. Steamships link the Timor ports with neighboring islands and continental harbors, bringing cotton goods, oil and wine, and taking away Timor coffee, copra, hides, cacao, shells, wax and sandalwood.

Timor natives are largely a racial mixture of Malayan, Polynesian and Papuan blood, and are divided into numerous tribes. Fighting among tribesmen is frequent. For this warfare bows and arrows are the weapons. Blow guns and small darts are used for hunting. The wardrobe of some native men is only a loin cloth; others wear two-piece cotton garments and turbans. The women adorn themselves in colorful sarongs and sarungutats, done up with elaborate instruments that often cause blood poisoning and death, is popular. Custom permits a tribesman to have as many wives as he desires.

For his large one-room house of wattle and thatched roof. At the front door of these abodes, and among the fruit trees and growing crops, palm leaves are placed in the belief that they keep away evil spirits.

THE SILESIAN DANGER SPOT
On Germany's "demand list" in central Europe, Poland's Silesian district is a minerals-rich region which has long been contested among nations.

According to the Polish section, located on her southwest border where German troops are reported concentrated, is only a small part of the entire Silesian area which has been partitioned time and again among various rival powers. Originally settled by Germanic and Slavic tribes, the Silesian region came under Polish domination in the late 10th century. Some 400 years later the independent dukedoms, which had grown out of many subdivisions, were united under the King of Bohemia.

Silesia was split between Prussia and Austria; while after the World War a new allocation of the territory divided Austria's share among Czechoslovakia and Poland, the remaining section of Germany's "Upper Silesia" being held for plebiscite. In 1921, following a German majority vote, civil war between Silesian Germans and Poles broke out, the Poles claiming individual districts which had voted for their side. Eventually, a League of Nations decision subdivided the area, giving the Germans the major geographic share, the Poles gaining in iron, coal, zinc and other resources, as well as in industrial plants. Since then, except for a few early years of comparative harmony, Upper Silesia, as a highly industrialized economic unit, has been divided against itself, both Poles and Germans engaging in rigorous nationalistic policies. The Polish section which Germany is now claiming has an area of 1628 square miles, with a population well over a million.

Mrs. Theodore Diszel of Fairview terrace has had as her house guest for the past few weeks her sister, Mrs. John J. Albert of Baltimore, Md.

Mr. William Allan Wilde of Edgehill road left Wednesday night to spend the week-end at his summer home in Dexter, Me., and incidentally return Mrs. Wilde and their family to Winchester for the winter.

Mrs. E. C. Mason of Grove street is spending a week at Ogunquit, Me., where she is registered at the Ontario Hotel.

Miss Katherine Conroy of Vineyard Haven, a teacher in the West Springfield public schools, is in Winchester as the guest of Miss Ann McKenzie of Hemingway street.

A big crew of men has been busy this week laying a granolithic sidewalk from the Texaco Station north of the center to the Winchester Theatre.

Fred A. Ewell of the Engineering Department of the town is now enjoying his annual vacation.

If you happen to see Officer James P. Donaghey of the Police Department walking a nice black spaniel, don't be alarmed. "Jim" hasn't become an animal trainer, but he has been caring for the dog which was taken to Headquarters as "safe keeping" and a spot of food after being found in a west side home, from which the family is absent.

Miss Bernice M. Branch, daughter of Mr. Fred J. Branch of 797 Main street, was given a miscellaneous shower Wednesday evening at her home by a large group of friends in honor of her approaching marriage to Daniel J. Sweeney of Woburn.

STRAND THEATRE, MALDEN

"Hells Kitchen," with the "Dead End" Kids, Margaret Lindsay, Ronald Reagan, Grant Mitchell and Stanley Fields as the players, will open at the Strand Theatre in Malden on Friday. "Hells Kitchen" presents the famous "Dead End" Kids as inmates of a private charitable institution for kids who have been problem children but who have not committed any acts of criminality as would put them in prison school. Stanley Fields a veteran of the underworld, who has been convicted of liquor smuggling but who has had the sentence suspended if he remains on his good behavior. When he is approached for a donation to the Hudson Home for Boys, he not only contributes, but goes there himself to help run the place, on the advice of his lawyer, played by Ronald Reagan. When he gets there he finds out from the boys that they are terribly abused by Grant Mitchell, head of the Home, who virtually starves them while he pockets the public contributions. A pretty teacher, played by Margaret Lindsay, helps to arouse his interests in the kids and with their help he establishes a new regime at the school, with the boys governing the school. But he is soon forced to flee from arrest as a result of a plot against him engineered by one of his former henchmen. Meanwhile conditions at the home go from bad to worse, climaxing in the death of one of the boys as a result of the sadistic cruelty of the head of the home. The other boys revolt and things look black for them until Fields faces arrest to testify in their behalf. "Hells Kitchen" is a rousing drama with action every minute.

"Stronger Than Desire," with a star cast including Walter Pidgeon, Virginia Bruce, Ann Dvorak, Ilka Chase and Rita Johnson, will be the second attraction on the bill starting today. "Stronger Than Desire" is a combination of happy married life, legal intrigue, a blackmail plot growing out of a flirtation, and a murder mystery with a photographic clew that provides something new in the unraveling of crime puzzles. Walter Pidgeon is cast as a lawyer whose wife, Virginia Bruce, suspects him of an affair with another woman. To get even she starts a flirtation of her own with dramatic and surprising results.

GRANADA THEATRE

"Andy Hardy Gets Spring Fever," the newest and in the minds of most critics the best of the Hardy pictures will open at the Granada Theatre in Malden on Friday. Lewis Stone is again cast as Judge Hardy and this time he gets involved in a crooked promotion stunt which threatens the savings of the Hardys as well as their friends. Mickey Rooney as Andy Hardy quarrels with his girl, Ann Rutherford, and promptly falls in love with the school dramatic teacher, a role played by Helen Gilbert, a newcomer to the screen. To win the esteem of his teacher Andy writes the play for his class show and wins the leading role in the production. The young teacher in a moment of loneliness listens to Andy's boyish declarations of love and finds herself being asked in marriage by the youth. The Judge, despite his own worries, tries to talk Andy out of his infatuation but the lad refuses to listen. Finally, on the day of the play, the Judge turns a trick which saves all the money collected by the promoters. Then Andy's dream castle comes crashing down when he discovers that his teacher is engaged to some one else. Then, Mickey, realizes that Polly is the only girl for him after all. Others in the cast are Cecelia Parker, Sara Haden, Fay Holden and Terry Kilburn.

"They All Come Out," with Rita Johnson, Tom Neal, Edward Gargan and Bernard Nedell as the players, will be the second attraction on the bill starting Friday. Showing for the first time on the screen actual views of the famous Alcatraz Island, "They All Come Out" presents a film audiences a dynamite-packed drama of prison life and hitherto hushed secrets of the underworld. Filmed with the co-operation of the United States Department of Justice, the new picture unfolds a gripping story based on actual case histories from the time a prisoner enters one of the nation's institutions, is transferred to the prison for which he is best suited, and where he can do the best work, until the time he comes out. Rita Johnson and Tom Neal provide the romance of the film as a young couple who get caught in the toils of the law.

Commissioner George L. Carpenter of Canada. Newly elected general of The Salvation Army world doings

UNIVERSITY THEATRE

An hilariously conclusive proof that "Good Girls Go to Paris," is said to be provided by Melvyn Douglas and Joan Blondell in the new comedy coming to the University on Sunday. Hailed at one of the gayest laugh romances of the season, "Good Girls Go to Paris" is the second co-starring venture of the comedy team which made last season's "There's Always a Woman" so delightful. Miss Blondell is seen in the new film as the prototype of many American girls, in that she wants to go to Paris. Miss Blondell, on the other hand, chooses a delightfully unorthodox method of attaining her ambition. She becomes a waitress in a college town tea room, hoping to find a rich college lad whose father will provide the financial backing for her trip by "persuading" her to "forget" the boy. Unfortunately, in addition to this tendency toward gold-digging, the petite, pert waitress suffers from the outstanding quality which prevents her from actually accepting money in order to "forget."

Two comedy veterans of stage and screen, Leon Errol and Raymond Hatton, provide the comedy relief in the vital photo-drama of small town life, "Career" the companion feature, in which Anne Shirley and Edward Ellis are featured.

On Wednesday, Review Day, the program includes the Firefly, co-starring Jeanette MacDonald and Allan Jones and "Bulldog Drummond's Revenge" featuring John Howard, John Barrymore and E. E. Cline.

Irving Berlin's new songs, Sonja Henie's sunny brilliance, Tyrone Power's gay romancing, Rudy Vallee's singing and Edna May Oliver's fun, one of the greatest combinations of talent ever gathered for one show is making Irving Berlin's "Second Fiddle" the sensation of the preview critics who have lavished on the film a chorus of praise. It's something new in screen entertainment, this film which will open Thursday, and it's filled with romance, dazzling spectacle, fresh comedy, six new Berlin songs and surprises galore, including sensational tangos on ice, snow rhumbas, ice ballets, and the new ballroom dance craze, the "Back to Back."

The romantic conflict between a little Mexican spitfire and a New York society girl over the affections of a staid advertising executive, makes for many laugh-provoking complications in "The Girl from Mexico" the associate film, starring Lupe Velez and Donald Woods.

SUNDAY DINNER SUGGESTIONS

For the last big summer week-end there are ample supplies of food at low prices. Turkeys, hams, chickens, beef and lamb roasts are all comparatively inexpensive. Butter and egg prices remain at a low level.

The vegetable markets offer not only the especially seasonable corn, tomatoes and lima beans, but generous supplies of green vegetables, squash, eggplant, cucumbers, beets, carrots, onions, turnip and sweet and white potatoes. All salad greens but iceberg lettuce are inexpensive.

Peaches are plentiful and cheap, the outstanding seasonal fruit, but melons, blueberries, apples, bananas, plums and fresh prunes are all available. Oranges, lemons and limes are very reasonable in price.

LANDLORD PANAMA REVISES UNITED STATES RENT FOR 25-YEAR-OLD CANAL ZONE

An obsolete steamship, on her way into discard, sailed through the Panama Canal recently, to the accompaniment of cheers, cameras, official speeches, and military honors. For she was the historic Ancon celebrating her epoch-making trip just 25 years before—the first commercial ship to sail through the Panama Canal, on Aug. 15, 1914.

The widely observed 25th anniversary of the Panama Canal's opening follows closely on the ratification of a new treaty between Panama and the United States, points out a bulletin from the Washington, D. C., headquarters of the National Geographic Society. This treaty modifies agreements concluded in 1903 and 1904 between the United States and the year-old republic which had just broken away from Colombia. The new arrangements provide for the building of a third set of locks on the Canal, a new air field, and a military highway through the ten-mile-wide strip of the Canal Zone.

Ship Toll Gives U. S. a 3 Per Cent Return on Canal Investment

From the point of view of Panama, however, a most important development of the 1939 treaty is the new high rent which the United States agrees to pay for canal rights through the country—$430,000 a year in present currency instead of the $250,000 in gold stipulated in the earlier treaty. This amounts to more than four per cent of Panama's total income.

Rent, construction, operation, and maintenance of the Panama Canal have cost the United States a net amount of $507,966,408. Expenses have included an initial payment of ten million dollars to Panama, 40 million dollars to the French company which had spent 12 fruitless years trying to build the canal, and 25 million dollars to Colombia, with whom the United States had been negotiating for canal rights before Panama asserted her independence.

from the mother republic to the south. In addition, annual rental fees of $250,000 in gold to Panama began nine years after the 1904 treaty with the United States.

Revenues which the United States has received for tolls since the opening of the Canal to commercial traffic in 1914 have totaled $429,355,826. The tolls levied on the 5,524 ships passing through the Canal in the 1937-38 fiscal year amounted to $23,215,192. After the payment of operating expenses for that year, the net revenue produced a return of nearly three per cent on the net investment.

About a third of the vessels using the Canal are registered in the United States. Of the remaining 68 per cent which fly foreign flags, somewhat less than half are British.

A Good Customer of U. S.

The area of the Canal Zone is a little less than 553 square miles, so that the annual payment of $430,000 amounts to a rental of about $1.21 a year for each acre. The total other revenue of the Republic of Panama, last year, was about nine and a half million dollars, which pro-rated against the remaining area of 31,830 square miles is approximately 47 cents an acre per year. More than half of the country is unoccupied. The expenses of the Panamanian Government are small, since Panama maintains no standing army or navy. The national police force charged with law enforcement in an area about equal to that of the State of Maine numbers 115 officers and 1350 men.

Panama last year imported more than $10,000,000 worth of goods from the United States—more than half of the country's total imports. The United States buys most of the country's bananas, Panama's principal export crop. Other exports are cocoa, coconuts, ivory nuts, and some hides and turtle shells. Most of the coffee produced is consumed within the country; a little sugar is grown and also some rubber.

Sun glasses and "over-specs." Three styles to choose from. 25c and 39c at the Star Office.

Published by the Winchester Board of Health

The bacteria count in this chart gives the number of bacteria found in one c. c. taken from the center of the sample after it had been well shaken. It should be remembered that another c. c. taken from the same sample might give a somewhat different count, but the difference would rarely, if ever, exceed 10 per cent.

PLAYGROUND NOTES

Our annual Field Day took place last Friday morning and afternoon on the Loring avenue playground thus climaxing a full summer schedule of activities. In the morning the championship of the Junior League was decided when the Elks defeated the Cardinals in an unexpected upset by a score of 13-11. These Elks, managed by James Joyce, have won the league title twice in four years. A soft ball team from Leonard Field defeated a group from Loring avenue 8-7 in a well-played game. Anna Murray was the big star for the winners getting a home run, a triple and a double. In the afternoon a series of events took place before a gathering of 300 spectators. The events and winners are as follows: Merry-Go-Round-Spin, 1, Randall Kelly; 2, Bernard Callahan. Pet Show, all firsts, Faye Zamanakos, Tessie Logue, M. McDonald, Francis Kelley, Stanley Belsie. Balloon race, 1, Robert Joyce; 2, Carl DeFilippo. Sack race (Loring avenue girls) 1, May Cullen; 2, Doris McKee. Sack race (Leonard Field girls) 1, Anna Gambino; 2, Joan Migliacci. Sack race (Loring avenue boys) 1, James Luongo; 2, Charles McClellan. Sack race (Leonard Field boys) 1, Ignatius Asaro; 2, Leslie Bourinot. Doughnut eating contest, 1, Mary Cullen; 2, Marjorie Kelly. Dodge Ball, 1, Anna Gambino; 2, Myrna Zamanakos. Watermelon contest, 1, Pauline Bourinot; 2, Angelina Grazano. Blueberry pie contest, 1, Michael Gambino; 2, Charles McClellan. Bicycle race, 1, James Luongo; 2, Bob Collins. Tennis trials, 1, Jack O'Brien; 2, P. Bourinot; 3, Tom Connolly; 4, Edith Haggerty.

Prizes for the various events were awarded, and the giving of these prizes was made possible because of the splendid work of Mrs. John Morgan, who held a house party at her home. We are all indeed grateful to her and her friends who showed their interest in the playground in such a specific way.

Another of our good citizens who has shown his interest in our work is Mr. Roland Carter, manager of the Winchester Theatre. He has been most generous in allowing a selected group of children the privilege of attending the various Saturday afternoon shows as his guests.

We also wish to express our appreciation to the editor of the Winchester Star for the use of his columns during the summer thus enabling us to keep the townspeople informed of the various activities that are carried on, on the playgrounds.

We bring the summer recreation work to a close with a feeling of great satisfaction knowing that the season has been replete with good work and that our children have ever have availed themselves of the opportunities for supervised play not only on the playgrounds but also at our two splendidly supervised beaches. The girls and young women have also accomplished excellent work as shown by the exhibition of their work held at Loring avenue on Friday afternoon.

O. E. S.

The Round About Club will meet at the home of Sister Madora C. De-roo, W. M., 36 Lebanon street at 10 o'clock Thursday, Sept. 21. Basket luncheon.

MILLIONAIRES AND CUBS TIE

MILLIONAIRES LOSE AT PLYMOUTH

On Sunday afternoon at Plymouth the Millionaires were nosed out by the Plymouth Town Team, 8-7. "Bob" Lee got away to a poor start giving up eight hits and the Plymouth aggregation registered six of their eight runs. From this point, he allowed only five more hits and two more runs. His mates in the meantime made a valiant effort to overtake the home team and in the last frame had the tying and winning tallies on the paths when the opposition killed the threat with a snappy double play.

Ferazzi with a double and two singles was the big stick for the winners while "Albie" MacDonald and Lee each delivered a brace of safeties for the Winchesterites, one of the former's being a two fly pop. The summary:

MERROW SCORES TRIPLE VICTORY IN WEEK-END SNIPE RACES

Winchester Swamps Medford in Labor Day Splash Regatta

By Teiltale

There were hard-fought naval engagements on the Mystic Lakes throughout the past week-end but they were waged in the interest of good clean fun and healthful recreation. The only weapons were whisks and single blade paddles and the most serious casualties were severe injuries to dignity inflicted by the well-padded ends of tilting lances. In other words, the Snipe sailors and racing canoeists at the Winchester Boat Club enjoyed another pleasant if somewhat strenuous week-end.

In the sailing department, "Dickie" Merrow, top ranking Snipe sailor, proved the invincibility of "Don't Duck" by walking off with first place honors in all three of the week-end races. Among the canoeists, "Jim" Fitch gathered an armful of wins and firsts in the Winchester-Medford Splash Regatta to score a walk-away triumph for the local boat club. In the annual series of races for the coveted "Cellar Yacht Club" trophy, the real fight occurred in a three way protest meeting which finally proved the classically designed, expertly engraved cup in the hands of "Tod" Blanchard.

Results of the three official Snipe races are as follows:

Saturday		Skipper
Boat	Don't Duck	Merrow
1	Allegro	Reeves
2	Salome	Simonds
3	Wave-It	Simonds
4	Tee Bees	Burleigh
5	Peanut	La Croix
6	Booka	Pyne
7	Dunlin	Blanchard
8	Trubble	Cunningham
9	Rondie	Hall
10	By George	Wissell
11	Sans Fear	Puffer
12	First Fish	Croughwell

* Disqualified
Sunday morning's race was called off for lack of wind after 90 minutes of sailing and re-raced in the afternoon with the following results:

Sunday		Skipper
Boat	Don't Duck	Merrow
1	Peanut	Croughwell
2	Sans Fear	Sprague
3	Wave-It	Simonds

Regatta Splashes

Highlight of the Monday afternoon series of canoe races was a stirring contest intended to prove the supremacy of youth over age. The contest was inspired by "Stan" Puffer, captain of the "Puffer's Puffed Wheaties," who hurled a challenge at the "Weenie Wursts" to meet them in a single blade race in four-man cedar shells. The challenger, however, was a victim of the ravages of a pre-holiday celebration and failed to report for the race. Instead, Phil Newman captained the "Puffed Wheaties" with Thomas "Morton Downey" Bowler, "Red" Irving and Frank Cheney at one, two and three positions. The "Weenie Wursts" were Fred Fish, bow; "Jim" Fitch, No. 2; Ned Bean, No. 3; "Weenie" Pratt, captain. The "Four Old Men" whose venerable ages probably average no more than 35, won the race by the scant margin of 13 inches amid the creaking of joints and thunderous applause.

In the single-blade canvas-covered canoe race, "Jim" Fitch took first position with Phil Newman and "Red" Irving chalking up second and third for Winchester. "Jim" literally won this race "standing up" by abandoning the conventional kneeling posture and actually standing up erect throughout the race.

In the tandem hand paddle event "Jim" Fitch paired with Phil Newman beat out the teams of Irving and Neilson and Oxnard and Black. In this contest the contestants were required to cover the course using their hands instead of paddles.

Again it was "Jim" Fitch who crossed the line first in the tricky "tail end" race in which the paddlers sit in the very stern of the canoe and, from a wrong-way start, come about and race for the finish line. Oxnard and Conrad provided the competition.

Also, Fitch out-jumped Cheney and Dumas in a gunwale-jumping contest, helped Russell, Locke and Pratt win the "standing four" race and shared the credit with Locke for winning the "rescue" race. The other entries in the "standing four" race capsized. In the "rescue" race, one of the partners is required to race from the starting line, pick up both his partner and his canoe which has been overturned and return with both aboard.

Credit for winning the tilting match which features in nearly every splash regatta also went to Winchester when Locke and Russell dunked Preston and Dumas of Medford.

PROVE TO YOURSELF THAT SUPERTEST IS A SUPERIOR
MILK AT GRADE "A" PRICE

Supertest Grade "A" Milk is the superior Milk at a popular price. When Hood's introduced Supertest Grade "A" a year ago, you were promised higher standards—a finer, nutritious Milk with superior flavor and year-round uniformly high quality.

Today, backed by numerous tests, we are proud to say that this Milk has not only met every one of those standards—but surpassed them!

7 REASONS WHY SUPERTEST GRADE "A" EXCEEDS GRADE "A" STANDARDS

1 MORE CAREFULLY SELECTED FARMS. Only Dairy Farms that meet the rigid requirements established by the Super-test Council are selected for production of Supertest Grade "A" Milk.

2 MORE FREQUENTLY TESTED COWS. A competent staff of graduate Veterinarians makes frequent examinations of Supertest Herds.

3 MORE APPETIZING FLAVOR. The flavor of Milk is greatly affected by the cows' feed. Supertest production methods include careful regulation of the cows' rations and feeding.

4 MORE CAREFULLY PASTEURIZED. Improved Methods and Equipment safeguard the purity and country-fresh flavor of Supertest Grade "A".

5 MORE RIGIDLY SAFE-GUARDED. Supertest milking pools, containers, pasteurizing and bottling equipment are sterilized each time before they are used, and in addition Supertest Grade "A" comes to you in an exclusive bottle, doubly protected by the Hood seal tamper proof cap.

6 MORE INTENSIVE LABORATORY CONTROL. In addition to the excellent supervision maintained by local health authorities, constant vigilance over every step of production is maintained by Hood's own corps of Laboratory Experts.

7 REQUIREMENTS ENFORCED BY THE SUPERTEST COUNCIL. Before any Milk can qualify as Supertest Grade "A", it must have the approval of Hood's Supertest Council... Your year-round guarantee of quality you can taste.

HORSESHOES AGAIN

To the Editor of the Star:
Friends of our local newspaperman, James Pennington, now on a well earned vacation, need not be surprised if he answers to be walking along in a sort of daze, as there is a reason for his so doing.

"Jim" in his position of Secretary and Treasurer of the Palmer Beach Horseshoe Association is one of its most enthusiastic members, looking forward each week to the contests with a great deal of pleasure. Probably no other member takes the games quite as seriously as he, and the day is perfect when he gets his share of ringers, and doubly perfect when he is able to give the "works" to his opponents.

The one desire and height of ambition of any player is to be faced with the problem of throwing against an opponent who has thrown two shoes around the stake, and to be able to offset these two ringers by throwing on two more. In our few seasons of play our members have very often been able to get the third shoe on the stake, but the fourth is the big problem, as there is a lot of iron around the stake, and even with a good throw, the shoe is either stopped by one of the others, or bounces off as it lands.

During the contests last Saturday "Jim" was throwing against the club champion, Stanley Willsborough Mobbs, who succeeded in putting both of his shoes on the stake. "Jim" took plenty of time and threw one shoe which took its place with the others around the stake. With still greater care the remaining one was thrown, and fairly and squarely it was a perfect ringer, canceling his opponents shots, and putting himself in the unusual position of doing the almost impossible.

It hasn't been decided yet as to who was the most surprised, "Jim" or the other members.

W. C. T. U. NOTES

There will be a centenary meeting at 2:30 p. m. on Friday, Sept. 15, in the First Baptist Church. We are nearing the end of our five-year campaign for the Million-Dollar Fund for Alcohol Education. Please bring or send your Centenary contributions which should go to Boston headquarters as soon as possible. We would like to have Massachusetts raise her full quota, $24,000. National has passed the $700,000 mark, but it will take a big pull all together with outside help to reach that goal of $1,000,000 before Sept. 30. National is thankful for gifts already received from friends outside the Union in the last five years.

BUILDING PERMITS GRANTED

The Building Commissioner has issued permits for the erection and alterations on the property owned by the following for week ending Thursday, Sept. 7:

Frank K. Valley, Winchester—new metal garage at 2 Elm street.

Conrad Hermann, Woburn—new dwelling and garage at 10 Wolcott road.

William A. and Susan W. Hodze, Winchester—wreck and remove present metal garage and erect new metal garage, 107 Mt. Vernon street.

Three reshingle permits to dwellings.

The largest building on the Cape, Exchange Hall, is located in Harwich.

FROM HENRY GEORGE CENTENARY

To the Editor of the Star:
The writer having just returned from the International Conference celebrating the Henry George Centenary, Hotel Commodore, New York City, ending Sept. 2, wishes to pass on some of the good things enjoyed there.

This conference was sponsored by the International Union for Land Value Taxation and Free Trade, Henry George Foundation of America and the Henry George School of Social Science of New York City. It was attended by delegates from not only the United States and Canada but from England, Denmark, Germany, France, South Africa, Australia, and Alaska.

Happily we all read for delegates who could not reach America from Hungary, Bulgaria, New Zealand and Germany. This but illustrates how far flung is the recognition accorded to the thesis of Henry George that equal freedom of opportunity to use and enjoy the bounty of nature is a right built into the nature and character of mankind by the Creator and that when this right is impaired it is by man-made interference.

That the recognition of Henry George's thesis is not a fad but is rooted in the best of human nature was shown at every session. May I quote from the address of Mr. A. C. Campbell (Ottawa, Canada) who spoke in the morning session, Thursday, Aug. 31. "In the 60 years since 'Progress and Poverty' was issued, there has come to the world poverty so widespread and so intolerable that some governments spend unthinkable sums to save its victims, while other governments plan to carry on war and so restore the rule of scarcity by destroying both wealth and those who would make wealth. Our civilization is in a delirium, the result of its own mistaking. There is one sovereign cure. It is to realize the fact of present and future abundance of supply for all; and in that comforting knowledge to guide individual conduct and the operation of public services and institutions in accord with the weightier matters of the moral law—justice, mercy and faith."

May I also quote Mr. Bue Bjorner who spoke at the morning session Wednesday, Aug. 30. "A world of people are waiting, who desire to convert their longings for peace, security and prosperity into a practical program of economic adjustment. Certainly: the future is ours. For in the inspired teachings of Henry George we find the practical program of economic adjustment that will not only secure a material prosperity in proportion to the existing power of production, and secure political peace as well, but will—by removing fear and insecurity—make possible a spiritual emancipation that we feel the world needs and desires today above anything else."

As during the closing hours of the gathering, the international situation grew more and more tense it was impressive to see among the representatives of so many nations the growing ground swell of determination that no matter where they lived, the great blessings taken from the peoples of totalitarian states—free speech, free press and free radio—should not be lost nor abridged. Even more, that their effectiveness be multiplied through leading more and more of the men of "Main Street" to a clearer understanding of what a free press and free radio presents of news and comment, through training in the fundamentals of social living. A wise man long ago said "The ear trieth words as the tongue tasteth meat." Enjoyment of the privileges of liberty and free institutions is not enough. There must be discrimination. This is possible only through the use of reason and understanding by all, even though opportunities for the advancement of the social sciences may have been limited.

Among the many agencies arousing social consciousness a very important one is the Henry George School of Social Science, a co-sponsor of the Centenary in New York City where the school ce-

A distinctive service always attended by a capable staff
to serve your best interests.

opies its own building at 30 East 29th street, but through extension classes all over the country. It is strictly an educational institution taking no part in political activity anywhere. In fact its charter granted by the Board of Regents of New York specifically forbids any entry into "politics." There are several such extension classes in Greater Boston (including Winchester) and it is a privilege to be associated with a work so vital to the successful operation of democratic institutions.

May I quote Henry George. "Social reform is not to be secured by noise and shouting; by complaints and denunciations; by formation of parties, or the making of revolutions; but by the awakening of thought and the progress of ideas. Until there be correct thought, there can not be right action; and when there is correct thought, right action will follow."

ITALIAN- FRENCH ALPS PROB- ABLE SITE OF NEW MAGNOT SEIGFRIED LINES

France has her Magnot Line; Germany her Limes (or "Siegfried") Line. Will Italy too have a great chain of fortifications where her western border meets France? And will still another line of French fortifications spring up to face those of Italy?

As the crow (or the aviator) flies, the trip from the southwest tip of Switzerland to the sea is about 150 miles long, says a bulletin from the National Geographic Society headquarters at Washington, D. C. Following the tortuous route of the actual border, however, it curves and twists along French and Italian Alps, the distance is roughly 300 miles. This stretch is the only spot in Europe where French and Italian frontiers meet.

Ski Soldiers "Fly Through the Air" On both sides of the line, men with forts, pillboxes, and barbed wire—guard their borders. Alpine troops, including the French Chasseurs and the Italian Bersaglieri, are trained and equipped for the peculiar and exacting duty of mountain operations. Skilled skiers, they learn the "tricks of the trade," how to meet constant danger from Nature in a land of glaciers, hidden crevices, and avalanches; how to conceal themselves from the enemy; and how to shoot to the best advantage in their special field of action.

They learn to balance themselves on steep, while carrying arms and heavy packs. By constant practice, these mountain soldiers become adept at jumps and racing, performing "stunts" on the ice and snow as spectacular as the flyer's tricks in the air.

During the World War, when ski fighters were first used on a large scale, the Italian forces saw considerable Alpine service in the east. Then France was Italy's ally.

Today, it may be recalled that it was from the west somewhere in this region, that Hannibal marched against Rome 200 years before Christ. In modern times railways and good motor roads cross the western Alps at various points on the way from the giant ice-capped peaks of the Swiss border to the sunny Riviera of the Mediterranean. One of the earliest Alpine tunnels—Mont Cenis—pierces solid rock for eight miles in the route between Modane in France and Bardonecchia in Italy.

Reports indicate that today strategic road-building in this part of the world is going on at an accelerated rate on both sides of the French-Italian border.

READING THEATRE

Starting Sunday the Reading Theatre will proudly present one of the finest double feature programs of the year. The first feature will be "Daughters Courageous" starring the Lane sisters, Gale Page, Claud Rains and John Garfield. "Daughters Courageous" is a story of four girls, of their loves, their heartbreaks, and their joys. It is a picture both young and old will enjoy.

The second feature will be "Calling Dr. Kildare," the second of the "Dr. Kildare" series, starring Lew Ayres and Lionel Barrymore. If you enjoyed the first of this series, you should not miss seeing "Calling Dr. Kildare."

All the better pictures of the year will be shown at the Reading Theatre in the next few months. Be sure to attend.

Drive in comfort. Protect your eyes from glare with sun glasses and "over-specs." Several styles. See them at the Star Office.

DISTINGUISHED SCIENTISTS TO BE MEMBERS OF EXPEDI- TION TO PACIFIC ISLANDS

Several distinguished scientists will be members of the year-long expedition to islands of the South Pacific Ocean in search of scientific information about the earth's greatest basin, the personnel of which was announced here today by the National Geographic Society and the University of Washington. The expedition under the auspices of the (National Geographic) Society and the University of Washington will make studies of the U. S. Coast Guard, will sail from San Francisco shortly after the middle of September on board the U. S. Coast Guard cutter Hamilton, a 328-foot vessel.

To Seek Geological and Geophysical Information

Leader of the expedition and in charge of its geological work is Prof. Wilbur A. Nelson of the University of Virginia. Dr. C. S. Pigot, geophysicist of the Carnegie Institution of Washington will make studies from cores of mud taken from the ocean bottom. Prof. Maurice Ewing, geophysicist of Lehigh University, will carry on gravity investigations at sea and will make special studies by means of artificial earthquakes produced by explosions on the ocean floor. Lieut. A. J. Hoskinson, geophysicist of the U. S. Coast Guard and Geodetic Survey, will measure gravity on land. Dr. J. W. Green, geophysicist of the Department of Terrestrial Magnetism of the Carnegie Institution of Washington will conduct magnetic investigations, and Dr. Waldo L. Schmitt, marine biologist of the Smithsonian Institution will make studies of sea life. Dr. Schmitt accompanied President Roosevelt on his cruise in the Caribbean in the summer of 1928, and discovered several new species of fish.

Other members of the expedition are F. Barrows Colton, science writer of the National Geographic Society and R. H. Stewart, staff photographer of the Society, both of Washington; Jon M. Larson, of Princeton, N. J., radio engineer of the National Broadcasting Company; and the following assistants to the senior scientists: R. M. Maddex and George T. Nelson of Charlottesville, Va.; Leslie Manning of Baltimore, Md.; Charles R. Smoot of Washington, D. C.; A. C. Vine of Garrettsville, Ohio; E. G. Uhl of Elizabeth, N. J.; J. L. Worzel of Staten Island, N. Y.; and O. Roy McClunin of Washington, D. C. Leon J. Canova, 2nd, of Washington is expedition secretary.

In addition to the 18 members of the expedition, the Hamilton, under the command of Capt. Stephen S. Ford, will be manned by a crew of 110. The ship will cover a vast island-studded area of the central and south Pacific extending 5000 miles in an east-west direction, and 2500 miles north-and-south. Landings will be made on scores of islands in order to establish bases for instrumental observations.

A curious natural wonder listed in Medford is a cedar tree, 15 feet tall, about 400 years old, growing out of a solid boulder.

The New England Museum of Natural History, Boston, boasts an 85 pound wahoo, caught in tropical waters, a near-record size specimen.

Massachusetts produces two thirds as many rubber boots and shoes as all other states in the Union put together and it pays the highest average wages.

POLAND CELEBRATES PLACE ON LONG-CONTESTED
BAL TIC

Poland's doorway to the Baltic Sea is less than 50 miles across; but it is an entrance for which Poland maintains a permanent "open-door policy." Such was the emphasis behind the recent celebration of Polish Navy Week, when pretty girls floated flowers and traders of many lands in a gesture symbolizing the union between land and sea.

Poland has observed an annual Sea Festival for seven years, points out a bulletin from the Washington, D. C., headquarters of the National Geographic Society. It commemorates the World War incident when Polish armies fought their way to the Baltic and their leader tossed his ring into the water to seal the wedding between Poland and the sea. To patriotic Poles, these ceremonies represent the old slogan, "Without the sea and the seacoast, there is no Poland."

As an international highway, the Baltic has seen the ships of warriors, pirates, and traders of many lands. From this part of the world, more than 1000 years ago, Vikings sailed their war galleys westward, to conquer much of England, France, Iceland, even to touch far-off North America. Others, sailing east, established trading posts from one end of the Baltic to the other. Building up a thriving business in furs, amber, wax and slaves, they earned, in time, the nickname "Phoenicians of the Baltic."

During the Middle Ages, the old Viking routes became the sea lanes of the Teutons, who inherited the rich Baltic trade and eventually formed the rich and powerful Hanseatic League. The league was composed of a number of north European trading towns, organized to improve business rates as well as for mutual co-operation against the hazards of the sea itself.

Sunday Services and Sunday School 10:45 A. M.

Wednesday testimonial meeting, 7:45 P. M. Reading room, 5 Winchester Terrace off Thompson street. Open daily 11 A. M. to 5 P. M., except Sundays and holidays.

"Substance" is the subject of the Lesson. Sermon which will be read in Churches of Christ, Scientist, throughout the world, on Sunday, Sept. 10.

The Good Text is: "Labour not for the meat which perisheth, but for that meat which endureth unto everlasting life, which the Son of man shall give: for him hath God the Father sealed" (John 6:27).

Among the citations which comprise the Lesson, the following is taken from the Bible: "Now faith is the substance of things hoped for, the evidence of things not seen."

Through faith we understand that the things were framed by the word of God, so that things which are not seen were made of things which do appear" (Hebrews 11:1, 3).

The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science text: "Science of Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "All substance, intelligence, wisdom, being, immortality, consist and are based upon God. These are His attributes, the eternal manifestations of the infinite divine Principle, Love. No wisdom is wise but His Wisdom; no truth is true, no love is lovely, no life is Life but the divine, no good is good, but the good God bestows" (p. 275).

Regular services will be resumed Sunday, Sept. 10.

Public service of worship at 10:45 A. M. Mr. Reed will preach on the subject: "Looking Life in the Face," a sermon for the Sunday of a Church year, when all the nations are bewildered.

The fall term of all departments of the Church School, and the Musical Union will begin Sunday, Sept. 24.

Prizes went to home-made cloth of cotton and silk, "the silk to be derived from articles which have been worn out as gloves, umbrellas, etc."

Also for the best blanket, flannel, ball of yarn; and, "to that family in said county who shall prove that to a given number of female children the most are good spinners, the next largest fleece."

On May 10, 1809, the Columbian Agricultural Society of Washington, D. C., held its first gathering at the Union Hotel in Georgetown, in addition to sheep and cattle were domestic fabrics, hosiery, crapping, blankets, kerseymeres; "some specimens of diaper, bed ticking, and cotton bagging were particularly admired as equal to any imported."

"COUNTY FAIR" BEGAN EARLY IN U. S. HISTORY

Announcements of approaching state and county fairs call attention to the early origin of a movement which in its heyday saw nearly 3000 fairs held annually throughout the United States.

The distinction of holding the first agricultural fair in the United States was claimed for Pittsfield, Mass., where one was held in 1810 by the Berkshire Agricultural Society, according to a bulletin from the Washington, D. C., headquarters of the National Geographic Society.

Department of Agriculture officials have credited the movement to Dr. William Thornton, a designer of the national Capitol and first commissioner of patents. In 1804 he suggested the value of fairs and markets.

In the fall of that year a fair was held in Washington, "on the Mall on the south side of the Tiber extending from the bridge at the Center Market to the Potomac."

Prizes for Best Animals

The city government appropriated $50 for premiums and the citizens subscribed an equal amount. It was a fair in that prizes were awarded for the best lamb, sheep, steer, milk cow, jack, ox and horse; it partook of the nature of a market in that the awards were made only to animals actually sold. Only three of these market fairs were held.

Another suggestion attributes the start of fairs in America to the "sheep shearing," the annual convention for promoting agriculture and the wool industry sponsored by George Washington Parke Custis.

They were held for a dozen years on his estate across the Potomac from the capital, near the Arlington National Cemetery. Here on April 30, 1809 prizes were awarded the best "tup-lamb" (ram) and the best pair of ewes. Also to "the man, being a native American, who shall clip a fleece in the shortest time and best style, by clipping after the English fashion, $5.00."

Early Home Industries

The nationalistic spirit of the time also is apparent in the awards for manufactures. There was a $20.00 prize "for the national military dress, or uniform of Morgan's riflemen."

Also the largest prize was awarded "to that family in the county of Alexandria who shall make it appear that they have made the greatest quantity of wearing apparel of domestic manufacture, and used the least of foreign importations."

Prizes went to home-made cloth of cotton and silk, "the silk to be derived from articles which have been worn out as gloves, umbrellas, etc."

Also for the best blanket, flannel, ball of yarn; and, "to that family in said county who shall prove that to a given number of female children the most are good spinners, the next largest fleece."

On May 10, 1809, the Columbian Agricultural Society of Washington, D. C., held its first gathering at the Union Hotel in Georgetown, in addition to sheep and cattle were domestic fabrics, hosiery, crapping, blankets, kerseymeres; "some specimens of diaper, bed ticking, and cotton bagging were particularly admired as equal to any imported."

LEGION NOTES

The election and installation of officers for the year 1940 of Winchester Post, 97, American Legion, will be held at the Post Headquarters on Thursday, Sept. 21. County Commander Daniel P. Brennan of Lowell has assured Commander Larson that he will attend to perform the installation ceremonies. The Board of Selectmen, and other town officials who care to attend, have been invited to witness the exercises. All veterans of the town are also cordially invited to attend.

The Legion House is now officially opened for the season, having been closed during the summer months for vacation and repairs. The meeting rooms on the first floor were completely renovated, it being found necessary to install new ceilings and to repaint the walls and wood-work and refinish the floors.

After all repairs were made the caretakers refinished all the furniture throughout the quarters which now present an attractive home for the Legionnaires.

Any night during the next week any citizen desiring to inspect the Legion House may feel free to do so.

MOTHERS' ASSOCIATION ANNUAL FACULTY TEA

On Tuesday, Sept. 5, the Executive Board of the Winchester Mothers' Association gave their annual faculty tea in the high school gymnasium. The president of each chapter of the Mothers' Association was there to greet not only the new teachers but friends of former years and our Superintendent of Schools, Mr. Quinn. In the absence of Mrs. John Pennington, president of the Wyman School, Mrs. Robert Keanev very graciously represented that school.

These teas are always a success not only from a social point of view, which was acquired with such a capable social chairman as Mrs. Marshall Pihl, her assistant Mrs. John Morgan together with a very efficient corps of workers, but from a friendship point of view, something to be stressed on this western hemisphere, and the very evident spirit of co-operation between the school faculty and the Mothers' Associations. As was so aptly expressed, at the tea, by Mrs. Stanley Barnes, president of the Executive Board, it is the aim of the Board to carry on the fine work of Mrs. Parker started in 1911 and live up to the high objectives of the mothers of those days.

The attractive tea tables, the cordiality of the presiding presidents and evident enjoyment of the faculty, all started another school year off to what it is felt sure will be a most successful year.

THUMB-NAIL GAZETTEER OF POLAND

(Prepared by the National Geographic Society)
(German Spellings in Parentheses)

Cieszyn (Teschen): City and district in Poland's extreme southwest corner. Formerly divided by Czechoslovakian border until Poland acquired the Czech part in 1938, thereby doubling both population and area, now more than 300,000 people and 575 square miles respectively. Important for coal and iron industries and railroads for international traffic.

Corridor: The Polish Corridor is a strip 85 miles long, varying in width from 20 to 45 miles, which separates Germany from Danzig and East Prussia. It joins inland Poland with the vital new port of Gdynia on the country's 88 miles of curved Baltic seacoast. Three-fourths of Poland's foreign trade is shipped through the Corridor. Germany has treaty rights to cross it.

Danzig: A Free City, set apart from both Germany and Poland after the World War, and supervised by the League of Nations. It stands at the mouth of the Vistula, River, and is the traditional outlet for Wisla shipping; as such, it is included in a customs union with Poland. The Free City territory of 750 square miles includes forming land as well as actual city; it has 400,000 inhabitants, mostly Germans, some 250,000 of whom live in the city itself. Before the World War Danzig was German, having been taken from Poland in 1793.

East Prussia: Although half surrounded by Poland, East Prussia is German. It is cut off from Germany, 50 miles west of its frontiers, by the Corridor and Danzig. It comprises about 25,000 square miles of hilly countryside and seacoast, with more than 2,250,000 inhabitants. It lies due north of Warsaw, blocking a large part of the Baltic coast. Baltic shipping and air lines from Königsberg, the leading city, and railroads and highways through Poland are its links with Germany.

Gdynia: The new Polish port at the Baltic end of the Corridor, 14 miles west of Danzig. In 15 years it has grown from a fishing village to a modern city of 35,000 people. Its commerce places it among the six leading ports of continental Europe well ahead of Danzig.

Katowice (Kattowitz): Silesian city of 133,000 inhabitants in southwest Poland, barely ten miles from the German frontier. A railroad links it with the German border town of Beuthen. Now the ninth largest city of Poland, it was German before the World War.

Königsberg: Leading city and port of East Prussia, in the center of that state's Baltic seacoast, about 175 miles north of Warsaw. The city has 316,000 inhabitants.

Pomerania: The northernmost province of Poland, terminating in the Corridor. Meaning "The Land Beside the Sea," the name is kin to that of the German coastal duchy of Pomerania.

SUNDAY DINNER SUGGESTIONS

By Cora Anthony, Director of the A. & P. Kitchen

The drought on the Atlantic seaboard was so thoroughly broken by a prolonged storm that fishing was impossible and harvesting seriously hampered. That means shorter supplies of fish and perishable vegetable this week though no real shortage.

Avocados, tomatoes, broccoli, cabbage, celery and peas are good values. Beans are higher. Corn is still available. Iceberg lettuce is lower.

Apples, fresh prunes, peaches and pears are the outstanding fruits.

Meats are generally higher particularly pork loins and chops and lamb cuts. Fine quality table eggs are less plentiful and so somewhat higher. Butter prices remain steady.

The closing of the Loring avenue playground last Friday appeared to be the signal for vandalism. The police were called upon to ascertain who the culprits were who pulled up the players' benches at the ball field, damaged the basketball cage poles and attempted to destroy the children's shelters. Evidently the youth of the town is not in sympathy with the idea of recreational centers as applied to playgrounds.

WINCHESTER OPENS AT ARLINGTON TOMORROW, 3 P. M.

Squad Drills Hard on Fundamentals

Arlington Fields Heavy Team

Undismayed by the temporary loss of the services of Head Coach George Lauer, who was called to his home in Michigan Tuesday by the death of his mother, the Winchester High School football squad, under the direction of Assistant Coaches "Jim" Shaw and "Andy" Lentine, lightened their belts and went to work this past few days of long, grueling scrimmages and last-minute preparations for the first game, with the determination to provide their absent Coach with some good reading in the Boston papers which will reach Michigan after the Arlington game has been played. In or lose, they will give a good account of themselves.

While there appear to be few outstanding stars in the lineup this year, one cannot help but notice the fighting spirit that exists throughout the whole squad and the eagerness to learn football. One of the best things about this year's squad is the presence of what appears to be excellent replacements for the first 11 players. The "subs" are right on the heels of the boys who will be selected to start the game, and they will not weaken the team when they get a chance to play.

Arlington will outnumber Winchester in replacements for every position and outsize the local boys throughout the line and backfield. But no team will run roughshod over these boys, if one is to judge by the work they have been doing and the improvement they have shown during the past week. No injuries have occurred to mar the picture as yet, and with three efficient coaches on the job every day, there should be fewer opportunities for unnecessary injuries at any time.

We are not predicting a victory at Arlington tomorrow. While such a result is by no means impossible, it would be a tremendous upset of the pre-season odds. But we do predict that the team from Winchester will play sound, courageous football from start to finish and will come off the field at the end of the game with confidence in their ability.

Assistant Coach "Jim" Shaw has done a fine job these last few days during George Lauer's absence. And too much credit cannot be given to "Andy" Lentine, captain of Winchester's champion 1934 team, who has volunteered his services for the season. He has been working especially with the scrum line and has given considerable attention to individual members of the squad who show promise in spite of their lack of playing experience. "Andy's" experience as a member of Boston College's team under Dobie, mark him as an extremely valuable assistant on any coaching staff.

The game tomorrow will start at 3 p. m. The numbers of the Winchester players who will make the trip and most of whom will probably get into the game are as follows:

- |                 |               |
|-----------------|---------------|
| Kimber, 34      | Ellis, 56     |

| Towsey, 37      | Wheeler, 53   |
| Nash, 38        | Holmes, 54    |
| Whittemore, 39  | Galuffo, 55   |
| Herbilly, 40    | Thompson, 56  |
| Thompson, 41    | Thibault, 57  |
| DeWitt, 42      | Marcella, 58  |
| DeWitt, 43      | Palumbo, 59   |
| Callahan, 44    | Underwood, 60 |
| Harris, 45      | Styler, 61    |
| Provinciano, 46 | Mauger, 62    |
| McCormack, 47   | Styler, 63    |

The starting lineup will be as follows: ends, D. Styler, Vespucci, tackles, Holmes and Caputo; guards, Palumbo and Ellis; center, DeTeso; backs, Galuffo, Marcella, Derby and Tracy.

MRS. JOHN ATLEY

Mrs. Emma Atley, wife of Lieut. John Atley of 16 Allen road, died very suddenly on Wednesday night, Sept. 13, at the U. S. Naval Hospital at Chelsea. She was returning from a trip to Newport when taken ill. She was rushed to the hospital and died shortly after her arrival there.

Mrs. Atley was born in Sweden Jan. 24, 1872 and had been in this country for 44 years, the last ten of which she had been a resident of this town. SMITH—CURTIS

Miss Cornelia Curtis, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Duffell Curtis of Newton Center, and Mr. Gordon Smith, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Batterman Smith of Cambridge street, were married on Saturday afternoon at the First Parish Unitarian Church in Brewster. The Rev. Dr. Everett Moore Baker and the Rev. Karl G. Horst performed the ceremony at 4 o'clock and a reception followed at the summer home of the bride's parents. The church was beautifully decorated with bayberry and white gladioli.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of ivory slipper satin, fashioned with long sleeves and a train. Her full length tulle veil was trimmed with old lace and she carried a bouquet of orchids, lilies-of-the-valley and gardenias. Attending the bride as matron of honor was her sister, Mrs. Charles M. O'Hearn of Tuckahoe, N. Y., her gown being ice blue net with a lot of peach velvet, and she carried a bouquet of yellow and peach gladioli tied with peach ribbon. The bride's nieces, Virginia Ann and Peggy Ann O'Hearn, the flower girls, wore frocks of peach tulle with collars and cuffs edged with turquoise, and carried baskets of rose petals. Charles M. O'Hearn, Jr., nephew of the bride, was ring bearer.

The bride's mother, Mrs. Curtis chose a gown of Tuscany crepe with a matching hat, and Mrs. Smith, mother of the bridegroom, was gowned in a frock of beige chiffon and lace with which she wore a brown hat. Mr. Allen B. Smith of New Rochelle, N. Y., was best man for his brother, and the ushers were Mr. John B. Garrison of West Newton, Mr. William E. Hill of New York and Mr. John M. Parker and Mr. George Curtis of Newton Center, brothers of the bride.

Mr. Smith and his bride will cruise north on a yawl for their wedding trip.

MacDONNELL—KOHLE

A quite simple ceremony was performed at St. Charles Rectory, Woburn on Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock, uniting in marriage Miss Marie J. Kohler, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank X. Kohler of 35 Elijah street, Woburn, and Mr. William Maynard MacDonnell, son of Mrs. Margaret MacDonnell of Forest street.

The bride was attended by her sister, Mrs. John McQuerty of this town as matron of honor and the best man was Mr. Albert A. MacDonnell, brother of the groom.

Miss Kohler was attired in a traveling suit of Viking blue and a burgundy accessories, wearing a couple of delicate orchids. Mrs. McQuerty wore a street length dress of burgundy wool crepe with accessories of Port brown, her corsage being sweetheart roses.

Mr. and Mrs. MacDonnell left immediately on a short wedding trip and will reside at 10 Water street, Woburn.

MacDonnell is a member of the staff at Gorin's Inc. in Woburn and is a graduate of St. Charles' High School.

MacDonnell is very popular with the younger set of the town and is employed at Beggs & Cobb Inc.

MARRIED AT ST. MARY'S CHURCH

A Winchester girl, Miss Bernice Mary Branch, well known as a popular operator at the local telephone exchange and a graduate of the Winchester schools, was married on Sunday afternoon at 4:30 at St. Mary's Church to Mr. Daniel J. Sweeney of Woburn, a member of the Woburn Post Office staff. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Fr. Joseph Maloney.

The altar of the church was decorated for the occasion with pink gladioli, and the musical program for the ceremony was rendered by Mrs. Florence Fisher Reardon. The bride was given in marriage by her father, Mr. Fred J. Branch of 797 Main street.

The bride wore a princess model white bridal gown with long veil and train. Her veil was caught with orange blossoms and she carried a bouquet of brides roses and lilies-of-the-valley. Her attendant was her sister, Edna Coffey, who wore a floor length dress of peach chiffon with hat and veil to match. Mr. John H. Sweeney, brother of the groom, was best man.

A reception followed at the home of the bride's father, the house being decorated with garden flowers. The reception was attended by members of the immediate families, the ushers for both ceremony and reception being Mr. Sweeney, Jr., brother of the groom, and William O'Brien, brother-in-law of the groom.

The bride chose a charming suit in Dubouché, with hat and accessories to match as her going-away costume. They are on a trip to New York and the World's Fair.

Mrs. Sweeney received the congratulations of a host of Winchester and Woburn friends who did the groom, and they were the recipients of many beautiful gifts. Mr. Sweeney, a graduate of the Woburn schools and the Bentley School of Accounting and Finance, is treasurer of the Woburn Catholic Men's Club.

SMITH—GOODHUE

Miss Madeline Goodhue, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Goodhue of 133 Herrick street, was married Saturday afternoon to Mr. Utley Wilson Smith, son of Mr. and Mrs. Chester Wilson Smith of Washington, D. C., at the home of the bride's parents with the Rev. Dr. Howard J. Chidley of the First Congregational Church, officiating. A reception followed in the garden.

The bride was given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of white moire. Her finger tip veil of tulle was edged with heirloom rose point lace belonging to the bridegroom's grandmother and she carried a bouquet of bouvardia and gardenias. Miss Rosemary Rothschild of Wellesley, the maid of honor, was gowned in a frock of cornflower blue moire with a matching hat. She wore a pink gladioli. Miss Marcia Symmes, niece of the bridegroom, with flower girl, wore a pink Kate Greenaway dress. Mr. John Clough Tibbels, 3d., of Wellesley Hills was Mr. Smith's best man.

After a short wedding trip, Mr. Smith and his bride will live in Washington, D. C. Mrs. Smith was graduated from Radcliffe College and Mr. Smith was graduated from the Massachusetts Institute of Technology.

TOWN OFFICERS SAVE ON BONDS

Through the efforts of Winchester's Tax Collector, Nathaniel M. Nichols, who is secretary of the Massachusetts Tax Collectors and Treasurers' Association, officers in the State will henceforth save an appreciable sum in bonding fees.

At a conference held yesterday between Mr. Nichols and Mr. Martin W. Lewis, Jr., president of the Town Rating Bureau, the firm which establishes the bonding rates for the whole United States, it was agreed that bondings will be placed on an actual rating for the year 1939, instead of the two-year rating which has been in effect during the year has been charged on a whole year's basis.

If a basis of yearly audit is complied with, it is thought that the amount of the bonds required may also be reduced.

It is said that this arrangement will effect a saving in this State of $1933, with a still greater savings if the yearly audit is effected. Winchester will save about $100.

Mr. Nichols in effecting this arrangement for reducing the cost of bonding Treasurers and Collectors, acted as host to a committee appointed to investigate the matter by the State association.

FORMER WINCHESTER BOY KILLED IN AIRPLANE CRASH

Listed among six victims of the crash in U. S. twin-motored bomber at San Diego, Calif., Friday was Ensign L. W. Latremore of Coronado, formerly of this town. According to reports the big plane evidently encountered engine trouble as it neared the antenna wires of the long-range radio station at Chollas Heights. Passing the wires one wing touched the antenna and the plane crashed and took fire in nearby brush. The six occupants were burned to death. Ensign Latremore made his home here with his parents on Lawrence street for a number of years. He left Winchester with his family several years ago.

Funeral services for Ensign Latremore will be held Friday morning at 10 o'clock in the Oak Grove cemetery, Medford. The Rev. Henry F. Smith of the West Medford Congregational Church will officiate.

Six ensigns from the Quantum air base, where Ensign Latremore received his aeronautical training, will serve as pallbearers.

Lewis Walter Latremore, Jr., 26, was a graduate of Harvard with the class of 1935, and a bridegroom of only five months. He was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Lewis W. Latremore, Sr. of Hotel Belmont, Boston, and last April he married Rose Beaumont, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Allan L. Beaumont, 34 Johnson avenue, West Medford.

The young couple made their home in Coronado, Calif. They were married in St. Raphael's Church, West Medford.

Ensign Latremore was born in Cambridge June 10, 1913, but spent most of his early years as a resident of Winchester, where he attended the Wadleigh School and was graduated from Winchester High School in 1931.

While at Harvard he managed the varsity boxing team, was a member of the minor sports council and the Harvard Engineering Society. His father, Lewis W. Latremore, Sr., is manager of the Bromfield street fountain pen exchange.

The young ensign received his early aviation training at the United States Naval Reserve Aviation Base at Quantico, later going to the Naval Air Station, Pensacola, Fla., for advanced training.

Besides his wife and parents, he leaves a brother, Nelson C. Latremore, Lynn—H.

Mr. and Mrs. James N. Clark returned this week from West Harwich to their home on Bacon street.

LOWELL THOMAS TO LECTURE HERE

One of the important events taking place in Winchester early this fall, will be a lecture by Lowell Thomas, the world-famous radio commentator on news of the day. This affair which will be given on Saturday evening, Oct. 28 at the Town Hall, is sponsored by the Mothers' Association of the Winchester schools and is for the benefit of the scholarship fund. The Mothers' Association feel particularly fortunate in having procured this popular speaker at this time, for with events in the world taking place so swiftly that one cannot keep up with them, it will be a unique opportunity to hear Mr. Thomas, who is in such close contact with the information centers, talk at first hand. His subject will be, "Adventures Around the World and on the Air."

Mrs. J. Warren Shoemaker is the able chairman for the lecture and has chosen to act on her committee, Mrs. Theodore Elliott, who will be in charge of tickets in addition to be co-chairman, Mrs. Robert Beyer who will assemble the program, Mrs. Thomas J. Kenney in charge of flowers and Mrs. John Penniman as chairman of ushers. Others on the committee are Mrs. J. Stanley Barnes, president of the Central Mothers' Association, Mrs. Vincent Farnsworth, Jr., publicity and Mrs. Joseph Tansey, treasurer for the lecture.

FORTNIGHTLY NOTES

Garden Group

The first meeting of the Fortnightly Garden Group will be held on Sept. 19, at 2:30, at the Waltham Field Station. Prof. Paul W. Demsey, well known horticulturalist, and head of this Experiment Station of the Massachusetts State Agricultural College, will conduct a tour of the gardens and greenhouses, followed by a talk and question period. Fortnightly members and their guests will meet at the Church street entrance of Fortnightly Hall at 1:45 to complete transportation arrangements. For further information, or transportation problems, call Louise Bancroft, 0864-M, or Anna Gleason, 1995-R.

KEEP THE RED CROSS READY

Once again the women of America are called to render volunteer service under the banner of the Red Cross for relief of war victims in Europe. A great need for surgical dressings, garments and similar supplies will arise as war operations continue. The Winchester Chapter of American Red Cross must be prepared to meet its share of this need and is calling for volunteers to serve in knitting and sewing groups. For knitting please contact Mrs. A. T. Smith, 255 Mystic Valley Parkway, Win. 2125; for sewing, Mrs. J. S. Wilson, 22 Lakeview road, Win. 2090. For general information call Mrs. George A. Dutting, chapter chairman, 225 Mystic Valley Parkway, Win. 2191.

The American Red Cross is providing assistance for the Americans who are returning from abroad due to the war. If you have a friend or relative in this group who need assistance contact Mr. Robert Elliot, war relief chairman.

Winchester Chapter of American Red Cross will receive contributions for relief in connection with the present conflict, to be expended for needed supplies which will be distributed impartially, in accordance with its usual policies. Also, that if contributors so desire, they may designate the country for the relief of which they wish to have their contributions utilized, with the understanding that the funds so contributed will be applied by the American Red Cross to the purchase and transport of hospital and medical supplies to the Red Cross society in the country designated. Make checks payable to William Priest, Treasurer Winchester Savings Bank.

MRS. KATHERINE WILCOX

Mrs. Katherine Wilcox, a resident of Winchester for more than 50 years, died Monday morning, Sept. 11, at the Home for Aged People, 110 Mt. Vernon street. She was the widow of George Wilcox, a former resident.

Mrs. Katherine MacKay Wilcox was born at Earlton, Nova Scotia, Aug. 1, 1860, the daughter of William and Elizabeth MacKay. She was a successful nurse for many years, retiring from these duties within five years.

She is survived by two sisters, Mrs. Marion Bratton of Woodland, Wash., and Mrs. Elizabeth Crichton, Seattle, Wash.; also by five brothers, John of Vancouver, B. C., Kenneth of New West Minster, B. C., George of Traile, B. C., Robert of Earlton, N. S., and William of New York City. A grandson, Donald James of Milford, also survives.

Mrs. Wilcox was a member of the First Congregational Church. The funeral services were held in the Ripley Memorial Chapel, Wednesday afternoon, with the pastor, Rev. Howard J. Chidley, officiating. The interment was in Wildwood Cemetery.

WINCHESTER DISTRICT NURSING ASSOCIATION

With the beginning of the activities of the fall season, the Board of Directors of the Winchester District Nursing Association held its September meeting on Friday the 8th. Thirteen members of the Board: Mesdames Bugbee, Greiner, Holmes, Horner, Jope, McDavitt, Nichols, Pearson, Pond, Russell, Shoemaker, Slocum, and Smith met at the home of the President, Miss Adelaide Homer at 10 a. m.

The meeting was largely concerned with the very illuminating and thorough report of the new nursing Supervisor, Mrs. Angeline R. O'Leary, covering the work done during the three summer months. For June the nursing visits totaled 279; in July there were 247 calls, and in August 251 calls. In this work Mrs. O'Leary has been assisted by the Staff Nurse, Miss Alice Peterson, and two substitute nurses, Mrs. Lois Quinn and Miss Kathleen Powers.

In addition to the bedside nursing, health supervision and office work, Mrs. O'Leary has contacted many of the doctors and representatives of health, civic, religious and social organizations with whom she will be assisting. There will probably be the Winchester District Nursing Association may co-operate most effectively and efficiently, both in carrying on the work of the present and in looking forward to the activities of the future.

During the summer, several of the members of the Board, headed by Mrs. Young, volunteered their services in making aprons and cloth envelopes for use in the nurses' bags. This fall, Mrs. Horner and her committee are making plans for organizing work for those Winchester people who may wish to volunteer their assistance. There will probably be opportunities to do work in the fields of mimeographing, typing, making dressings and obstetrical pads, and in driving patients to and from clinics.

At the close of a long session, the members of the Board departed with the feeling that there lay before them a year of challenging, but gratifying work, of work calling for the active co-operation of Staff, Board Members and the townsfolk of Winchester.

A Word To Music Lovers!

Miss Parkhurst would like to form an Adult Class in Musical Interpretation and Piano Playing.

The music to range from simplified editions of Symphonies and Operas through the Classics and Modern Music. Modern ideas of Piano Technique and Musicianship appeal to one's artistic nature and through the new freedom is developed a right and sane interpretation.

An amateur can derive much pleasure from the piano without hours of old fashioned drudgery.

DO YOUR NERVES GET FRAZZLED?

Here's a suggestion which has helped many active people -

Rush, rush, - from the time you get up to the time you go to bed. Never a pause in the day's activity. That's the story of many a man's day and that's the reason for that "all in", tired feeling. No wonder the modern business man suffers from indigestion and frazzled nerves.

If you want to get the most out of your day, - to enjoy increased health and happiness - leave your car at home. Your wife will appreciate it. Go to and from your work by train. Try commuting for a month. You'll be surprised and pleased at the ease and comfort of train travel. You'll enjoy the opportunity for rest and relaxation. Even more important, you'll find an added zest in work and play.

MERROW SCORES AGAIN IN BOAT CLUB SAILING RACE

Tech Nips Winchester

It was just another case of Merrow's we roll along during Saturday's official Snipe race on the Mystic as Dick Merrow in Don't Duck led a fleet of a dozen boats to add another win to his imposing string of firsts.

Only the worst kind of hard luck can keep Dick from finishing the season with an average of well over 1600 points—a feat rarely achieved by more than the most select few of the 1500-odd Snipes actively competing in the entire International Association.

Don Simonds in Weave-It and Bill Croughwell in Sans Peur filled the runner-up positions.

Sunday's series of team races between Winchester and M. I. T. proved a closely matched affair with Winchester staging an up hill fight only to lose by the narrow margin of nine points. The races were sailed in Tech dinghies on the Charles River basin. A first, second and third by Bill Croughwell and a second and third by Dick Merrow helped to swell the Winchester total.

BOYS DAMAGED PARKED TRUCK

A very complete job of destruction of other people's property was revealed to the police Monday night. Samuel P. Roberts of 23 Irving street, left his Chevrolet truck parked at Foley Beach, Woburn. Boys smashed the windshield, lifted the hood of the car, pulled out all the wires, put the motor out of commission and put six inch spikes under the tires of each wheel. The Woburn police rounded up four boys who will be taken to court.

WINCHESTER GARDEN CLUB

Mrs. Robert C. Whitten was hostess to the Winchester Garden Club, Sept. 8. Luncheon was served at the Blacksmith Shop at Rockport. The guests of honor were the president, Miss Mary Alice Fitch, Mrs. Herbert T. West, the first president of the club and Mrs. C. Chamberlins, president of the Rockport Garden Club.

A special meeting was held at the Rockport Country Club. Mrs. M. H. Hintlian, chairman of exhibit appointed the following committee to represent the club in an exhibit at the all-Winchester Flower Show, sponsored by the Better Homes Garden Club: Mrs. Arthur W. Pitman, Mrs. Virginia M. Chisholm, Mrs. Roger C. Hadley, Mrs. John B. Willis, Mrs. Fred Russell and Mrs. E. W. Bratt.

Mrs. Arthur W. Pitman will have charge of the Winchester Garden Club's arrangement this week at the Arlington Garden Club.

After the meeting, the guests spent the remaining afternoon with the hostess at her quaint home, near the shore, 290 years old with its H. L. hinges and a garden fitting harmoniously with the period picture.

WELCH—HUDSON

Mr. George S. Hudson announces the marriage of his daughter, Eleanor Hudson, to Mr. Austin Horace Welch, son of the late Lincoln Welch. They were married in Winchester by the Rev. George Hale Reed, Aug. 25, at the home of the bride's brother, Mr. Willard Hudson. Because of deaths in both families, only the immediate relatives were present. Mr. Welch is a graduate of Worcester Academy and Worcester Polytechnic and served in the World War.

LIONS CLUB

The Lions Club held their meeting on Tuesday evening at Fred Scholl's Restaurant. President Garvey, Dr. Emery and Henry McCormack showed motion pictures taken around town, while President Garvey showed some pictures taken at York Beach of local people.

Stafford Rogers gave a talk on the history of Lions Clubs, which was very interesting. Dr. Emery and Bob Knox lead the singing.

INFANT SAVIOUR GUILD NOTES

The Winchester Chapter Guild of the Infant Saviour will open the 1939-1940 season with an Autumn Tea. The date is Wednesday, Sept. 27 and the place is Mrs. Frank R. Kimball's house at 2117 Massachusetts avenue, Lexington.

Alice Dixon Bond, in her own charming way, will talk on Fall Reading. Mrs. John Whalen, soloist, will entertain with songs. The hour is set at 2:30 so that mothers and guests may have time to exchange greetings after the long summer interim.

TENNIS TOURNAMENT

On Saturday, Sept. 23, there will be an open singles tournament for older boys who were 15 and not 18 when the year began. Entries to W. S. Packer. Play at Palmer courts at 9 a. m. That same day boys and girls of the younger age class will go to Longwood. Mr. Packer will send in the entries given to him.

Drive in comfort. Protect your eyes from glare with sun glasses and “over-specs.” Several styles. See them at the Star Office.

ANNUAL FALL TENNIS

The annual fall tennis tournament of the Winchester Tennis Association was started last Saturday afternoon at the Palmer street playground. Over 40 players entered in the singles and 26 teams in the doubles. If our ruler really desires to improve our national holidays he has a really good opportunity to do so now. Having tinkered with the real and only New England holiday, Thanksgiving, why not abolish Armistice Day, which has now lost all significance.

"There is no food shortage. We have plenty. There is no reason why prices should advance. This is due to the royal economists. True, there may be some food hoarding. On the other hand prices have been too low and should be somewhat higher. Well—if our rulers run the country through this war along the same lines they have the country during the past seven years, we will be in a worse mess than we have been yet. We all know food has been curtailed and production limited—along with killing little pigs and other great ideas, and we see no reason why food will not go up and continue to go up. The New Deal, born of the masses and heralded to protect the masses is now throwing out a smoke screen and scurrying around trying to lay the blame on business and anti-New Dealers. Meanwhile we are all paying—not a little—but considerably more for our living.

WHY?

To the Editor of the Star:

Civilized people all over the world are asking with greater insistence and seriousness "why war? why depressions? why booms? why poverty and WPA, etc.?" Professional and amateur economists, educators and statesmen have brought forth a multitude of answers, but they all have one characteristic in common—the answers consist almost entirely of a listing of minor of major symptoms. They do not reach the roots. In the totalitarian states the "brain trust" idea has been carried so far that one man claims all the "brains" and all others must "trust" and die if so be. This has already shown its ripening fruit. Honest research in philosophy, the arts and sciences has ceased to be. In the welter of propaganda, thorough preparation for everyday living has been neglected till both industry and the army are hard put to find competent supervision and leadership even in the art of killing. War has been mechanized but the mechanical arts are drying up to the point that even the machinery suffers. In our own country it has not gone so far, but the possibilities of the alphabet have been strained to find initials for agencies to plan or execute the details of every man's everyday life.

Unfortunately every generation has to learn most of its lessons at first hand. Only a few can learn from the experiences of their elders. The spirit of youth is largely to "try anything once" no matter how often it has failed in the past, but there is a growing realization that a nation or state is in fact a group of individuals which exhibits a mass character determined by the character of each and every individual in it. This makes the character, or mental and moral development of every individual of paramount importance. To train the individual not so much to accept facts as to recognize them for himself; not so much to accept conclusions as to reason logically for himself; not so much to obey orders as to rule his own conduct by his own conclusions reached by his own reasoning, is a slow process entirely lacking in glamour or the spectacular, but is the sure foundation of democracy.

attended by a capable staff
to serve your best interests.

In past generations the churches and institutions for formal education (both public and endowed) have done wonders along this line, as our present democratic institutions prove; but there is a very large segment of the population which has not taken these formal methods seriously but which has been forced by unsettled social and business conditions of the past few years to ask again "Why?"

To assist the individual to find the answers for himself, thus making them his own, there have been established nonsectarian, nonpolitical schools which the individual may attend with a minimum of inconvenience, and thresh these problems out in discussion with his fellow students.

Among these are the Henry George Schools of Social Science incorporated in New York City, Chicago, Ill., several countries of Europe and even Australia and New Zealand. The New York City School operates extensions in over 150 cities and towns of the United States and Canada, including Greater Boston. Last season the Boston Extension operated ten classes in Elementary Political Economy (including Winchester). Early in October the first class of ten weeks will open for the fall session of 1939 so that any who wish to take this course (tuition free) may do so. Experience in Europe, and in the United States with regard to prohibition of the liquor business, proves conclusively that human laws have no force or effect except as supported by public opinion. To discover and make effective any remedy for the present conditions of strife and poverty, that public opinion must be based on and proceed from the enlightened positive thinking of individuals. There is no other sure foundation.

Winthrop L. Upton,

THE BATTLE FOR PEACE

Times of crisis make many turn to God, only to forget Him again when immediate danger is past. The great issue that divides the world underlies the more obvious conflicts of party, class, nation or ideology. Good and evil spirits are working through mankind in every country and to this spiritual conflict all political and social disputes are subsidiary. When the evil spirit seems to conquer, then the collapse of private and public morals sets in; the spirit of discipline and sacrifice dies; culture grows sterile; science is misused; patriotism is forgotten. The battle for peace must be fought in the heart of the individual, and thus throughout the community, if it is to be won in the world.

The strength of a nation is shown in the courage to admit her own faults. The glory of a nation is to have a creative message for the world. For this we need not only inspired statesmanship but daily inspiration in every business, every workshop, every home. We must teach ourselves to apply practically, to conduct the Christian standards of honesty, purity, and love, and to make fulfillment of the will of God the touchstone of public and private life. In this task all are privileged to give the service of their lives, for Spiritual Power is the REAL force in the world!

Throughout her long history this country never failed and has not failed now, to meet recurrent crises with the courage which each demands. But the spiritual crisis remains, and calls for action. Nations and empires must stand or fall by the response to that call. The choice is moral rearmament or national decay. That choice will decide whether ours is ultimately to go the way of other dead kingdoms and empires, or whether our nation, led by God, may become a leader of the world towards sanity and peace.

MRS. GEORGE A. PERLEY

PARISH PLAYERS ANNOUNCE
14TH SEASON

Mrs. Jessie Simpson Perley, wife of Mr. George A. Perley, died at her home, 21 Harrison street, on Saturday, Sept. 9. She had made her home in Winchester for the past nine years, and leaves besides her husband one son by a former marriage, Mr. Eben Ayers of Portland, Me. Mrs. Perley was a native of Seabrook, Me., where she was born Feb. 2, 1875. Her parents were Albert A. Simpson and Esther H. Hall.

Funeral services were held at the home on Harrison street Monday afternoon at 2:30, the interment being at Pine Grove Cemetery, Waterville, Me., on Tuesday.

The Parish Players of the First Congregational Church of Winchester announce the following program, subject to change, for the season 1939-1940:

Nov. 3, The Three Corned Monks by Gertrude Tonkonogy.

Jan. 26, Our Town by Thornton Wilder (Pulitzer Prize Play for 1938)

March 29, The Vinegar Tree by Paul Osborne.

In connection with the 100th anniversary celebration of the church, the Parish Players will present a fourth play in the spring.

W. C. T. U. NOTES

The W. C. T. U. is meeting at the First Baptist Church. The program is in honor of Frances E. Willard's Centenary Year, giving events in her life of wonderful activities. One paper is on the 19.9 celebrations in her honor. Many of the 10,000 Unions are having special meetings this month in celebration of her 100th birthday anniversary on Sept. 28.

Billboards at the Star Office.

READING THEATRE

Johnny Weissmuller, who is featuring at the New York World's Fair, returns to the screen of the Reading Theatre after an absence of three years to play the lead in another Tarzan picture, "Tarzan Finds A Son." Also starring is Johnny Sheffield, an up coming young athletic star who plays the part of Tarzan's young son, "Tarzan Finds A Son" is an adventure-packed story of three people who braved the dangers of the jungle.

Also playing on the same program is "Code of the Secret Service," starring Ronald Reagan and Rosella Towne.

By popular request the Reading Theatre presents "Mutiny on the Bounty," starring Charles Laughton and Clark Gable, on Wednesday and Thursday.

Sun glasses and "over-specs." Three styles to choose from. 25c and 39c. Le Star Office.

BOY SCOUT NOTES

Troop 2

Troop 2 held its first meeting of the year on Monday, at which time plans were made for the coming season. A trip to Camp Lane was planned for Columbus Day, Oct. 12. Only five scouts and four leaders attended, but a larger attendance is anticipated for the coming meetings. The leaders who attended the first meeting were Scoutmaster Charles A. Hart, Committeeman Dr. Burton Gove, and Senior Patrol Leaders Arnold Smith and Bob Harris.

Troop 3

The first regular meeting of Troop 3 was held Monday night at which 19 scouts and four recruits were present. The new boys are William Aston, Roy Monson, John Ottiano and Herbert Smith. Six boys were absent but accounted for. With practically a full troop the boys are looking forward to one of the best years in the history of the Troop which is over a quarter of a century old.

During the evening the boys formed a code of rules for the guidance of the Troop and also helped organize a program for the year.

A week-end hike to Camp Fellsland Sept. 29, 30, and Oct. 1, is now being anxiously looked forward to as the start of a scouting year in which camping and out-of-door activities are to play a major role.

ELLIOTT R. DUDLEY

Fellsland Council Scout Executive

The Executive Board of the Fellsland Council, Boy Scouts of America, have reported securing the services of Elliott R. Dudley of Danvers, as the New Field Executive to serve under Scout Executive Edward W. Nelson. The securing of this additional professional worker was made possible through a special grant by the Winchester Community Chest through a special appropriation. Mr. Dudley will specialize on promotion of the Cub program, the establishment of a Cub Day Camp, Leadership Training and other customary jobs associated with the Scout work in Winchester.

Mr. Elliott Dudley is well qualified to fill this position as he first joined Scouting in Troop 4 of Swampscott in June 1920. He received the highest rank in Scouting; namely, Eagle Scout, while still enrolled in Swampscott. He was the second Eagle Scout to receive this rank in the Bay Shore Council, covering the area in the vicinity of Lynn. Later as Scoutmaster he was also second when he became the second leader in the North Shore Council area to receive the Scoutmaster's Key, which is given to a leader who has served for five years as Scoutmaster and taken training courses that include Elements of Scout Leadership, Advanced First Aid, Principles of Scout Leadership, serving as an officer in a training course, and two specialization courses in some subject, such as Troop Camping, Sea-scouting, Craft Work, or Nature Study. He must also serve at least two weeks in camp with his troop.

After his graduation from Swampscott High School, where he was the class speaker and member of the football team, he entered Springfield College majoring in boys work, and was graduated in 1930 with the B. S. degree. While a student at Springfield he acted as Scoutmaster of Troop 5 Springfield. Mr. Dudley has also done some graduate work at Yale University, and graduated from the National Training School for Scout Executives some years ago.

Mr. Dudley also served as Assistant Scout Executive for a short term at Waterbury, Conn. He has had 19 years of camp experience at various camps in Massachusetts, Rhode Island and New Hampshire. He served as camp director of the Salem Fraternity Boys' Club Camp for four years, and assistant camp director for the North Shore Council Boy Scout Camp for two years. One of his latest positions was to serve as a member of the Regional Staff at the camp training course held at Camp Yawgood in Rhode Island.

Mr. Dudley has just started his services with the Fellsland Council, and will make his home here in Winchester at 9 Governor's avenue. To anyone who is interested in any phase of the Scout program, whether it be Cubbing, Scouting, or Sea-scouting, get in touch with Mr. Dudley at the Scout office, South Border road. Particular attention is called to organizations who are not now doing any Boys Work, but would be interested to get additional information.

E. CRAIG GREINER HEADS RED CROSS PUBLICITY BOARD

A statement Saturday by Lawrence Coolidge, chairman of the Boston Metropolitan Chapter's Red Cross roll call, announced the appointment of E. Craig Greiner as chairman of the publicity committee.

In commenting on the appointment, Mr. Coolidge stated:

"Our coming roll call is to be the most extensive appeal for enrollments in recent years and no phase of our endeavors can be more important than our publicity programme, in which we intend to use every medium available to inform and interest the public in Red Cross activities, both locally and nationally. Mr. Greiner is eminently qualified for this important task and interested assistance will contribute much toward the success of our organization."

He has been associated with N. W. Ayer & Son, Inc. for many years and is New England manager for this well-known international advertising agency. He resides in Winchester and served as a member of the finance board.

JAMES CANNIFF DEAD

James Canniff of 715 Main street, aged 84 years, died at the Holy Ghost Hospital, Cambridge, early this morning after intermittent illness of six months. ## ARTHUR TOPPAN

Retired Medford Boat Builder Was Former Resident

Arthur Wellington Toppan, pioneer in the development of the modern power launch and former resident of this town, died early Sunday, Sept. 17, at the Boston City Hospital from injuries sustained last month when he was struck by an automobile.

Mr. Toppan had been making his home with his son, Wellington Clough Toppan, at 309 Beacon street in Boston. He left Winchester several years ago, but previously had made his home for many years on Lawrence road, he and his family having been well known and prominent in town affairs.

Mr. Toppan was the son of Albert B., and Angela P. (Jacobs) Toppan. He was born Jan. 18, 1867, in Charlestown, received his early education in the Charlestown schools, and was graduated from Tufts College with the class of 1890.

After his graduation he established the Toppan Boat Manufacturing Company of Medford with yard on the Mystic River at Riverside avenue, serving as treasurer and general manager of the firm until his retirement in 1935. During this time he was active in bringing the power boat to its present perfection and his power dories and safety launches were in use in all parts of the world.

During his residence in town he was active in the Winchester Boat Club, serving it as Commodore and as a director. He was a former member of Henry Price Lodge, A. F. & A. M. of Charlestown, Calumet Club, Central Club and the National Association of Engine and Boat Manufacturers. He also had served as a director of the Liberty Trust Company of Boston.

On June 14, 1900, Mr. Toppan married Leila Bigelow Clough of Chelsea, moving to Winchester after his marriage. Mrs. Toppan died in 1924. Besides his son, he leaves a daughter, Mrs. Evelyn Jordan of New York City.

Funeral services were held on Tuesday afternoon in Ripley Memorial Chapel of the First Congregational Church, with the pastor, Rev. Howard J. Childley, officiating. Interment was in Wildwood Cemetery.

RICHMONDS RETURN FROM EUROPE

Mr. and Mrs. Harold B. Richmond with son Robert and daughter Priscilla of 30 Swan road returned on Monday from a summer spent in Europe and the Near East. After visiting England and several of the Continental countries, they sailed from Naples, Italy to Alexandria, Egypt, thence going up to Cairo, visiting the Pyramids and Sphinx.

From there they joined with a party of 16 others, which was the first and because of the subsequent declaration of war, the only party since January to obtain military permits to travel as a group to Jerusalem and Bethlehem.

The English provided an armored machine gun equipped car as an escort and while visiting such places as the Church of the Nativity in Bethlehem, posted guards at all entrances to prevent any disturbance between the Jews and the Arabs.

Because of the trouble in the area the contemplated trip up the River Jordan Valley and to Nazareth had to be abandoned, but it was possible to go inland again at Beirut, Syria, for a trip over the Lebanon Mountains and a stay at Damascus.

Although they were in Naples on the return trip when war was declared, the Richmonds had no difficulty in returning home. They, however, saw many interesting things brought about by the war.

COMMUNITY FUND CAMPAIGN

Winchester Community Chest and Greater Boston Community Federation will conduct an annual campaign for funds in 1940.

Negotiations between representatives of the two groups were brought to a successful conclusion this week when the board of directors of the Boston Federation officially approved the plan as presented by the committee. The Winchester directors had taken the same action at their last meeting.

This united effort will greatly facilitate the problem of raising funds for our local agencies as well as for our agencies in Greater Boston and should make our responsibility to both much easier to discharge.

The many busy citizens who have worked in so many previous campaigns will rejoice in this solution of this civic problem and should now be ready and willing to lend their efforts to this one great community enterprise which is so important in the lives of our less fortunate neighbors.

MR. HARKINS PASSES BAR EXAMINATION

The Board of Bar Examiners has announced that Thomas L. Harkins of Eaton street is among those to be admitted to the Massachusetts Bar on Oct. 25.

Mr. Harkins graduated from Winchester High School, class of 1933. Magna Cum Laude and was a speaker at graduation. He received his legal training at Suffolk University Law School graduating Cum Laude this year. While Mr. Harkins was a member of the debating team and was also class orator.

Since entering Suffolk University he has been employed as assistant to the Registrar.

HOPE ABANDONED FOR MRS. SHARPE

Not Among Athena's Rescued Passengers

Mr. W. H. Sharpe of Vancouver, B. C., who is in Winchester visiting his son-in-law and daughter, Dr. F. H. L. and Dr. Z. Eileen Taylor of Church street, told the Star yesterday morning that no hope is held out for the missing return cruise ship, Mrs. Sharpe, who was a passenger on the Donaldson liner, "Athena," sunk by an outside explosion Sept. 4, some 200 miles northwest of Ireland, on route for Liverpool.

Nothing whatever has been heard from Mrs. Sharpe since the sinking. She was on her way to the United States to join her husband in Winchester after a visit with relatives in Glasgow.

ANDERSON-THOMPSON

Of Winchester interest was the marriage of Miss Jean Thompson, daughter of Mrs. Doris Goddu McLeod of Braintree, Vt., formerly of this town, to Verner A. Anderson of Beverly at the little church in Braintree, Mass., at 10 o'clock, Sept. 16. Candle light made doubly effective the decorations of evergreen and gladioli. Rev. W. S. Day performed the marriage ceremony and the wedding party consisted of the bride, Miss Thompson, formerly of Winchester, Out-of-town guests included Mrs. George Goddu, Mrs. Alvin Litchfield, Mr. and Mrs. Charles C. Carter, Mrs. Fred Preston and Mrs. Marion Fowler (Lillian Knapp), formerly of Winchester. Out-of-town guests included Mrs. George Goddu, Mrs. Alvin Litchfield, Mr. and Mrs. Charles C. Carter, Mrs. Fred Preston and Mrs. Marion Fowler (Lillian Knapp), formerly of Winchester. Out-of-town guests included Mrs. George Goddu, Mrs. Alvin Litchfield, Mr. and Mrs. Charles C. Carter, Mrs. Fred Preston and Mrs. Marion Fowler (Lillian Knapp), formerly of Winchester.

Miss Thompson was attended by her sister, Miss Nathalie McLeod, and Roland McLeod, who was her best man. Lloyd W. Goddu and Charles C. Carter were ushers. The bride wore a teal blue gown with garnet hat and slippers and a corsage of orchids. Miss McLeod wore a garnet dress with hat and slippers and her corsage was of tea roses.

After the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride's mother. Upon their return from a wedding journey to Montreal and Quebec, Mr. Anderson and his bride will make their home in Malden.

FAREWELL PARTY TO MR. AND MRS. WILLIAMS

Mr. and Mrs. Fred D. Williams and their daughter Mildred and son-in-law Everett were pleasantly surprised last Tuesday evening, when a group of their friends dropped in to form a farewell party, in anticipation of their contemplated departure from Winchester. Mr. Williams, chief federal bank examiner of New England, is leaving next week for Atlanta, Ga., where he will assume similar duties for the southern district. His family will join him there at a later date. Their departure was a great loss to the town of Winchester, where they have all played leading parts in many church, club and social activities.

Among those present were: Mr. and Mrs. George Budd, Mr. and Mrs. T. Parker Clarke, Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Cunningham, Mr. and Mrs. Charles R. Greco, Miss Eleanor Allen, Mr. Arnold Morse, Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Mann, Mr. and Mrs. George F. Savarin, and Mr. and Mrs. Sherman Saltmarsh.

BIRTHDAY PARTY

Wednesday proved a big day in the life of "Larry" Penta of the Star mechanical force as his associates at the office took time from their labors to help him observe his birthday anniversary.

Dorothy Lord, office secretary, provided an ornate birthday cake which proved as good as it was good-looking, and there were other gifts and hearty congratulations. "Larry" cut the cake and its immediate consumption not only guaranteed its quality but also effectively terminated the singing of "Happy Birthday to You" which had been begun by Harold Boardley and "Win" Towne. "Mack" McKenzie of the "Woburn Times" dropped in to share in the distribution.

"Larry" was urged to make a speech, but declined firmly. He did, however, express his thanks in a manner that left no doubt of his appreciation. The Star hasn't had a party since the days of the late "Bob" Yining. Perhaps others will follow. Who knows?

DAYLIGHT SAVING TIME ENDS

Daylight saving time ends this week, when the clocks will be set back one hour.

With the ending of daylight saving train schedules on the railroads will be changed to conform to the hour's difference. Winchester and Westmore commuters will do well to obtain one of the new handy pocket size timetables which are distributed as the following places: F. E. Barnes Co.—Drygoods. E. H. Butterworth—Jeweler. Everett P. Harkins—Auto Repairing. Winchester National Bank. Winchester Trust Company.

TAX FIGURES

The amount of real estate taxes taken by the collector in tax title is $4,970.95 six-tenths of one per cent of the commitment and within a few dollars of half the amount taken last year. Winchester now has only $100 uncollected in 1938 taxes, 43 pole and four motor excise tax assessments.

JUNIOR HIGH SCHOOL MEETING

Ways and Means Committee

On Tuesday morning at 10:15, Mrs. Harold H. Blanchard has called a meeting of the Ways and Means Committee at the home of Mrs. Torr W. Harner, 14 Everett avenue, to discuss further plans for the dessert bridge to be held on Oct. 3 at the Wyman School.

Mrs. Blanchard announces an addition to the committee in the person of Mrs. Robert A. Drake who will be in charge of the food table. The co-operation and enthusiasm of the Ways and Means Committee and whole Junior High School Board promises to make the Oct. 3 bridge a great success. Tickets may be obtained from Mrs. Franklin L. Condit, Mrs. James S. Allen, has, of course been necessary to limit the amount of tickets and instigate the procedure of "first come, first served," so an early contact with the ticket committee is advisable.

MRS. ANNA L. McNALLY

Mrs. Anna L. McNally, wife of John McNally, first exalted ruler of Winchester Lodge of Elks, died Friday afternoon, Sept. 15, at her home, 15 Eaton street, after several months illness.

McNally was born in Winchester 72 years ago, the daughter of Francis X. and Margaret (Mulligan) Laffeur. She was educated in the Winchester schools and spent her entire life in the town, being highly esteemed by the circle of friends. She was a member of the Massachusetts Catholic Women's Guild and of the Married Ladies' Sodality of St. Mary's Church.

On April 8, 1891, she and Mr. McNally were married in St. Mary's Church by Rev. Fr. William M. O'Brien. Besides her husband she leaves three sons, Francis X., of Needham; Leo, and John McNally, both of Richmond, Va.

The funeral was held Monday morning from the late residence with solemn requiem high mass in St. Mary's Church. Rev. Fr. Joseph Mahoney was celebrant. Rev. Fr. Joseph McGoldrick, pastor, and Rev. Fr. Michael Ambrose, subdeacon. Mr. Michael Ambrose, Mr. Michael Murphy, Mr. Jeremiah Murphy, Mr. William Carroll, Mr. Frank Dineen, all of Winchester, and Mrs. Rose Kane of Cambridge, representing the C. W. G., were honorary pall bearers. Four grandsons of the deceased, Joseph and Daniel McNally of Winchester and John and Donald McNally of Needham, were bearers.

Interment was in Calvary Cemetery where committal prayers were read by Father Mahoney and Father McGoldrick.

"FAMILY DAY AT CHURCH" NEXT SUNDAY

As leaders of the Protestant Churches in this community, we are conscious of the general goodwill, and the friendly interest of the people of Winchester in the church. We know you appreciate having churches here. We know you are interested in the work we are doing. We are confident that you are glad that the church bells ring each Sunday, and that our buildings are being used during the week for all manner of character-building activities. We know that, if asked, most of you would say that the church is a valuable asset to the town.

We therefore call you, old and young, back to the church. Beginning next Sunday, join in the support of some church in Winchester by attending its service. Find a place in its life work.

Rev. Howard J. Childley, D.D., Rev. Carlton N. Jones, Rev. Roger E. Makepeace, Rev. R. Mitchell Rushton, Rev. George Hale Reed

40TH ANNIVERSARY

The observance of the 40th anniversary of the Boston Varnish Company, now in progress, is of much interest to Winchester because of the fact that the president of this widely known and successful Everett firm, Mr. James B. Lord, makes his home in this town on Pine street.

For the entire 40 years of its existence Mr. Lord has served as president of the Boston Varnish Company and has seen the business grow to a volume of more than $2,000,000 a year.

Associated with Mr. Lord in the business are his sons-in-law, Mr. C. Fred Eberle of Cabot street and former Selectman Franklin J. Lane of Yale street.

MARRIAGE INTENTIONS

Marriage intentions have been filed with the town clerk as follows: Edgar Francis DeReme of 35 Melvin street, Wakefield and Christine Russo of 5 Kirk street.

Charles Augustus Meehan of 15 Porter street, Woburn and Mary Helen Murphy of 57 Clark street.

Ferdinand French Hawley of 9 Glangery and Clara Parker Butterworth of 107 Cambridge street.

SELECTMEN'S NOTES

The local Red Cross Chapter has been granted the use of the old G. A. R. Hall on the third floor of the town hall building to be used for holding musical dressings and for other activities.

Alfred W. Ellis has been granted the use of the town hall on Sept. 29 for a Punch and Judy show. The Wilson Club has engaged the town hall for Feb. 1, 2 and 3, 1940.

MRS. REGINALD BRADLEE OPENS HOUSE

Annual Women's Republican Club Bridge, Oct. 31

Among the social, club and church organizations of Winchester whose annual money raising event has become traditional is the Winchester Women's Republican Club fall dessert bridge. Members and their friends will be pleased to learn that again, as for several seasons past, Mrs. Reginald Bradlee will extend to the club her hospitality and will open her home on Ledgewood road the afternoon of Oct. 31 for this occasion. The club finance committee, Mrs. Florence R. Seales, Mrs. John B. Nichols and Mrs. Walter W. Winslip, chairman, are making able reservations and will be with their committee members, hostesses for the afternoon.

This party has always been popular. The opportunity to enjoy an afternoon of bridge in the comfortable house, which is situated amid large trees and beautiful foliage near the Fells, has added attraction and increased interest to all, at this time of year, when the trees in fall color in and the late flowering gardens are in themselves, a delight to see.

ROTARY CLUB NOTES

Nine members were absent from the meeting of Sept. 21.

Our three Bills—Berger, Priest and Rogers are again functioning as a unit and it is indeed good to see them working into line once more.

George Reed was welcomed cordially today. Not since June has he attended home club meetings.

Business requirements prevent President Harry from being at our meetings for the present, but not for long we hope. Meanwhile he has our kindest regards and best wishes.

Final on the district convocation at Poland Spring, Sept. 28-30. Have you registered? If not, get in touch with the secretary at once.

Several clubs in our district, specifically the Danvers, Haverhill, Lynn, Medford and Salem clubs, are conducting an "Institute of International Understanding." This service was instituted in 1934 by the Rotary Club of Nashville, Tenn., and was an immediate success. Since then other clubs in various parts of the Rotary domain have adopted the idea. In general a series of lectures is held at which the speakers are men of broad experience and understanding in international relations, and the ability to interpret the viewpoints of foreign peoples sympathetically and in proper relation to the affairs of their audiences. The general public is encouraged to attend these lectures and has responded generously, and with marked approval. As a means of counteracting the strife so prevalent nowadays, the Institutes are most effective instruments.

Our guest speaker at the current meeting was Mr. Charles A. Colton, representing the Forty Plus Club of New England. This organization, which originated in Boston, is composed of men 40 years of age or older who have held important and well-paid positions in industry or the professions but who are currently unemployed. The primary objective of the organization is to prepare acceptable positions for its members. Mr. Colton informed us that the Forty Plus clubs impose no entrance fees or dues upon their members but require that members attend regular meetings. The organization has met with conspicuous success since its comparatively recent beginning, has instituted clubs in most of the important commercial cities of the United States and is now working for a foothold on the Pacific Coast. Mr. Colton's talk was timely and informative and questions from the floor brought replies which added materially to our knowledge. We are most grateful to him for coming to us with this message.

The last meeting in September and the first meeting of autumn falls on Sept. 28. Time for an increase in the attendance percentage.

Percentage of attendance, Sept. 14, 82.35 per cent.

MYSTIC VALLEY LODGE

The annual meeting of the Mystic Valley Lodge, A. F. & A. M., was held in Medford, Mass., on Tuesday, Sept. 14. The following officers were re-elected:

Worshipful Master—Wor. Francis Tremblay. Senior Warden—Dr. Arthur V. Getchell. Junior Warden—Jack B. Hawkins. Treasurer—Wor. William A. Lefavour. Secretary—Wm. Masonic Bell. Rt. Wor. Paul N. Shaw.

Trustee for 3 years—Wor. T. Parker Clarke. A Past Master's Jewel was presented to Wor. Francis Tremblay by the lodge, the presentation being made by Dr. Arthur V. Getchell.

Announcement is made of the marriage of Miss Jimena Y. Sterling of Winchester to P. Everett Hambly, also of this town, at Winthrop on Aug. 26, with Rev. Harry B. Hill officiating. Mr. Hambly is widely known in Winchester as the proprietor of an automobile repair and bus business here and as past exalted ruler of Winchester Lodge of Elks. His bride is a registered nurse.

MARRIAGE ANNOUNCED

Announcement is made of the marriage of Miss Jimena Y. Sterling of Winchester to P. Everett Hambly, also of this town, at Winthrop on Aug. 26, with Rev. Harry B. Hill officiating. Mr. Hambly is widely known in Winchester as the proprietor of an automobile repair and bus business here and as past exalted ruler of Winchester Lodge of Elks. His bride is a registered nurse.

KELLY—WELSH

A marriage having much Winchester interest took place at the immaculate Conception Church in Malden Saturday morning, Sept. 16, at 10 o'clock, when Miss Louise Gertrude Welsh, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Francis J. Welsh of Boundary road, Malden, became the bride of Dana John Kelly of this town, son of Mrs. Daniel J. Kelly and the late Mr. Kelly of Mystic avenue.

Richard Neagle performed the marriage ceremony and officiated at the nuptial mass which followed. The wedding music was played by Antonio Martin, organist, and William L. Daly, violinist. Schubert's setting for the Ave Maria and the Panis Angelicus during the mass were sung by James B. Connors.

Miss Welsh was given in marriage by her father. She wore a period gown of white faille made with a train and a tulle veil. White tulle also surrounded her old fashioned bouquet of gladioli blossoms and lilies of the valley.

Miss Marguerite M. Murray of New York City was the bride's only attendant. She wore a Gibson girl styled gown of Windsor blue moire trimmed with rose. Her small hat was fashioned from amaranthaceae and tulle, matching the flowers in her bouquet.

Mr. Kelly had for his best man, Thomas Travers of this town, and the ushers were Francis J. Welsh, Jr. and Fred C. Welsh of Malden, brothers of the bride; Fred Hunt of Wellesley, a classmate of the bridegroom at both Harvard College and Law School; and Joseph Harrington of Cambridge.

After the ceremony a reception was held at the Hotel Commander in Cambridge. High school and bridegroom being assisted in receiving by the parents of the bride and bridegroom's mother. Upon their return from a wedding journey to Hot Springs, Va., Mr. Kelly and his bride will make their home in Winchester.

The bride, who is a member of the Sargent Boston Club, is a graduate of Sargent School of Physical Education and Boston University. Mr. Kelly prepared for college at Winchester High School and Phillips Exeter Academy. He was graduated from Harvard in 1927, playing on the varsity football team in that year, and received his degree from the Harvard Law School in 1932. He is now practicing law in Boston, is past Grand Knight of Winchester Council, 219, Knights of Columbus; and is district deputy for 14th district of the order in Greater Boston.

OF WINCHESTER INTEREST

Mr. Eric Denton Coburn, a former Winchester resident, manager of Radio Marine Corporation of America for Eastern Texas, and his wife, Inez Brooks Coburn, are returning to their home in Kirbyville, Texas, after a visit with Mrs. Coburn's niece, Eva May Hebert, at the home of Mr. Coburn's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frederick W. Coburn, 722 East Merrimac street, Lowell.

Mr. Eric Coburn, a graduate of Winchester High School and of the Harvard Radio School, finds time aside from his work as a radio expert to operate a 160 acre farm at Kirbyville in the hard pine country 60 miles on the Mexican border. He is a cousin of Representative Martin Dies of Texas and a member of a family contributing two presidents to the United States, in addition to attending to many farm duties is such in demand as a food demonstrator. Miss Hebert is a direct descendant on her father's side of Marquis de Lafayette and her great-grandfather was one of the founders of Lafayette, Ind.

Mr. Coburn's sister, Miss Selena Coburn, is planning a visit to his home and will consider Baumont and Port Arthur, Texas, for professional entertaining, a field in which she has had considerable success both in Lowell and at Ogunquit, Me.

SOLOIST AT STONEHAM CHURCH

Betty Alden Perry of Elmwood avenue, well known to local music lovers as a member of the Chancel Choir at the First Congregational Church and member of the former Winchester Choral Society, has accepted the position of soprano soloist in the choir of the First Congregational Church in Stoneham.

There she will be associated with Marion Wright, contralto, of this town; and Kenneth McLeod, tenor, a former Winchester vocalist. Mr. J. Albert Wilson, Mrs. Perry's director while a member of the Chancel Choir, is a former member of the choir at the church to which she goes in Stoneham. She commences her new duties on Sunday.

GOVERNOR NAMES THANKSGIVING

Governor Saltonstall announced last Thursday that Massachusetts will stick to the ancient tradition of holding Thanksgiving on the last Thursday of November. The definite decision to maintain the ancient tradition was reached, he said, after mature consideration. It seems a fine thing to find at least one Massachusetts official who is willing to use mature consideration.

LEGION ELECTS

Winchester Post held its annual election of officers at the regular September meeting at its headquarters last evening. Retiring Commander Conrad Larson presided and installing officer was County Commander Daniel P. Brennan. Following are the officers elected and installed: Commander—Marshall W. Symmes. Senior Vice Commander—Richard W. MacAdams. Junior Vice Commander—R. H. B. Smith. Adjutant—James T. McMillen. Finance Officer—James W. Blackham. Chaplain—Vincent P. Clarke. Historian—Marshall W. Symmes. In the new commander is a graduate of Winchester High School and Tufts College, class of 1917, having been a member of Zeta Psi fraternity and manager of the varsity track team while in college. He served overseas with the quartermaster corps during the World War, was associated for a time with a Boston brokerage house and later with the publishing firms of Ginn and Co., and Houghton Mifflin. He is now New England representative for a New York publishing firm, is married and makes his home on Main street in the Symmes corner section.

NEWSY PARAGRAPHS

Three Winchester boys came to police headquarters Saturday afternoon to report that their bicycles had been stolen from where they had left them at the rear of the Standard Gas Station on Main street while they were attending the show at the Winchester Theatre. Sergeant Thomas F. Cassidy located the machines in the hands of local boys and returned them to their rightful owners.

Dr. and Mrs. Hollister K. Olmsted of small court are spending the week-end with Dr. Olmsted's uncle, Mr. Frank Lincoln Olmsted, at his estate, Pine Lodge in Lakewood, N. J. Mr. George E. Willey, former chairman of the Board of Selectmen, is reported as critically ill in the Massachusetts General Hospital.

Mrs. Maude T. Wolff of Mt. Vernon street was among the guests recently registered at the Hotel DeSoto in Savannah, Ga.

ALEXANDER MUNROE
Alexander Munroe, retired tanner and long time resident of Winchester, died at his home, 248 Cross street, early Sunday morning, Sept. 17, after several months of failing health.
Mr. Munroe was 76 years old and a native of Scotland. As a youth he came to this country and for the past 60 years had made his home in Winchester, enjoying a wide circle of friends among older residents of the town.
As a young man Mr. Munroe learned the tanner's trade and for more than a quarter of a century he was employed at the Winchester factory of Beggs & Cobb, retiring several years ago.
Mr. Munroe leaves his wife, Mrs. Mary A. (Nelson) Munroe; a daughter, Miss Margaret C. Munroe; a son, Roderick Monroe; and two grandchildren, all of this town. Also surviving are two sisters, Mrs. Edward McMillan of Medford and Mrs. Harry Snelling, living in New Jersey; and three brothers, Charles of Sioux, Mich., and David and Gibson Munroe of Beverly.
The funeral was held Tuesday morning from the late residence with high mass of requiem celebrated in the Immaculate Conception Church by the pastor, Rev. Fr. James Fitzsimons. Interment was in Calvary Cemetery.

Remember, we must keep the Red Cross ready!
MYSTIC ONCE CHARLESTOWN WATER SUPPLY
One curious feature of the dredging of Upper Mystic Lake is that the stumps taken up from the bottom show clear, fresh wood especially where the bark has come off. This lake was flooded for a water supply for Charlestown over 80 years ago.
The remains of a barn which had been burned were also found near the Mystic Valley Parkway although no one seems to remember that one ever stood there. It is said that the bottom of this lake was once a meadow and apple orchard.

FORTNIGHTLY NOTES
Garden Club Tour
The story of the Massachusetts State College, at Amherst, and the many experimental stations it maintains throughout the commonwealth, for the betterment of its citizens, was briefly but most interestingly portrayed by Prof. Paul W. Dempsey, head of the Waltham Field Station to the members of the Fortnightly Garden Group on Tuesday afternoon. The aims, ambitions, activities and achievements of that group of Scientists so busily engaged in all branches of horticulture, for the improvement of life and health, formed a story more thrilling than any book, and Professor Dempsey added interest by conducting a tour of the spacious greenhouses and gardens, and pointing out practical examples of the work done in each instance.
Favored with perfect weather, and a most fortunate time of year for visiting those particular gardens. The Fortnightly Garden Group enthusiastically reported one of the most interesting and enjoyable trips ever experienced.

WEEK-END FIRES
Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock the Fire Department was called to the Gulf Filling station on upper Main street to lay a foamite blanket on a gasoline leak from which gasoline was seeping from one of the big storage tanks into the grease pit. With the exceedingly high temperature the situation was considered too dangerous to risk until repair men could correct the trouble.
Sunday evening at 7:33 the department was called to put out a fire in the woods off Town Way in the Symmes Corner section. A camp fire left in the woods by children was thought to have caused the blaze.
The exceptionally dry condition of the ground where the fire occurred enabled the flames to burrow down and Monday at 2 o'clock the fire again broke out in the woods. The department laid a line and soaked the ground well on their second trip to Town Way, finding that other methods of fighting the underground blaze were ineffective.
Mr. and Mrs. George H. Joyce of Richardson street observed their wedding anniversary this week with a visit to the World's Fair in New York City.

EPIPHANY LUNCHEON AND BRIDGE

Women of Epiphany Parish will lure themselves away from the free green pastures of their vacation inactivity an ease themselves into the harness of a work-a-day state of mind by making their first Tuesday event pure playtime. Tuesday, Oct. 3, they will meet at 1 o'clock for luncheon and bridge in Boston at the Colonial Club, 234 Boylston street.
The event is sponsored by the Council of the Church Service League, with the active arrangements in charge of the Evening Branch. Mrs. John Sharon is at the head of the committee. It will be an ideal occasion for bearing and hearing the summer's news of those who stayed put in their favorite spot of shore mountain and of those who gratified a gypsy and adventuring taste by motoring to find and explore unfamiliar nooks and crannies of beautifully various America. It will serve happily also to bring newcomers to the parish into the Epiphany fellowship. Mrs. Gerald Y. Hills, the head of the Women's Division of the Church Service League will be present to greet old friends and co-workers and to welcome new.

GEORGE WASHINGTON-HIGHLAND CHAPTER

The Washington-Highland Chapter of the Mothers' Association opened its program for the year on Tuesday afternoon when Mrs. Arthur C. Fay of Fells road graciously opened her home for a tea for the teachers and mothers of both schools.
Tea, sandwiches and cakes delightfully served were in charge of Mrs. F. M. Ives, Jr., assisted by the following social committee: Mesdames Neil Borden, Luis A. Weil, Jr., Knight Pryor, K. Foster Cleaves, Alton C. Fairbairn, Arthur Cameron, Robert W. MacArthur, Harry Damon, Jr., and Robert Collins.
Mrs. Chester Kenney, last year's president, and Mrs. Francis Barrett, poured.
Mrs. Lyman Smith, president, announced that plans for the annual bridge to be held Tuesday, Oct. 17, were being made and urged all to save that date. Proceeds of the bridge will go as usual toward our quota of the Scholarship Fund.

ANNUAL MIXED FOURSOME

There was a large turnout for the annual mixed foursome tournament at the Winchester Country Club Friday. The gross honors went to Grace English and Gibbs W. Sherill of Tedesco with an 80, but second best resulted in a triple tie, in which Mrs. Donald M. Belcher and Arthur Rogers of Oakley figured. Low net went to Martha Wiswell and Dr. Wiswell of Blue Hill with 86-82, and a Winchester pair, Mrs. A. Cecil and "Ed" Bennett, took second with 87-71. Included among the Winchester players were:

Mr. and Mrs. F. Howard ..... 92-73
Mr. and Mrs. Philip Hendrick ..... 94-74
Mr. and Mrs. E. R. Rooney ..... 95-74
Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Connors ..... 99-76
Mr. and Mrs. D. A. Wilcox ..... 96-78

Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Badger ..... 107-84

ARLINGTON SCORES BUT TWICE

Winchester Holds Heavy Victors to 13-0 Score

A game Winchester High School football team, outweighted and outmanned, held Arlington High to a brace of second half touchdowns and a 13 to 0 victory in the wily heat of the Arlington stadium last Saturday afternoon. A crowd estimated as including about 6000 sweating souls saw the local players hold their burly opponents scoreless through the first half of play and then succumb to generally superior power and in particular the speed and tirelessness of Art Blanchard, ex-Arlington water-boy, who was the hero of last Saturday's fray.

Blanchard scored both of Arlington's touchdowns and added the extra point with a dropkick after the second. He was aided and abetted by Co-Captain Ed Burns, a heavy duty back and pile-driving Ed Tobin, who hit the Winchester line effectively, especially after the enforced absence of Toney DeTeso.

For Winchester these two co-captains, DeTeso and Pete Galuffo were immense and Arlington could show nothing to improve upon their all around play. The heat and a crack on the head forced Tony out of the going during much of the second half and his loss cannot be over-estimated. The locals got another bad break when their only effective punter, big Frank Marabell, was benched with an injured jaw during the first few minutes of play. More effective kicking would have helped plenty as the game went into the second half.

Derby looked like the most promising running back in the local attack and up forward a big brood of a boy named Joe Herlihy, a new-comer to Winchester, several times knifed through the Arlington frontier to nail ball-carriers for losses.

In general Winchester was out-powered, rather than outplayed. Arlington looked none too impressive, but its heavier operatives wore down the local boys and finally set the stage for Blanchard's two scores. Arlington lost a third touchdown when a plunging back had the ball knocked from his grasp as he was flowing across the goal-line late in the game, Winchester recovering.

Of course too much could not be expected of either team on a day like Saturday. With the temperature at the 100 degree mark both clubs found the going tough and time-worn Arling were frequent officials taking time out on themselves to give the boys a breather.

Winchester seemed to suffer the most from bumps and exhaustion, and with the loss of DeTeso, always its sparkplug, sagged enough to yield two touchdowns. What the result would have been on a cooler day, no one can say. Perhaps Winchester would have played the Scarlet and Silver more evenly. Perhaps the big Arlington club would have ground out a more impressive victory. Both teams were ill between the halves and when Arlington returned to the field its players appeared to have gone under the cooling showers, uniforms and all.

There isn't much to say about the game itself. Neither club has any passing attack, and neither attempted any elaborate plays. Winchester had back to match the speedy Blanchard, no climax runner of the Geogaghan or Murray type, and its tackling, especially down the set-back was ineffective. Without detracting from the ability of the speedy Blanchard he was lucky to get away with a score on his first cross-the-field jaunt from nine yards out.

Galuffo stopped a first period thrust by Arlington when he recovered a fumble at his 29. The locals penetrated into Arlington territory, but were forced to kick and a short boot gave Arlington the ball near midfield.

With DeTeso swarming under and over the big Arlington linemen the Scarlet found its running game bogging down on the local 31 where passes failed and Winchester took the ball on downs. A fumble recovery by Flynn gave Arlington another chance, but its attack had reached only the 18 when the half ended.

Arlington kicked off to start the second half and Winchester was forced to kick soon after putting the ball in play. Blanchard, outguessing a plunging Winchester end, got away for a 25 yard runback to the locals' 29, from where he and Burns made it first and ten on the 19. Burns and Preston ground out another first down on the nine where Blanchard legged off his own left end away across the field for the first touchdown. The try for goal failed.

In the waning minutes of the third quarter Winchester was forced to punt, and once again a poor boot, followed by a 15 yard penalty against the locals gave Arlington the ball on the Winchester 27.

The tired Winchester boys had little to offer against their heavier opponents and in four plays a first down was made at the six yard line. Femia picked up two, Blanchard three, and with his yard to go for the score, Blanchard went over, adding the extra point with a dropkick.

BURLEIGH TAKES TWO IN BOAT CLUB SNIPE RACES

Morrow Receives Pleon Award

By Teiltale

Staging a private "blitzkrieg" over the week-end, Ted Burleigh captured the lead in both the Saturday and Sunday sailing races at the Winchester Boat Club.

To Winchester racing fans, this is news of the first order, for Dick Merrow, skipper of the dauntless "Don't Duck," had practically established a permanent claim to the No. 1 position by virtue of an unprecedented string of victories. The double win for the "Tee Bees" would have added considerable zest to the three remaining races on this season's schedule except that Sunday's contest marked the final effort on Ted's part before deserting the Lake for more serious subjects at college. "Tee Bees" will continue to rate as tough competition under the capable handling of Ted Burleigh, Sr.

Any chagrin that Dick Merrow may have felt over the set-back was more than assuaged by the belated arrival on Monday, via parcel post, of the Pleon Trophy which he won way back at the start of Marblehead Race Week. Dick earned the trophy on August 7 by outstriking a large fleet of juniors in a race staged by the Eastern Yacht Club. Some of the sweetness of victory drained away when the race committee made vague answers to questions about the nature and possible delivery date of the trophy. In fact, Dick had just about catalogued the cup in the same class as the mythical pot at the end of the rainbow when one of Uncle Sam's messengers in gray dinged his doorbell. The trophy showed up in the mail and substantial form of a mahogany-encased barometer. And now, all is fair and warmer at the Merrow mansion.

Runner-ups to Burleigh's "Tee Bees" in the Saturday set-to were Merrow in "Don't Duck" and Croughwell in "Sans Peur." On Sunday, Merrow again took second place and Simonds in "Weave-It" finished third. A fleet of ten boats started each day. Spectators along the Parkway got a special thrill during Sunday's race when a particularly lusty puff capsize "Phooka" from Winchester and two of the comets from Medford. The Admiralty reports no casualties.

Winchester Again Meets Tech

Far from dwindling away as the season nears its end, interest should hit a new high next Sunday when the Boat Club snipe sailors engage a team from M. I. T. in the final sailing match. The contest has been nip and tuck all season, and while Tech enjoys a slight advantage, the fact that this race will be sailed on the home course gives Winchester a fighting chance to win.

The program arranged for Sunday evening should appeal to both active and armchair yachtsmen. Highlight of the entertainment will be the full-color movie "On the Weather Rail" produced by the well-known yachting expert, Jack Wood. Mr. Wood is not only a top ranking skipper in his own right but, as sailing master at Tech, is more than qualified to talk about any aspect of sailing. Many of the scenes in the pictures were shot aboard yachts during actual races and the combination of action and color should pack enough realism to keep the audiences ducking the spray. A buffet supper will precede the movies which are scheduled to start at 8 p. m.

A PEEK THROUGH THE KEYHOLE AT NEXT YEAR

"It appears Buick is going to be the spark plug of the 1940 General Motors lines"

—from a recent issue of the magazine, STEEL

WE think the statement quoted above takes in altogether too much territory.

Everyone knows all General Motors cars are good cars and good values—no one division needs to "spark plug" that great line.

Just the same, it's true that here at Buick we're straining our suspenders to produce something special for 1940.

We've spent, for example, eight millions more for tools, dies and new plant equipment to make sure of that.

We plan to offer you for next year not only our accustomed four Series of cars, but two completely new numbers also.

There'll be something pretty important for you to learn about in connection with making our famed Dynaflex engines even more to be desired.

In every Buick there'll be more swell features of ride and stride than you've got time to count.

So, whether we're "spark plug" or not next year—who cares?

The main thing is, we'll be "in there pitching" with the grandest automobiles you ever saw!

Good old "Salty," we all know he would not go back on us. Send the Turkey, Harris, at the customary date.

Well, America is now in a "state of emergency." Everybody except the New Deal knows that we have been ever since 1932.

It is denied that the Brain Trust is out. The sudden cry that the opinions of a few outsiders would be given consideration, born of wishful thinking, is denied by the White House. Hitler, too, has a "brain trust" program which he refuses to abandon.

The Star notes that at Watertown's third special town meeting of the year held Tuesday night the voters decided to abolish their playground commission and transfer its duties and powers to the park commission. This action would lead one to believe that Watertown's experience at least in line with Winchester's decision made last March to leave its recreational problem in the lap of the Park Board.

A PARTISANSHIP THIRD TERM

President Roosevelt said, in his fireside chat, on Sept. 3, 1939, "Let me make the simple plea that partisanship and selfishness be adjourned" this occurred during his speech for national unity, peace, and neutrality over the air that Sunday night, at the start of the European War.

All groups warmly supported this stand that partisanship be adjourned. Probably if the full truth is ever known, much greater progress could have been made during the "American emergency" those last seven years of the depression, if the same procedure had been adopted. Even though it has been taken as "European emergency" to suggest the stopping of bias partisanship, it was hoped by the nation that a breathing spell would now result.

But what has actually happened in the few days since this plea? New Dealers are openly stating that because of the war President Roosevelt will be drafted for a third term, etc. Instead of all being concerned with the urgent problems of protecting American peace in a war-torn world, there is an evident attempt being made to interpret the European catastrophe as simply a political development to assure a third term.

Such partisan intoxication not only makes more difficult the task of the President to unify all factions; but also, it will definitely kill any substantial support for a third term, if it has ever existed.

WINCHESTER MT. HOLYOKE ASSOCIATION MEETING

The fall meeting of the Winchester Mt. Holyoke Association brought 19 members together after summer vacations. They met at the home of Mrs. James Allen on Highland avenue on Wednesday afternoon, Sept. 13.

Mrs. Adin Bailey led the business meeting and announced the new officers for the coming year as Mrs. Gerald Barrett, president; and Miss Catherine Spaulding, secretary-treasurer.

Mrs. James Willing gave the members details of the coming book talks which the Association sponsors for the benefit of its scholarship fund for Winchester girls. The services of Mrs. Alice Dixon Bond have been secured for a series of eight talks beginning in October and meeting throughout the year.

At the first meeting, falling on Oct. 3 in the library hall at 10 a. m., Mrs. Bond will devote to the discussion of "Fall Fiction."

The group met around the tea table for refreshments served by Mrs. John H. Clarke and her committee consisting of Miss Elise Belcher, Mrs. Frederick Hatch, Mrs. Gerald Barrett, Mrs. Martin Swann, Mrs. Harold Smith and Mrs. Fred Abbott.

Miss Mary McGurn of Bonnell Motors has returned from a week's vacation to Washington, D. C. She was accompanied by her mother, Mrs. T. J. McGurn and aunt Mrs. P. J. McNulty.

FLOWER SHOW GREAT SUCCESS

Exhibits of high standard and staging of a quality worthy of Mechanics Hall, characterized the fourth all-Winchester flower show, held on Thursday and Friday, Sept. 14 and 15, in the First Baptist Church. Called by out-of-town experts one of the finest small shows ever staged in this section, the show by its ambition and success in one type of display should be spur to originality and interest in following shows.

The use of the two large halls created a feeling of restful spaciousness and allowed the design of the show as a whole and the individual exhibits to be seen at their best. The special exhibit of the Better Homes Garden Club, focus in the recreation hall, was a truly lovely setting of a weatherbeaten tool house, with wood shed, well-head, dooryard herbs and friendly birches. The effect was so perfect that one almost looked for sunshine through the leaves. This was a special feature. The Winchester Garden Club for its special exhibit filled the stage in the social hall with a splendid reproduction of an old-fashioned dining room set for Thanksgiving dinner. The restraint with which the beautiful antiques were assembled against the background of knotty pine walls was admirable. This also won a special award. Smaller special exhibits were the table bouquets, one by the garden group of the Fortnightly, which was specially commended by the judges for its delightful color scheme, and one by the Garden Lovers Club of Greater Boston, which won special mention for its rich material, high bush cranberries. Worthy of notice was the beauty and variety of the shadow box and niche arrangements, and the exceptionally interesting children's class.

Commercial exhibitors who won special awards were Miss Hattie E. Snow of the Snowflake Gardens, whose dahlias were more glorious than ever; the Winchester Conservatory, with a basket of gladioli and chrysanthemums mentioned by the judges for color; A. H. Marchant of Rangely, with a superb collection of 70 different varieties of mosses; Cummings the Florist with a charming mixed table bouquet; and E. E. Randall of Reading, nurseryman, with a display of dahlias and evergreens. Sponsor of the show was the Better Homes Garden Club, with the cooperation of the Winchester Garden Club, the garden group of the Fortnightly and the Garden Lovers Club of Greater Boston. General chairman were Mrs. John Burchard and Mrs. Norman M. Mitchell, president of the club. Mrs. Samuel Kirkwood designed and staged the show, assisted by Mrs. Twombly, Mrs. William Hudson, and Messrs. Norman Mitchell, Charles E. Rice, Gray Twombly and John Wolfe. Mrs. Ambrose Reasoner was classification chairman.

Mrs. Howard L. Bennett had charge of admissions and Mrs. Chester E. Wolfe of programs. Mrs. Arthur S. Harris acted as secretary to the judges vice Mrs. Torr Wagner Harmer. Registration was handled by Mrs. C. Stewart Cole, assisted by Mrs. Harriet Bean, Mrs. Clifton Berge, Mrs. James McGovern, Miss Helen O'Connor, Mrs. Emerson C. Priest and Mrs. A. A. Distenfeld.

Hostesses under Mrs. George E. Moffette were Mrs. Roland R. Carter, Mrs. Daniel C. Dennett, Mrs. Harold Dover, Mrs. Frank Enman, Mrs. D. M. Ferguson, Mrs. George R. Feregron, Mrs. Helen F. Foster, Mrs. Helen Monroe, Mrs. William Phippen, Mrs. Walter Rice, Mrs. William Smith, Mrs. J. Herbert Waite and Mrs. John B. Wills. The tea committee under Mrs. Clifton Berge included Mrs. E. Adele Emory, Miss Louise Bancroft, Miss Eleanor Bancroft, Mrs. Roland R. Carter, Mrs. Leon Hughes and Mrs. Fred D. Williams.

Mrs. Clifton Berge had charge of the Dorchester Pottery exhibit and sale, assisted by Mrs. Twombly and Mrs. Wolfe. The Wellesley Garden Show exhibit and sale was managed by Mrs. Herbert P. West, with the assistance of Miss Nancy England, Mrs. William W. Goodhue, Mrs. Reasoner, Mrs. Arthur Pitman and Mrs. Elmer C. Whitten.

Committees responsible for the special exhibits were Mrs. Arthur P. Toole, vice president for the north-east region of the Massachusetts Federation of Garden Clubs, Mrs. Albert R. Sharn of Brookline and Mrs. Charles H. Hadden of Marblehead.

The club makes grateful acknowledgment to the First Baptist Church, the Winchester Water Department, the Massachusetts Horticultural Society, Mr. Alan F. Howard and Mr. A. Waldo Rockwood.

The judges were Mrs. Arthur P. Toole, vice president for the north-east region of the Massachusetts Federation of Garden Clubs, Mrs. Albert R. Sharn of Brookline and Mrs. Charles H. Hadden of Marblehead.

OBSERVED 12TH BIRTHDAY

Miss Jacqueline Barnes, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. Stanley Barnes of Forest Hills, observed her 12th birthday, which was Friday, Sept. 15, by entertaining a group of her friends at a theatre and dinner party last Saturday afternoon.

Jacqueline and her guests attended the performance at the Winchester Theatre in the afternoon and then went on to the Shaker Glen House for supper at 6. A big birthday cake featured the supper and each girl was given a yellow rose corsage as a favor. The color scheme was canary yellow and songs and quizzes made the time pass quickly.

Among the guests were the Misses Joan Boock, Marilyn Chelf, Mary Jean Conley, Emily Hanson, Joan Hatch, Patricia Keating, Joan Laverty, Jane Ritchie and Marilyn Walsh.

CHILD STRUCK BY TRUCK

James Smith, 5 year old son of Mr. and Mrs. James N. Smith of 25 Salem street, was struck and injured by a truck on upper Main street Wednesday afternoon about 3:30.

The truck driver, Philip J. McCarron of 29 Berkeley street, Lowell, told Patrolman Clarence Dunbury that he was driving a LaFrance Republic 5 ton truck, owned by N. F. Smith Co., of 215 Western avenue, Lowell, south on Main street near Symmes grain mill when the little Smith boy ran from the easterly side of the street into the path of the truck.

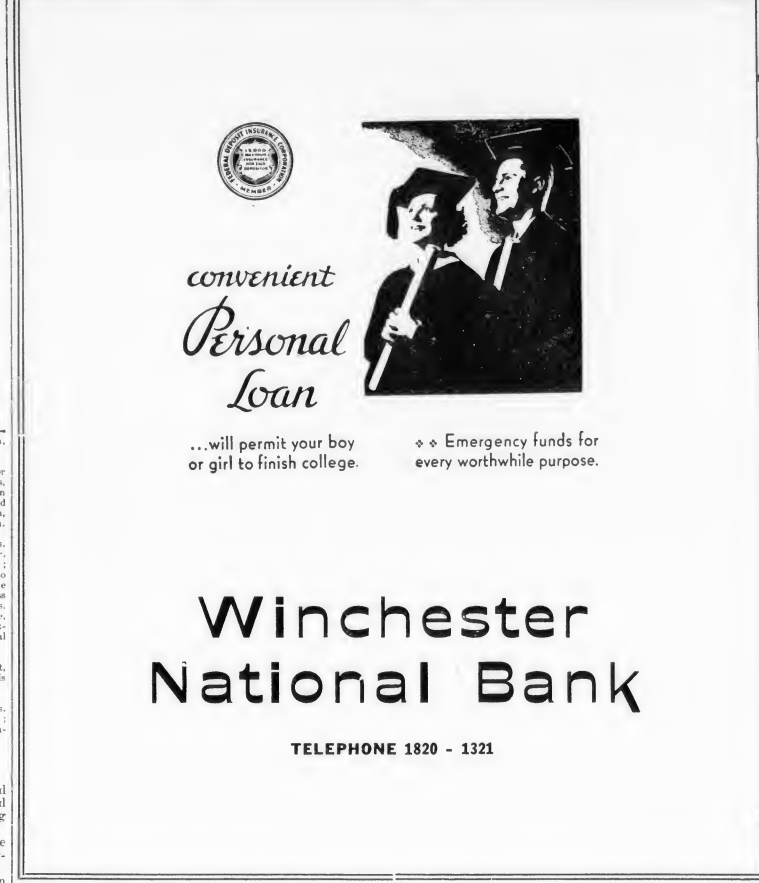

The child was not thought to have been seriously injured and was taken to his home in the police ambulance by Patrolman John Dolan and Irving Reardon. He was attended by Dr. Philip J. McManus.

M. C. W. G. NOTES

On Thursday evening, Sept. 28, Director Mary Carroll will conduct a whist party at her home on Lincoln street to assist the charitable fund. Donation Day for the Miramichi Mission Home at Island Creek will be Oct. 22, at which time members and their friends are welcome at their Island Creek Home in Kingston.

Next Sunday, Sept. 24, will be M. C. W. G. annual day of recollection at the Convent of the Sacred Heart in Newton. Rev. ## THE FIRST CONGREGATIONAL CHURCH SCHOOL

The First Congregational Church School will open for the season on Sunday, Sept. 24.

The purpose of the Sunday School is to develop in our boys and girls and young people:

1. The attributes of Christian character.
2. A spirit of world brotherhood.
3. A loyalty to Jesus and His Church.
4. A consciousness of God.
5. Bible study, worship services, projects, museum trips, motion pictures, all these help to carry out our purpose in the lives of the pupils.

The Board of Directors of the Sunday School is composed of:

- Dr. Howard J. Chidley, Pastor.
- Mr. Harold Bates, Executive Superintendent of the School.
- Mr. R. H. B. Smith, Secretary.
- Mr. Roland Carter, Treasurer.
- Mrs. Colver Dyer, Mrs. Norman Padelford, Mrs. Eugene Pollard, Mr. Gilbert H. Hood, Mrs. Rex T. Crandall, Mr. Raymond Dickman, Mr. Erskine N. White, Miss Evelyn Scott, Mr. Leon Sargent.

The Nursery Department

The Nursery School is for children 2 and 3 years of age, and meets on Sundays at 10:45. The school is under the leadership of Mrs. Colver Dyer, a trained nursery school supervisor. Every precaution is taken to protect the health of these children. Crackers, water and rest in the middle of the session prevent the hour from being too strenuous. Songs, stories, and group activities make the first Sunday School experience happy ones.

Kindergarten Department

Superintendent: Mrs. Eugene Pollard. Secretary: Miss Leila Jane Smith. Assistant: Mrs. William Morse, Mrs. F. M. Cooper. Course: Guiding Beginners in Christian Growth.

Many children are beginning Sunday School for the first time. Much depends upon these first experiences in the Church School, for attitudes are being formed in the minds of the children which carry through the coming years. With this in mind, the leaders plan to provide a happy atmosphere through attractive activities of Bible stories, songs and pictures.

Primary Department

Superintendent: Mrs. Robert Keeney. Secretary: Miss Leila Jane Smith. Assistant: Mrs. Everett Vincent, Mrs. Ralph Smith, Miss Barbara Fernald. Course: Discovering God's World.

Aim: To develop a consciousness of God as Creator, Protector, and Father of all; one with whom we may talk; who forgives our wrongdoing; who helps us to live as His children.

Grade I Teachers: Mrs. B. Edward Zinn, Mrs. Arthur Cameron.

Grade II Teachers: Mrs. Edwin A. Rooney, Miss Elizabeth Thompson, Mrs. Foster Spooner.

Course for Grade II and Grade III: Friends in God's World.

Aim: To help the children more fully to feel the love of God for all people. The course aims to help boys and girls to love Jesus more and to desire to be like Him.

The boys and girls of the Primary Department attend Church with their parents at 10:45, and at the close of the Children's Sermon go into their Sunday School Department.

Junior Department

Superintendent: Mrs. Rex T. Crandall. Secretary: Miss Mary Jane Dickson. Organist: Miss Margaret Copeland. Organist: Mrs. Clifford Cunningham.

Grade IV Teachers: Miss Margaret Copeland, Miss Margaret Millican, Mrs. Ralph Smith.

Course: "How Our Bible Came To Be."

The boys and girls of this grade were graduated from the Primary Department in June and received a beautiful copy of the King James version of the Bible as a gift from the church. This course aims to help

10:45 A. M.—Morning worship. The minister will preach on "The Purpose of Life." Mrs. Ruth B. Maffee will sing two numbers. "O For a Closer Walk With God" by Foster, and "God Be Merciful to Me" by Woeber.

Today is Family Day at Church. You and the members of your family are sincerely invited to attend this church if you are a new local church member, or have no other local church home.

"A Friendly Church by the Side of the Road"

First Church of Christ, Scientist, Winchester

Sunday Services and Sunday School 10:45 A. M.

Wednesday testimonial meeting, 7:45 P. M. 50 Winchester Terrace (off Thompson street). Open daily 11 A. M. to 5 P. M., except Sundays and holidays.

"Reality," is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon in Church of Christ, Scientist, throughout the world, on Sunday, Sept. 24.

The Golden Text is: "Since the beginning of the world men have not heard, nor perceived by the ear, neither hath the eye seen, nor hath the heart conceived, nor hath it entered into the heart of man what he hath prepared for him that waiteth for him" (Isaiah 64:4).

Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible: "The Lord of hosts hath sworn, saying, Surely as I have thought, so shall it come to pass; and as I have purposed, so shall it stand." For the Lord of hosts hath purposed, and who shall disannul it? his hand is stretched out, and who shall turn it back? (Isaiah 41:24, 25).

The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook and Health with Key by Mary Baker Eddy: "The spiritual reality is the scientific fact in all things. The scientific fact, recent in the action of man and the whole universe, is harmonious and is the ideal of Truth. Spiritual facts are not invented; they are not created, which bears no resemblance to spiritual inversion is obtained from supposition, error, which affords no proof of God, Spirit, or of the spiritual creation" (p. 207, 208).

Mrs. H. L. Darling, Director of Religious Education.
Mr. Lincoln B. Spiess, Organist and Choirmaster.

Sunday, Sept. 24.
Public service of worship at 10:45 a. m.

This will be Family Sunday in the Protestant Churches of Winchester and Mr. Reed will preach on "Our Aids."

This will be registration day in the Church School. The pupils in the Kindergarten and Primary Departments will assemble at 10:45; and the Junior High at 11:00.

The Metcalf Union will have its first meeting in the Get-Together, Sunday, Oct. 1, a supper meeting at 6:15.

BOOK REVIEW CLASS OF FIRST CONGREGATIONAL CHURCH

The Book Review class of the First Congregational Church will meet in the ladies' parlor on Tuesday, Sept. 26 at 2 p. m. Mrs. Walter Winslow will read a few sketches from "These Are Our Lives," a book made up of 35 life stories told by wage-earning men and women in North Carolina, Tennessee and Georgia to W. P. A. workers on the Federal Writers' Project.

Dorothy Canfield Fisher called these stories "the very stuff of living."

Mrs. Arthur Thad Smith will have charge of the tea that follows. All who belonged to the class last spring are invited, also any who wish to join for another year's work.

SENIOR FORUM

Successful Youth Organization Begins Its Second Year

The second year of the Senior Forum of the First Congregational Church will start on Sept. 24. Forum members will start the year by attending the morning church service at 10:45 a. m. at which time Dr. Chidley will preach a special sermon for them entitled, "Take Root in Yourself." In the evening there will be a registration supper for all members of the Forum in the parish hall at 6 p. m. At this time plans for the year will be discussed. We shall have as our special guest, Mr. Pitt Parker, at the same time is a rare accomplishment. Mr. Parker is famous for his ready wit, his eloquence, and his ability to hold the attention of his audience every minute.

The first regular morning meeting will be held Oct. 1 at 9:30 a. m. in Ripley Chapel. The morning sessions will continue through to April 28. We will again have as leaders, men prominent in various fields of education, religion, and national and international affairs.

Forum Leaders for the Year
Dr. Edwin P. Booth, Dr. Herbert Geozark, Prof. George R. Harrison, Mr. Clifford K. Brown, Mr. Thomas Harris, Mr. Herbert Saul, Mr. Basil Mathews.

The first leader of the year will be Dr. Edwin P. Booth who will be with us for our first course beginning Oct. 1. Dr. Booth, professor of church history at Boston University, pastor of the Community Church at Islings-ton, needs no personal introduction to those who heard him last year. This year as our first Forum leader he will present the history of the Christian Church through the biographies of its foremost leaders, Augustine, St. Francis of Assisi, Martin Luther, John Calvin, John Wesley and George A. Gordon. Through the lives of these men Dr. Booth will tell the thrilling and challenging development of Christian History.

Registration Enrollments
At the registration supper Sunday evening, or at the church office. Attendance will be limited to young people of high school and college age.

Committees
Officers—Norman Clarke, president; Elmer Reeves, vice president; Edna McCormick, secretary; Erskine N. White, Jr., treasurer.

Directors—Norman Clarke, Elmer Reeves, Edna McCormick, Erskine N. White, Jr., Samuel Crabtree, Jean Drake, Eleanor Randall.

MARKSMANSHIP WINNERS

Two young Winchester riflemen, Waldo B. Lyon, 6 Everett road, and Edwin R. Rooney, Jr., 12 Sheffield road, have joined the ranks of national junior medal winners through a recent series of qualification shooting, wherein they won the expert gold bar awarded by the junior division of the National Rifle Association with headquarters at Washington, D. C.

Firing as members of the Great East Lodge Camp club, they won their expert rating under the coaching of the local club instructor.

The rating of expert is the highest of some 14 grades of shooting qualifications, with only the coveted distinguished bar for all-around shooting ability over the standard 50 foot course topping this award. Of a total of 71,811 junior shooters throughout the country to qualify last year in all grades, only 123 were awarded the distinguished medal and 646 the expert award.

SATURDAY GOLF

G. H. Akins had a 90—71 for best net in the medal play golf tournament at the Winchester Country Club last Saturday afternoon. D. F. Connors' 77 was best net.

In the four-ball, three-quarter handicap four teams turned in 69's and the remaining two had 71's.

Following are the summaries:

G. H. Akins	90—71
D. F. Connors	77—73
A. M. Bond	83—72
J. F. Tuttle	88—74
W. T. Hall	90—75

FALL TENNIS TOURNAMENT

Play in the tennis tournament conducted by the Winchester Tennis Association at the Palmer street playground progressed during the past week to the semi-final and final rounds. In the finals of the men's singles to be played at 10 o'clock Sunday morning, Hall Gamage will oppose Herb Ross. In the semi-finals of the men's doubles Bob Drake and Thad Smith will play Hall Gamage and Al Pennell at 3:30 o'clock Saturday afternoon. The winners of this match will meet Herb Ross and Roger Pettigrell in the finals to be played probably Sunday afternoon.

In the mixed doubles Dolly Greene and Jim Riley are scheduled to play Lois Ladd and Jimmy Coon a semi-final match Sunday morning. The winner of this match will play Frances Keyes and Hall Gamage in the finals.

SHOWER

Miss Rita Mary Moffett, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. M. G. Moffett of Washington street, was pleasantly surprised last week Wednesday evening when a group of 85 relatives and friends gathered at her home to give her a miscellaneous shower in honor of her approaching marriage to Charles W. Meek of this town, which is to take place tomorrow, Sept. 23.

Miss Moffett received many useful and attractive gifts for which she graciously expressed her thanks. Refreshments and a social hour followed the opening of the packages.

METROPOLITAN SOFT BALL TOURNAY ENDS

The 1939 Metropolitan Boston Amateur softball tournament, held at Franklin Field, Sept. 9, 10, 16 and 17 was ended last Sunday when the Polo Boys of Norwood defeated the Atlantic Excelsiors 4 to 2 in Class B, and the Foster A. C. of Arlington took the Business Men of Norwood 6 to 0 to win in Class A.

Mr. Joseph Tansey is the local commissioner of the Metropolitan Boston Amateur Softball Association for Winchester.

Bills due at the Star Office.

SENTENCED FOR FILLING STATION BREAK

Charles J. Kenney, 19, of Charlestown who was indicted by the Grand Jury for breaking and entering the gasoline station of Robert Shaw at the junction of Forest and Washington streets on evidence submitted June 28 by Sgt. Thomas F. Cassidy of the Police Department, was sentenced Monday in the superior court at East Cambridge by Judge Wilfred Gray to serve nine months in the House of Correction with two years probation to follow the expiration of that term.

Police say Kenney and a companion broke into Shaw's station early in the summer. Kenney was arrested by the Charlestown Police for a break in Quincy. Edward C. Miller, 21, of Charlestown, who the police say was Kenney's companion in the local break was arrested by the police of Lowell on a charge of breaking and entering in that city. He has been indicted by the Grand Jury and when he stands trial the local charge against him will be pressed.

BREAKING GLASS AGAIN

Last Saturday morning shortly after 10 o'clock, in response to a report that the sound of breaking glass was heard at the old Stanton house at the corner of Main and Chestnut streets, Sgt. Thomas F. Cassidy and Patrolman Clarence Dunbury went to investigate.

They found on the top floor of the vacant house four local girls, no one of whom lived in the immediate neighborhood, two 13 and two 14 years old, who had gained access by breaking a window on the south side of the dwelling. Neighbors who saw the youngsters enter the house, said that the sound of breaking glass was heard after they got into the building.

The quartette was taken by Officer Dunbury to headquarters and there given a sharp lecture by Chief William H. Rogers. Afterward the girls were taken to their homes where their parents were informed of their escapade.

The Stanton estate is one of the old estates of the town and has been vacant since the death of its late owner. Its management is in the hands of trustees in New York City.

Mr. Utley Wilson Smith of Winchester was groomsmen at the marriage of Miss Lucille Scudder of Abington to John Clough Tebbetts of Wellesley Hills Saturday afternoon, Sept. 16, at All Saints Church in Whitman.

freshman parents

There's many a youngster away at school or college for the first time who finds it none too easy to adjust himself to his new surroundings, new friends, new studies... Mother's voice, Dad's cheery messages... yes, telephone calls of love, encouragement, and advice have helped many a son and daughter off to a happier and a better school year. You will find, too, that little visits by telephone cost but little.

HIGH SCHOOL HOCKEY CANDIDATES OUT

With the opening of school Winchester High's new physical director and coach of girls, Deborah Fenton, has lost little time in getting candidates for positions on the 1939 field hockey team down to business on Manchester Field. With six of last year's first team missing this fall much work remains to be done to field an eleven capable of carrying on the high tradition Winchester hockey teams have enjoyed in the past.

On hand for the present campaign are Capt. Carolyn Blanchard, unscored on goalers last fall, this year trying out as forward; Helen Carroll, an inner on last year's varsity who is likely to patrol a different post this autumn; and halfbacks Peggy Greene and Mildred Rogers with fullback Rita Collins. These girls constitute a nice nucleus of letter players, especially when reinforced by Goaler Sally Sharon, fullback Dolly Greene, halfbacks Janet Hayward and Anna Errio and inner Charlotte Moran and Barbara Hughes from last year's unbeaten second team.

Added to the above more experienced candidates are P. Tapley, M. Lybeck, J. Maxon, J. Moffette, E. Reeves, M. Marchesi, A. Davis, J. Doub, E. Moffett, A. Downer, P. Carroll, C. McGeehan and B. Magnusson.

A game is pending with Stoneham for Oct. 11, and thereafter the following schedule will be played:

Oct.

MASONS HELD OUTING

The annual golf and supper outing of William Parkman Lodge of Masons was held Wednesday afternoon at the Unicorn Golf and Country Club in Stoneham.

Edward L. Bennett had low gross for the golf tourney with Glen Browning bagging low net. Charles M. Vanner won the kickers' handicap, and the "other prize" went to "Squire" George Franklin, amid great applause.

A delicious dinner was served after the tournament at the clubhouse, there was much cheering for the new crowned champions and general good time enjoyed. W. M. Allan Wilde and L. J. Scott were the committee in charge of arrangements.

Sun glasses and "over-specs." Three styles to choose from. 25c and 39c at the Star Office.

Frank's Persistence. Ida T. Winn.

How she rode her heifer, Dime, thereby gaining a much-desired horse.

Great delight in nature, in her forest home in Wisconsin. They went there from New York in pioneer way, by wagon, free to choose their location.

Freedom Day. Her poem, "I am 18." Miss Stott.

Not that the yoke was heavy to be borne And grievous.

Do I glory that it is removed—For better need did parents fond impose on child."

Her Spiritual Awakening. Mrs. Ida Beichman.

"A young woman moved up the aisle to the altar. There was no mistake that form and face. The effect on the congregation was electrical. Some one began the Doxology.

It was sung as if the very stars were expected to join the chorus."

Climbing the Pyramids of Cheops in Egypt. Mrs. Isabelle Tufts.

Aided by the Bedouins above and an Egyptian behind, she mounted the first hand-kneeling on wet side, a hundred steps in 14 minutes. The Bedouins said, "Yankee doodle" had "Arab feet."

The Crusade. Mrs. Cella Kimball.

One day Miss Willard took part in a Crusade school meeting in Pittsburgh. The Crusade—the Ohio Women's Whiskey War—must have been a mighty, rushing wind and cloven tongues of fire. Women went to bed incredulous, curious, half scornful, and woke on the morrow to wade through slush and snow to join a praying band, kneeling on wet sidewalks before saloons, to hear their own voices for the first time in prayer, to be drenched with water, set on by dogs, cursed, imprisoned."

The Young People. Mrs. A. M. B. Sanborn.

The National W. C. T. U. and the World's W. C. T. U. have a great many Loyal Temperance Legions and Youth Temperance Councils throughout the world, splendid organizations.

At the first National W. C. T. U. convention, 1874, in Cleveland, Miss Willard presented her Plan of work, which included in one sub-head two of our departments:

The children in Sunday schools and public schools the ethics, chemistry, physiology and hygiene of total abstinence. New Hampshire was the second state to adopt temperance instruction. Today all the children in our public schools are under scientific temperance instruction.

"Little People." Mrs. Mary L. Winn.

A poem written by Mrs. Willard's mother at 85 years of age for the Loyal Temperance Legions. It has been recited all over the world by these little soldiers and reminds us of those words, "Tremble, King Alcohol, we shall grow up." They did and they helped to dethrone King Alcohol and bring in Prohibition.

The National Woman's Christian Temperance Union. Mrs. Orella Kimball.

To make the W. C. T. U. truly national, Frances Willard and Anna Gordon undertook the heroic and herculean task of 29,000 miles "Temperance Roundup" when roads were poor or practically non-existent. Starting out in 1883, they went to every state and territory in the Union, to every town of 10,000 inhabitants or more, and two or three zealous spirits pioneer travel with its unsuspected dangers, was full of delightful surprises. Once they saw logs from behind which bandits had fired the day before. But thrills were what Frances Willard needed to enliven business routine. At one town the mayor prohibited public meetings "Through fear of Diphtheria." Many thought it fear of a temperance crusade. The union was organized in a private house.

SUNDAY DINNER SUGGESTIONS

By Cora Anthony

The panic is over and it is realized that hoarding is and will be unnecessary. Several commodities have already dropped back from top levels. Some foods normally rise at this season, notably eggs, butter and poultry.

Meats are considerably cheaper except for smoked meats which are now reflecting the earlier prices for fresh pork.

Potatoes and dried beans and peas are higher. Sweet potatoes are plentiful and inexpensive. Other vegetables show little if any change.

The apple crop is large and ample supplies are coming to market. The grape season is beginning. Peaches, pears and fresh prunes are plentiful.

WILLIAM J. STEVENSON

William J. Stevenson, a widely known resident of Winchester for nearly half a century, died Sunday morning, Sept. 24, at his home, 32 Hemingway street, after a long illness.

Mr. Stevenson was 75 years old and a native of Donegal, Ireland, the son of Thomas and Catherine (Carney) Stevenson. As a youth of 16 he came to this country and was for several years a resident of Woburn before coming to Winchester 48 years ago. For 30 years he was employed at the Beggs & Cobb tannery, later working for a time at the former Whitney Machine Company plant and for the Town Highway Department. For the past ten years he had been retired.

Mr. Stevenson took an active interest in town affairs and was a familiar figure at town meetings, often speaking on matters under discussion. He was for years a town meeting member from Precinct 6, was a member of the Republican Town Committee, of No. 1000 Lodge, L. O. L., of Woburn; and of the First Congregational Church.

Surviving are two daughters, Mrs. Owen Woods of Woburn and Miss Olive Stevenson of this town; six sons, William H., a member of the Water Department; John, Clarence and Robert, all of Winchester; Earl, of Stoneham; and Hugh A. Stevenson of Allston. There are also surviving 12 grandchildren and three great grandchildren.

Funeral services were held Tuesday afternoon in Ripley Memorial Chapel of the First Congregational Church, with the pastor, Rev. Howard J. Chaley, officiating. Interment was in Wildwood Cemetery.

Drive in comfort. Protect your eyes from glare with sun glasses and "over-specs." Several styles. See them at the S. C. Office.

JUNIOR HIGH DESSERT BRIDGE

On Tuesday last the various chairmen of the Dessert Bridge Committee met at the home of Mrs. Torr W. Harmer to discuss final arrangements for the big day, Oct. 3, and to report with what great enthusiasm this project of the Ways and Means Committee is meeting.

Mrs. Harold H. Blanchard, chairman of the Ways and Means Committee announces that Mrs. John Penniman of the Social Committee has arranged, with her assistants, to take care of anyone who has not made previous plans for bridge partners. This is a very nice idea because we have many new mothers in town who have not yet had time to build up a circle of acquaintances, but whom we are all very anxious to meet.

Co-chairmen Mrs. Stanley Barnes and Mrs. Ober Pride of the Dessert Refreshment Committee announce the following ladies will constitute their committee:

Mrs. Melville J. Anton
Mrs. Ernest G. Babcock
Mrs. Charles M. Bacon
Mrs. Harold E. Berquist
Mrs. Robert W. Beyer
Mrs. Francis M. Booth
Mrs. Harry E. Chafalo
Mrs. Ernest M. Chaffin
Mrs. George W. Elwell
Mrs. Winfield S. Hanson
Mrs. Edith A. Haskins
Mrs. John A. Rutherford
Mrs. Lyman E. Snow

Mrs. P. Stewart Newton, chairman of decorations will be assisted by Mrs. T. F. Hersey and Mrs. Muriel Preston. This is the last opportunity of going to press before the bridge so just a final reminder that if you have not yet obtained your tickets, do so at once.

WINCHESTER CHAPTER GUILD OF THE INFANT SAVIOUR

The rainy weather of Wednesday afternoon only served to enhance by contrast the delightful atmosphere of Mrs. Frank R. Kimball's home in Lexington, where members and guests of the Winchester Chapter Guild of the Infant Saviour gathered to hear Alice Dixon Bond talk on "Fall Reading." Her interesting discourse on the best of the new books led one from the sublime to the ridiculous and left her listeners eager to acquaint themselves with the characters in fact and fiction which she so vividly brought to life.

Pouers for the tea which followed were Mrs. Angelo Ghirardini and Mrs. John Ghirardini, both of Winchester. Mrs. John Whalen, accompanied by Miss Morrissey of Medford on the piano, gave several vocal selections, concluding her program with a group of folk songs.

MRS. HILDRETH TO OPEN STATE FEDERATION PROGRAM

Mrs. Harriet Hildreth of this town, president of the Massachusetts State Federation of Women's Clubs will open the program on Thursday, Oct. 5, at 10:30 a. m. when club women from all over the state will gather at the Boston Y. W. C. A. for the first club Institute of the year. Mrs. Eliot B. Scudder, state chairman of the Institute department, will preside and the principal address of the morning will be made by Mrs. John H. Kimball, general Federation director, whose provocative subject is "Where Have We Failed?" There will be other interesting speakers and the new members of the council will be presented. A discussion period will close the meeting.

WINCHESTER GIRLS ON DEAN'S LIST AT WHEATON

Two Winchester girls' Marjorie Rush, daughter of Commander and Mrs. Richard M. Rush of Woodside road and Margaret Heath, daughter of Selectman and Mrs. Donald Heath of Everett road, are on the dean's list for scholastic excellence at Wheaton College during 1938-39. Miss Rush having had the distinction of standing first on the list.

Both girls were graduated from Winchester High School with the class of 1937, and have done outstanding college work during their two years at Wheaton.

MEEK-MOFFETT

The marriage of Miss Rita Mary Moffett, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. M. G. Moffett of Washington street, to Charles Winfield Meek, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles W. Meek of Park avenue, took place on Saturday evening, Sept. 23, at 7 o'clock in the rectory of St. Mary's Church with Rev. Fr. Joseph E. McGoldrick officiating.

Miss Moffett, who was given in marriage by her father, was attended by Miss Mary McGurn of this town and William Meek of Winchester was his brother's best man.

The bride wore a gown of white slipper satin and Chantilly lace with a finger-tip length tulle veil arranged with a Juliet cap of pearls. Instead of the conventional bouquet she carried a prayer-book, to which was attached a single large orchid. Miss McGurn wore a turquoise taffeta dress trimmed with Dubonnet velvet and a Dubonnet tiara of flowers with matching veil. She carried an old fashioned bouquet.

After the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents, who assisted in receiving with the parents of the bridegroom. Mrs. Moffett wore a blue lace gown with matching veil and baby's corsage of pink roses and baby's breath. Mrs. Meek was gowned in blue embroidered net and wore a red rose corsage. The house was attractively decorated with gladioli and palms.

Upon their return from a wedding journey to New York Mr. Meek and his bride will make their home in Winchester at 20 Fletcher street.

HISTORIC HOUSE OWNED BY WINCHESTER PEOPLE SAVED

Fire departments from five towns, and a crew from the State Forestry Department, succeeded this week in saving the historic 28 room Willard Homestead, owned by George S. Hudson and his daughter, Mrs. Eleanor Hudson Welch, the latter with Mr. Welch, residing there.

Hundreds of motorists were attracted to the spectacular fire Sunday and Monday nights, at Still River village in Harvard, when the nearby Henry Willard barn, located on a high hill, was destroyed with 28 cattle, 80 tons of hay and much modern farming equipment. The garrison house built in 1689 was saved.

The Hudson's ancestral Willard Homestead, built between 1659 and 1683 and one of the oldest houses in central Massachusetts, was showered for hours with embers, many fires starting in their fields, and a general conflagration seemed probable, because of the extreme shortage of water, the laying of hose from half a mile to a mile and a half from the fire and the early destruction of the electric system. Firemen with their motorized apparatus remained at the scene 40 hours.

EDUCATION FOR DEMOCRACY

Education for Democracy will be the theme of the all day School of Politics, Friday, Dec. 8, being sponsored by the Winchester League of Women Voters. The fortnightly and the Massachusetts League of Women Voters, in Fortmington Hall, Winchester.

Edward C. Lindeman, Professor N. Y. School of Social Work, will speak on Democratic Culture. John J. Mahoney, Professor of Government at Boston University, will speak on Education for Citizenship. A panel discussion is being planned by Mrs. Arthur Schlesinger, Chairman of Education in the Massachusetts League of Women Voters.

Save the date. The public is invited.

WINCHESTER FLOWER SHOW

Inadvertently omitted from the account of the All-Winchester Flower Show was mention of the Right and Wrong Exhibit. Designed to show good and bad uses of certain flowers and containers, this was amusingly arranged by Mrs. Willard Hudson and Mrs. Herbert T. West.

WINCHESTER TRYING LUCK IN BOSTON

A number of Winchester women will be wanting their lucky stars to be in the ascendant Tuesday, Oct. 3, for they are attempting to seek good fortune in two places, in the Boston shops and at the bridge table. They are building the day around the luncheon which women of the parish of the Epiphany are sponsoring at the Colonial Club, 224 Boylston street, at 1 o'clock. The hour lends itself handsomely to a morning of self-educating research as to where bargains and beauty abound, a luncheon pause for letting one's decision tell, and a final afternoon for buying.

Among the women who will have tables of friends are Mrs. Dwight W. Hadley, Mrs. Gerald Y. Hills, Mrs. Henry J. Sawyer, Mrs. W. J. Horn, Miss F. Louise Nardin, Mrs. John Sharon, Mrs. William Martens, and Mrs. Dunbar Carpenter.

For those who remain for bridge in the afternoon there will be prizes for each table.

HIGH SCHOOL GIRL HIT BY CAR

Miss Mary Marchesi, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Salvatore Marchesi, 6 Holland street, was painfully but not seriously injured shortly before 6 o'clock Wednesday morning when she was struck by an automobile while entering the Washington street entrance of the high school where she is a student an member of the field hockey squad.

Miss Marchesi told the police that she was struck by a car owned by Frank H. Farrell, recently moved to Winchester from Cleveland, Ohio. The machine entering the Washington street driveway leading under the port-cochere of the high school, entering to the south and leaving by the north exit after letting out passengers.

Miss Marchesi was taken to the office of Dr. Domenico Runci who treated her for contusions to the right knee, right thigh and left foot. She was later taken to her home.

PAST NOBLE GRAND MEETING

The Past Noble Grand's Association of Victoria Rebekah Lodge 178 held their first business meeting of the fall season on Tuesday evening, Sept. 26, at the home of Sister Kathleen Cameron, Eaton street. The business meeting was presided over by our president, and many activities were planned for the fall and winter. Following the business session there was a discussion on "Vacations: Where and How to Spend Them," which was enjoyed by all.

Our hostess served delicious refreshments, assisted by Sister Mabel Larson after which we bid goodnight to each other, with a promise to meet again at the home of our president, Sister Ella Good, Franklin avenue, Medford, Tuesday, Oct. 31. This meeting will take the form of a Halloween Party and each one is supposed to arrive in costume.

FRESHMEN AT THE RHODE ISLAND SCHOOL OF DESIGN

Kathryn Nickerson Whitcomb, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert H. Whitcomb of 46 Glen road, and Joseph Addison Garner, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Leslie Garner of 3 Summit avenue, are members of the freshman class at the Rhode Island School of Design.

Miss Whitcomb is a graduate of the Arlington High School. While there she was active in athletics and art work. She won the first prize in a poster contest sponsored by the local Community Chest in 1939 and was voted the most artistic girl of her graduating class.

Mr. Garner is a graduate of the Moses Brown School in Providence, where he was active in athletics, dramatics, art work, and sang on the glee club.

SMITH COLLEGE CLUB

The first meeting of the Winchester Smith College Club was held at the home of Mrs. Charles Tozier, 21 Ridgfield road on Wednesday afternoon.

Several members of the club commented on their recent travel experiences in Labrador and Newfoundland and the European countries, from Norway to Italy. Exquisite colored movie films taken of the North Cape, Lucerne and Versailles were shown and pictures of the thorough preparation in suburban England were most impressive. Recent passage home and a rescue at sea were described. Delicious tea was served and new members welcomed.

O. E. S.

The 183d stated meeting of Winchester Chapter No. 175, Order of Eastern Star, will be held in Masonic Apartments, Monday evening, Oct. 2, at 8 o'clock.

Any Eastern Star member is cordially invited to attend the meetings. The office inspection scheduled for Oct. 2 has been postponed until Nov. 6.

THE GIRL WHO KEEPS HER JOB is the girl who commutes by train

(P. S. SHE SAVES MONEY TOO)

She is always at the office at the same time every morning (some of the girls even say they can safely set their watches by her arrival.)

Her nerves are never upset by traffic snarls or by trying to "beat the clock." She rides on the train—relaxed and rested. She does better work and more of it.

What's more, she knows it is far cheaper to commute by train.

If you are one of the less fortunate girls who have been depending on hit and miss transportation that has you "on the carpet" for being late only too often, why don't you acquire this sensible girl's habit of commuting by train? Do it now, for the sake of yourself, your boss, and your family.

FRESHMAN FOOTBALL CANDIDATES OUT

Forty-five candidates for the Winchester High School freshman football team reported Wednesday to the newly named coach, Arnold E. Nichols, science and mathematics teacher of the school faculty. A schedule of three or four games is being arranged, commencing in about three weeks.

Coach Nichols was selected from several candidates for the position. He was a member of the Newton High School football squad for four years and later was a member of the Boston University football squad. More recently he has coached ice hockey at Lexington High School and has had several years experience in summer camp work with boys.

FOOTBALL COLUMBUS DAY

When Wentworth Institute meets Fore River School on Thursday afternoon, Oct. 12 at the new field in Winchester there will probably be a slight reversal of form on the part of the former team. Last year Wentworth Institute took the private school championship of Massachusetts, winning every game on the schedule and defeating Fore River by two touchdowns in Winchester.

This year Fore River has practically the same team which it fielded last year, a team incidentally which went on after the holiday defeat to win its remaining games. On the other hand, Wentworth has two regulars returning and must build from the bottom. However, Wentworth has a few fast men around whom it can build an attack. Captain Hall, quarter, holds the state 220 interscholastic record. Fred Cummings from Quincy, a boy who never played football before is being made into a back by virtue of his hurdling records at Quincy High. Robert Johnson of Portsmouth, N. H. comes to Winchester with the reputation of being an elusive back.

All in all if this game furnishes the football of Oct. 12 last year, the fans will have something to look forward to. Last year's game was a real battle between two teams which knew how to block and tackle and there is no reason to suppose that "Tony" Colucci and "Joe" Tansey have forgotten how to teach these fundamentals.

This game is under the auspices of Winchester Post, 97, American Legion.

TENNIS FINALS

Herb Ross of Lloyd street once again won the annual singles tournament of the Winchester Tennis Association by defeating Hal Gamage in the finals in four sets 3-6, 6-3, 6-2, 6-2. In the doubles final match Ross and Roger Pettengill won over Gamage and Al Pennell by scores of 6-4, 6-2, 11-9. One mixed doubles match was played last week-end. Dolly Greene and Jim Riley won from Lois Ladd and Jimmy Coy by 6-4, 2-6, 6-4.

The final in the mixed doubles will be played Sunday, Oct. 1 with Frances Keyes and Hal Gamage opposing Dolly Greene and Jim Riley.

ENROLLED AT BURDETT

Winchester students among the many young men and women enrolled in the secretarial, business administration and accounting courses at Burdett College in Boston include Sylvia D'Ambrosio, Jean Flanders, Frank Murphy, Mary Murray and Elizabeth Grant.

Miss Mary G. McManus has registered for her senior year in Rogers College, Weston and will be invested with cap and gown at the annual ceremonial next week.

WINCHESTER COLLEGE CLUB

The Winchester College Club is opening its 1939-1940 season with announcement of four morning study groups.

The History Group will study "The Versailles Treaty and its Aftermath." The meetings will be held every other Monday morning beginning Oct. 9. The first meeting will be at the home of the chairman, Mrs. William Morton, Arlington street, Win. 2431. The Music Group will take up the study of "Listeners' Music," a non-technical study of the elements of music, tempo, rhythm, melody, harmony and shape. Records will be used for illustration. Six meetings will be held, on alternate Thursday mornings, beginning Oct. 19, at the home of the chairman, Mrs. John E. Carr, 4 Gardner place, Win. 1113. "Listeners' Music" by Leland Hall, the basis of study for the course, may be seen at the Winchester Library.

The study of "Nature Lore" is being offered to an interested group by Mrs. John Chipman. An effort will be made to cover those things in Nature that are best worth the knowing from an educational and aesthetic viewpoint. Six group meetings will be held every other Thursday morning beginning Oct. 26 at the home of Mrs. Chipman, 2 Allen road, Win. 0337-M.

The Art Group will make a study of "Colonial Architecture," with its varying regional expressions such as that found in New England, New York State, Pennsylvania, Virginia and Charleston, S. C. There will be eight meetings, every other Friday morning beginning Jan. 12, 1940, held either at the Winchester Library or out of town visits to interesting places including museums. The chairman is Mrs. Alton Jackson, 3 Lewis road, Win. 0892.

The class enrollment will close on Oct. 4 and anyone not a member of the College Club may get further information from Mrs. Howard Morrison, Win. 0974 in regard to the morning study groups.

The evening study groups will start a series of meetings in January, under the leadership of Mrs. Wayne E. Davis. Further notice of the program will be given at a later date.

The general fall meeting of the College Club will be held on the evening of November 7. Dr. Norman J. Padelford, professor of international law of the Fletcher School of Law and Diplomacy will be the speaker.

FOOTBALL BOOK BY "BOB" BARR PUBLISHED

Local football fans and many others will be interested to learn that Frederick A. Stokes Company, Inc. New York publishing house, is bringing out a book, entitled "Pre-College Football" by Robert Cooper Barr, a former well known Winchester boy, who for eight years has been a mascot and head football coach at Ridgefield School in Connecticut.

"Bob," as he is known to his many friends in Winchester, attended Winchester High School and played a lot of football at Harvard, being for two years a member of the varsity second team during the days of the immortal Percy Haughton.

After his graduation from Harvard in 1913, Mr. Barr continued his study of and active interest in football, coaching for two years at Rindge Tech in Cambridge and later being associated with the Columbia staff for a couple of seasons. For eight years he has been responsible for teaching football to the boys at Ridgefield School.

BOYS AND GIRLS TOURNEY AT PALMER STREET

The Park Board is sponsoring an open tennis tournament for boys and girls not 15 years old here Jan. 1 of this year to commence Saturday, Sept. 29, on the Palmer street courts. Entries should be made not later than tonight with Rev. William S. Parker, 11 Talbot street, who is handling the many details of the affair. Singles, doubles and mixed doubles are on the program and it is not necessary to file pairings for the doubles until Saturday.

Many of the outstanding young tennis players in this vicinity are entered, including Norma Meister of Sharon, State singles holder in the younger class for girls and winner of girls' singles in Mrs. Wightman's fall tennis party last Saturday. Peggy Howe of Weston, runner-up to Norma last Saturday, is also entered, with Bruce Daniels of Worcester, boys' singles winner three times in Mrs. Wightman's tournaments. Practically all the better young Winchester players will compete.

WINCHESTER GOLF

Horace Ford's 44 topped the point tournament with three-quarters handicap held last Saturday afternoon at the Winchester Country Club. A. P. Chase had an 85 for best gross in the medal play which was with full handicap, topping Art Rogers by two strokes. Rogers and Chase had 80's to tie for best gross. The summaries:

Point Tournament - % Handicap
H. H. Ford	44
J. P. Rushell	47
T. R. Aldrich	48
F. W. Rounds	50
F. B. Craven	52
H. V. Howe	52

Medal Play—Full Handicap
A. P. Chase	80-75
T. R. Aldrich	84-76
F. W. Rounds	86-78
A. V. Rogers, Jr.	89-77
H. F. Lyman	101-79
E. H. Kewenon	100-82

WINCHESTER GIRLS AT SIMMONS

WINCHESTER SWAMPS TECH IN FINAL TEAM RACE

Peanut Tops Fleet in Official Snipe Contest

By Telitale

Piling up a healthy majority in each of the four team races, a crew of Snipe sailors from the Winchester Boat Club managed to completely submerge M. I. T. in the final match of the season last Saturday. By taking first place in every race and holding down most of the other high scoring positions, Winchester piled up the commanding lead of 135 points to 78. The scores of the four races, 37 to 17, 31 to 24, 34 to 21 and 33 to 16 seem to indicate that straight sailing rather than luck accounted for the local club's victory. In the Winchester fleet, the teams of Simonds and Payne took a second, third and fourth place with a first, second and fourth; Sprague and Wiswell with a first second and third; Merrow and Alden Sherman with a pair of firsts; Blanchard and Leonard Sherman with a second and fourth and Hall and Snow with a third and fourth contributed a fair share of the winning points.

The official Snipe race scheduled originally for Saturday afternoon was called off because of unusually high wind and rained on Sunday afternoon. Johnnie Sprague in "Peanut" worked a good start into a comfortable lead and crossed the finish line well ahead of the eight other contenders. Simonds in "Weave-It" and Snow in "Salome" provided the competition.

The showing of movies in full color by Jack Wood, M. I. T. sailing master and well known yachting expert, drew a capacity audience last Sunday evening and proved to be one of the most stimulating and entertaining features of the season. The breathtaking realism of the pictures which were taken aboard racing yachts, many of them during actual races, kept the audience spell-bound for several hours. The combination of the technical excellence of the pictures and Mr. Wood's fascinating comments and observations will be hard to beat.

WINCHESTER GIRLS AT WHEATON

Dr. J. Edgar Park of Wheaton College in Norton has announced the names of the students whose academic standing has won them a place on the Dean's list.

Among these are the Misses Marjorie Rush of 6 Wood street and Margaret D. Heath of 8 Everett road. Miss Rush has the much-sought honor of ranking first. Her position is one traditionally occupied by a student who is not only outstanding scholastically, but is active in student organizations as well. She is a member of the Modern Dance Group, Treasurer of the Dramatics Association, and has often played prominent roles in campus plays. Miss Heath is photographic editor of "Nike" the college year-book and has previously won merit in photographic contests. Carrying sandwich-boards for identification as part of the traditional freshman initiation are the Misses Frances E. Randall of Everett road, and Anne Phipps of 16 Mason street. Their freshman week activities included a parents' luncheon attended by Mr. and Mrs. Denton W. Randall, a formal banquet, and president and Mrs. Park's reception at the Homestead built over 100 years ago by Judge Leland Wheaton, founder of the college.

WINCHESTER YOUNGSTERS AT CHESTNUT HILL

While Winchester youngsters brought home no titles, they made an excellent showing in Mrs. George W. Wightman's 34th bi-annual tennis party for boys and girls 15 years old and under at the Longwood Cricket Club, Chestnut Hill, last Saturday.

Polly Kimball and Lane McGovern were semi-finalists respectively, in both girls' and boys' singles and teamed in mixed doubles to reach the final round where they were defeated by the talented Norma Meister of Sharon and the equally capable Bruce Daniels of Worcester, 6-2.

This same Meister-Daniels duo accounted for Dolly Greene of Winchester and Peter Stewart of Kansas in the semi-finals, 6-1, while Polly and Lane were turning back Eleanor Jones and Peter Connolly, 6-2. Betsy Drake and Jack Tarbell, another Winchester team, reached the quarter finals where they lost to Miss Meister and Daniels.

Miss Meister, who hits the ball unbelievably hard for such a slip of a girl, won the girls' singles crown from Peggy Howe of Weston after a stiff battle, 6-5. Miss Howe won in the semi-finals from Winchester's Polly Kimball, 6-2.

Peter Stewart of Kansas, 1939 Canadian boys' singles champion, eliminated Lane McGovern of Winchester in the semi-finals on the boys' side of play, 6-3. Worcester's Bruce Daniels took the final round match from Stewart at love.

Two Winchester girls, Dolly Greene and Mary Keyes, battled for the girls' consolation title, Dolly winning, 6-2. Miss Keyes beat another Winchester girl, Sylvia Hurd, in the semi-final round by the same score. Among those from Winchester who played in the tourney were Clare Tapley, Jean Stillman, Rita Carson, Marilyn Cheloff, Louise Kelley, Anne Penniman, Mary Keyes, Dolly Greene, Betsy Drake, Sylvia Hurd, Eleanor Jones, Germa Magnusson, Marilyn Drake, Bunny Harner and Polly Kimball; also Stearns Ellis, Richard Fenno, Richard Coon, Kendall Preston, Lane McGovern, Henry Holmes, Theodore Atkinson, Talbot Smith, Gordon McGovern, Robert Maynard, Bill Wood, Jack Tarbell and Bobby Salzman.

WINCHESTER YOUNG WOMAN AT RIDING ACADEMY

Miss Carolyn Mercer of Oxford street has during the past summer become associated with the Woodland Riding Academy in Lexington where she will be pleased to see and serve her friends who enjoy riding or who would like to learn to enjoy this fine outdoor recreation.

Woodland, which is two miles from Lexington four-corners, taking the road leading right from the "pony rides," has 11 well trained horses, including four jumpers that have won prizes at local shows and fairs as well as at the Winchester Show and the Boston Cavalry Show at the Garden. No advance in price is made for Sunday or holiday riding and competent instruction is available for beginners and youngsters.

Miss Mercer is well known in Winchester as a three-sport athlete at Winchester High and one of the best field hockey players the school has produced. Since her graduation she has been active in local tennis and badminton circles and has devoted much of her spare time to riding.

How much time did you make by the Congregational Church clock this week? Just because they tried to change Thanksgiving hardly seem to furnish sufficient grounds for still holding to daylight saving.

With all this talk and explanation concerning war propaganda, some of us are going to learn a little more of administration propaganda which has been fed us in greater quantity than any war propaganda is or ever was. When one edition of a newspaper contains no less than five articles, all rejoicing over the great increase of business and all emanating from government agencies, it becomes another question whether the Ark Royal was sunk or not. And along with the rise in living costs just put down clothing. We seem to be well looked out for whether we know it or not.

Neutrality seems to be the burning question of the day. Only vague forecasts are expressed from Washington in line with advancing the "new democracy." Having consolidated his gains, our ruler now turns to more important matters. Our neutrality act, which we read was enacted satisfactorily to him and signed by him, is all wet. IT MUST be changed. From what we read of the various opinions—and some of the opponents to a change appear to be able gentlemen—leaves us with considerable uncertainty as to which side to sponsor. All-in-all, the matter appears to us to be touted up all of proportion. We read that the Democracies will still be able to purchase all of the ingredients except the manufactured products. But if not the manufactured products will be in the hole. If the manufactured products are furnished we will be in the war. If not we stand just as much a chance to get in anyway. And there you are. The only united opinion appears that we do not want to get into the war. We are against changing our neutrality act on just one factor. After witnessing what has been done to our democracy during the past seven years and what a mess has been made of the country we have grown up with during that period, we want no greater experience in what may be done in the way of war. The fact that our ruler in Washington now wants to change the act previously accepted to him, is fully enough to cause us to desire ardently to let alone.

HENRY GEORGE SCHOOL

To the Editor of the Star:
The Boston Extension of the Henry George School of Social Science yesterday announced the dates for its fall sessions including Winchester, as Tuesday, Oct. 3 at 7:45 p. m. in the American Legion Building, 84 Washington street.

The course in Fundamental Economics and Social Philosophy is a broad inquiry into why we have recurring industrial depressions; millions of unemployed, constantly increasing poverty with increasing national wealth and why greater and more destructive wars.

The answers to these Whys are of personal interest to all of us and in a real democracy must be found and understood by all.

These classes do not require any previous study of economics or allied subjects as there are no "high hat" lectures, but each student as he reads "Progress and Poverty" by Henry George comes to the weekly meeting prepared to discuss with his fellow students the subject matter of the book. Whether he agrees or not does not so much matter, as the discussion will bring out the facts and relate them to his personal experience. Most important of all, to meet his fellows in "rough and ready" discussion he must think things out or take the count. These friendly clear of all political or sectarian argument, the one objective being to uncover the principles of freedom and economic democracy which all may and should apply to make our civilization a real expression of the ideal expressed in the preamble of the Constitution of the United States.

The Boston Extension is sponsored by the following responsible citizens: John S. Codman, chairman; Prof. C. A. Adams, Louis F. Bachrach, Edmund J. Burke, Mrs. W. B. Cressette, Miss Zara du Pont, William Lloyd Garrison, Jr., Mrs. Francis G. Goodale, Sorget, Charles B. M. Knowlton, Dr. Charles R. Morgan, Louise H. Marshall, John R. Nichols, Joseph L. Richards, S. Warren Sturges, George K. Watson, Franklin H. Wentworth.

With such sponsors, objective and methods it is not strange that past classes have included college students, lawyers, business men, laborers, doctors and teachers; and that they come from all kinds of political affiliation. This assures for the discussion a wide variety of approach, which adds much to the interest and profit of attendance.

Detailed information may be obtained from the School Secretary, Mr. Francis G. Goodale, 70 Webster road, Weston.

FROM AN AMERICAN WOMAN ABROAD

Following is a letter received from a woman in her late 70's travelling alone in Europe written to her niece in Winchester:

N. V. Stoomvaart Maatschappij Nederland

Sept. 5, 1939

Five days out from Amsterdam, four days (Der Volmet) from New York

Dear

Wherever you may have supposed me to be in these last hectic 12 days, I'm almost certain that you did not see me en route from Genoa to Amsterdam, or getting a Dutch steamer there for New York. I didn't see myself doing that either when we were courteously but firmly put ashore at Genoa from the "Savola" by "orders from Rome." My first thought was an American boat, two of which were due at Genoa within two or three weeks. But they were crammed full of refugees like myself, and no probability, barely a possibility I could get any foothold on either one and the motto of the U. S. Embassy, Consulates and American Express Co., was to all of us refugees, "go while the going is possible." That meant getting to Paris and making that a working centre, as from there one could be in touch with English, French and Dutch boats.

Well, it's no use trying to put into one letter any account of what it all meant. It was the uncertainty of it all that left the many hundreds of refugees "all guessing." As I look back on those seven days, divided between Genoa and Paris, I realize with devout thanksgiving how wonderfully our Lord took care of me. I can truthfully say that I was guided to choose the right way, at the right time.

And I felt such inward security that He was taking care of me physically, my little legs grew weary of a world apparently composed of shipping-offices situated up three long flights of marble staircases, as all the companies seemed to be at the top of old palaces, and of course, without elevators. Perhaps six or eight such climbs in one day, five or six days in succession. But the more I climbed or waited in American Express Co. offices, or chased about to get a French visa, and found a place to have my picture taken for my visa, the more contradicting every report, as in crossing frontiers (all the refugees agreed that it was the uncertainty of conditions that took it out of one) the better I slept at night, and the stronger my digestion grew. Yes, truly, I'm eating as I've not eaten before in years.

At last the manager of the American Express Co. in Paris told me the Holland American Line was putting on this ship, which ordinarily goes from Amsterdam to Java, were putting it on as an extra, just to help all get refugees back to U. S. Yes, he had assured me a cabin. No, he didn't know number, but I'd have it alone. Boat would touch in Boulogne to pick us up.

Very easy, no frontiers to cross. "Come back tomorrow (Monday) for tickets, etc." Came back three times on Monday. "No, no tickets had come, but we'd take the train on Wednesday." For where, and what time. No one knew. French Government refused to allow Dutch boat to enter B. In that case we'd go to Amsterdam. No, it was not certain about B, come back Tuesday at 9 a. m. and get tickets. Came at 9 a. m. "Tickets not arrived, and nothing settled about destination of train. Come back at 12 noon for tickets, to draw money, etc. Came back at noon, no tickets. Came back at 3 p. m. to get tickets. No tickets arrived. Come back again at 5:30 p. m. Did get tickets and money and filed out questionnaires and left office at 7 p. m. Took train next a. m. at 8:30 o'clock. Here are a few of the rumors: Might go to B. after all (we didn't); might not be allowed to cross any frontiers (Belgium and Holland); might have to leave luggage behind; would be put off train at Rosenthal. Keep your seats. Please all keep your seats.

Well, it is not to be described in a

A distinctive service always attended by a capable staff to serve your best interests.

At any rate, we got to Am. and on board the ship in a crowd that I heard some American men say, would make a football crowd seem like a Sunday S. picnic. But if you're interested I'll tell you all about it when I get home. Please send this letter to Winchester. I love you both heaps. Isn't it funny that in July I wasn't supposed to have strength enough to cross the ocean alone! And the last 10 days have been the most strenuous I've ever experienced and the most uncertain! Queer world!

Lovingly, Cousin
P. S. The war is too appalling to write about. God help this madmen's world.

PETITION TO ABATE NIGHT DREDGING NOISANCE

The following petition has been sent to the Metropolitan District Commission in complaint of the noise caused by dredging operations on upper Mystic Lake. Since early summer this dredging has been in continuous operation, much to the annoyance of residents in that vicinity.

Sept. 27, 1939
Metropolitan District Commission
20 Somerset Street
Boston, Massachusetts

Dear Sirs:

I enclose herewith Petition addressed to you under date of Sept. 14, 1939, as follows:

Objection has been made without effect to your Commission informally at various times during the summer with respect to the operation of a dredge on Mystic Lake during the night. The undersigned residents of Winchester wish to and do hereby formally object to the operation of the dredge during the interval between 10 o'clock at night and 7 o'clock in the morning. The operation of said dredge during these hours has constituted a public nuisance and has made it impossible for the undersigned to get sufficient and properly restful sleep for the past several months. The undersigned hereby request the immediate discontinuance of such operations during such hours.

JOINS RICHARDSON'S MARKET

Mr. Walter W. Carter, partner with the late Forrest Young in conducting the Fells Market on Main street, with the dissolving of that firm following Mr. Young's death, today becomes associated with Richardson's Market at 10-14 Mt. Vernon street. His return to Richardson's marks something of a reunion for when Mr. Carter first came to Winchester in 1912 he was employed by Senator Harris S. Richardson who had assumed the management of the market in 1909, following the death of his father, Mr. F. D. Richardson, and is still the active head of the business.

Previous to coming here Mr. Carter had been in the provision business in his native city, Hartford, Conn., and after leaving Richardson's was engaged in the same line in Boston. From there he entered the employ of W. K. Hutchinson in Arlington where he first met Mr. Young, their friendship developing into the partnership which opened the Fells Market in Winchester in 1924 and had run it continuously since that time.

Mr. Carter is prominently identified with Woburn Lodge of Elks, is a member of the Massachusetts Retail Grocers' and Provision Dealers' Association, Boston Retail Grocers' Association and of the Winchester Retail Board of Trade. His experience with the provision business covers a span of more than 30 years and his intimate acquaintance with the preferences of Winchester householders enables him to anticipate their wants and assure them of satisfaction. He invites his friends and customers to visit him at his new business home, or to call him at Win. 0414 for the same prompt service.

REGENTS PASSING OF J. A. LARWAY

To the Editor of the Star:
I assure you, Mr. Editor, that your humble servant is sadly depressed when I learned that Jonas A. Laraway, ex-chairman of the honorable Board of Selectmen, had joined the silent majority.

For more than 40 years he participated in the activities of our annual town meeting. How well I recall the keen interest he manifested on the floor of the old town hall, that was erected in the year 1887, in regard to our new schools, parks and playgrounds, and new public library that are in my opinion a valuable asset to the Town of Winchester, the Athens of America, eight miles from the gilded dome.

Very truly yours,
Patrick H. Craughwell

ment of Physics of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology will present the Scientist's approach to Religion. Professor Harrison is one of the ablest expositors of science of our day. He has written numerous articles in the Atlantic Monthly and other magazines. His most recent and popular book "Atoms in Action" is just off the press.

Professor Harrison is particularly fitted to present this subject to young people. He is a scientist with a strong religious background and is thoroughly familiar with the questions which arise in the minds of young people.

Mr. Clifford K. Brown

Under the leadership of Mr. Clifford Brown and his associates, Mr. Thomas Harris and Mr. Herbert Saul of the Boston Young Men's Christian Association, we will consider certain questions uppermost in the minds of young people, dealing with the building of a life purpose. Interview in any plan of life are the essential elements of religion, education, and vocation. These must be properly balanced and directed for the building of successful lives.

Mr. Brown and his associates of the Y. M. C. A. are nationally known experts in the field of educational and vocational guidance. Out of their wide experience they will afford us an opportunity to consider the value of continuing our education, the reasons for choosing certain types of schools, and the relationship of this subject to one's life work. And finally, these men will describe and illustrate the value of vocational guidance tests.

At the unanimous request of Forum members, Mr. Basil Mathews of London, England, will again be with us as our final Forum Leader.

The problems facing the youth of all countries in the light of the critical world situation today is the subject of Mr. Mathews' course. No one can better equipped to handle this subject than he because of his unique experience with the realities of the present day world at close range.

On our final Sunday, April 28, Mr. Mathews will be host at our International banquet at which time we shall have as our guests representatives from many foreign countries.

WHAT ARE "MACEDONIAN CONDITIONS?"

What did Herr Hitler mean by his cryptic statement, in a letter to Premier Daladier of France, that "The Macedonian conditions on our eastern frontiers must be removed?"

Three possible interpretations, political, historic and Biblical, suggest themselves, points out a bulletin from the Washington, D. C., headquarters of the National Geographic Society.

In the Acts, 16, of the Bible, says the bulletin, is the story of the vision which appeared to Paul in the night.

saying, Come over into Macedonia and help us. Translated to mean a plea for help, this Macedonian cry has echoed frequently in the pages of history covering turbulent events that have taken place there.

Macedonia Lay Across Path of Conquest

Lying across the early East-West path of conquest, the Macedonian region of the Balkan peninsula in southern Europe has seen from ancient times successive waves of domination, with attendant pillage, massacres and persecutions. Under Alexander the Great, Macedonia itself was once the headquarters of a conquering empire that controlled much of what was then the civilized world.

With the invasion of the Turks in the 14th century, Macedonia, along with other Balkan areas, became part of the Turkish Empire. As a vassal people the Macedonians knew social and economic oppression, with racial and religious persecutions that long filled news accounts from that part of the world. This period of Turkish overlordship was ended by the Balkan wars of 1912-13.

Racial Groups Clash

Even more complex is the modern Macedonian background with reference to the bloody political disputes between conflicting races and nationalities who live within its limits. The polyglot peoples who inhabit the indefinite Macedonian region, which cuts across three national borders from Salonika on the south roughly northwest toward the Albania frontier, comprise Greeks, Bulgars, Serbians, Albanians, Turks, Wallachians and Jews.

In the settlement of the first Balkan war of 1912, Macedonia, wrested from Turkey, was partitioned between Bulgaria, Greece and Serbia. Later, when the Balkan nations fought among themselves for various territorial prizes, Bulgaria lost much of her early share of this region to Greece and Serbia. Still later, after the World War, nearly all of what remained of Bulgarian Macedonia was transferred to newly-formed Yugoslavia and Greece, the latter country gaining the southern and major share, including the stretch of land which had provided Bulgaria's only outlet to the Aegean Sea.

FIRST BAPTIST CHURCH

FIRST COMMUNION SERVICE

The First Baptist Church will hold one of the most significant services of the season next Sunday October 1, at 10:45 a. m. It will be the first Communion Service of the season, and the first Communion Service in the church since the outbreak of the European War. The pastor, Rev. R. Mitchell Koushion, will preach on the subject "Uncensored News." The vested choir will sing two anthems.

Plans have been under way for some time to rally the entire membership for this service. It is hoped that friends of the church, visitors, and those new in Winchester this season will feel welcome to join with the members in making this spiritual feast an event long to be remembered.

The program as arranged follows: Service Prelude "Sanctus" Gounod. Prayers and Lord's Prayer. Gloria. Scripture Lesson. Anthem. Pastoral Prayer and Response by the organ. Announcements. Offering. Anthem. Sermon "Uncensored News" Mr. Rushton. Hymn "Break Thou the Bread of Life." Minister: "And when the hour was come Jesus sat down with His disciples and He said unto them: with desire have I desired to eat this passover with you before I suffer." Hymn "There is a Green Hill Far Away." The distribution of the bread. Minister: "Take eat this is my body which is broken for you." The administration of the cup. Minister: "For as often as ye eat this bread and drink this cup ye do show forth the Lord's death till he come." Closing Hymn "Blest be the Tie that Binds" Benediction.

BOY SCOUT NOTES

Troop 7

Troop 7 started last Monday night with their first regular meeting of the season with a full crew of officers, three committeemen and 27 Scouts, four of them new boys. The Scoutmaster John Casler, made several announcements, among which a father and son overnight camping trip will be made in the near future. Also plans for an outdoor rally in October, and the exposition which will be held in Medford next February. Commissioner Cole presented the troop with two blue ribbons for the Memorial Day parade. Each boy told of an experience he had during the summer, the outstanding one being a trip by Ralph Swanson and Fred Jones. They paddled a canoe from one lake to another for more than 10 miles up in Maine, amid wild herds of steers and other animals. Also a trip taken by the assistant Scoutmaster, Paul Butterworth and Mr. Butterworth. They went to Camp Lafayette in New Hampshire, climbed several mountains, and had a thrilling story to tell about the World's Fair.

GIRL SCOUT NOTES

The Girl Scouts will have their first fall meeting on Thursday, Oct. 5. Mrs. Harvey Glazier of Macon, Ga., is the new director. She has had splendid training having attended Camp Edith Macy and Camp Juliet Lowe. Last year she was local director at High Point, N. C. Mrs. Glazier is to be here for three months, her time expiring Dec. 15. She is available from 9:30 to 4:30 week days and 9:30 to 12 Saturdays at the Girl Scout Headquarters in the Lyceum Building. The Brownies will have their first fall meeting Oct. 8.

DANZIG HAS TENTH CHANGE OF STATUS

The former Free City of Danzig became German on Sept. 1, by a proclamation of union with the Reich. This shift is Danzig's tenth change of sovereignty in 800 years, says a bulletin from the Washington, D. C., headquarters of the National Geographic Society. A thousand years ago it was a peaceful Polish fishing village, Gdansk, at the mouth of the Vistula or Wisla River. In 1150 it was captured and fortified by Pomeranian Dukes, and turned into a seaport with a lively trade in fish and amber. In 1282 its ruler returned it to Poland by the historic Donation act. Teutonic Knights seized it in 1308 to augment their military-religious Baltic realm.

The fourth turn of the wheel of fate left Danzig a Free City in 1466, under the protection of Poland. At the first partition of Poland in 1772, Danzig was left a Free City separated from its hinterland, which Germany absorbed. In 1793, at the second partition, Germany took Danzig. Napoleon upset the Baltic apple cart in 1806 and spilled Danzig out into a Free City status again, for less than a decade. In 1814 Danzig became a German city, and was the capital of the province of West Prussia when the World War brought about the ninth reversal in the old port's history. In 1920 Danzig, with its surrounding countryside, was set up again as a Free City, in a customs union with Poland—a regime which, according to proclamation, closed on Sept. 1, 1939.

UNIVERSITY THEATRE

Elsa Maxwell, wizard of the wisecrack and the world's most famous party-giver, gives a world of girls on their own a new slant on life in her first film, Elsa Maxwell's "Hotel For Women," which opens Sunday at the University Theatre. They're smart, they're beautiful and they're on the make for fame—the gay, glamorous girls of this Cosmopolitan production—some of them looking for life in a penthouse and some of them longing for love in a cottage. Production Chief Darryl F. Zanuck co-features a fine cast—Ann Sothern, Linda Darnell (new screen discovery), James Ellison, Jean Rogers, Lynn Bari, June Gale, Joyce Compton, Elsa herself, John Halliday, Katharine Aldridge, Alan Dinehart and Sidney Blackmer.

"The Angels With Dirty Faces" have cleaned up some and will be seen in their latest picture, "The Angels Wash Their Faces," the companion film. The "Angels," of course, are the famed "Dead End" kids—Billy Halop, Bernard Punsley, Leo Gorcey, Huntz Hall, Gabriel Dell and Bobby Jordan. Besides the "Dead End" kids, the cast includes such stellar names as Ann Sheridan, the famed "coquettish girl" who for the first time is seen in a sympathetic role and is allowed to show her fine acting ability, Ronald Reagan, Bonita Granville, Frankie Thomas and Eduardo Ciannelli.

On Wednesday, Review Day, the program includes "Pygmalion," starring Leslie Howard and Wendy Hiller and "Yes, My Darling Daughter" featuring Priscilla Lane and Jeffrey Lynn.

"Find Livingstone!" Exactly 70 years ago this Oct. 16, James Gordon Bennett barked these words at his crack reporter, Henry M. Stanley. It was apparently the most hopeless assignment in all journalism. No one but a mad man would brave the terrors of unknown Africa to hunt for a missionary-explorer from whom no word had come in two years. How Stanley found Livingstone, how the world called the newspaperman "the most colossal liar of his age," and how he later became the greatest hero of his era, is the story of "Stanley and Livingstone," which opens Thursday. Spencer Tracy, twice an Academy Award winner, portrays Stanley. Nancy Kelly, who rose into the front ranks of movielets with her role in "Jesse James," and Richard Greene, who in a year's time has become one of Hollywood's top romantic stars, are starred with Tracy. Another Academy Award winner, Walter Brennan, heads the outstanding cast which includes Charles Coburn, Sir Cedric Hardwicke (as Livingstone), Henry Hull and Livy Travers.

A human, hilarious story of life as it is really lived in a typical American town is told in the new comedy, "Night Work," the associate feature. The picture deals again with the "Fitches," that lovable, riotous family which made its screen debut in "Boy Trouble." Mary Boland and Charlie Ruggles, who have been cast so often and successfully on the screen as a man and wife, again play the harassed heads of the "Fitch" family.

WAKEFIELD THEATRE

Friday and Saturday, Sept. 29, 30. "Andy Hardy Gets Spring Fever," 3:20, 9:07; "Code of the Secret Service," 2:09, 7:54. Sunday, Oct. 1. "Second Fiddle," 4:30, 9:15; "Panama Lady," 3:09, 7:54. Monday and Tuesday, Oct. 2, 3. "Second Fiddle," 3:30, 9:15; "Panama Lady," 2:09, 7:54. Wednesday, Oct. 4. "St. Louis Blues," 3:35, 9:20; "Ride a Crooked Mile," 2:09, 7:54. Thursday, Friday and Saturday, Oct. 5, 6, 7. "Good Girls go to Paris," 3:35, 9:20; "Saint in London," 2:09, 7:54.

BOARD OF APPEAL

The Board of Appeal in accordance with Section 147 of the Building Law will give a hearing to Mr. Leland D. Wooding October 3, 1939 at 8 o'clock P. M. in the office of the Building Commissioner, 9 Mt. Vernon Street.

Mr. Wooding has applied for a permit to locate a proposed residence building on lot 21A Chesterford Road West within eleven (11) feet of the North-west lot line. He also has made application to locate a garage on the aforesaid lot within one (1) foot of the Southeast corner of the lot.

Section 147 reads that lots required by the Zoning By-Law to be 10,000 square feet in area, a residence building shall not be located within fifteen (15) feet of a lot line.

The aforesaid Section also requires that a third class garage shall not be placed within three (3) feet of a lot line.

All persons interested are invited to attend.

THUMBNAILED GAZETTEER OF POLAND

(Prepared by the National Geographic Society)
(German Spellings in Parentheses)

Silesia, Upper, or Slask (Schlesien) The southwesternmost province, the smallest and most densely populated in Poland. Part of the large Silesian basin shared by Austria and Germany since the 14th century, and partitioned further after the World War, it gave sections to Poland and Czechoslovakia. Poland's share contained over three-fourths of the coal, iron, and zinc. Silesian coal makes Poland Europe's fourth greatest coal country. Coal, the second most valuable export, also feeds blast furnaces. The mine shafts are sandwiched between tall chimneys of steel mills, chemical plants and zinc refineries. Further north, in the territories to make this Poland's "Black Country." Until 1937 Polish Silesia operated almost as a free trade unit. Polish Silesia contains much of Poland's German market. Poles in the region, from long German rule, speak a peculiar dialect of Polish.

Tatras, High, or Wysokie Tatry (Home Tatras): Mountain range on Poland's northern border, fronting Slovakia. Highest range in the Carpathian Mountains, rising 8,700 feet. Crossed by easily defended passes. Contain famous resorts and picturesque glacial lakes, such as the Morzyskie Oko.

Torun (Thorn): Largest city in Poland's northern province of Pomorze, at the southern end of Polish Corridor. Lies 80 miles due south of Danzig. Ancient city walls along the Wisla River. A station on one of two main railroads linking Germany with East Prussia. One of the crowded little houses on Torun's cobbled streets was the birthplace of Copernicus, another another sixteenth century Polish astronomer used as an observatory. In German district before the War.

Warsaw or Warszawa (Warschau) Poland's capital since the 16th century, and now the largest city (million and a quarter inhabitants; twice as many as the next largest city). The "Paris of Poland" stands on bluffs above the Wisla River, almost in the center of the nation. Lies about 325 miles east of Berlin, 170 miles south of Danzig, 70 miles south of East Prussia. In pre-war Russian territory, Warsaw was traditional meeting place of western Teutons and eastern Slavs. An ancient market square within walls of the old city, the Gothic gabled houses of medieval merchants, and the Castle are reminders of earlier independence. Part of the Castle was built by King John Sobieski, who saved Europe from the Turks. Industries of the modern city include tanneries, sugar refineries, and distilleries extracting alcohol from Poland's large potato crop.

Warta (Warthe) River: Principal eastern river, draining about one-tenth of Poland, and flowing through the rich province of Poznan into Germany and the Oder River.

Westerplatte, The: A small peninsula at the northern end of Danzig's harbor, in Free City territory, was a munitions depot. Poland maintains an armed guard there.

Wilno: Chief city of northeastern Poland (208,000 inhabitants) and the country's second largest. About 25 miles from Lithuania and 175 miles from Russia, to both of which countries it has belonged. It is farther from Warsaw (250 miles) than any other large Polish city. A 13th century Lithuanian center, it was made Lithuania's capital again in 1918, but occupied by Poland in 1920. Lithuania did not recognize Poland's claims until 1938.

Wisla (Weichsel) River: The Rhine and the Danube of Poland, but more national than these, because only its mouth (at Danzig) is in non-Polish territory. Rising in the Carpathians in the south, it flows north to the Baltic and drains nearly 50 per cent of all Poland. More than half of the country's larger cities are lined along its banks. Most of Poland's bulky exports, timber and coal, reach Baltic ports via the Wisla. Its significance to Poland appears in the national summer festival during which garlands of flowers are tossed into the Wisla to float down to the sea. Part of the importance of Danzig to the Poles is due to the Wisla's meaning as a patriotic symbol.

MALDEN STRAND THEATRE

"The Island of Lost Men" with Anna May Wong, Anthony Quinn and J. Carroll Nash, plus Jane Withers in "The Chicken Wagon Family" is the double bill opening a four day run at the Strand Theatre in Malden today. "The Island of Lost Men" is a dyed-in-the-wool melodrama. The picture opens in the sinister streets of Singapore where Anna May Wong is seeking the whereabouts of a mysterious Eurasian, played by J. Carroll Nash.

"The Chicken Wagon Family" presents Jane Withers in another comedy hit and the juvenile star is supported by Leo Carrillo, Marie Wilson, Spring Byington and Hobart Cavanaugh. This is the amusing tale of an itinerant merchant and his family who drive into the metropolis in their mule drawn wagon in which they've been touring the small towns these many years.

"The Magnificent Fraud" with a stellar cast that includes Lloyd Nolan, Akim Tamiroff, Patricia Morrison, George Zucco, Ralph Forbes, Steffi Duna and Ernest Cossart, will head the bill the Strand will present next Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday. The locale is a South American republic. Lloyd Nolan a former Chicago gangster has muscled in and is the power behind the throne.

"Night Work" with Charles Ruggles, Mary Boland and Billy Lee as the players, will be the second feature on the bill starting Tuesday.

HOW WILL HISTORY NAME NEWEST WAR?

A war without a name is raging in Europe. What will history call it? It is pretty much a matter of guesswork, says a bulletin from the National Geographic Society, for history has been somewhat erratic in naming its wars. A two-country war frequently uses the names of the belligerent countries connected by a hyphen, the bulletin points out, as in the case of the Franco-Prussian War, the Spanish-American War, and the Russo-Japanese War. But there are exceptions. The war between the United States and Mexico in 1846 has come to be called merely "the Mexican War." Sometimes a date distinguishes a war, as in the case of "the War of 1812," sometimes a restricted region furnishes the name, even though several countries are involved. This was true of "the Crimean War."

Closer home, the conflict in the United States in the eighteen-sixties was at first "the War of the Rebellion" to Northerners and merely "the war" to many Southerners. Later it came to be called both "the Civil War" and "the War Between the States."

GRANADA ATTRACTIONS

"The Wizard of Oz," the outstanding novelty picture of the year, filmed entirely in Technicolor, will open at the Granada Theatre in Malden today. The cast includes Judy Garland, Frank Morgan, Ray Bolger, Jack Haley, Bert Lahr, Billie Burke, Margaret Hamilton, Charles Grapewyn and Clara Blandick. This famous story and stage play has been enjoyed by millions. Judy Garland scores a triumph as Dorothy, and she sings several hit numbers.

"Blondie Takes A Vacation," with Penny Singleton as "Blondie," Arthur Lake as "Dagwood" and Larry Simms as "Baby Dumpling," based on the popular comic strip by Chic Young, will be the second attraction on the bill starting today. This is the third of this series and by far the funniest.

SUNDAY DINNER SUGGESTIONS

By Cora Anthony
Director of A & P Kitchen

Both pork and lamb have dropped back considerably from their recent high levels and beef is also lower. Poultry of all kinds is reasonable in price.

Fresh eggs are considerably lower than their recent high due both to increased production and a smaller consumer demand at higher prices. Butter is expected to remain at its higher level due both to lower production and speculation.

Fruit is available in profusion as the last of the summer fruits overlap incoming fall varieties. Cranberries, concord grapes and quinces are new for this year.

Sweet potatoes, broccoli, yellow turnips and spinach are the best vegetable values this week.

MISS EUNICE AVERY TO LECTURE

Wednesday afternoon, Oct. 18, is the opening date for Miss Eunice H. Avery's Winchester series of interpretations of world events. This will be Miss Avery's 18th consecutive season of lectures in support of the Winchester Smith College Club scholarship fund. That this fund is second only to New York and Chicago in its yearly contribution to Smith, that it has sent eight girls through Smith, is witness to Miss Avery's continued power to interest and stimulate her audiences.

Increasingly popular as a lively but temperate analyst of affairs, Miss Avery has spent this last summer in a critical tour of the democracies, for contrast with her two previous years of specializing on the Rome-Berlin axis. Her information, observations and inferences should supply background and explanation for much that is baffling in the news.

The Winchester course parallels but in shorter form, Miss Avery's lectures at the Statler in Boston. There are nine afternoon lectures by Miss Avery; the evening lecture will be given by Prof. Hans Kohn, distinguished modern historian who scored such a success on the same occasion last March.

The committee for the lectures, under Mrs. Geoffrey C. Neiley, chairman, includes Mrs. Neil Borden, Mrs. John Ely Burchard, Mrs. Robert Jennings, Mrs. Richard Parkhurst, and ex officio, Mrs. James R. Doty, president of the club.

W. C. T. U. NOTES

1939 Celebrations in Honor of Frances E. Willard's Centenary Year

On February 16 Frances E. Willard was honored by Congress in the Senate by an eloquent address by Senator Robert Wagner of New York, and an eulogistic speech by Representative Noah M. Mason of Illinois, who related the story of the placing in Statuary Hall, in the National Capitol, in 1906, the beautiful statue of Miss Willard as one of the foremost citizens of Illinois. On February 17 came a glowing tribute by Sen. Morris Sheppard, "Father of Prohibition," and Dean of Congress. He also asked for a Willard Memorial three cent stamp for our greatest pioneer for the advancement of women and the protection of the home.

An Alpha Phi Quarterly was dedicated to the Willard Centenary.

February 17 was Miss Willard's "heavenly birthday" and in many pulpits on Feb. 19 reference was made to her wonderful life and uplifting influence, not only nation-wide, but world-wide through the World's W. C. T. U. which she founded and which is working in more than 50 nations.

The 1891 World's W. C. T. U. convention was held in Faneuil Hall, Boston, which was decorated with the Polyzot Petition, hundreds of yards of white muslin, with edges bound in red and blue, and bearing 1,500,000 signatures. It was sent to 50 world rulers, with the hope that this protest might lead to the reduction of the evils of drink and narcotics. At the same time the National W. C. T. U. convention was held in Boston.

On Feb. 19 the Paris Sorbonne, called the most famous institution in the world, held a great meeting in Miss Willard's honor, over 3000 Parisians and notable visitors being present. Dr. Robert Herod, general secretary to the International Bureau Against Alcoholism, spoke of her two years travel abroad, and the courses of study she took at the Sorbonne and her wonderful accomplishments. Secured through the land are 300 memorials, memorial windows, fountains, busts, pictures, etc.

On many campuses, high school grounds, and elsewhere, there have been plantings of the beautiful Frances Willard white rose.

At their 48th Continental Congress in April in Washington, D. C., the National Society of the Daughters of the American Revolution gave due recognition to Miss Willard as a charter member.

On May 26 the United Methodist Churches, because of her long membership, and the fact that she was one of the first five women elected as delegates to the General Conference, called on their universities, colleges, and churches to recognize Miss Willard's Centenary year with appropriate programmes on the Sunday nearest to Sept. 28, her birthday anniversary, and also with special editions of the "Christian Advocate."

Sixty-three years ago Frances Willard was the first woman to speak from a Chautauqua platform, a signal honor. There was a great celebration in Chautauqua on July 28, W. C. T. U. day. The National W. C. T. U. president, Mrs. Ida B. Wise Smith, gave a delightful address on "Everybody's St. Frances," a subject chosen by the late famous Dr. Dan B. Brummitt, who was to have been the speaker.

A great celebration is planned for Sept. 28 for the National W. C. T. U. Convention at Rochester, N. Y., including a pilgrimage to Churchville, N. Y., Miss Willard's birthplace. In July Miss Willard was honored by the Sixth Congress of the Baptist World Alliance at the largest gathering ever held in Atlanta, Ga.

At the centenary meeting of the Winchester Union, held Friday, Sept. 15, Miss Louise Seller loaned an attractive picture of Miss Willard as she was 50 years ago, also two of her books, "How To Win" and "Women in the Pulpit." She attended the National W. C. T. U. Convention in Boston in 1891 in Tremont Temple, and is very enthusiastic over Miss Willard's charming personality. She had a quiet voice, but it carried well. Mrs. Belcher gave an interesting account of her experience when Frances Willard and Anne Gordon stopped at a Nova Scotia town, where the W. C. T. U. there had a meeting in their honor. She helped to decorate with beautiful roses and met them when they arrived from overseas. They enjoyed her address, of course. Mrs. Mabel C. Dyer, when a child, living in Illinois, sat on Miss Willard's lap, when she called at their home. Mrs. Martha Simonds remembers seeing Miss Willard at a hotel in a New Hampshire town where they were staying and where Miss Willard was resting for a week.

Drive in comfort. Protect your eyes from glare with sun glasses and "over-specs." Several styles. See them at the Star Office.

JONAS A. LARAWAY

Few Selectmen have been more generally known than Mr. Laraway, yet he is remembered best as a town meeting orator whose homely forceful style, independence, ready wit, plain speaking, and knowledge of town affairs went far to sway the vote on many an embattled question of importance.

He was town meeting member for Precinct 5, a director of the Winchester Taxpayers' Association, a member of the Winchester Historical Society, and of the First Congregational Church. He was also treasurer of Winchester Lodge, 1445, P. O. E.; was a charter member of Waterfield Lodge of Odd Fellows in Winchester and at the time of his death was Noble Grand of Crystal Fount Lodge, I. O. O. F., of Woburn, Mass.

He was president of the Middlesex County Master Plumbers' Association and prominently identified with the National Master Plumbers' Association, going as delegate to many conventions. He was also a member of both the Boston and Massachusetts State Associations of Master Plumbers.

Mr. Laraway, aside from his business interests, was a large owner of real estate in Winchester, at one time being the town's largest tax-payer. He first made his home on Mt. Pleasant street, later acquiring "Folage," the old Claflin estate at 180 Forest street, from which he moved to the new home he built at 177 Forest street shortly before the observance of his 20th wedding anniversary, July 12, 1918. From there he moved to 310 Main street, the old Manchester house, and recently to his late home on Wedge Pond road.

In 1898 he was married by Rev. Doremus Scudder of the First Congregational Church in Woburn to Miss Mary Foster Simonds of that city. She survives, with three daughters in this town, Mrs. Dorothy McKimley, Mrs. Priscilla Morse and Miss Cynthia Laraway; a son, Edson Laraway of Manchester, Conn.; and a sister and three brothers in Calgary, Alberta, Canada.

The Elks' funeral ritual was exemplified Monday evening at the Kelley & Hawes chapel by Exalted Ruler John J. Doherty and the officers of Winchester Lodge. David Downer, tenor, sang "Beautiful Isle of Somewhere," and the "Vacant Chair." Richard Phelps of St. Andrews (Episcopal) Church, Wellesley, was organist.

Largely attended funeral services were held Tuesday afternoon in the First Congregational Church with Rev. Carleton N. Jones, pastor of the Second Congregational Church, and Rev. Howard J. Chidley, the First Church pastor, officiating. Organ music, including the Adagio by Widor, Aria by Bach, Handel's Largo and favorite hymns, was played by the church organist and choirmaster, J. Albert Wilson.

Town officers, business associates and fraternal organizations with which the deceased had been affiliated were present at the services, a large delegation from Waterfield Lodge of Odd Fellows attending in regalia. There were many beautiful flowers.

Honorary bearers were Lewis Parkhurst, John McLean, William Baker and Everett Hamby, all of Winchester, the last named representing Winchester Lodge of Elks; Arthur McClure, representing Crystal Fount Lodge, I. O. O. F., of Woburn; George Burke of Winthrop, Edward Riley of Salem and Thomas Burns of Arlington.

Interment was in Wildwood Cemetery where the committal prayers were read by Rev. Mr. Jones. Odd Fellows' services were conducted by Crystal Fount Lodge with Rev. Mr. Jones, who is chaplain of Waterfield Lodge of this town, serving as chaplain.

THORNBURG RETURNS

Forrest Thornburg of Winchester has returned from Nashville, Tenn., where he held the first meetings of his Nashville Civic Ballet, to join the faculty of the Hans Wiener Studios in Boston. Mr. Thornburg will have charge of the ballet department of the new school. The Hans Wiener Studios are now located in the Gainsboro Building and have been fully equipped for dance concerts with lighting, stage, and small auditorium. Mr. Thornburg has left the direction of the Nashville Civic Ballet in the hands of Louise Craig, the associate director.

Hans Wiener announces the addition of Miss Charlotte Sturges, Miss Elizabeth Halpern, with Miss Erika Thimey besides Mr. Thornburg to his faculty. This makes the studios a headquarters of the Dance as all forms of dancing are now taught in one school.

It is reported that James Cullen, the well known local contractor, has purchased the George Fernald estate on Bacon street and is moving in right away.

UNDERTONES IN THE FOREST SYMPHONY

A Lecture by Fred W. Luening of the Milwaukee Journal

Forestry is in a state of flux. So is humanity and more particularly the American people. Perhaps it would be more accurate to say that the American people are in a state of suspended animation, wanting to attain noble objectives in a fairly coach motivated by government.

Most of them have lost all interest in their own two feet. To gain ground by gripping the rocks of adversity with hobnailed boots no longer is socially scientific. To struggle onward in the sweat of the brow no longer is considered necessary or sensible.

Economic objectives—savings, security in old age, a homestead, a firm family foundation, and a lifetime wholesome interspersed with both solid toil and simple recreation—no longer are to be achieved by personal endeavors, but instead by gratuities, aides, loans, grants, taxes, and governmental interventions.

All this has a direct and important bearing on your profession. Once your job was to reconstruct forests for ultimate public or private exploitation. Today your job is to shoe away mosquitoes, cut firewood, chaperon tourists, and tell bedtime stories. At least, you had better realize that that is the conception of your job, and that is the expectation of a considerable part of the American public.

Once when you got your clutches on a new purchase area your first aim was to plant trees. Now your first aim better be to clear parking spaces if you would win public approval. Once your second thought was to build fire lanes. Now it better be to provide auto roads. Once your concerns were with brush clearance, release cuttings, tower construction, and nursery development. Now they better be trail clearance, cabin building, camp fire programs, and a decidedly new form of nursery development that will cradle a pampered public, largely convinced that comforts and conveniences are theirs by right, in the forests as everywhere else.

For the public no longer earns its day in the woods by toil in the smithey or hayfield. It therefore no longer is content with an open glen, a moss covered rock, and a family lunch over-run by ants. It demands of forests no new trees, but rather removal of old ones that stand in the way of automobiles or trailers. It requires parking areas, rest houses, toilet facilities, fire places, and lectures. It wants toboggan and ski slides for its winter sports, equipped with mechanical devices to do the work—haul the toboggans and their riders back to the helipad again, without undue effort on their part.

It expects bathing beaches, not unkempt as nature made them, but duly sanded with grade A silicon, brought by truck, if necessary, from distant places.

That public is wholly contemptuous of the old portage trails that men once crossed with canoes on their shoulders and deer flies in their ears. It insists that we have foresters, that there no longer need the rough portages or deer flies. The portages must be graded, if not paved, and the deer flies exterminated. And if foresters aren't entomologists, they ought to be.

Both you and I have seen forests or park development—federal, state, or could be equipped with everything from electric lights to hot and cold maid service.

All of us have witnessed the impact of "recreation" upon the forests of these United States and upon the one-time silvicultural and related work of the foresters. Yet I doubt that foresters have caught the significance of this movement. Taken alone and segregated under the label of "forest recreation," it is a natural, wholesome, and potentially blessed movement. The trouble is that it carries a discordant undertone that is sounding ever more loudly out of all American activities.

If it meant that native American instincts, stifled by modern complexities, were emerging from our economic dust bowl for breaths of fresh air, it would be a blessing indeed. It meant that our boys and girls, young and old, were going again to the forests to rededicate themselves to the virile lives of the pioneers; to gain the inspirations that once made America the world's most purposeful nation; to understand the majesty of trees, the virtue of patient growth, the virility of nature's eternal struggle, the inexorable workings of the law of the survival of the fittest, it would be upliftingly promising.

Or if it meant, even, comprehension of the trailing arbutus, content to adorn the lowly places; of the endless patience and persistence of the woodland's creations; or of the achievements of humans who once wrested homesteads and security from these wildernesses by willing endeavor, then, indeed, the present American demand for forest recreation would be prophetic of an American renaissance and an American return to attainment, prosperity, and security.

But I am afraid that we cannot construe a movement that demands parking spaces, rest houses, bathing facilities, and easy trails as a pilgrimage to the shrine of the forest gods who guided the magnificent destinies of our forefathers.

A public insistent upon electric lights, running water, refreshment stands, and dance halls hardly is returning to original American purposes and achievements.

I am afraid that the undertone in the forest recreational movement—as in other American activities—has become the dominant note. It proclaims that, in the forests as in the public schools, public buildings, public golf courses, and public economic services, there must be comforts, conveniences and ease; and that these must be provided increasingly and unceasingly by government, which means by the taxable, or wealth-producing minority of the population, that the majority must pack their own tents and grub, totting their own canoes, fighting their own way through brush and over down logs, cooking their own meals, and swatting their own mosquitoes—the forest "did things" to them and for them. They taught hard but wholesome lessons. They inspired initiative and courage. They taxed ingenuity, patience and endurance. And they returned their visitors to civilization with toughened muscles, cleared heads, browned skins, increased energies, and grand new determinations to do things and go places.

Those, who return from our modern forest ventures, return with complaints about the service and new demands for more public money to provide better comforts at less personal cost and endeavor.

And again I stress the thought that this disposition as it appears in the forests is but incidental to and much less dangerous than a similar disposition demonstrated widely in other fields by many of America's people. I am not trying to argue that the public funds in reasonable amounts should not be expended within the public forests for recreational purposes. Least of all am I contending that the public forests should not be wide open to recreation.

The point I rather am trying to make—and the point in which I hope I may interest foresters and others—is that when any individual, or group, or any people receives too much for too little, the consequences are destructive of personal accomplishment, appreciation, and character.

Many Americans evidently are receiving too much for too little. They are adopting the philosophy that "the world owes them" not only a living, but agencies to collect it. Many include in this alleged debt due them from society not merely necessities but comforts; and not only comforts, but also luxuries, including woodland outings made smooth under foot and comforting to the belly by public expenditures and the ministrations of public employees, including foresters.

How far we have gone in these directions and how broadly we have accepted this philosophy is better seen in the cities than in the forests. It literally is true, as you all know, that city boys are no longer expected by themselves and on their own initiative to play baseball. They are provided with municipal baseball diamonds and municipally paid recreation directors to "organize" their games for them.

They are no longer expected to, or would they dream of, bathing in the old swimming hole. Steam heated pools are provided at public expense instead.

Youthful tennis players no longer would think of grading a want list by their own labor and on their own initiative, as American boys and girls did as a matter of course only a few decades ago. Instead they insist that their papas demand, of their common councils, not only paved municipal tennis courts, but courts that are electrically lighted and adequately enclosed by a thousand dollar fence to save them the effort of chasing balls.

I won't go on with this though I could cite you statistics on the expansion of municipal recreational activities and expenditures that would make a hard-pressed taxpayer's hair curl. I'm not picking on recreation. I am using that activity merely for illustrative purposes. I am suggesting that in the recreational undertakings, as in many more ominous activities by government, we can find evidences that many Americans are getting too much for too little and that persons of initiative and the one-time hardy American ability to cope with difficulties thereby is withered like the seedling by the sun.

Perhaps you cannot square such a contention with the last decade of depression, retrogression, joblessness, poverty, misery, and want. Perhaps you feel that many Americans need more rather than less. They do! Note that I have said, "Many are getting too much for too little." I have tried to imply that merely to give gratuities or gifts solves no economic problems. Let me illustrate.

A well-intentioned boy has a rich uncle. The boy finds it difficult to "get along," so the rich uncle supplies him with spending money. It is a kindly thing for the uncle to do and temporarily it may help the boy. But if, by and by, that boy begins to "lean on" this donation; if, when it comes time to find a job, he doesn't try very hard; if, soon, he manages to induce the uncle to pay him a wage for an artificial job around the house; if later, he begins to tell the uncle that the wage really doesn't amount to much and that he is "entitled" to additional money for amusements and a sum for savings against old age, and that of course he shouldn't be expected to pay over any part of these gratuities for room or board—well, not one of you here would say that the boy had been helped, or that any remedy for his condition existed except to toss him out and make him stand on his own two feet.

This is the remedy for many people as well as for one person. I make no protest against temporary aides. The good uncle, or the good neighbor, or the good government always have been ready to help after disasters or in periods of temporary hard going, and should continue to do so. But depression, poverty, misery, and want never permanently were licked by gratuities, gifts, loans, artificial jobs, or free facilities. Always, whenever Americans made progress, they did it by rolling up their sleeves, spitting on their hands, and going to work.

Never has there been—nor ever is there likely to be—a dearth of work to do. Search your minds and answer fairly: Have you noted any dearth of work to do about your homes, around your neighborhoods, in the gardens you have, on the farms you know, or in the forests which are your natural stages of activity? Is all the work done and gone with nothing left to turn to?

Of course not. Americans always have and always can find work to do. In the past they tackled endless jobs and thereby worked their ways out of adversity.

Of course, it didn't occur to them that carpenters, the dust of necessity find carpentry to do, and must find it in the immediate neighborhood, and under proper conditions, or they couldn't undertake to work at all. No, if carpentry failed them they turned to well drilling, corn hoeing, house painting, gardening, or berry picking.

Neither did they feel that someone must "give" them a job or there could be no job. They made jobs. They turned to the forest, or they turned to yield their timber, or at least their nuts and berries. Or they turned to the soil and forced it to produce needed potatoes or corn. Or they turned to the forest and forced it to produce anything from firewood to willow furniture for barter or sale to the neighbors. Or they shaped at the anvil devices of iron and steel and offered these in exchange for bread.

Oh, no! I'm not picturing to you a mere primitive society in the presence of abundant and available natural resources.

Right up to a few years ago men used initiative and ingenuity and thereby made jobs for themselves and for others. They puzzled over kites and winged contraptions and created airplanes. They experimented with faint, strange, and mysterious forces and astounded the world with radio.

But why go farther with any section of the American Association for the Advancement of Science? No group better understands the boundless possibilities for human endeavor, human progress, and human activity than the scientists who have probed ahead of the rest of us.

In your own field of forestry the garden hoe has been evolved into the bulldozer, the wet burlap sack into the modern fire pump, and the block and tackle into the "cat" that drags out stumps or hauls the plows that turn your forest arrows.

You, yourselves, developed many of these appliances and you're going right ahead inventing more of them. And as you convert your inventions into the finished instruments, you help make factory wheels turn, create jobs and enable more men to draw more paychecks.

To be sure, you and others are estopped by certain influences. One is the present sterility of money which has gathered in great pools of idle capital, called "excess reserves" by the banks. Some ten years ago Americans and their banks had some $43,000,000 of idle reserve funds, the rest of their capital being at work. Today they have $4,100,000,000 of idle reserve funds and mighty little of their capital is at work.

Capitalists, including many little fellows with $1,000 or $2,000 to invest, tell us that fear has frozen this capital; that the holders of money, big and little, do not dare put it to work in almost any business for two reasons: first, government is likely to enter the business, competitively, against them; second, the government will increase the public utility business, H.O.L.C. the mortgage loan business, P.W.A. the contracting business, N.H.A. the housing business. And, second, that the public's growing conviction that it is "entitled" to many things for "nothing"—everything from old age savings called pensions, and rent, light, heat, and clothing called relief, to lighted tennis courts in cities and dormitories in the forests in the name of recreation—is fatal to private enterprise.

As more necessities and luxuries are provided "for nothing" or next to nothing, there must be governmental expansions to provide them. As there are governmental expansions there must be private contractions. They follow as the night the day.

Private enterprise cannot extensively give things away. Only government can do that. As government gives away things, it can do only by substituting governmental plants for the private institutions that must close down.

Then government must collect increasing taxes from decreasing numbers of producers if it wants to continue paying for the goods. It also must increase the volume of goods, which ultimately it can do only by substituting governmental plants for the private institutions that must close down.

Credit, for a time, can be an illusory substitute for taxation; and "surplus stock"—the goods in warehouses and on shelves—temporarily may supply wants in excess of production. But in the end private enterprise must quit and something else must take its place if this procedure is to continue.

The procedure, of course, is ominously clouded by the fact that government doesn't, in the beginning distribute all the goods. It may buy millions of pairs of shoes for the needy, or thousands of uniforms for C.C.C. boys as it is now doing, but if it also puts millions of persons on artificial payrolls, the implications are obvious. Those getting artificial government pay buy their own goods and appear to be consumers. Merchants, for a time, seem to benefit by these expenditures as by others. And if additionally, government hands out unearned amounts for the pensions, and other gratuities, the true situation becomes even more obscure. This phase of it may be compared to the situation of a dutiful son who runs a grocery store and gives his aged father $50 a month. The old man then spends the fifty in the son's grocery store. The son may ring up the sales and solemnly figure profits on them, but by no ledger-dream can he overcome the fact that he's "out" $50.

And if he gives $50 not only to his aged father, but also to his uncle, his brother, his cousin's wife, and to each of her seven children, his business is going to be even if his whole relationship spends every nickel in the donor's grocery store.

That's what is happening, and is bound increasingly to happen, to American business as a whole under indirect, through old age security schemes, pensions, A.A.A. checks, W.P.A. payrolls, and the rest. Productive business, under these schemes, is expected first to hand over the various donations, and then to thrive when the recipients spend them in the donor's grocery store.

All this is our tendency and perhaps it is our destiny now to swerve from an individualistic and competitive society to a collective one. If so, then recreational facilities which gave me the theme for this discussion—and many others, will additionally and freely be provided by government. Then the people as a whole, working together for the common good, will create what they need or want, disbursing it freely, without private profit and without the competitive incentive.

But you are foresters. You know a deal about the natural laws that rigidly control all life in the forests. Is it possible that, reflecting on those laws, you may conclude that humanity must for its own endurance subject itself, also, to those laws?

The laws of nature demand effort and struggle by every one of nature's creatures, and men, after all, are among them, regardless of the intricacies of their society and the artificialities of their lives. Those laws demand that even the seeds in the pine cone battle for existence.

Rodents attack the cone. The winds carry it into cold waters or rocky crannies. The seeds must resist the cold and vicissitudes of the bare rock. Birds may eat many of them and a sudden bog may mold the life within them. Yet nature demands that the remaining seeds persist, and endure hardships, until a fertile soil appears below them where they may sprout.

Hundreds die, a few sprout, in consequence of adversity even in this first period of vegetative infancy. Yet, having sprouted, the young plants but enter new cycles of struggle. They crowd each other to reach their places in the sun. The seedlings succumb, the persistent alone endure. Thus strength and majesty come at last to the forest, though in the process many individuals—unfit or misfit, enfeebled, incompetent or impotent—perish.

Would you, as foresters, have it otherwise? Can you even imagine a forest attaining either worth or majesty under a scheme that, somehow, removed the obstacles and preserved the myriads of plants without struggle and without casualties?

It would be a weird thing, that forest. It would have little tenacity, nor much of that subtle something that, in human beings, we call "character."

There would be no gnarled oaks towering pines, since the buffeting of the winds that induce the one and the struggle toward the sun that cause the other no longer would shape the trees.

There would be no deep-probing tap roots nor far-spreading laterals, competent to gather sustenance and establish steady anchorage. There would be no stout bark, nor thorns on any plants, nor fulsome blossoming, nor abundant production of seeds or fruits—for these are devices of defense or endeavor to survive and reproduce the species.

TRADE WITH JAPAN, LESS THAN A CENTURY OLD, AMOUNTS TO MILLIONS

Abrogation of the 1911 treaty of commerce and navigation between the United States and Japan does not in itself place any restriction on the trade between the countries, says a bulletin from the Washington, D. C., headquarters of the National Geographic Society. The treaty protected trade with such provisions as a guarantee against embargo, protection for seamen, and a most-favored nation clause regarding tariffs. The latter provided that both Japan and the United States should admit goods with duties as low as those granted to the most favored nation. Abrogation of the treaty simply removes the guarantee that such agreements will be continued.

U. S. Navy Opened Up Japanese Foreign Trade

Before 1911, however, and without the protection of the treaty, trade between the two nations had already grown to the $100,000,000 mark. All this development took place within the last 60 years after Commodore Perry, with 2000 men and ten ships, made his bloodless conquest of the Japanese market.

Prior to the United States naval expedition under Perry in 1853-54, Japanese ports had been closed to all foreign vessels except the Dutch since the 1630's. The death sentence had been the penalty for any Japanese citizen caught trying to leave this country. A Portuguese merchant fleet approaching Japanese anchorage in 1638 had been burned, as an example to other foreign traders.

It remained for Commodore Perry to carry the Japanese their first locomotive (a miniature, with cars large enough for children only), their first photograph, their first life-boats, their first fire vessels (steamboats), and such miscellaneous modern developments as rifles, sewing machines, clocks, and mechanical toys. Samples were distributed among warriors, armed with swords and arrows and clumsy matchlock muskets.

HISTORIC STRASBOURG PROTECTED BY MAGINOT DEFENSE LINE

From the French border town of Strasbourg, which history has seen shifted back and forth between France and Germany, some 10,000 citizens are reported already evacuated, with others ready to leave in case of emergency.

Strasbourg occupies one of Europe's most strategic military positions, points out a bulletin from the Washington, D. C., headquarters of the National Geographic Society. In the past it has often played a dramatic war role. A German city at the outbreak of the World War; it was bombed by Allied aircraft. Today, however, it faces Germany across the Rhine river and under the formidable French Maginot Line.

Roman Military Station

Key to the much-contested Alsace region, Strasbourg is itself a fortress city, encircled by a number of modern forts and containing a massive inner rampart.

Since ancient times, each new conqueror of the town—from the Romans, who set up their own military station. Near this spot was fought the famous 4th-century battle between the Emperor Julian and the Teutonic Alamanni. Losing this engagement, the German tribes later returned to win the entire district—only to give way within a few decades to the Franks.

A German city from the 10th century, Strasbourg (to use the German name) was settled in 1681 by Louis XIV of France, whose engineer-architect, Marshal Vauban, built there still greater fortifications. As a military post of the French during the Franco-Prussian war of 1870, the city was held for nearly two months against the German siege. Soon after the war, the German victors retained possession of the city and repaired and expanded its defenses.

Eventually, after the Allied victory in the World War, Strasbourg—along with the rest of Alsace-Lorraine—became once more French territory. As a result of its location and varied history, Strasbourg is a mixture of French and German influence. Like Alsace-Lorraine, of which it was formerly the capital, this city has changed color with each new master.

As a result of its location and varied history, Strasbourg is a mixture of French and German influence. Like Alsace-Lorraine, of which it was formerly the capital, this city has changed color with each new master.

Following the World War transfer of this city to France, the new government in its turn forbade for a time the teaching of German in the schools. Later, however, a compromise language agreement was reached. The French government also changed the geographic designations of Alsace and Lorraine, splitting them into the three provinces of Upper Rhine, Lower Rhine, and Moselle.

The capital of the Upper Rhine department, Strasbourg—despite a picturesque medieval atmosphere—is a busy industrial center, with a production range from beer and artificial flowers to locomotives. It is particularly well known for its fine goose-liver products. An important transit city for goods from France, Germany and Switzerland, it has a central location as strategic in the economic field as in the realm of military affairs. The present population of Strasbourg is estimated at nearly 200,000 people.

HUGE TRAFFIC COMPLICATES LONDON'S DEFENSE

Word from London that 72 subway stations are to be closed to ordinary traffic in order to expedite emergency evacuation of children and other "priority" groups emphasizes the tremendous traffic problems which this metropolis faces in case of attack. With a population of more than eight and a half millions, Greater London in normal times transports by subway alone an average of nearly two million passengers a day points out the National Geographic Society. To speed these traveling armies are all the time-and-money saving gadgets of the power age, including machines that make change, sell tickets, and open doors. At each automatically-operated elevators, a recorded voice warns passengers to "Stand clear of the gates," while in the interests of general safety "never anything goes on wheels or rails."

Any movement ceases as the current is automatically cut off. A unique feature of London's "Underground" (English for subway) is its six-and-a-half mile railway, run without guards or drivers. This is the Post Office Tube which carries a daily load of some 33,000 mail bags, relieving much surface congestion. Begun in 1914 work on the railway was discontinued as a result of the World War when the tunnel space was needed to house valuable collections from the British Museum and other institutions. Altogether using subways, electric trains, street cars, motor and trolley buses, London's transport system under and above ground handles some ten million passengers a day. In normal times most of the city's surface travel, especially on working days, is at a snail's pace, compared with that of the racing subway trains. Today, however, steps have been taken to free certain streets and highways leading out of town in order to expedite surface evacuation along with other movements of mass population via the Underground. Arrangements have also been made, according to reports, to use the subway stations for human shelter in case of air raids.

Florida Commissioner Tries New Tractor

WHEN Florida's State Commissioner of Agriculture Nathan Mayo glimpsed this new Ford tractor at the Ford Exposition, he climbed right into the driver's seat. The occasion of his first experience with the new Ford tractor was the Ford Exposition at the New York World's Fair.

Mayo twisted the steering wheel, examined the hydraulic mechanism, and with Florida's farmers in mind exclaimed delightedly, "It's just the thing!"

"And I like these big rubber tires," added the Commissioner, pulling on the corn-cob pipe given him at the Missouri State Exhibit. The new Ford tractor, just placed on the market, is demonstrated daily at the Ford Exposition. Revolutionary in many of its principles, the tractor will, according to Henry Ford, "turn the farm deficit into a profit." His son Edsel predicts that the tractor will let the farmer "make his profit out of economy of production," thus boosting farm income without raising the cost of food in the cities.

The new tractor has a hydraulic mechanism that automatically controls its Ferguson unit implements at any desired depth, regardless of the irregularity of the land. Among its outstanding new features are light weight, extreme simplicity of operation, absolute safety on all sides, and other difficult ground, maneuverability in small spaces, low initial cost and fuel economy.
